Registration Steps Begin

AMA Editor Will Top Health Convo

Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, will be the headline speaker for the University's second annual College Health Day program Wednesday, Nov. 30.

He is scheduled to speak three times during the day. At 11 a. m. he will address an all-University convocation on "Solving Students' Mind Problems," in the Union ballroom.

He will participate in a two-hour panel discussion on counseling in Love Library auditorium at 2 p. m. At 8:15 p. m. he will address a public meeting in the Union ballroom on the subject, "A Program for World Health."

Panel Discussion

According to Dr. Samuel I. Fuenning, director of the University's Student Health center, the panel discussion has been planned especially for Nebraska college educators.

During the panel discussion, Dr. Fishbein will discuss "Marriage Counseling."

Other members of the panel will be Chancellor R. G. Gustavson, Dr. Robert S. Wigton, associate professor of neurology and psychiatry; Dr. M. R. Jones, professor of psychology; Dr. Warren R. Baller, director of the University Junior division; Dr. Frank Z. Glick, director, Graduate School of Social Work; and Dr. Charles H. Patterson, professor of philosophy, arts and sciences.

One of First Appearances

Dr. Fishbein's appearance in Lincoln is one of the first he will make in the United States following his return from England where he made a survey of medical practice under England's plan of socialized medicine.

As editor of the Medical Journal, Dr. Fishbein has been a sharp critic of socialized medicine.

Beauty Queen Competition To Open Soon

Preliminary judging for 1950 Cornhusker Beauty Queens will be held Saturday, Dec. 10 from 2 to 5 p. m. at the Faculty lounge in the Union.

The number of candidates a house may enter in the contest is regulated by the amount of Cornhusker Tassels from the house have sold. For every 20 yearbooks sold, the house is entitled to one entry.

Final deadline for submitting names of candidates is Wednesday, Dec. 7, at 5 p. m. These entries should be turned in to Tish Swanson at the Cornhusker office.

Judges

Judging for the preliminaries will be done by adults from Omaha and Lincoln, who will choose twelve semi-finalists to compete in the final contest. The six Beauty Queens will be chosen from photographs by some well-known national figure.

Each candidate must have three pictures taken, including one formal picture taken at Rose Manor studio, paid for by the house she is representing; one informal inside snapshot; and one informal outside snapshot. Pictures must be turned in to Tish Swanson by Dec. 16.

Sophomore, junior and senior women are eligible to be candidates. Women who have been candidates but not one of the six finalists in previous years are eligible.

Civil Service Opens Road, Science Exams

The U. S. Civil Service commission has announced examinations for two types of employment, in the physical sciences and in highway engineering.

Positions available are for Highway Engineer trainee, highway engineer, and highway bridge engineer, and physical science aid. The highway jobs are mainly in the Bureau of Public Roads of the Department of Commerce in Washington, D. C. and throughout the country. A few of the positions may be filled outside of the U. S. The positions of physical science aid are in federal agencies in Washington, D. C. and vicinity.

Highway Positions

The highway engineer positions require some college study and as well as some experience in highway work. Applications will

Four-Day Rest Awaits Students

No University student will have to wait for the hateful alarm clock to go off tomorrow morning. Nor will he have to worry about assignments or about rushing to class on time. It's vacation.

At 8 a. m. Thursday 9,000 University students and the faculty members will be dismissed for the annual fall Thanksgiving vacation.

Classes will resume Monday, Nov. 28 at 8 a. m., with the same group beginning to count the days until the Christmas recess.

March 15-17 Dates of UN Model Meet

The United Nations will return to the University next semester when NUCWA sponsors a model United Nations conference.

After the success of the model UNESCO conference last spring, the UNESCO division of the Nebraska University Council for World Affairs NUCWA has made plans to hold another mock UN session March 15-17.

All organized houses and other students on campus who wish to participate in the model conference are asked to submit first, second and third preference for representation by Dec. 2. Applications may be turned into Irene Hunter, Kappa Delta, or Sue Allen, Women's dorm.

Fifty-Nine Nations.

Fifty-nine nations will be represented in this model conference. The sessions this year will feature model UN general assembly meetings. Delegates will be represented on four commissions: Political and Security; Economic and Financial; Social, Humanitarian, and Cultural; and Trusteeship or Legal.

Each country will have the opportunity to send a number of delegates and a general chairman.

Students not in organized houses are urged to participate in the Basic Democratic Ideals Shown in Best Fraternities

"The kind of fraternities that I like to think we have at the University are the ones that stand for only the best and that understand the basic ideals of democracy," Chancellor Gustavson said last night at an Interfraternity Council dinner.

A fraternity is merely a section of society, he exclaimed. It should be built on the basis that every one or every group on the campus is equal, he went on, and should strive to accept the contributions of these groups.

The Chancellor spoke before approximately 500 fraternity men brought together for the purpose of meeting each other and to aid in bringing fraternities closer to the administration.

Older Leads the Younger.

"A University is merely a paid cooperative effort where an older generation walks hand in hand with a younger generation. Thus, the younger generation might somehow meet the problems more effectively than the generation that is leading them," explained Gustavson.

By accepting this leadership, he said, this generation can make democracy work. Fraternities can play a great part in the development of a successful democracy, he emphasized.

Understanding of the physical, biological and spiritual life of the world were given by the Chancellor as basic considera-

A Thru L Cards Available Dec. 5

Early registration procedures have been announced by the Registrar's office, with students to receive their tickets beginning Dec. 5. Ag college students will not have to obtain tickets.

The procedure will be much the same as in the past.

PBK Chapter Names 15 Members

The Nebraska chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, arts and sciences scholastic honorary, announced election of 15 new members at a meeting Tuesday evening in the Union.

New Members

The new members, comprising the first section of the group which will be chosen from the Class of 1950, are:

Charles R. Bergoffen, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Margie Gentry Hiney, Exeter; David J. Innis, Manila, P. I.; Robert W. Long, Norfolk; LaVerne E. Laird, Lincoln; Dorothy E. Lidolph, Roca; Ardis J. Lostro, Malcolm.

Ruben B. Miller, Sidney; Eloise L. Paustian, Omaha; Benjamin Robinson, Omaha; Carmen I. Shepard, Lincoln; Wendell W. Smith, Wall, S. D.; Edwin L. Stone, Jefferson, Ia.; Robert D. Vanderslice, Lincoln; Mary D. Webber, Lincoln.

90 or Better.

All of those chosen have an average of 90 or better at the University, and all have met the group requirements for membership, according to Dr. Clifford M. Hicks, chapter secretary.

Members of the new class, along with 60 other members of the society heard a lecture by Dr. Ralph M. Wardle, University of Omaha professor of English. Prof. Benjamin Boyce of the University English department, president of the Nebraska PBK chapter, presided.

tions for making a democracy work.

"If you deny any race or nation the right to develop ideas or to solve problems, or deny the basic rights of individuals, then democracy will lose," he pointed out.

A-Bomb As Example

He cited the atomic bomb as an excellent example of all the nations working together. One only needs to take a "roll call of the nations" to find people who contributed to its development, he said.

In the medical field, it was a Negro who found a missing link toward the understanding of arterio sclerosis. He gave other prominent examples of contributions to spiritual, medical, and physical fields—which, if the contributing group had been denied the right to "solve problems" that respective field might have been retarded in its development.

Thus, he concluded, fraternities on our campus are at their best if they stand for the above ideals, and contribute to work towards a successful democracy.

Students will make appointments with their advisers to work out their schedules, carry out the appointment promptly and then meet with the assignment committee in Temporary Building B to work out the final details. The actual procedures will start Dec. 12.

Ag Students.

Students in Ag college will meet with the assignment committee in Room 116, Dairy Industry hall.

Registration cards may be secured as follows: Dec. 5 seniors (89 or more hours on record) whose surnames begin with letters A through L; Dec. 6, seniors whose surnames begin with letters M through Z; Dec. 7, juniors (53 to 88 semester hours on record); Dec. 8, sophomores (27 to 52 semester hours on record); and Dec. 9, Junior Division students.

Students who registered in the Junior Division last time are still in that division unless they have been notified otherwise by the University.

Registration Steps.

Steps in Junior Division registration:

1. Go to the office of your adviser. Find the appointment schedule on, or near, his office door. Write your name on the schedule for a registration appointment, between Dec. 5 and 16.

2. Return to your adviser at the appointed time to make up a program. When this has been done, you will leave the program with your adviser so that the necessary signatures may be affixed before you again pick up your program.

City Campus Procedure.

3. (a) City campus students will get their work schedules at Temporary A according to their assignment numbers. They will then go to Temporary Building B and complete the registration procedures.

(b) Ag students will get their work sheets in Room 116 of the Dairy Industry building. The registration process will be completed in that building.

4. Fees will be paid in January, the dates to be announced in The Daily Nebraskan.

Any questions pertaining to Junior Division registrations will be answered by calling 2-7631, extension 3158, or by coming to the office in Temporary Building A.

A photo salon sponsored by Kappa Alpha Mu, photo-journalism honorary, will be exhibited in Morrill Hall from December 10-20.

The aim of the salon is to encourage students to take an active part in print exhibits, to promote photo-journalism at the University.

All prints entered must be black and white or toned. No color prints will be allowed. Prints must be mounted on 16-20 cards with the title on the front. There will be two classes, news and pictorial.

Entries must be turned in by Dec. 8 to the Pictorial Journalism department. Owners' names and the class entered should be on the back. Journalism students, KAM members, and any student who has taken or is taking a course in photo-journalism or Art 103 is eligible to enter.
