

Five Named for Top Nebraskan

By the Editor

Five nominations rolled into The Daily Nebraskan office on Thursday afternoon as the paper's contest got under way to select two outstanding Nebraskans (one from the faculty or administration and one from the student body) for the first semester citations.

Three of the nominations were for the faculty-administration citation, the other two for the student citation. Nominated so far are:

Faculty-administration: Chancellor R. G. Gustavson, Duane Lake and Prof. Karl Arndt.

Student: Roswell Howard and Ted Gunderson.

Outstanding Administrator. Gustavson's nominator cited the chancellor for being "an outstanding administrator . . . and one of America's foremost scientific leaders." The nominator mentioned Gustavson's work in connection with atomic energy and UNESCO.

Lake was cited for "meritorious work as the director of Union, a position he has filled admirably and capably."

The student who named Arndt said Arndt was a "student's teacher. He knows how to make his courses interesting, and somehow the knowledge you learn in his classes sticks with you . . ."

Howard Named.

Howard's efforts as president of the Student Council were lauded by the faculty member who selected him. The person said that "it is mainly through Howard's work that student government at Nebraska has advanced as far as it has this year. He lends dignity to a position that has often lacked it . . ."

Gunderson was named by a student who said, "Ted was the driving force that made the fall AUF campaign such a huge success." Gunderson led the drive.

The Daily Nebraskan will continue to accept nominations until next Wednesday at noon. Any member of the administration, faculty or student body may make a nomination for each of the two awards.

The only eligibility requirement is that the nominee may not be a member of The Daily Nebraskan staff.

"Cooperative Efforts of the Lutheran Church," Pastor Alvin M. Petersen.

"I hope that the work will start as soon as possible—the sooner the better for us. I think I speak for all the members of the staff when I say that we are all very happy."

Mrs. Clare Denton, business manager of the Theatre declared, "All the plans look very fine, very modern and up to date. I believe the plans will make the University Theatre the best little theatre in the United States."

Step Up Production.

Speaking for the students in Temple building, Clare Denton said the plans should step up production and make more activities in theatre work, available to a larger number of students.

He believes that the remodeled Theatre will do a great deal for the campus.

Dr. Arthur Westbrook, director of the School of Fine Arts, is very happy about the announced plans and believe that they will be just perfect.

information on the contents of the constitution. Only ten students, when asked if they thought the constitution adequate, answered "No."

One girl said, "I think the constitution should be more elastic." Another said she disapproved of the portion on admission to the sessions. "Why the secrecy?" she asked.

-General sentiment, the "pollcats" concluded, was lacking in conviction, and the most frequent reply given to the questions was, "Well, to tell the truth, I don't know too much about it," for the shocked phrase, "What Student Court?"
