Student Questionnaires Rate Teachers College System

Questionnaires filled out and returned by 400 students of Teachers College has given rise to many opinions and suggestions.

Distributed to find just what the students thought of the present system at Teachers College, the forms originated with seven members of a student advisory committee to the Dean.

According to Elizabeth Schneider, chairman, the forms have given a sample of uninhibited answers, some of which are strong criticisms and others praises.

Faculty Called Friendly.

Perhaps most interesting was the fact that students noted the friendliness of the faculty members to students.

Questions included in the forms were:

What course would you add to your department and why?

What course would you eliminate in your department and why?

What course do you like most in Teachers college?

List the things instructors do that they should not do; those things they do not do that they should do.

What are things about the instruction in college that you like?

List constructional suggestions that could be used for the improvement of Teachers college.

Results Satisfying.

Dean Frank E. Henzlik, instrumental in the organization of the student committee, has been well satisfied by the results of the answers which he has reviewed with the committee.

Students also indicated what courses in their opinion are strong and those that are weak.

Student advisor Mary Mielenz stated that the questionnaires help the Dean to know his students better and said that a system can be worked out more to the satisfaction of the students in this manner.

Selected by the chairman of de-ing students, the committee is made up of sophomores, juniors, and seniors.

Convenes Once a Week.

It convenes once a week to discuss problems concerning student-faculty relations, course offerings, instruction, and suggestions for improvement. The main function of the committee is to help the Dean work out methods of improvement and to help him decide issues, affecting students.

Members are Elizabeth Schneider, Dorothy Borgens, Janet Carr, Ralph Hunkins, Sue Koehler, Harry Stayer and Don Vestal.

A later edition will carry the tabulations of the results.

An Ounce of Prevention . . .

This editorial is going to start with a pretty rash statement! But we think it is a fact and bears some thought by the student body.

It is just this—facilities for fire safety and prevention are sadly lacking among organized houses and cooperatives on the campus. To be sure, there are a few fire-conscious groups that have taken the necessary precautions, but for the most part, thoughts of fire prevention and safety have been forgotten amidst formals, house elections, and the "new flame."

Members of one house on campus, in conducting an experimental fire drill, had never even been down their fire escape; in fact some of the occupants were scared to start. Several obstructions, a bed and a screen to be specific, hampered the way to the fire escape. We hesitate to imagine what would have happened if there had actually been a fire.

And this house is not the only one whose facilities are inadequate to cope with a fire. Other houses have admitted certain "exit-difficulties" existing at the present time. Some houses on campus even lack a fire escape or other means of exit except their front stairway.

This is a problem for the Nebraska students that certainly is worthy of additional thought. Why not ask yourself questions similar to these: What would I do in case of fire? Is the way to the fire escape clear and the door unlocked? Have we had a fire drill within the last three months?

Answer these questions satisfactorily and the University of Nebraska will not have to add its name to the list of campuses, like Oklahoma and Iowa, that have had loss of life in organized houses or dormitory fires within the last year.

Letterip

To the Editor:

Might I suggest that The Daily Nebraskan select a Nebraskan of the first half-century. And then, possibly, an all-time Nebraskan might, too, be in order. It is clear that the selection of Man of the Week . . . Man of the Year, etc., is now a firmly entrenched portion of the Daily Nebraskan annual diet. It might be noted that as presumptuous as such selections are, such presumptuousness is puny beside that of the staff members of your periodical who unhesitatingly offer us, "the captive audience" (universal subscription), their All-American football team for 1949.

It seems clear from your recent issues that The Daily Nebraskan is sincere about its threat to name the Nebraska Man of the Year. Since it appears equally clear that you will not be swayed from such an undertaking, and I earnestly so suggest, it is to be hoped that whoever makes the actual selections will do so conscientiously and wisely . . .

—Lee C. White.

(Ed Note—The Daily Nebraskan fully realizes that its task in naming two Men of the Semester will not be an easy one nor one that can be taken lightly. You may rest assured that it will devote much thoughtful consideration to all candidates before making the awards.)
