

Business Group . . . 12 Colleges Attend AKP Convention

Members of the Nebraska chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi, professional business fraternity, played host at a convention of the fraternity Friday and Saturday which was attended by representatives from twelve college and alumni chapters extending over an area from Nebraska to Texas and Louisiana.

The main topics of discussion were district affairs and proposals for concerted action at the fraternity's national convention this summer. Professor Arthur W. Foscoe of Southern Methodist University, retiring District Councilor, brought these matters before the delegates in three joint meetings.

At the first joint meeting Grand President Richard A. Hills of Atlanta, Ga., instructed the groups on the importance of the issues to be presented for discussion and consideration.

Welcome Delegates

At a luncheon Friday Thomas Pansing, acting Mayor of Lincoln; John Tyler, representing Lincoln businessmen, and Dean Fullbrook of the College of Business Administration, welcomed the delegates to the city. A second joint meeting followed the luncheon.

Professor Richard Bourne was toastmaster at an informal banquet Friday evening. The guest speaker was Attorney General James Anderson, who spoke on "Gambling on a Nation-Wide Scale." Barbara Young and Nancy Widener entertained the group with songs and Pat Dutton gave a comedy pantomime.

Install Chapter

The Lincoln alumni chapter of the fraternity was installed at the banquet with Grand President Hills officiating.

Professor J. E. Kane of the University of Arkansas was chosen District Councilor-elect Saturday morning. The professional program of the conference was declared adjourned after a brief address by National Executive Secretary John D. Sparks.

Saturday afternoon the delegates were conducted on a tour of the State Capitol, Morrill hall, and Love Memorial library. A dance at Colner Terrace that evening officially closed the conference.

IVCF Officer Plans Three NU Speeches

Charles Troutman, national associate general secretary of Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship, will speak to the local chapter of IVCF Tuesday, Feb. 28 at 6:45 p. m. in Parlors X and Y of the Union. He will discuss various phases of Christianity on a secular campus.

Troutman

Troutman represents IVCF, an interdenominational student organization, found on over 200 U. S. college campuses and in 15 foreign countries. Altho only ten years old in the U.S., Inter-Varsity was founded at Cambridge University during the last century. IVCF came to the Nebraska campus in 1942 where attendance at weekly meetings now ranges from 60 to 100.

The principles which are embodied in the historic creeds of the church are the key to Inter-Varsity's broad interdenominational backing from evangelical churches that are conservative in their theology and desire to make Christ known among students.

Mr. Troutman, who comes from the Chicago office, will also be spending Wednesday and Thursday on the University campus. Wednesday night he speaks at 7:30 p. m. in room 313 of the Union and Thursday morning at Ag College morning worship at 7:40 a. m. in the Home Ec Parlors.

Mr. Troutman will also be engaged in individual conferences while here.

30 Vets Finish Voc Ag Course

Thirty Ag college graduates have just completed a teacher training course in farm methods offered by the vocational education department.

These men will instruct courses throughout the state as a part of the "On the Farm Veterans Agricultural Program," under the GI Bill. This course is designed for farmers in the state who do not wish to come to college, but want to learn the latest farming methods.

More than 200 night classes are being held at the present time in high schools in all parts of the state. About 6,000 men are now enrolled in these courses. Teachers spend 100 hours a year in instructing these men on their own farms. The government pays for books and instructional aids used by the men.

The state vocational educational staff, in co-operation with the University vocational education faculty instruct graduates of the Ag college in teaching methods. A similar training course is held every two months. The next course will be held some time in May.

World-Herald Features 'Follies'

Men 'Verbotten.'

That is the title of an Omaha World-Herald Sunday feature on the University's annual "Coed follies." A page in the feature section was devoted to a story about the all-female affair. It presented a brief history of the organization and pictures of the various skits.

Prof, Student Will Headline NU Vespers

Dr. J. Jorgenson will be the speaker at the second Vesper service to be held today, Tuesday, Feb. 29, at 5 p. m. in Love Library auditorium. His topic will be "What is Religion?"

Roz Howard will be the student leader at this second service of the Lenten season. Sponsored by the Religious Welfare council, the services will continue on Tuesdays throughout Lent. Joan Fickling heads the committee which includes Jack Lepke, Sharon Fritzier and Dave Keene.

The order of service is prelude, call to worship, invocation, hymn, scripture reading, anthem, special speaker, hymn, benediction and postlude.

Music for today's service will be provided by the members of Mu Phi Epsilon music sorority. Other music groups will provide music for the future services.

The Carillon tower will be used as a call to vespers with selections played by Prof. Myron Roberts of the music department.

Faculty Member Attends Meet

Extension conservationist O. J. McDougal, Jr., is among approximately 80 Nebraska soil conservation district supervisors and their wives who are attending a meeting of the National Association of Soil Conservation District Supervisors at Atlanta, Ga. this week.

The meeting starts Tuesday and continues through Thursday.

UN Assembly Information On Four Issues Available

More information on the model UN assembly issues and procedure will be available for conference delegates when they meet Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in Parlor X of the Union.

The four issues which will be up before the conference pertain to the international police force, aid to underdeveloped countries, UNESCO and South West Africa.

The political and security committee will discuss the question of police power, implementation of Articles 42 and 43 of the United Nations charter. Probable problems arising under this issue include: (1) What should be the size and equipment of the force? (2) What should be the departments of the force? (3) How will membership be determined? (4) What will be the duties of the force?

Economic Aid

The question of economic aid to underdeveloped areas will be taken up by the economic and financial committee at the mock assembly. The committee will consider what countries shall be given aid and what means shall be used to render such aid.

The UNESCO issue, to be handled by the social, humanitarian and cultural committee, will meet two questions, the legitimate area of work for the organization and whether the organization is fulfilling its function.

Trusteeship

The trusteeship committee will devote its energies to the issue of

Janet Carr Crowned Typical Coed 'Taboo' Ignored By Campus Men

Janet Carr stepped through a "Special Edition" of the Coed Follies newspaper to be crowned Typical Nebraska Coed for 1950 as a climax to the annual all-women Coed Follies Monday night.

Miss Carr was announced as the "most typical" of twenty NU coeds who appeared in the fashion show at the Nebraska Theater following the presentation of the skits and curtain acts.

She was introduced by Janet Stratton Eythe, president of AWS, and presented with a crested bouquet of flowers. She appeared in a red velvet formal.

A junior in Teachers college from Lincoln, Miss Carr is a member of the Coed Counselors Board, Student Council, notifications chairman of Tassels, and a member of the Deans Advisory board of Teachers college. She is also secretary of Towne club.

Miss Carr was chosen by members of the AWS board and three faculty members from twenty finalists for the TNC title.

All twenty finalists participated in the fashion show which was built around a theme of newspaper editions. Four editions of the paper were presented, with coeds modeling fashions suitable for the edition. The costumes were described by Marion Batteny, dame fashion for this year. Musical background was provided by Willistine Clark.

Style Show

Alexis, Hertzler Resign As Department Heads

New Language Divisions Created

Several changes in faculty and departmental organization were announced this week by the University Board of Regents. Effective Sept. 1, there will be new chairmen in the sociology and language departments. The department of modern language and literature has been abolished and in its place a department of Germanic languages and a department of romance languages have been created.

Dr. J. E. A. Alexis will retire as chairman of the department of modern languages and literature. He has been a member of the department since 1940. He will continue to teach this fall.

An outstanding linguist, Alexis speaks fluently in a dozen tongues. Author of several language books, he has also written many articles for professional journals in the language field.

Among honors Alexis has received is the Knight of the Order of Vasa, granted him by the king of Sweden in 1944.

Dr. W. K. Pfeiler will head the newly created department of Germanic languages. Pfeiler joined the faculty in 1926. A native of Germany, he became an American citizen in 1932.

Chairman of the department of romance languages will be Dr. Boyd G. Carter. Carter joined the University staff in 1945 as an assistant professor. He is the author of two books and many articles in the field of romance languages.

Dr. J. O. Hertzler asked to be relieved of his duties as head of the department of sociology and anthropology in order that he might have time to write.

Hertzler has been head of the department since 1928 and has been a member of the faculty since 1923. He is the author of a number of books in the field of sociology and many articles. He will continue to teach next fall.

Dr. J. M. Reinhardt will succeed Dr. Hertzler as chairman of the department. He has been a member of the faculty since 1931 and is a national authority in the field of sex criminology.

ASCE to Hear Gov. Peterson

Gov. Val Peterson will be the guest speaker at the March meeting of American Society of Civil Engineers 7:30 p. m. Wednesday in Love Library auditorium.

The Governor's topic, "Public roads in the State of Nebraska," is one of timely importance and ASCE president Dave Cropper has issued a special invitation to all the members of the society. Cropper especially wants freshmen and sophomore members to attend.

This meeting has been set aside as "Ladies Night." The engineers may bring lady friends if they wish.

Lutheran House Plans Vespers

Vesper services will be held Tuesday at the Lutheran Student house, 1440 Q Street. The Rev. Alvin M. Peterson will speak at the service which begins at 7:15 p. m.

All students are invited to attend the 45-minute service. This is the first service in the fourth annual series of Lenten vespers held at the Lutheran house.

Broek to Address Convo Today

A graduate of the University of Utrecht in Holland and present geography department head at the University of Minnesota will speak at the Love Library auditorium, Tuesday, at 11 a. m.

Professor Jan O. M. Broek will address University students on the topic, "Southeast Asia At the Crossroads." Monday, he met with the Seminar on International Affairs.

A former associate professor of geography at the University of California, staff member of the Netherlands Railways, associate at the U. S. Navy School of Military Government, Professor Broek also has contributed to a number of publications.

Male Mistakes 'Follies' for Convocation

A very embarrassed young man walked out of the Nebraska theater last night after the first act of the annual Coed Follies.

With a red face he said that he thought that it was an All-University convocation, and that all students were required to attend.

Upon further questioning by authorities, he admitted that the show was good, but was disappointed because the audience and speakers were all girls. "I should have stayed home and studied," he commented.

After the AWS board ran him through the mill, he admitted that he had gone to the Nebraska theater in the afternoon to a movie and had fallen asleep.

When informed that no afternoon movie was shown Monday, he claimed that he was a workman for Ajax Light company, sent to fix the stage lights.

Too bad L. didn't get to see the rest of the show.

Conference Student Councils Convene Here March 3 and 4

A Big Seven student government convention will be held March 3 and 4 on this campus. Plans have been announced by Shirley Allen, chairman of the Student Council planning committee.

The convention, sponsored by the Nebraska Student Council will be the first of its kind held in the Big Seven conference. All of the schools in the conference—Colorado, Iowa State, Kansas U., Kansas State, Missouri, Nebraska, and Oklahoma, will be represented.

One of the highlights of the conference will be a banquet Friday, March 3 at the Cornhusker hotel, at which the guest speaker will be Harry Carlson, dean of students at Colorado University. A personal friend of Chancellor R. G. Gustavson, Carlson was basketball coach at Colorado before assuming his present position.

Other members were Mary Helen Mallory, advisory board chairman; Fritz Simpson, LaVerna Acker, Neal Atkinson, advisory board members; Jo Lisher, head solicitor; Ginny Koch, treasurer; Bill Dugan, special events chairman; Joel Bailey, speakers bureau; Jan Lindquist, secretary; Judy Loder, clerical head; Gene Berg, publicity director; Tish Swanson, assistant publicity director and Mary Frances Johnson, ag college director.

Bizad Reports Sales Drop In Nebraska

Retail sales in eight of Nebraska's principal cities in January showed the usual seasonal drop from December, the University of Nebraska Business Administration College reported Monday.

For the state, retail sales last month were 29.7 per cent below the December level.

The college's Department of Business Research reported also that for Nebraska retail sales in January, 1950 were 5.6 per cent better than for the same month a year ago. But the department hung a caution sign on these figures.

Dr. Edgar Palmer, department head, said Nebraska's sales were abnormally low a year ago because of the blizzard. He said that a "more nearly normal" figure might be two per cent down.

Here are the figures for the reporting cities:

| | Ratio of Jan. 1950 Retail Sales to Jan. '50 Dec. '49 |
|---------------|--|
| Nebraska | 5.6% -29.7% |
| Omaha | -1.6 -24.3 |
| Lincoln | 5.3 -31.2 |
| Grand Island | 18.1 -28.0 |
| Scottsbluff | 41.5 -23.0 |
| McCook | 6.5 -24.3 |
| Nebraska City | 27.2 -30.7 |
| Hastings | -3.0 -29.3 |
| Fremont | 16.6 -20.0 |

NU-Meds to Hear Lincoln Doctor

A Lincoln pediatrician, E. W. Hancock, is slated to give his views on the Child Health Survey, at the second monthly meeting of the Nu-Med society, Wednesday, March 1.

The meeting will be held at the Union, Parlor X at 7:30 p. m. New officers elected at the last meeting will preside. They are Stan Jeffrey, president; Arnold Krause, vice president, Walt Gass, secretary; and Kent Axtell, publicity chairman.

Draft News Good For College Men

Under the present draft law passed in 1948, students need have little fear of its interrupting their college career.

All males upon reaching the age of 18 are still required to register, but classification will not affect them until calls are made through Selective Service.

It is reasonably sure that no calls will be made during the current year. In case calls are received, students can finish the year in which he receives the call and there is a minimum of sixty days' notice between the time of a call and the actual induction.

During the past three years the Navy has not used the draft law, the Air Force and Marine Corps have long waiting lists and the Army took less than 30,000 draftees so students can rest assured that their chances of being called are slim.
