KU Grad's 'Little Man' Cartoons Typify College

If you've ever wondered just who was the originator of the 'Little Man on Campus' series of cartoons, he's Dick Bibler... Several of the well known collegiate cartoons have appeared in previous issues of The Daily Nebraskan.

Continued from Page 1 Joe Klischuk gave the Ukrainian Hopak dance in native costume, and the native dance, known to many as the Russian Cossack dance, was done in authentic style. Klischuk also displayed handwork by Ukrainian women and wore an heirloom shirt as part of his attire.

The "South American Combo" that has been arranged and sponsored by Bob Webster, American student, featured a group of seven students with music from their native lands.

Other musical numbers included a vocal solo by a Norwegian student; "Innovations in Oriental Music" by Bob Faard, Persian student; and a vocal duet by a Norwegian and Latvian student.

Representing the United States was the Farm House Quartet. A style show of foreign costumes was also featured.

Co-chairmen for the banquet were Miriam Willey and Vladimír Layko.

Table decorations consisted of cardboard globes of the United Nations set in plastic stands. Flags of different nations were used as ballroom decorations.

Alice Jo Smith, Religious Welfare council member, was in charge.
