

Jr. Ak-Sar-Ben...

Champion Showman Honors to Lundeen

Gay Lundeen was named Grand Champion Showman at the annual Junior Ak-Sar-Ben show Saturday night. He was chosen from five class champion showmen by Ed Janike, state 4-H club leader.

Lundeen placed first in the sheep showing and fitting class. His sheep, "W. P. Pride," won him the top honor given in the show. Lundeen's name will be engraved on a trophy presented by the Nebraska Live Stock Breeders and Feeders Association.

Reserve Champ
Claton Yeutter was honored as Reserve Champion Showman, having won first place in the beef showing and fitting class. He showed a Hereford named "Martha Bocaldo 2d."

Other class winners and competitors for the Grand Champion Showman honor were Bev Shuman in horse showing and fitting, Ralph Hild in hog showing and fitting, and Bill Moore in dairy showing and fitting.

Second place winners in each class were Paul Stokely, horses; Dean Eberspacher, sheep; Dean Linscott, hogs; Marvin Panetz, dairy; and Delmar Wittler, beef. Winners in the Cood Riding Western Style class were Jean McNaught, first; Virginia Baskin, second. This class was not judged on showmanship.

Alexander Honored.
Junior Ak-Sar-Ben is presented annually by the Block and Bridle club. Prof. and Mrs. M. A. Alexander were honored by the club on their 16th annual presentation. Prof. Alexander served as faculty advisor of the Nebraska chapter from 1931 to 1941 and is also serving as national president of Block and Bridle. Present advisor of the club is Prof. C. Adams.

Also presented at the show were the meat judging team, senior livestock judging team and junior livestock judging team.

Taking the highlight in specialty acts were the trick horses, King of Diamonds and Queen of Hearts, owned by Ed Pillar, and ridden by Austin Smith, both of Scotland, S. D. Dancing to organ music, they performed singly and together.

Another of the specialty acts was a working Border Collie, Lad, owned by Prof. Alexander and handled by W. T. Ezy, worked together with Susie, another Border Collie, getting the sheep through a gateway and into a designated spot.

Jumping Horses.
A jumping horse exhibition was highlighted by the performances of Ed Ackerman, Clyde Henson and Anita Ackerman.

The last specialty performance was a cutting horse exhibition by Jim Monahan and Jim Curtis. The cowboys separated a calf from the herd leaving the work to the horses. Each rider was given three minutes for his cutting horse exhibition.

Master of ceremonies for the evening was Robert Raun. Show Manager was Stan Lambert. Lambert and Wilbur Pauley acted as co-ring masters.

Opening the show was Richard Hudson as he presented the United States flag, riding Dixie from the Colonial Court Stables in Lincoln.

The show was held at the 4-H arena on the state fair grounds.

Ag Coeds Plan 'Career Days' Talk Monday

"Home Economics in Business" will be discussed at a meeting Monday, April 3, at 4 p. m. in the Home Ed social parlors. The meeting is open to all students interested in a Home Economics career.

The meeting will be in the form of a report from those students who attended the HEIB's "Career Days" in Chicago April 24-25. Students who attended the conference were Lois Elwell, Jean Fenster, Carol Higgins, Della Holstein, Peg McGeechup and Janet Pierce.

All five students are clothing and textiles majors. They plan to put special emphasis on the job opportunities in the fashion and textile world.

National Organization

HEIB is the national organization for Home Economics women in business. The "Career Days" conference is an annual program presented by HEIB in the larger cities throughout the country. Students from colleges all over the country may attend the conference to get a better idea of the job opportunities available in the various phases of Home Economics.

Leading women in each Home Ec field presented the picture of jobs in their field to the some 250 college students who attended the Chicago conference. Such noted women as Martha Logan and Mary Mead were among the speakers.

Students also were taken on tours to business houses pertinent to their interests. Nebraska students visited the J. Walter Thompson Advertising Agency, the Chicago Daily News, Merchandise Mart, Eisenberg's, Marshall Fields, Aigona, Sears Roebuck & Co., and others.

NU To Offer 502 Courses In Summer

Four Different Sessions Listed

An extensive 1950 summer session offering 502 subjects has been planned by the University.

The fifty-sixth session of its kind, the program includes four different types of sessions. Eight, six and four weeks sessions are offered concurrently. A post session in health education is also offered.

Major emphasis is placed on the eight-weeks session during which students may register for eight or nine semester hours.

The eight-weeks session begins June 6 and ends July 28. The six-weeks session begins at the same time and is completed July 14. Information revealing the courses offered was published last month and may be obtained by writing to the Director of the Summer Session, University of Nebraska, Lincoln 8.

Courses in the summer program are equivalent in method, character and credit values to those offered during the regular school year. The curriculum ranges from undergraduate degree courses to graduate courses leading to the master's and doctor's degree. The work offered has been especially planned to meet the needs of all types of students.

Registration
Registration procedures are simple. Students are urged to complete the registration prior to June 7.

All undergraduate students entering the University for the first time should apply to the Office of Admissions for proper application forms. It is desirable to have applications for admission to the summer session directed to the Director of Admissions, 103 Administration Hall.

Housing facilities for both men and women students during the session will be available. The Residence Halls for Women will be open as well as the new residence halls for men. According to officials, the cost for room and meals will be reasonable. For reservations or information concerning cooperative dormitories and other types of housing, women may write to Director, Residence Halls for Women, or Ellen Smith Hall. Men may write to Director, Residence Halls for Men, Administration Hall.

Other Courses.

In addition to the programs already announced, there will be added any course for which there is sufficient demand on the part of interested students, or for which the need may arise between now and the opening of the summer session.

Features of the session are laboratory schools, especially for teachers, and the Fine Arts All State course, especially for high school students.

The laboratory schools provide nursery, elementary and practice teaching. The All-State program offers a University experience in music, dramatics, speech and art for Nebraska high school students. In addition is an all-University program including three special convocations, programs in music, dramatics and art featuring some of the nation's finest artists.

Bulletin Planned

The Union in cooperation with the University is planning a summer school bulletin explaining the Union entertainment program and an outline of the University entertainment program such as plans of the physical education department.

The bulletin will be published in the early part of May. A complete picture of the summer session may be obtained by asking for an announcement pamphlet at the Administration building, Registrar's office, or Teachers College building, Room 305.

Worcester's Men Fine Pranksters

Worcester college has solved the problem of what to do when college property gets damaged as a result of water fights, room battles and other destruction.

Fines will be assessed the students on the basis of a table of values. Items damaged as a result of prankish action will be replaced from a "kitty" which consists of the fine money and the damage replacement funds. Thus if a professor, glancing over his shoulder, break a chair, he shall not only pay into the "kitty" the cost of the chair, but also a fine. The college will then replace the broken chair from the funds available.

The action was taken by the men's self-government council at the college. The new plan in being substituted for the college plan to assume control on all fine and property damage assessments, has been formulated so that the men's self-government council may better be able to maintain self-government and encourage more self-responsibility.

Medical College Admits 84 Students for Fall Term

The University College of Medicine's first year class for the 1950 fall term is already completely filled. Eighty-four students, all but three of whom reside in Nebraska, have been selected.

According to Dean Harold C. Lueth, all of the students have accepted their appointments. The 84 students were chosen from 284 applicants.

The selections to the Omaha school were made on the basis of high school and pre-medical scholarship, personal interviews, character, and scores in admissions examinations.

The students accepted: Allen J. Alderman, Chadron; Lee Bob Anderson, Grand Island; Phillip D. Anderson, Omaha; Alyce L. Bezman, Omaha; Samuel F. Blattspieker, Tobias; Edward A. Brewer, Ogalala; William H. Bunstock, McCook; Robert C. Chase, Broken Bow; Donald W. Cherry, Adams; John W. Chleborad, Alliance; Ruth E. Christensen, Lincoln; Edgar M. Cleaver, jr., Venango; Elwin K. Connor, Omaha; Donn H. Crilly, Superior; David R. Davis, Lincoln; Earl J. Dean, Lincoln; Harold D. Dahlheim, North Bend; Carl G. De Belly, McGrew; Robert W. Delaplane, Omaha; Keith F. Pageant, Talks Planned for Holy Week

Holy Week will be observed on the University campus this week with a religious pageant, an inter-denominational Communion service, and pastor speakers at student houses.

Observance of the Holy Week will begin Monday night, when approximately sixty pastors lead discussions at campus houses and organizations. Other houses will be visited by religious speakers on Tuesday night.

Wednesday, the annual all-campus Communion service and pageant will be held in Emmanuel Chapel, 16th and G streets at 7:30 p. m. Students of all faiths have been invited to attend the service. Ministers and students planning the service have emphasized the fact that students are invited even though they will not be able to take part in the Communion service.

The Communion will be administered congregational style, (at the seats), by Jack Lepke, Rex Knowles, C. B. Howells, and Chuck Kemp. Ag and city campus YM and YW members will assist in serving the Communion.

Replacing the meditation period at the service will be a pageant presented by the Wesley Players. The pageant, "Challenge of the Cross," is a religious drama built around the meaning of the cross to all men. Each disciple represents a different attitude in the pageant.

Students who will take part in the religious drama include Carol Joyce, Carl Howe, Greta Faye Mix, Paul Rundle, Molly Brittanham, and Beatrice Smiles. The players are being directed by Richard Nutt, Methodist student pastor.

Alabama U Plans To Kill Cheating

The University of Alabama is going all out to try to "kill" cheating on their campus.

The new system, which has received unanimous approval of the college president and college deans, will try to eliminate cheating on examinations by alternating seating arrangements, by using alternate sets of questions, more grading on effect and less emphasis on final examinations, and generally trying to improve the personal honesty of all students on the campus.

Under the new plan, students would take an anti-cheating pledge and would report all non-observance of the rule. Violators to the cheating ban would be placed before the new student court.

Faculty-Student Committee Airs Teacher Rating Plan

Junior Men
All junior men with activity points are requested to submit their names, addresses and telephone numbers to Merle Stalder, president of the Innocents Society, by 5 p. m., Thursday, April 13. This information should be left in the Innocents mailbox in the Union basement. Requirements for junior standing are defined by the registrar as follows: Colleges of Pharmacy and Law, at least 84 and no more than 100 credit hours completed; remaining colleges, at least 53 and no more than 68 credit hours completed.

Youths Waive Hearing; Pay $40,000 Bond

The six former University students who have been charged with assault with intent to commit rape, waived preliminary hearing in Municipal court Friday and furnished a total of $40,000 bond for trials during the current jury term of Lancaster county's district court.

County Attorney Frederick Wagnen dismissed the first count of a two-count complaint originally filed against David M. Darlington and James E. Beal. Fresh complaints were filed immediately against the two youths. Both pleaded not guilty and waived preliminary hearing.

The effect of the new charges was to raise the bond required from each of the two youths to $10,000. It had formerly been $7,500 from each, $5,000 on the first count and $2,500 on the second.

Time of Trials
The first of the trials will probably take place during the second week of the district court jury term, which opens Monday. It is expected that the trials of the six defendants will take place in the following order:

David M. Darlington, who pleaded not guilty and waived preliminary hearing on separate state complaints charging offenses against two 16-year-old Lincoln girls on March 17 and 18.

James E. Beal faces charges identical with those brought against Darlington.

Alan J. Bayley is charged with an offense on March 17. Edward E. Angle is charged with an offense on March 18. It is also charged that the two affairs took place in his home.

Don L. Eicher is charged with an offense on March 17. Robert W. Fulk is charged with an offense on March 17.

Those who came later than 9 a. m. Friday to watch the proceedings were turned away because of the crowd already in the courtroom.

The county attorney says he expects to file information against the group in district court Saturday and hopes to arraign them Tuesday.

NU Alum to Head Infantry Division

Major James F. Kudrna, graduate of the University college of Business Administration in 1939, has been assigned as G-3 of the 10th Infantry Division, replacing Lieutenant Colonel Albert Butler.

Major Kudrna, who will be in charge of plans and training for the Division, has been assistant G-3 since November, 1946. During the war he served two and one-half years in the southwest Pacific area, his stations including Hawaii, New Guinea and the Philippines. He later was assigned to Korea. His awards include the Bronze Star with Oak Leaf Cluster.

Erwin, Colquitt to Head Chem Division of E-Week

Engineer's Week co-chairmen for the chemical engineers are James V. Erwin and Earl M. Colquitt.

"Smiling Jim" Erwin is known almost as well for his "jokes" as for his high scholarship. Besides belonging to the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, Erwin is a member of three honorary societies—Sigma Tau (engineering), Pi Mu Epsilon (mathematics) and Phi Lambda Upsilon (chemistry).

Before entering college Erwin spent three years in the army, one and one-half years of which were on Guam. During this time he was an air corps hydraulics instructor.

Erwin claims Falls City as his home, but for the present is settled in Huskerville with his wife and two children. He finds time, too, for sports (he is AICHE sports director) and music (he played trumpet during high school and in an army band.)

Group to Examine Similar Programs at Other Colleges

Three students, one administration member, and two faculty members met Friday to determine the nature of the requests by students for teacher-rating at the University.

The faculty and administration men were appointed by the liaison committee between the faculty and administration. They are: Ephraim Hixson, associate director of resident teaching at Ag college; E. Roger Washburn, professor of chemistry, and Carl W. Borgmann, dean of faculties.

Mayer Moskowitz, chairman of the scholarship committee of the Student Council, was appointed by that body to head the subcommittee, which met in Dean Borgmann's office. Betty Greer and Bruce Kennedy, both Council members, volunteered to attend the meeting.

Those present agreed with a suggestion by Dean Borgmann that a teacher-rating system should be on a voluntary basis if one is developed at Nebraska.

Contact Other Schools

It was decided at the meeting that other schools would be contacted in order to determine the nature of various teacher-rating systems in use currently. A new meeting between students and faculty is planned for some time in the future. In the meantime, the committee will look over material gathered and try to develop a plan.

During the first part of March, 300 University students were polled and 294 of them were in favor of teacher-rating. They were asked whether they would rate instructors objectively if a system were established, whether they thought teacher ratings should be carried out to a definite scale or on the basis of general criticisms in the student's own words, and whether they thought instructors would consider rating valid criticisms and as a result attempt to improve their teaching in accordance with suggestions.

64 Favor Scale

Sixty-four percent favored a definite scale and 62 percent believed that instructors would carry through their part of the system. Two hundred and ninety-four said they were in favor of objective rating. A majority of those polled felt that teachers would gain by such a system.

In a poll of 43 instructors made by The Daily Nebraskan a week later 85 percent were in favor of teacher-rating. The scale most favored was the Purdue teacher rating scale which appeared in The Daily Nebraskan on Feb. 28. Many of them opposed having such a system campus wide. Teachers in some departments are already being rated by one means or another. Teachers college instructors favored rating courses instead of teachers.

E-Week Banquet Tickets on Sale

Engineer's Week banquet tickets are now on sale through representatives of the individual engineering societies.

The 1950 banquet will be held April 28 in the Union ballroom. The dinner dance plan, which proved successful last year, will again be used. Fizz Powell's band will play.

Tickets will be sold by couple only and total cost is $4.80. Sales begin early in order to give everyone a chance before the end of the month.

Highlight of the evening will be the giving out of awards to engineers for outstanding achievements and to departmental winners in displays and field day. The "Sledge" is also distributed at this time.

The banquet will begin at 8:30 p. m. and the dance at 9 p. m.

University To Obtain Art Works

Several art works which have been on exhibit at the 1950 Nebraska Art Association show have been recommended for purchase for the Hall collection of the University.

Frederick A. Sweet, from the Art Institute of Chicago, and Otto Karl Bach, of the Denver Art museum, made the recommendations. They are subject to approval of the Chancellor and the University board of regents.

Paintings recommended are: John Heliker, "Mediterranean Landscape," oil; Everett Spruce, "The Desert," oil; Theodoros Stamos, "Scar Thread," oil; Mark Tobey, "Icon," tempera.

Drawings
Paul Klee, "Seeking Balance," watercolor and ink; Henry Moore, "Draped Reclining Figures," watercolor and ink.

Prints
John Sloan, "Memories," etching; Jose Clemente Orozco, "La Bandera," lithograph.

Sculpture
Gaston Lachaise, "Head of Marin," bronze; Marino Marini, "Horseman," bronze; William Zorach, "Adam," granite boulder. The Art association is also purchasing two paintings from this year's exhibit. One is "Church Above the River," by Raymond Breinin, and the other is "Noiraude," by Miss Cornelia Ruhtenberg.

Easter Holiday Travel Bureau Open in Union

Are you wondering how and when you will get home for Easter?

Perhaps your worries are over if you use the Union's "Travel Bureau." The service recently established by the Union Activities office makes it possible for drivers wishing passengers, or persons desiring rides, to make arrangements through the "Bureau."

Completely new to Nebraska, the program is provided to expedite matters for both parties. Any University student is welcome to use the service. Each day, too, information about possible rides and passengers will be posted on the bulletin just outside the activities office.

Cards for both parties will seek the following information: name, phone number, the desired destination, time of departure, time of arrival and whether the passenger would be willing to share expenses. Also, the driver will be required to include the make and model of his car. References will also be necessary for both parties.

The program is not only open to students—faculty members may also use the new service. Those wishing to take advantage of the free service are urged to make their arrangements now. Before announcements are posted the applications must be approved by the office.

Nebraska SDA Chapter Formed

The Nebraska chapter of the "Students of Democratic Action" was organized by a group of University students at the Union Thursday night. Audrey Rosenbaum was named temporary chairman, with Paul Wieck as vice-chairman and Ben Wall as secretary-treasurer.

The organization is the student branch of the "Americans For Democratic Action" group. In a statement announcing its formation, the chapter declared itself to be "a liberal group backing cooperatives." Its stated ideals are "academic freedom for professors, a strong civil rights program, and the FEPC (Fair Employment Practices Committee)."

At a meeting next Thursday night, the SDA group will adopt a constitution and formulate plans for future activity. Proposed activity includes work in the fall elections on state and local levels. The group states that it will take no action in student politics.

Study Hall 'In,' Date Rate 'Out'

Freshman coeds at the University of Alabama, who are on the honor role aren't getting an extra date night any more.

The office of the Dean of Women at the school has discontinued the practice of excusing girls from study hall. Under the new dormitory regulations, a first year coed will be able to date only on certain nights.

Under the former plan, if a girl received a 2.0 average, (equivalent to an 8.0 at NU), she had the opportunity to skip out one extra night a week. These excusations were called "date nights."

JAMES V. ERWIN, Engineer's Week co-chairman for chemical engineers.

EARL COLQUITT, chemical engineer who is one of his department's Engineer's Week co-chairmen.
