Reds Down Whites, 19 to 0 In Saturday Scrimmage

Mueller Tallies Twice as Reds Continue to Dominate

By Bob Banks and Ira Epstein

The Red squad members continued to dominate play over the White squad last Saturday as they downed the hapless Whites, 19-0, for their third straight victory.

Eleven hundred and fifty fans viewed Coach Glassford's boys in action during the warm afternoon.

In the first quarter the Reds got off to a lightning start by driving for a touchdown in the opening six plays. The boys were given the ball on their own 35-yard line, and on the first play Bill Mueller streaked down field for 30 yards. Bill Maxe brought him down on the White 35-yard line.

After one more down, Nick Adduci made his way to the 21-yard line where Dick Geoglein made the tackle. Mueller again took over the ball handling, bringing the ball down to the nine; then Adduci took the ball over in two more plays.

Fran Nagle converted for the extra point.

The Reds passed the goal line stripes once more in the first period when Nagle hit Frank Simon for a 46-yard pass completion.

However, the touchdown was nullified for illegal use of the hands on the part of the Reds.

The Whites showed their only fire in the first quarter with Bobby Reynolds, Bob Schreiner and Don Bloom teaming up for a 41-yard march.

As the quarter ended, the Whites again had the ball as Bloom raced from his own 44-yard line to the Red 11.

With the opening of the second quarter, Bloom knocked off another 3-yard gain, and Buster Lehman sneaked off center to the Red 4. Reynolds then fumbled the ball losing 2 yards, and Lehman finished the White scare as he drove to the 2-yard line, missing a first down by inches.

The gridders slowed down in the remainder of the second quarter with neither team making any great progress.

The second touchdown, coming in the third stanza, was the result of a 61-yard march. Ron Clark clipped off five yards from his own 39 to his 44. Mueller got two more yards, and Adduci added another 3 for a first down.

Mueller warmed up with another seven yards, and then exploded with a 44-yard touchdown sprint. Nagle's attempt for the extra point was no good.

The Red's third tally also came in the third quarter; this time the result of a 80 yard march. Clark again started things rolling by moving the ball for six yards to his 26-yard line.

Nagle hit the air lanes with a eight yard pass to Simon and another eight yard pass to Rich Novak with Mueller adding two yards on the ground.

A Nagle to Adduci lateral netted five yards, and Mueller again stole the show by breaking off the right offensive tackle with a 39 yard effort for his second marker. Nagle's attempt was again no good.

Stand-outs in the White defense were Geoglein, who played most of the game; Tom Paynich; Carl Brasse; Art Bauer; Ray Rifenbark; and Hy-T Thibault in the forward wall. Sparking the backfield were Dick Heacox, Jim Sommers, Dono Bloom, and Leo Winey.

Red defensive stand-outs in the line were Rich Novak, Bob Manton, Bob Mullen, Walt Spellman, Don Strasheim, and Verl Scott.

Varied Program In Potsy's Job

BY BOB BANKS

If the American ambassador to Russia often finds himself swamped with diplomatic problems, then he should come to the University of Nebraska and assume the role of Director of Athletics. It is his job to satisfy the desires of everyone from the average sports fan on up to the Chancellor.

But Nebraska is fortunate in having George "Potsy" Clark as head of its athletic department.

Diplomacy is the by-word of "Potsy". In his position he is head of all public relations for the athletic department. This includes answering to the faculty for all of the actions of the sports department. If a disagreement arises between the two, he is the one who must iron out the problem.

Coordinator He acts as coordinator of the athletic department, Clark keeps things running smoothly among the Cornhusker coaches concerning such things as equipment and schedules.

He sees to it that every man in the athletic department is doing his job properly and with adequate help.

"Potsy" represents Nebraska at most of the athletic meetings, both nationally and in the Big Seven. If he is unable to attend these meetings then he must see to it that someone is present at them. In this position Clark meets many of the greatest sports names in the nation.

He shapes the athletic policy of Nebraska. He states its objectives, the things it wants, stands for, and expects.

Clark must also be active in the student activities. He is advisor to the N. Club. He works with such organizations as the Innocents, Tassels, Corncobs and the University Builders.

Fine Background "Potsy" has a fine background for his position, both as a participant in sports and the many jobs he has held in the sporting world.

He was a member of the 1914-1915 University of Illinois football and baseball teams. He was all-conference quarterback and played shortstop on the varsity nine.

In 1917 he was a member of a service team which won the football championship of America. It won the European title in 1919.

He also played on a championship service baseball team for two years. On this team were two all-time greats of pro baseball in George Cleveland Alexander and Clarence Mitchell.

He has coached football at Kansas, Illinois, Minnesota, Butler and Michigan State. In the professional ranks he coached the Detroit Lions for ten years.

Original Member Clark was an original member of the Board of Trustees of the National Football Coaches' Association of America. He has served on numerous rules committees.

The versatile "Potsy" has written two books on football, one basketball, and one on baseball. Clark first came to Nebraska as Head Football Coach in 1945. He returned in a similar position in 1948. In 1949 he gave up coaching in order to devote all of his time to being Athletic Director.

High Scorers Dominate the Fraternity 'A' All-Star Team

I-M Managers Select Five Unanimously to First Team

BY BILL MUNDELL

(Acting Sports Editor)

Five men were unanimously placed on the Fraternity "A" All-Star Team Saturday. The All-Star line-up, selected by the intramural managers and their teams, awarded to these five players the maximum possible votes. All four leagues were represented on the 'star' outfit.

Holding down the forward berths on the 'All' line-up are Darrell Heiss of Farm House and Jim Walsh of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Walsh and Heiss finished one-two in the all-university scoring department this season. Heiss' 183 markers was surpassed only by the Sig Eps' 189. (Editor's note: both could slip a peg in the point scoring rankings. Jack Wallentine of the Newman Club has one game remaining and currently holds 180 points).

In the other half of the scoring division, Walsh has virtually assured himself of the University's top average per game. The Sig Ep flash scored an average of 18.9 points per contest, an average that will withstand any Wallentine threat up to 30 points. (Wallentine's current average is 18.0).

Heiss, on the other hand, is firmly entrenched in fourth place in this department with a game average of 16.6 markers.

Heiss was the sparkplug of the Farm House fast break, making half of his points just a step ahead of his defense. The rest of his counters came through his amazing jump shot that was unguardable. He almost led his mates to a second consecutive all-university championship.

Walsh's speed was his greatest asset, also, as he worked to perfection on the front end of the Sig Ep fast break. His greatest scoring exhibition came in the Phi Psi contest when his shooting netted him a total of 36 points. His effort broke the university scoring record of Heiss' which was later broken again.

Suma at Center At the pivot spot on the all-star delegation is Subby Ruma of Beta Theta Pi. Ruma was the star of a team that finished third in its league. A good pivot man, he had an uncanny shot from the center as 1.1s 10.3 points per game will tell you.

In the guard positions, the I-M managers put Mack Robinson of Alpha Tau Omega and Randy Renken of Phi Gamma Delta.

Robinson was the scoring ace on the champion 'Tau outfit averaging 12.6 counters a contest. On top of his flashy scoring ability, he was a great defensive stalwart for the ATO's.

Renken was also the star of the Fijis, a team that was barely nudged from the playoffs. He was an all-around performer in both the Fiji offense and defense. A smart ball player, he also led his mates in the scoring column with 132 markers.

So there you have it. The five men the managers and players thought were the best they faced during the season.

Terrific Second Team The five men comprising the second team could give any outfit on campus a battle all the way. All five missed a unanimous vote by only one ballot.

Two groups were represented on both line-ups. The champion ATO's and the Sig Eps each added a second man from their rosters to the second team.

Jack Carroll of the Taus and Tom Loisel of the Eps are placed in the forward slots. Both took a back seat in publicity to their mates, Robinson and Walsh, but both were top-notch players who did more than their share in boosting their teams to high standings.

Carroll was the high scorer for the Taus, spurling in the last few contests to pad his total. All told, his shots netted a total of 160 points.

Carroll, Fast He was perhaps the fastest Tau on the floor during their games and could sink every kind of shot in the book. Most of his importance to the ATO attack came on the front of their fast break. For as small as he was, he continually got more than his share of the rebounds.

Loisel was always handy in case his mate Walsh should falter. His point average per game of 11.1 helped keep the Sig Eps far in front of their opposition.

Center position on the second team was voted to Elmer Vandell of Delta Tau Delta.

Vandell was the spark that kept the Deltas on top until the very last. He was one of the most outstanding centers in intramural basketball this year and copped the Delt scoring honors with 135 markers to his credit.

His worth to the Delt attack was not limited only to scoring, however, as he cleared the boards consistently and continually provided good shots for his mates.

At the guards, the votes went to Joe Gurnett of Sigma Nu and Mel Williams of Brown Palace.

Gurnett Great Gurnett was the all-around performer that carried the Nu's to the Fraternity "A" finals. His main contribution to the Sigma Nu's was his defensive prowess. Every man he guarded this year scored less than ten points, even the scoring champions.

On top of this, he was the second highest scorer for the Nu's with 106 counters.

Phog Nominated For Cage Honor

Four men were nominated Monday by the National Basketball Coaches association for consideration as "Basketball's Outstanding Man of the Year" award for 1950, according to the Associated Press.

They are Herb Read, retiring coach at Western Michigan college; George Edwards, former University of Missouri coach and head of the national rules committee; Coach Phog Allen of University of Kansas; and Coach Arthur "Dutch" Lonborg, Northwestern now K. U. athletic director.

of the Brown Palacers and starred on the mediocre outfit. His ball handling was terrific as he continually set up scoring plays for his team-mates. While not the top Palace scorer, he added 92 to their cause during the season.

Six men were barely edged from the two line-ups and led the honorable mention department. They were Bob Bull of the Beta Sigs, Bob Allen and Jack Cady of the Phi Deltas, Ralph Damkroger of Pioneer Co-op, and Neal Prince of the Sig Chi's.

Others receiving honorable mention in the balloting were Hobe Jones of ATO, Lyle Altman of Sig Nu, Gardner Johnson and Jim Sharp of Delta Tau Delta, and Ted Connor of Sigma Chi.

BILL MUELLER—Veteran from Omaha scored two touchdowns in Saturday's scrimmage. The first came on a 44-yard sprint and the second one was scored from 39-yards out.

Baseballers Get Outside Saturday

BY IRA EPSTEIN

Baseball Coach Tony Sharpe took advantage of the weekend warm weather by taking his aspirants outside for the first time.

Saturday's workouts were featured with one hour of batting practice, a half hour of infield and outfield drills, and a four and one-half inning scrimmage to conclude the afternoon session.

For the scrimmage, Sharpe divided his squad into two units, using the same pitcher with both teams.

Other members are Harold Bonness, first base from Archer; Harlan Powley, right field from Pender; and Bob Steinberger, Schuyler, behind the plate.

The second group had Bob Hinde from Salina, Kas., at right field; Ray Mladovich, Omaha, at first base; Bob Grogan, Lincoln, at shortstop; and Tom Novak, Omaha, at catcher.

Completing the lineup were Bill Fitzgerald, Omaha, left field; Bob Gates, Omaha center field; Bernie Akromis, Omaha, at third base, and Warren Jensen, Cozad, at second base.

Bob Camp, West Point, took the pitching chores for the first two innings.

Novak Homers Scoring in the first inning came when Novak belted a 0-2 ball over the fence with one on on. Grogan got on because of an infield error.

Novak's group added one more run in the second when Hinde walked and Mladovich drove him in with a single.

Linus Vroka, Utica, took over the pitching duties in the third inning, and the other group managed to get one run off of him. Hayes lived on another error, advanced to second when Denker walked, and raced home on a long fly to the outfield.

The first group added one more run in the fourth, and the second squad batted in another three, making the score 6-2, going into the fifth inning.

Taking advantage of another hurler, the third team exploded with eight runs in the top half of the fifth. Collecting hits were Diers with a single, Hayes with a single, Moritz with a single, and Powley and Cerv with doubles.

After this barrage of runs, Sharpe sent the boys to the showers.

The boys are leaving for their first road trip next Sunday morning. They will be hampered by the loss of Elroy "Lefty" Gloystein, veteran pitcher who will definitely be out for the first of the season.

Sharpe commented that it will be doubtful if Gloystein will be available for any part of this year. "Lefty" has been bothered with a sore back.

Phi Deltas Stretch Lead; New Water B-B Schedule

Phi Delta Theta widened its hold on first place in water-basketball League I Friday night by trouncing the Alpha Tau Omega swimmers, 7-4. The win gives the Phi Deltas a perfect record of three wins to date.

Bob Phelps was top scorer for the winning Phi Deltas in Friday's contest with three points. Dick Russell and Steve McKenzie of the victors each garnered two markers. Doyle Busckohl and Frank Collopy divided the ATO points between them.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon went offensive and defensive in the second half of its splasher with Sigma Phi Epsilon, scoring six while holding the Sig Eps scoreless. The final score was 11-3 in favor of the Sig Alpha.

Grimm High Marv Grimm was top scorer for the winners, getting a total of four. Rich Myers added three to the Sig Alpha score. Lawson was top for the losers, getting two.

The win enables the SAE's to climb from the cellar of League I and serves to push the Sig Eps even deeper in the last place berth. Both teams were winless going into the fray.

The Lilles snuffed out any hope the AGR's had of reaching the playoffs by handing the Aggies their second defeat of the year by a 6-3 score.

Jessie Sell was the big gun for the winning Lilles, getting all six of the victors' markers. All three AGR points came on free throws, Brinkman getting two for tops.

Two other outfits grabbed victories on forfeits Friday. Delta Tau Delta was awarded a win over Kappa Sigma and the Student Union gained a win from the Farm House.

Sophs Prominent On Tiger Team

COLUMBIA, Mo. — Veterans have the inside track on only three positions as Missouri's baseballers round the turn into their final week of pre-season drills.

Well-entrenched as the lead-off pitchers are Roger Engliert, the mainstay for the past three years, and Bob "Turtley" Smith, a slight left-hander. Barring a physical breakdown, one or the other is certain to get the opening nod from Coach John "Hi" Simmons when the Tigers meet Arkansas at Fayetteville on April 5.

Behind the plate, two more lettermen have a corner on the back-stopping job, while first base is practically a closed shop. "Rocky" Alexander and Bob Murrey are virtually even-up in the catching picture, with sophomore John Link running third. At first, past captain Jack Frier is unchallenged.

Elsewhere, the holdovers' grip is less apparent. At the outset, Simmons sought to patch up the left side of his infield by making two switches. He moved his 1949 shortstop, Clyde Langenberg, over to third, and sent Bill Eatock, regular second-sacker last year, to shortstop. Kent Kurtz, a home grown sophomore, took over Eatock's vacated berth at second.

Right now, Ross Boeger is pressing Langenberg for the third base call, while Bill Redden is matching strides with Eatock, both at the plate and outfield. Both newcomers are juniors. Kurtz's understudy is another sophomore, Don Lamb, but should Redden displace Eatock at short, the little red-headed captain would be a key-stone contender.

Lettermen Bud Heineman and Bob Harting are involved in a seven-player scramble for the outfield posts. Two sophomores, Bob Phillips and Jack Patchett, have come along fast, as have Roger Burnett, Bob Davis and Walt Ulmer. Phillips and Patchett could provide desirable left-handed hitting talent. Phillips is a straight-away swinger to all fields, while Burnett is a place-hitter, pinch-hitter and Davis cannot hit the long ball, and they both have the speed an essential in covering the out field area.
