Taplett Hurls No-Hitter as ICFV Wins Over Newman Club, 9-1

By Bill Mundell Assistant Sports Editor

Lloyd Taplett of InterVarsity hurled a near-perfect game Wednesday as he held the Newman Club hitless while his mates swarmed to a 9-1 victory.

Taplett was tough on the Catholic batters all the way as ten went down via the strike-out route.

Only in the first inning when Newman Club scored their only run did Taplett look anything but a sure winner.

While the losers were going down swinging, the victors were reaching Newman hurler, Corey, for nine safeties, one of which was a grand-slam home run by catcher Hal Krantz in the fourth frame.

Faces 19 Men Ed Akromis, hurling for the Lilies, was just as effective Wednesday as he held Alpha Kappa Psi to one hit in the 4-0 Lily victory.

Akromis faced only 19 men in the six inning contest and walked but one. Eleven AKPsi sluggers went down swinging.

Bob Kellner, AKPsi first baseman, got the only blow off Akromis, a single in the fourth inning, but got no further than second base.

The Lilies, in turn, got only four hits off the efforts of losing pitcher Christenson and seven Lily batters were struck out.

The win gives the Lilies sole possession of first place in League VII.

The University YMCA scored 12 runs in the fourth inning in their contest with the Methodist Student House to win 17-9.

Ahead 9-5 Going into that fatal fourth, the Methodists held a 9-5 lead, but a mixture of seven YMCA hits and six Methodist errors brought the sky down on the losers.

Eisenach and Ishikawa were the battery for the winning YM men while Rundle toiled on the mound for the Methodists with Vogt catching.

ASME overcame a six-run first inning by the Student Union to win their Wednesday contest by a score of 10-9.

Winkler of the Union cracked out a grand-slam homer in the first frame to help the losers to their six run lead.

Walls and Buchanan was the winning battery while Hill and Miyahara were on the mound for the Union with Callon catching.

Skunks and Sig Gams Sigma Gamma Epsilon copped its third contest of the year against no defeats as the geologists dropped Dorm B by a 5-1 score.

Harley Hurlis Tom Harley then added the final crushing blow to the SAE's as he hurled the ball the length of the court for another remarkable two points with only two seconds remaining.

The newly crowned Fraternity champs will enjoy their honors for a week and then will face the Independent champions, Student Union for the All-University Championship next Wednesday.

Colorado Leads Big Seven Baseball Race on One Win Nebraska, Oklahoma Tied For Second; Meet Today

With all Big Seven schools now concentrating fully on their conference schedule, the contest for the crown promises to be a stronger argument than some of the mighty exhibitions now played in the major leagues.

CONFERENCE STANDINGS Table with columns: Team, W, L, Pct. Colorado leads with 1 win and 0 losses.

At the present time the Colorado Buffaloes are leading the parade with a perfect record of one victory against no defeats.

Two Places Tied The hottest spot in the conference is a neck and neck battle between the Oklahoma Sooners and the Nebraska Cornhuskers.

Next slot in conference ratings is also a draw between the Missouri Tigers and the Kansas State Wildcats.

The team in fifth position, the University of Kansas, is the defending champion. But the Jayhawks have hit the skid row this year, having had the seat of their pants dusted in two out of three outings.

Iowa State occupies the cellar spot in the Big Seven ratings. Each team has felt the heavy blow of the axe fall on their title aspirations once and both teams have hit the win column three times.

The two universities are tied for the second and third berths. Each team has felt the heavy blow of the axe fall on their title aspirations once and both teams have hit the win column three times.

Nebraska is tied with Oklahoma because of the two victories over Missouri and a decision over Kansas State in one of two games.

Missouri's record finds them holding two victories over Iowa State and one over Kansas. They lost a two-game series with Nebraska and dropped one game to Kansas.

K-State Splits Kansas State's tie for fourth and fifth with Missouri came as a result of an even split with Nebraska and Oklahoma.

The University of Kansas' lone win was registered against Missouri. They lost one to Colorado and one to Missouri.

The two teams in the diamond spotlight this weekend are Nebraska and Oklahoma. They will duel each other in a two-game series at Norman on Friday and Saturday.

Coach Tony Sharpe will pin his hopes for victory on the throwing arm of Lanus Vrbka and the booming bat of Bob Cerv.

Vrbka is arrayed with a perfect record of three wins and no defeats. He is Sharpe's probable choice for mound duties on Friday.

Cerv is swatting the horse hide at a healthy .489 clip. He is also leading in most of the other offensive departments.

The Huskers will be meeting a very classy outfit when they play Oklahoma. The Sooners have an almost entirely new team this year.

Another encounter which will play an important role in the conference is the game between Missouri and Kansas State at Columbia.

The same two Big Seven teams which battled down to the final day for the 1949 baseball title will face each other in Ames Friday and Saturday with sixth place the immediate objective.

Last year Kansas won the title, Iowa State placed third. If either team can sweep the series here it moves out of last place.

Next comes Oklahoma and Nebraska with three wins and a loss each. In fourth, also tied, are Missouri and Kansas State with two wins, two losses.
