

Sigma Xi Elects 69 Members

Twenty new members and 49 associate members were announced Tuesday night by the University chapter of Sigma Xi, honorary scientific research society.

Frankforter Addresses Corn Cobs

Forty-five prospective Corn-Cob workers and approximately 25 active and retiring members attending the annual "Cob" smoker Tuesday night, heard the club's sponsor, Colonel C. J. Frankforter, emphasize the importance of the men's pep group as a means of bolstering the spirit of the University athletic program.

The Colonel has been sponsor of the "unique organization" for more than 20 years and a faculty member at the University for the past 40. At the closing of Frankforter's talk, retiring president, Rod Lindwall, awarded the Colonel the Corn Cob key for his fine job as sponsor of the organization.

Awards Given
Several other awards were made. John Connelly, retiring vice-president of the group, gave keys to the women and men pep leaders of the past year and commended them on their outstanding achievement with the enlarged cheering section.

Continuing with the honor ceremonies President Bob Parker gave each of old actives the Corn Cob key as memory of their service to the group. He also presented "shingles" to the new active members.

While demonstrating how the card section works at the fall football games, Aaron Schmidt, director of the card section next fall, said it will again be attempted to pass the cards thus giving a movie-picture effect.

Sports Movies
The informal meeting was initiated with the showing of colored movies of last year's University sports teams in action.

Termed by Rod Lindwall, the "largest pledge class in the last four years," the new workers included men from most of the campus men's fraternal organizations as well as co-op houses and clubs.

Dean Linscott, Homer Hobbs, Vera McKenzie, Dick Harmon, Phil Breslin, Tom Snyder, Don Devries, Paul Gustafson, Louis Millon, Dewey Straka, Pat Allen, Art Becker, Harry Wray, Jerry Stone, Kent Kelley, Bob Hallock, Don Cunningham and Otto Haman.

Of the 45 workers listed, 16 will be chosen on a competitive basis at the end of next year's school year.

Religious Week Adviser to Visit NU Thursday

Rev. James Lloyd Stoner, national director of the University Christian Mission, will visit the Nebraska campus next Thursday and Friday to help formulate plans for next year's Religion-in-Life Week.

Stoner, who confers with many campus religious groups in the country annually, will meet with the Religious Welfare council and committees in charge of arrangements for Religion in Life Week which is Nov. 5-9 next year.

The weekend activities will begin with the monthly meeting of the welfare council at Bethany Park.

Rev. Stoner's organization was inaugurated by the Federal Council of Churches in 1938 and has continued on the nation's campuses since that time.

Those in charge of arrangements for the conference are: Dr. G. W. Rosenlof, chairman; Keith Stephenson, vice chairman; Pat Weidman, vice chairman; Charles Kemp, secretary; Kady Faulkner, treasurer; and Rev. R. W. Nutt, executive secretary.

Other committees and their chairmen and advisors are, respectively: Breakfast and retreat, Ruth Trautman and Ruth Shinn; Classroom, Alice Jo Smith and Prof. Dean Worcester; hospital-ity, Bill Mundell and Rev. Rex Knowles; organized houses, Jo Ficklin and Father Harry E. Whitley; book displays, Paul Olson and Rev. Alvin Peterson; personal interviews, Louise Cook and Rev. C. B. Howells; publicity, Eugene Berg and Dr. William Swindler; seminar, Miriam Wiley; and worship, Ruth Sperry and John F. Wiehelt.

'Fair' Board Elects Bever '51 Manager

Don Bever will manage the Farmers Fair next year.

At a meeting of both old and new Fair board members Tuesday, Bever was elected manager of the new group, succeeding Don Knebel. Other officers elected were Jack Wilson, assistant manager; Alice Boswell, secretary; and Burnell Swanson, treasurer. Wilson will also represent the Fair board on next year's Ag Exec board.

Bever served on the Fair board this year as co-chairman of the rodeo. He is also president of Tri-K, agricultural agronomy honorary, member of Alpha Zeta, Ag honorary and a member of Alpha Gamma Rho.

Assistant Manager Wilson served on this year's Fair board as co-chairman of the rodeo with Bever. He is also a member of Innocents, Corn Cobs, Block and Bridle, Alpha Zeta and Farm House. He replaces Charles Athey.

Boswell was re-elected to the post of secretary. She served as co-chairman of the barbecue at the Fair this spring. She is a member of Home Ec club, University 4-H club, Ag YWCA membership chairman, and lives at Levee hall.

Swanson replaces Dale Flowerday as treasurer. A member of this year's Fair board, he served as co-chairman of the parade and midway. He is a member of Alpha Zeta, assistant vice-president of Voc-Ag Association, and vice president of Ag Men's club.

Other members of the board elected this spring are Jean Fenster and Mary Frances Johnson.

Junior board members will be selected next fall from open filings. They will be voted on by the senior board members.

Plans for next year's Farmers Fair are expected to include an expansion of the present program. A consolidation of Ag events into a few days has been suggested by a few Fair board members. The program proposed would be similar to that existing at the Iowa State Veisla.

Banquet to Honor NU Journalists

Awards to outstanding journalism students will be presented at the annual spring banquet of the School of Journalism, Thursday, at Cotner Terrace.

Director of the Iowa School of Journalism, Prof. Leslie G. Moeller will make an address concerning his 18 years of experience as manager and publisher of a small town weekly newspaper. He was also director and president of the Iowa Press association.

Six senior journalism students will receive the awards from Sigma Delta Chi, honorary professional journalism fraternity. An outstanding male journalism graduate will also be honored.

Anyone interested in the field of journalism may attend. Tickets, cost $2.50 each, may be purchased from members of Sigma Delta Chi, Theta Sigma Phi, Gamma Alpha Chi and Kappa Alpha Mu, besides the School of Journalism office in E. Arnett hall. The banquet will begin at 6:30 p. m.

Three Students Win Miller Awards

Three high ranking University students have been awarded Donald Walters Miller scholarships of $1,000 each for the 1950-51 school year, Dean R. W. Goss announced Tuesday.

Leo Hrnicek, Theodore Sorenson and Norman D. Williams received the top scholarships awarded to Nebraska students.

Hrnicek, a resident of Bee, wanted to go to college when he graduated from high school in 1939, but couldn't afford it. He saw two years of action in the South Pacific as a pharmacist's mate, first class. He then entered the University in January, 1946, under the GI bill.

Now in his second year at medical college in Omaha, he stands second in his class of 88 members, despite the fact that he works part time at Clarkson hospital. The father of five children, Hrnicek said that raising a family and getting a medical degree at the same time isn't too difficult because of the "wonderful management" of his wife.

Sorenson, a third year law student, holds one of the college's highest honors—Editor-in-Chief of the Nebraska Law Review. He holds a bachelor of science in law degree earned in 1948, and is a member of Phi

Seniors Leave Campus For Skip Day Picnic

Seniors Urged to Boost NU Urges Continued Interest in NU

Chancellor R. G. Gustafson told seniors at the senior convocation Tuesday morning that if graduates stop believing in Nebraska university, it will go out of existence.

"Gifts to the University express your confidence in higher education," the Chancellor said, "but maintaining your interest in your University is more important than giving any sum of money."

Chancellor Gustafson suggested several ways in which graduates can keep alive their interest. He said that keeping in touch with classmates, instructors and the University itself will aid the school and the graduate.

Influence
He also said that graduates can influence young people to attend Nebraska, because young people will look to the new graduate for help. "Many people go to college simply because their friends mention it to them," the Chancellor said.

Chancellor Gustafson recommended that graduates keep alive their interest in the University's state and national relations. He recalled the interest shown by students last year when the state legislature was considering the appropriation of funds to the University.

The Chancellor, who was introduced to the convocation as a senior who came to the University four years ago as a confused freshman, said "It is a pleasure to know the student body at Nebraska. You are the heart of the University."

He told of a conversation with Ralph Bunche in which Bunche had expressed his amazement at the interest and information Nebraska students have in world affairs. "I am proud of the student body," the Chancellor said.

Alumni Association
Bill Day, president of the Nebraska Alumni association, also addressed the seniors. He gave a brief outline of the Alumni association and urged the class of '50 to step up its enthusiasm in the association.

"The class of 1950 is significant in that it comes at the turn of the century," he said. "You seniors should consider yourselves ambassadors of the University, because people in your communities will judge Nebraska by your actions."

Day said that members never graduate from the Alumni association, and he expressed hope that the Class of '50 will stimulate the interest of others in the University.

Bill Mueller, president of the senior class, told seniors that it is up to them to perpetuate the University throughout Nebraska and other states by being good alumni.

Roz Howard, president of the Student Council, introduced the convocation speakers.

ISA Plans Picnic At Pioneer Park

Plans for the annual I.S.A. picnic Saturday, have been announced by Richard Benetti, publicity chairman.

The picnic will include volleyball, softball and other games. There will be lawn dancing in the evening. The picnic will be held at Pioneer park from 3 to 9 p. m.

All attending will meet at the Union at 2:45 p. m. Transportation will be furnished for those not having cars. Tickets are 45 cents.

BILL MUELLER—The Senior Class president is the head of all activities of Senior Week, including Wednesday's senior skip to Linoma Beach.

Sokolof Elected AER President

Soralee Sokolof was elected to the presidency of Alpha Epsilon Rho, radio honorary, at a meeting of the group Monday.

New vice-president is Dutch Myers. Lois Nelson was elected to the position of secretary and Winnie Davidson will take over the duties of secretary. The post of historian will be handled by Jackie Hess.

The radio honorary consists of active participants in the field of radio and radio study. Among other projects, the group sponsors the annual AER banquet honoring state broadcasters.

Outgoing president of the organization is Bob Van Neste.

'Mystery' Orchestra To Entertain Juniors

A barbecue, a softball game and dancing to a special "mystery band" are all features of the first Junior Day Friday at Antelope Park. The dance will be held in the pavilion to the music of a local band that will remain unknown until Friday evening.

Invitations have been sent to some 1,800 members of the class of 1951 for the all-junior party. According to Betty Green, however, the lists may be incomplete or the addresses incorrect, and any junior who does not receive a letter by Wednesday should contact her at 2-7971, or Herb Reese at 2-7757.

Class Ribbons
In the letters from class president Herb Reese and his council were red and cream "Class of '51" ribbons to be worn all day Friday and to be used for tickets of admission for the juniors and their dates. An addressed postcard was also enclosed in the letter for reservations to the barbecue.

Highlighting the festivities will be greetings by Gov. Val Peterson, Chancellor R. G. Gustafson, "Poisy" Clark, Coach Bill Glassford, Fritz Daly, Alumni association secretary, and William Day, president of the Alumni association, as well as Reese.

The dinner will begin at 6:30 p. m., and the dancing at 8 p. m.

'Wonderful Idea'
Reese has urged everyone "to be sure to come on out, because this first Junior Day is really going to be a wonderful deal."

Only cost of the day's activities will be 50 cents per plate for the barbecue dinner. If class members do not wish to eat at the park they are urged to come whenever possible.

Reservations for plates must be made by Thursday at noon. The reservations, plus 50 cents, should be sent to Reese at the Union.

Yearbook Out By Next Week

The printing of the 1950 Cornhusker has been completed, according to John Connelly, editor, and the book will be ready for distribution beginning next week.

The only work remaining on the book is the binding. This will be the earliest in several years that the book has been ready for distribution.

Persons wishing to finish partial payments on the yearbook may do so any afternoon this week in the Cornhusker business office, basement of the Union.

Students must present their identification cards and their receipts to receive their yearbooks, according to Bud Gerhart, business manager.

Sale of 1950 Ribbons To Finance Class Gift

A farewell goes to the 1950 seniors who leave this afternoon on the first senior skip day in many years. Linoma Beach is the afternoon destination of the largest senior class in the history of the University.

Bill Mueller, Senior Class President, urged all seniors to participate in the phase of Senior Week activities. He hopes that the festivities of the week will unite the graduating class and set a precedent for seniors in future years.

The campaign to raise funds for a gift to the University from the Class of '50 is progressing according to Neal Baxter, chairman of the ribbon sales. "The ribbons are selling practically as fast as senior students walk past the booth in the Union," stated Baxter. "The council sincerely hopes that enough money will be raised to enable the Senior Class members to leave something of permanent value to the University when they leave school," he continued.

Ribbon Price.
The price of the red and white ribbons is 15 cents and the sale will continue in the Union throughout the week.

Plans have been made for a faculty-senior baseball game and other types of organized games for group participation today at Linoma. The picnic site offers facilities for boating and swimming, in addition to playground space.

Seniors having space in their cars are urged to meet at the Union at 1 p. m., to provide transportation for those not having rides. There will be no mass meeting of seniors, however, and class members are asked to make

AUF Drive Response Favorable

Occupants of the All University Fund booth which is soliciting pledges for the drive next school year, report favorable student reaction.

The booth, located in the Military and Naval Science building, is being occupied this week by officers and workers of AUF during the hours of registration to give students an opportunity to pledge their donations to AUF. Payment will be due Feb. 25, 1951.

Jo Lisher, director of the drive, stated that students have made a conscious effort to make their pledges in the first two days of registration.

The new system of pledges was inaugurated this year to insure a more efficient and successful program for next year. By making early pledges, students will not be required to make payments any earlier.

The most important objective of the new plan, according to Miss Lisher, is that students are not as likely to be hurried into making pledges. Also, there will be a tendency to eliminate unnecessary soliciting.

The new program for next year calls for an extended drive. The campaign will probably continue from the opening of school until Feb. 25, 1951. It is believed that such a program will not require a forced action which is present in such concentrated drives which have been conducted in the past.

Recipients
AUF solicits funds to aid such organizations as Community Chest World Student Service fund, Red Cross, Infantile Paralysis fund, and various other welfare agencies, all approved by the University.

Some of the funds return to their origin. The Community Chest, recipient of AUF funds, hands back approximately eight times the amount actually received from the University for use in student YWCA and YMCA work.

Fike Elected AUF Advisor

New student-at-large member of the All-University Fund advisory board is Mary Fike. She was selected by the present members of the AUF board.

Miss Fike will join other senior members of the campus charity group in formulating policies and selecting members for the organization.

Other members of the board, elected this spring by outgoing officers are: Bill Duger, chairman; Jo Ann Logan, Eugene Berg, Jan Lindquist, Joel Bailey, Tish Swanson, Ginny Koch and Jo Lisher, AUF director.

They selected Miss Fike for the board vacancy on the basis of her work on AUF publicity the past year. She held no previous post in the organization. The student-at-large member is also active in U of N Builders work and YWCA.

Speech Students To Present Plays

Presenting nine one act plays will provide the students of Speech 114 with experience in stage directing and acting.

Three of these laboratory productions will be given each night of Thursday, May 11, Friday, May 12, and Saturday, May 13, at the Temple building, Room 201.

Costs have been chosen from this speech education class, and attendance is open to members only.

TC Announces Advisory Board

Four students in Teachers college were recently chosen to serve on the Teachers College Student Advisory board.

The new board members are: Gene Berg, Juanita Hagerty, Phyllis Haley and Marcia Bekins. Other present members are Janet Carr and Suzanne Koehler.

The four retiring members are Harry Stayer, Ralph Hunkins, Liz Schneider and Dorothy Borgens. Faculty advisor is Miss Mary Mielenz, assistant professor of secondary education.

The first meeting of the groups was held Tuesday. The six students serve in the capacity of student advisors to the dean of Teachers college, Frank E. Henzlik. They present the student views on the functions of the college and suggest improvements.

Leo Hrnicek

Theodore Sorenson

Norman Williams

Beta Kappa and Delta Sigma Rho. He served as student moderator at the recent NU, mock assembly held on the campus and is married.

Williams, an ex-GI, is enrolled in the college of Agriculture. Although he is not sure what field he will specialize in, he plans to seek a Ph.D. degree in plant genetics as preparation for a career in crops research.

Riggs took both first and second places in sports. Hank Lammers winning third. Turner and Luebs took second and third places, respectively, in the news department.

Honorable mentions went to Duane Nielson, Mike Miller, Bob Kudlacek, Bernie Anderson, George Turner, Marvin Morgan, Bob Duis, and Hank Lammers. Judges at the salon were Paul Kubitchek, Earl Roth, and Dick Hufnagle. All three men are well known in Lincoln for their interest and work in the field of photography.

The winning prints will become part of Kappa Alpha Mu's permanent collection. Of the 72 photos entered, 24 were in pictorial, 18 in features, 16 in table top, eight in sports, and six in news.

High point winner of the show was Turner, with a first, two seconds, and two honorable mentions.
