League Leaders This Week

Colorado's Golden Buffaloes managed to stay on top of the Big Seven's baseball race by edging past Missouri in their first of a two-game series Monday afternoon.

The Buffs have won both of their two games played, but are expected to feel the axe very soon. They have not played a conference game away from home

Sonner-Bluff Game

While the Huskews are in Ames, the spotlight will be turned on Oklahoma where the Buffs meet the Sooners. Getting the starting nod for the Sooners will probably be their ace mounds-man Jack Shirley. Only once his Shirley been

The Buffs have hit seven home runs, five short of the Husker total.

The remaining schedule of the hurler Guy Mabry won his own two teams definitely favors the ball game here Monday after-Huskers. Colorado has eight conference games left to play while the Huskers have only six. Jayhawks slipped by Iowa State, Nebraska has a 14 game con-ference schedule and the Bluffs have only 11 conference titls scheduled.

Buffs Stay in First Position; Down Tigers

BOULDER, Colo. - Colorado stayed in first place of the Big Seven conference baseball race Monday afternoon as Bob Manire allowed only three scratch hits, downing Missouri, 8-0. It was a hard loss for Tiger pitcher Rog Englert who gave the Buffs only seven scratch hits. Nine Coloradoans went down fanning the air-three in order in the fifth.

Manire gave up five walks, but allowed no one to get by second. After Englert has sent Bill Ley, Fred Johnson and Harry Narcisian down in order in the fifth; the Buffs bounced back in the sixth to score two runs.

Missouri was guilty of two errors and a passed ball which gave Colorado two runs. Hugh Graham provided the excitement for the day when he slid into home, knocking Tiger catcher Murrey out

Two days later the Cyclone track squad will close its outdoor dual season with Drake as the opposition. The Drake meet was originally to be the opener but those cyclonic winds of May 5 caused the switch.
