

National Director to Help Religion Week Committee

The national director of the University Christian Mission, the Rev. James Lloyd Stoner, will confer with members of the Religious Welfare Council at a meeting Thursday evening.

Rev. Stoner, who is visiting the campus Thursday and Friday to help formulate plans for next year's Religion-in-Life week, will be present at the monthly meeting of the council which will be held at the Bethany park. University pastors will meet with the director Thursday afternoon.

Rev. Stoner, who annually confers with many campus religious groups, will hold half hour conferences all Friday with the different Religion-in-Life-Week committees to aid them with plans for the week, which is Nov. 5 to 9 next fall. Conferences will be from 9:30 a. m. to 4 p. m.

JAMES STONER—National director of the University Christian Mission will confer with students to aid in formulation of next fall's Religion-in-Life-Week.

The picnic. Members going to the picnic are to meet at the Union at 5 p. m. Transportation will be provided.

Installation. Officers to be installed are:

Ruth Trautman, president; Joan Jones, recording secretary; Pat tary; Kady Faulkner, treasurer; Weidman, corresponding secretary and the Rev. R. W. Nutt and the Rev. Rex Knowles, advisors.

Those in charge of arrangements for the conference are: Dr. G. W. Rosenlof, chairman; Keith Stephenson and Pat Weidman, vice chairman; Charles Kemp, secretary; Kady Faulkner, treasurer; and Ruth Nutt, executive secretary.

Committees

Other committees and their chairmen and advisors are: breakfast and retreat, Ruth Trautman and Ruth Shinn; classroom, Alice Jo Smith and Prof. Dean Worcester; hospitality, Bill Mundell and Rev. Knowles; organized houses, Jo Ficklina and the Very Rev. Harry B. Whitely; book displays, Paul Olson and the Rev. Alvin Peterson; personal interviews, Louise Cook and the Rev. C. B. Howells; publicity, Gene Berg and Dr. William Swindler; seminar, Miriam Willey; and worship, Ruth Speer and John F. Wiehelt.

Rev. Stoner's organization was inaugurated by the Federal Council of Churches in 1938 and has continued on the nation's campuses since then.

Chamber Series Ends Thursday

Carol Puckett, cellist in the School of Music, will be featured at the final of a series of chamber music recitals to be given Thursday in the Union ballroom.

The program, which will begin at 8 p. m., is sponsored by the Lincoln Friends of Chamber Music.

The musicians of the regular Fine Arts Ensemble are: Professor Emanuel Wisniewski, violin; Rosemary Madison, cello; Truman Moreman, second violin; and Max Gilbert, viola.

Compositions by Schubert, Mozart and Brahms will be played by the string ensemble.

SDX to Honor Five Nebraska Newspapermen

Five outstanding Nebraska newspapermen will be honored at the School of Journalism banquet to be held Thursday, May 11, at Cotner Terrace.

George Dobrie, an NU graduate now publisher of the Curtis Enterprise; Stuart Bohacek, Wilber Republican; Emil Reuter, jr., former NU student now with the Neligh News; Carroll Stewart, O'Neill Frontier; and Paul Wagner, of the Dakota County Star of South Sioux City will be male members of the professional chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, honorary journalism fraternity.

Outstanding

It is the policy of the group to initiate several outstanding Nebraska newspapermen each year. There are about 150 in the professional chapter at the present time.

Prof. Leslie Moeller, director of the Iowa School of Journalism will discuss his 18 years of experience as manager and publisher of a small town weekly newspaper. He has served as director and president of the Iowa Press Association.

Six top ranking journalism seniors will receive awards from Sigma Delta Chi. An outstanding male journalism graduate will also be honored.

Tickets

A number of outstate newspapermen as well as students will attend the banquet. Tickets may be obtained for $2.50 from members of Sigma Delta Chi, Theta Sigma Phi, Gamma Alpha Chi and Kappa Alpha Mu as well as the school of Journalism office in 310 Burnett hall.

Humorous, Varied 'Dodges' Greet Registration Doorman

"I had the mumps when registration cards were handed out." "I've got classes all day tomorrow and I just can't come over here."

"My grandmother is ill and I've got to go to her bedside. Won't you let me register now?"

"I'm a senior and I didn't get my number."

"My number is home in my other pants."

These are some of the "dodges" used by students to get in to register before their number comes up. The students who check the registration numbers at the door wring out their handkerchiefs as they cry at each new sad story told them by students.

Sympathetic Officials.

Some of the boys at the door report that a number of girls turn on their feminine charms and coo, "Won't you let poor little 'ole me in to register? I just gotta get that Zoo lab I want."

The standard answer to these queries is "Sorry. We can't make any exceptions."

One girl sweetly told the checker that she had a coke date in twenty minutes and just had to get registered. Another boy tried to convince a checker that he had been in the checker's chemistry class and was a dear old friend. It happened that the checker had never taken chemistry.

At least 35 people claimed that they had to catch the afternoon train to Omaha.

"The mortality rate among grandmothers seems to be unusually high at this time of year," Dr. Floyd Hoover commented.

"The number of weddings of friends and relatives also rises sharply."

Chiselers.

Hoover said that the biggest headache of the registrars were the chiselers, the people who try to sneak in by any one of a number of "dodges." These people, he said, who are usually sophomores and freshmen, keep upperclassmen who really need the credit from taking the courses.

In spite of all this, registration procedure in the Military Science building is going faster than at any previous time. In the three days of registration, an average of 12000 students per day have been registered.

Students seem to be quite satisfied with the new procedure. Very few seemed to be having much difficulty. There were, however, a number of closed sections in engineering and business administration courses.

"There are too many closed sections," one student commented. "Why don't they have the department heads over here at the building instead of making us run all over the campus to get our schedules straightened out?"

Pity the Advisers.

Another student cursed his adviser as he made out his schedule. "Why don't those guys know what's going on around here," he said. "That guy really fouled me up. You'd think he'd never registered anybody before."

Another girl was heard muttering, "Why don't they have more classes in tennis open?"

The sergeant handing out military science cards reported that a number of boys who are graduating had stopped by to comment "Ya-a-a-a We don't have to pay any attention to you any more."

One of the checkers said that one frustrated student had been trying for a half an hour to get all the zoology labs in one credit section into his schedule. She said that he finally came to her and told her that he guessed he would have to drop some course because he just couldn't fit them all into his schedule with zoology. The checker explained to him that he didn't have to take all of the labs, but just one.

All of the registration officials said that they would be very happy when the whole procedure is completed. They all agreed that the present system is the best yet devised. They are, however, open to any suggestions from students on methods of improvement.

YM, YW to Offer Trips to Europe

Like to take a European trip and have a guide to go with it? The YMCA and YWCA are offering six tours this summer provided by a project specially planned to attract students.

Students will be able to outline a trip which appeals most to them. One hundred students from all over the country will make the journey to Europe.

The voyagers will wind up their excursions with a final summary conference planned by the World's Student Christian Federation at Fontainebleau, near Paris. These "Y" tours across the Atlantic come to students at special rates.

Sponsors of the trip have arranged to pick out the most interesting places which can provide the most interesting experiences.

Registration Procedure Closes Today

Registration procedure will be open to students with numbers from 3,500 and over today in the Armory.

According to Dr. Floyd Hoover, assistant registrar, summer and fall registration procedures should be completed by this evening. A total of more than 4,000 students are expected to register for the next term.

Closed courses for the summer term are:

'Rag' Expedition Reveals Relics on Ivy Day Site

BY JERRY BAILEY

Archeologists have long mused around with the Sphinx and the pyramids of Egypt; men from Morrill hall have been groveling in the dirt near Cambridge, looking for the dawn Nebraskan; now can be told the story of expedition sent forth by The Daily Nebraskan.

The expedition consisted of one sad looking reporter. The purpose of the expedition was to produce a supply of filler for the "Rag" (Filler is something that is tacked into a paper just above the wants ads). The area to be explored was the never-never land between Hermie's Cafe and the football stadium.

It might be noted that the area was once the cradle of University life, and is now covered with brick-and-limestone ruins and the new Ferguson hall. The area is principally inhabited by tribes of law students and engineers who have little contact with civilization. Female athletes, administration officials and a few other species have settled about the edges of the area.

Students as a group see nothing of this area, except during a brief Saturnalia known as Ivy Day. The more observant present at that time may see:

Dinner Honors Elsie F. Piper

Elsie Ford Piper was the honored guest at a dinner Thursday evening given by the old and Lew Coed Counselor boards.

About 30 students and faculty attended the dinner. The boards presented Miss Piper with a silver vase engraved "Coed Counselors." Miss Piper will leave the University this spring.

Fast presidents that attended the dinner included Dorothy Borgens, 1948-50; Jackie Wightman Deeter, 1949-49; and Mary Dye Baker, 1947-48. Joy Hill McCaw, vice-president of Coed Counselors in 1946-47, was also a guest.

Faculty advisors attending the dinner were Mrs. Elvera Christensen and Miss Mary Mielenz. The dinner program was under the direction of Marilyn Campfield, president of the new board. A skit and talks by the past presidents preceded a talk by Miss Piper.

three feet across and two feet thick. A geography student, called in for the occasion, scrutinized the rock through a magnifying glass and reported it was granite, made of hornblende, feldspar and quartz. How this fugitive from the Rocky Mountains comes to be on the lawn, only a historian could say.

2. A rock-and-cement monument to the class of 1909 that might be a cross between a fountain and a bird-bath. Whatever it is, it is dry.

3. A smaller rock, inscribed "Dr. James Thomas Lees, 1888-1926. He served well."

4. A large bench of cut limestone, circling a tree. The monument is dated 1906 and is covered with scratched initials and such tender sentiments as "A. K. loves C. F."

Schiller Linden

5. A large tree surrounded with a wrought-iron fence. This is the famous "Schiller Linden." A plaque dedicates it to Friedrich Johann Schiller, "Den grossen Dichter und Denker," (the great poet and thinker). It was dedicated by Professor Laurence Fossler in 1905.

6. Farther west is a concrete pyramid inscribed with the emblem of Sigma Tau, and smeared with the red-paint word "law." The latter is a memento of what may have been a clan feud.

Also in the general area are two benches of undetermined age, made of crumbling concrete and rotting boards. Between Grant Memorial hall and the Geography buildings stand a lone wrought-iron post, with no apparent purpose in life. On top is a generous deposit of guano.

Grecian Pillars

By far the most prominent hunks of rock on campus are the Grecian pillars making up the colonnade overlooking the athletic field. These pillars are inhabited only at night, and then only by affectionate couples and night-watchmen with flashlights.

The story goes that the pillars were once part of a Burlington depot downtown. They were presented to the University when the depot was razed to make way for a new structure. It seems the wrecking crew didn't know what else to do with them.

These are some of the monuments of the campus, rich in tradition, legend and memories of spooning and crooning beneath the moon.

music which had everyone's toes tapping in years gone by.

The revue begins with an accent of Marconi's attempt to gain subsidy for further experimentation with the wireless; World War I commentaries; flaming youth and the Charleston ushering in the roaring twenties; prohibition; depression scenes; World War II memories, and a Cornhusker Cavalcade.

AER Cast

Kosmet Klub, an unprecedented organization in this part of the country which reportedly has but one counterpart, the Mask and Wig of Harvard, has functioned for the past 38 years on this campus.

It presents two shows annually, the fall show with male organization competition, at which a Nebraska Sweetheart and Prince Kosmet are selected, and the spring revue.

Last year, the spring show featured a musical, "Let's Change the Subject," written by Jack Solomon. It highlighted varsity footballers as nurses and a line of all-male harem cuties and the orchestra of Johnny Cox.

MILLER & FAINE

Major Nathan Adams, Auburn '40 Personnel Manager, U.S. Air Force

Following a three month course, Lt. Adams decided the Air Force was the place for him. He applied for pilot training, was accepted, proceeded to Maxwell Field.

He won his wings and reported to the 36th Fighter Group in Puerto Rico. The group soon returned to the States, giving Adams a chance to marry his college sweetheart.

Within months Adams was overseas, flying "trubards" (missions against enemy transports). He flew 63 P-47 missions within seven months, returned to the States late in 1944 for rest and recuperation.

V-J Day came, and Adams decided to make the service a career. He chooses personnel work as his career field, was assigned for training to the Adjutant General's School at Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia.

Now a regular Air Force Major, he heads a 32-man section at Bolling Air Force Base. He advises his Commanding Officer on selection, assignment and promotion of all officers and airmen in the command.
