I-M Softball Nears End

Cornhusker Co-op, Zeta Beta Tau, Aipha Tau Omega, City YMCA, and Sigma Gamma Epsilon are the five teams remaining in the fight for the fraternity and independent softball cham-pionships when this paper went After Thursday night only four will remain for the finals Friday afternoon. Either Zeta Beta Tau or Cornhusker Co-op will be eliminated in a Thursday replay.

Surprises. Alpha Tau Omega and the city YMCA are the surprising finalists in the two tourneys. The Taus, who finished fourth in regular league 1 competition, has swept by three tough opponents, two of which owned early season wins over the ATO's.

The YMCA, likewise, owns three tourney victories over tough competitors in the independent playoffs.

Included ATO victory swing are wins over Kappa Sigma, Farm House, and Tuesday's 16-7 rout over Phi Delta Theta.

The Taus started fast in Tuesday's contest, scoring three times in the first inning, three in the third, and four times in the fourth. A six-run fifth frame was just for fun as the Phi Delts were beaten. The City Y and Practical Arts battled eight innings in their semi-final contest, the YM exploding in their half of the eighth for four runs and the victory,

Tony Lawry of the Arts and Stewart Minnick of the Y hooked-up into a good old pitcher's duel throughout the game. Both pitchers allowed only four Don Bieber was practically the whole story again for the Sig Gams in their semi-final windup with ASME. Bieber hurled another one-hitter and registered his third shutout of the season as the geologists won, 5-0.

Fourteen engineers went down swinging as Bieber bore down. Busby was the hitting star for the winners getting a home-run and a single in three attempts.

In the other semi-final tourney playoff game, Cornhusker Co-op defeated Zeta Beta Tau in a protested contest that is being replayed Wednesday night.

Lutherans Roll The Lutheran Student House recovered from its Monday night setback and slapped previously unbeaten Boptists to the tune of 11-1 Tuesday night. The result throws the Denominational race into a tie between the two out-fits and calls for a rematch Wed-

Cleo Aden threw a one-hitter at the Baptists while his mates were banging nine safeties off losing pitcher, Curry. Dismeyer was the batting star, blasting two homeruns, a triple, and a double for a perfect night at the plate.
