

1,900 Seniors . . . Cousins to Speak At Commencement

About 1,900 students will complete their University careers Monday, June 5, when they receive their diplomas.

The 79th and largest graduating class in the history of the university will hear Norman Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review of Literature, deliver the commencement address, "Time for Ideals."

More than 100 of the total graduating class will attend exercises at Joslyn Memorial in Omaha at the college of Medicine commencement, Saturday, May 27.

Veterans

Veterans comprise over half of the graduates from the two Lincoln campuses, according to Professor J. P. Colbert, director of veterans affairs at the University. Colbert said that this will be the peak year for veterans going to school on the G.I. Bill.

The deans of the various colleges will present the members of their colleges to Chancellor R. G. Gustavson, who will, in turn award the degrees. Honorary degrees to be presented will be announced later.

Cousins, a graduate of Columbia university, has a long record of service in journalism and national affairs. He has served as editor and an executive of the Saturday Review of Literature, literary editor and managing editor of Current History and chairman of the Overseas Bureau of the Office of War Information. He is the author of several books.

Program

Gift Donated For Pound Lectureship

Frank H. Woods, Lincoln business man, has contributed $5,000 to the Roscoe Pound Lectureship fund. The donation was announced Wednesday by Earl Cline, chairman of the Nebraska Bar Association Pound Lectureship committee.

The gift was made to the University of Nebraska foundation which will administer the fund. The Nebraska Bar is endeavoring to raise $50,000 for the fund, income from which will be used to finance an annual series of lectures at the University's College of Law by prominent jurists and other outstanding authorities. The lectures will be related to the judicial, government or public affairs.

The Lectureship was inaugurated by Dr. Pound who gave a series of three lectures at the University recently.

In making the gift, Mr. Woods said:

"Worthwhile Enterprise"

"I am happy to contribute to this worthwhile enterprise sponsored by the Nebraska State Bar association. Dean Roscoe Pound, by former law partner as a member of Hall, Woods and Pound, was born in Lincoln and is a graduate of the University. His life is a success story of what can be accomplished in our country. He is certainly one of the most eminent jurists of his day and Nebraska's most distinguished native son in his field. It is entirely proper that he should be so honored.

"These annual lectures will be upon subjects having to do with the preservation of American institutions and liberties. I commend the Nebraska State Bar association for its efforts in establishing this lectureship."

Both Cline and Dean Edmund Belsham of the University's law college praised Woods' gift. Said Cline:

"The committee acknowledges Mr. Frank H. Woods' gift to the Foundation for the Roscoe Pound Lectureship with great appreciation. Mr. Woods has long been recognized as one of Nebraska's most public spirited citizens. Once more Mr. Woods has shown his great interest in the welfare of his state. His generous donation to the Roscoe Pound Lectureship fund means much to the success of the Lectureship. In behalf of the Committee and the Bar association I extend to Mr. Woods our sincere thanks."

"On behalf of the University and the College of Law," said Dean Belsham. "I wish to thank Mr. Woods for this splendid contribution to the Roscoe Pound Lectureship. The establishment of this fund is dependent upon the generous support of the members of the Nebraska State Bar association and the alumni and friends of the University. It is most encouraging to have the assurance that this support is being given."

sophomore majoring in business administration.

Roger Noble and Richard Westcott received two $100 undergraduate scholarships. Noble won the O. N. Magee memorial scholarship, and Westcott, the Edward R. Wells memorial scholarship.

All awards were made on the basis of scholarship and with the recommendation of the College of Business Administration.

Those not pictured are Don Devries, Joe King and Don Wakeman.

Outstanding Workers Told At Union Board Banquet

Presentation of awards to the Union workers was the highlight of the Union Board of Managers annual banquet held at 6:30 p.m. Thursday evening.

Clyde Munson received the workers' pool awards for overall service to the Union. Shirley Scheidt, winner of the distinguished service award, and Bob LaShelle, who won the worker's pool award, were introduced.

Duane Lake, Union manager, presented Prof. E. F. Schramm with an engraved cigarette lighter, a gift of Union board members for his work on the Union board. Professor Schramm, retiring president of the board of managers, announced that Milton Anderson, alumni representative, will succeed him. Bob Mosher will serve as first vice president. Dr. Royce as second vice president and Herb Reese as activities committee chairman.

Simpson Cited
Fritz Daly, alumni secretary, cited Fritz Simpson, editor of The Daily Nebraskan, for his leadership in the Union's expansion program conducted during the past semester. In the citation speech, Daly said:

"The wheels of progress and development in this world today must have a generator, a person who devotes himself to research and efforts to inform the public.

"The same is true of every segment of our civilization today, from science on down thru the habits of our everyday living.

"The development and growth of a University in all its phases is thus guided by an individual. The campaign for expansion of the Student Union facilities is a good example.

Unanimous Support
"Realizing fully that without leadership the expansion program would not have met with such unanimous support among the student body of the University of Nebraska, the Student Union Board of Managers does hereby resolve that Fritz Simpson, who led the expansion program for the Student Union Board of Managers fully realizes that without Mr. Simpson's guidance the expansion program would not have been possible and hereby expresses to him acclaim for his successful endeavors."

Lake summarizes the overall program of the Union during the past year. Genene Grimm, Union activities director, reported on all social activities held in the Union this year.

Byron Hooper, retiring activities committee chairman, served as emcee. Among the faculty guests present were Mr. and Mrs. George "Potsy" Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Daly, Dean and Mrs. T. J. Thompson, and wives of several members of the board.

Panhandle Picnic Sunday

Reservations for the Panhandle picnic will be kept open until the picnic date, Sunday, May 19, according to Harry Kenyon, chairman of the event.

Reservations cost $1 for each student attending and may be paid to Paul Krugler, Pioneer Co-op; or Chisna Flemming, Engineers college.

This is the first time that students from the western part of Nebraska have gathered for a final party before returning to their homes for the summer.

Among the cities to be represented will be Scottsbluff, Kimball, Chadron, Gering, Mitchell, Sidney and Oshkosh.

The group will meet at the Antelope park shelter house at 2 p. m., Sunday. Others may drive to the picnic location in cars which will leave the Union at 2 p. m.

Plans for a business meeting to draw up a constitution for the proposed Panhandle club will be formulated, according to Kenyon. Also on the program for the afternoon will be softball, horseshoes and tug-of-war matches.

Allen, Borgmann Named Outstanding Nebraskans

Dean Carl W. Borgmann and Sue Allen have joined the ranks of The Daily Nebraskan's list of outstanding Nebraskans.

Selected by the "Rag" staff as the outstanding faculty member and the outstanding student of the semester, the two are the second to receive the award which was started last semester.

Dean Borgmann is the dean of faculties at the University. He has long been known for his willingness to hear the opinions of the students and listen to their problems. He serves as Chancellor Gustavson's representative on the policy committee and the Committee on Committees.

The new "outstanding Nebraskan" is also chairman of the building committee and sits on the athletic board for informational purposes. His regular duty consists of handling replacements and faculty problems.

Borgmann served on the parking committee following the University riot two years ago.

On Colorado Faculty

Coming to the University in 1947, Dean Borgmann was formerly at the University of Colorado where he was head of the chemical engineering department.

Miss Allen was in charge of the Model Assembly this year and is the new president of the YW. She was cited as making the greatest contribution to the campus in the terms "of important issues"—those that would be of actual benefit to the faculty, students and townspeople alike.

Sue's Model Assembly of the UN was by far the greatest contribution of the year. Long hours of unrecognized and dirty work were behind the final product.

YW President
Since her election to the presidency of the YW, the organization's program has expanded greatly. She is active in NUCWA, and was recently elected to take charge of the UNESCO division of the group for next year. She also is a member of the Cosmo club, and other campus organizations.

The work of Miss Allen's Model Assembly was reported and praised not only locally but all over the country, from the Lincoln Journal to the New York Times, at Lake Success and elsewhere.

The lead of Chancellor Gustavson, Ralph Bunche and the entire Model Assembly was followed in the selection of Miss Allen as the semester's outstanding student.

Kuska, Barnhart Chosen To Head '51 Cornhusker Editorial, Business Posts

Acacia Elects Dr. Rosenlof To Membership

Dr. George W. Rosenlof, registrar, University examiner, and director of admissions, has been elected to honorary membership in Acacia fraternity.

Since the fraternity's reactivation in 1948, Dr. Rosenlof is the first person to be invited to honorary membership. Acacia is also the first fraternity to extend honorary membership to a faculty member.

Dr. Rosenlof is also a thirty-three Degree Honorary of the Scottish Rite Masons, as well as past Grand Master of the Grand Masonic Lodge of Nebraska. He is a member of Pi Beta Kappa and Kappa Delta Pi and the Tawse club, honorary education societies. Hastings college has awarded him an honorary LL.D. degree.

The new member is a past president of the National High School Association of Supervisors, and present NEA consultant, secretary of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, and a past member of the YM board of directors.

Who's Who in the World and Who's Who in America contains accounts of Dr. Rosenlof. He is a contributing author to the Encyclopedia Americana and the World Book, associate editor of the Journal of the North Central Association, and has written and edited many state department bulletins on public instruction.

In local organizations, Dr. Rosenlof is president of the Lincoln Rotary, first commissioner of the Girl Scouts of America, vice president of the Nebraska PTA Congress, president of the Nebraska Association of College Registrars and a member of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce.

In accepting the invitation, Dr. Rosenlof stated that "no greater honor ever came to a member of the faculty than election to honorary membership in Acacia fraternity."

He will be initiated in the fall.

Religious Council Queries Students

A survey will be conducted by the Religious Welfare council to find topics for convocations, seminars and house discussions for next year's religion in Life work.

The speakers, to be furnished by the University Christian Mission, will use topics suggested by the campus. The questionnaires will be handed out within colleges for checking. Some of the questions included on the sheet are: Christianity and Communism; What is Prayer and the Value of It? Psychology and Christianity; Science and Religion; Is Independent Thinking and Searching Inquiry as to What is Truth Harmful to Basic Religious Concepts?

Also included in the questionnaires are blanks for student suggestions. These topics will also help create the theme of the religious emphasis week to be held November 5 to 9.

191 to Graduate At Wesleyan

The largest class in Nebraska Wesleyan university history will be graduated at commencement exercises May 30.

One hundred and ninety-one seniors will receive their degrees. About 160 are now enrolled in the university, and 24 others who completed their work at the end of the first semester will return for their diplomas.

Recognition Tea Honors Elsie F. Piper

Miss Elsie Ford Piper, retiring assistant dean of women, was honored at a tea given by the women students of the organized houses on campus in Ellen Smith hall Thursday afternoon.

Both students and faculty members attended the tea. Miss Marjorie Johnston, dean of women, and John K. Selleck, University controller, expressed their appreciation for Miss Piper's service to the University. Miss Dorothy Lidolph, representing the women's organized houses, paid tribute to Miss Piper for her contribution to women's housing and presented her with a gift from the students.

Provide Music
Music for the tea was provided by members of Delta Omicron, Mu Phi Epsilon and Sigma Alpha Iota, music sororities.

Mrs. R. G. Gustavson and Miss Johnston were in the receiving line along with Miss Piper. The guests were greeted at the door by Melehat Emigil and Dorothy Borgens. Marilyn Campfield introduced guests to those in the receiving line. The presidents of the organized houses, assisted by Miss Mary Augustin and Mrs. Charles Gates acted as hostesses in the drawing room.

Tea Table
Margaret Fedde and Mable Lee presided at the tea table in the dining room during the first hour, while Jennie Lou Piper and Sallie Wilson presided at the table in the court. During the second hour, Miss Mary Mielenz and Miss Madeline Gidard were in the dining room, while Miss Lulu Runge and Mrs. O. J. Fee served in the court. Social chairman of the women's houses served in the court and dining room.

NU Professors To Visit Illinois

Two Nebraska faculty members, Merle Stoneman and C. E. Rhoads will be visiting faculty members at the University of Illinois College of Education for the 1950 summer session. It will open June 23.

Betty Green Will Fill New Position of Associate Editor

Richard Kuska was chosen to head the 1951 Cornhusker staff, the faculty committee on student publications announced Thursday night.

Aiding Kuska with the financial matters will be Jack Barnhart. Barnhart was assistant business manager last year.

The committee created a new position of associate editor and tabbed Betty Green for the post. This is the first time that such a position has existed on the staff since its beginning.

In announcing the creation of this position, the committee said Miss Green will be in charge of the three managing editors, and will have supervision of all layouts, editorial material and engravings.

Other Staff Members
The three new managing editors under Miss Green are: Sarah Fulton, Jacquelyn Hoss, and Richard Billig. These new staff members were all sections heads of last year's yearbook.

Assisting the new business manager will be Gene Johnson and Harry Kimbriel.

Another new paid position—that of head photographer—was created by the committee and will be filled next year by Bob Duis. This new position eliminates the photography editor. Duties of the head photographer are to assemble and develop all pictures to be used in the yearbook.

Innocent
In addition to assuming duties as editor of the Cornhusker, Kuska is secretary of the Innocents Society, vice president of Corn Cobs, member of Builders, former a member of the Junior Class Council, and president of Phi Kappa Psi.

Barnhart is a member of Builders and of Kappa Sigma. Miss Green is a Mortar Board a holdover member of the Student Council, member of Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism honorary, Kappa Tau Alpha, journalism scholarship honorary; and Delta Delta Delta.

These appointments marked the second day of selections by the committee for the three student publications, The Daily Nebraskan, Cornhusker and Cornshucks.

"Rag" Staff Withheld
Paid staff positions on The Daily Nebraskan were selected last night, but release of this information has been held up by the committee.

Cornshucks positions will be selected this afternoon at 4 p. m., and may continue after dinner, the committee said.

Last year's staff of the Cornhusker included John Connelly as editor and Bud Gerhart as business manager. Other staff members were Marcell Buss and Jack Barnhart, assistant business managers, Dick Kuska, photography editor; and Nancy Porter, Tish Swanson and Betty Green, managing editors.

Tassels, Cobs Plan Pepster Group of 300

Freshmen and sophomore students will have an opportunity to get seats on the fifty yard line at football games again next year.

An organized group of about 300 students will again be organized as a cheering section, Dick Kuska, representing Corn Cobs, announced Wednesday.

They will attend all games and rallies. Kuska and Janet Carr, Tassel representative, will direct the efforts of the group.

Letters will be sent to all organized houses inviting them to send representatives to the group. Independent students will have an opportunity to sign up in the registration line.

Last year, men pepsters wore red sweaters with emblems; the coed pepsters wore white sweaters with red emblems. Active supervision of the group is by Corn Cobs and Tassels.

"We hope to be able to increase the size of the organization this year," Kuska said.

John Connelly and Joel Bailey directed the pep group last year.

No Distribution Of Annuals Today

No Cornhuskers will be distributed today, according to Bud Gerhart, business manager. Books can be distributed only as fast as they come from the printer.

Distribution dates have been announced as follows: Monday, May 22, Tuesday, May 23, and Wednesday, May 24 at 10 a. m. in the Cornhusker office, Union basement.

Persons unable to pick up their books on one of those days may pick them up May 27 or May 31 at 10 a. m. However, Gerhart urged all students to try to get their books before the final date if at all possible.

Students who do not pick up their books before the final date will have to wait until September.

ADA Head To Address NU Chapter

Biddle to Present Local Charter

Francis Biddle, wartime Attorney General under the late President Roosevelt, will address a banquet sponsored by the local chapter of Americans for Democratic Action on Wednesday evening, May 24, in the Lincoln Hotel.

Francis Biddle

Born in Paris, France, in 1886 of American parentage, Biddle is the new national chairman of ADA. Elected last month, he succeeds Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota. He attended Haverford School in Pennsylvania, Groton in Massachusetts, and received his B.A. in 1909 and his LL.B. in 1911 from Harvard, both cum laude. Biddle began his career as secretary to Oliver Wendell Holmes from 1911 to 1912, when the latter was a U. S. Supreme Court Justice. From 1912 to 1939 he was in private practice in Philadelphia, besides serving in other posts.

Once a Republican
Between 1922 and 1939 Biddle served as Special Assistant U. S. Attorney for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, as Deputy Chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank and as Chief Counsel to the Joint committee to investigate the TVA. In 1939, he was appointed Judge of the Third Circuit Court of Appeals in Philadelphia.

Although he is now a Democrat, Mr. Biddle began his political career as a Republican. In 1912 he was a delegate to the Bull Moose convention which nominated Theodore Roosevelt for president in a bolt from the regular Republican party under William Howard Taft.

Biddle is the author of various books, his most recent being "The World's Best Hope," published in 1949. It is a study in international relations. Others are "Democratic Way of Thinking," (1944) and a biography of Oliver Wendell Holmes which came out in 1942.

Honorary Degrees
Biddle was chairman of the Philadelphia Branch of the Foreign Policy association from 1934 to 1939, a member of the Board of Public Education of Philadelphia from 1936 to 1939, and at present is a trustee of the Twentieth Century fund. He was named Honorary Bencher of the Inner Temple in London in 1949 and holds honorary degrees from LaSalle College, Boston University, Drexel Institute and Hobart and William Smith colleges.

During the banquet proceedings Biddle will present the local ADA chapter, with their charter. The local group was organized in February. Since then they have taken an active part in the fight for low-cost public housing for Lincoln. Although special invitations have been sent to about 1000 liberals throughout the state, all are invited to attend the banquet. Tickets are $2 and may be purchased from ADA members or at the Nebraska Book store.

4 Bizad Students Win Scholarships

Four Business Administration students have won scholarships totaling $950. Dean Earl Fulbrook announced Tuesday.

Warren E. Buffet won the John E. Miller graduate Fellowship in Business Administration, worth $500. He may take his graduate work at the University of another approved institution.

John Rasmussen received the W. G. Laneworthy Taylor scholarship valued at $250. She is a
