H. C. Wear Gives NU $10,000 Gift

The University of Nebraska Foundation announced receipt Tuesday of a $10,000 gift from H. C. Wear of Brandon, Colo.

Mr. Wear, owner-operator of extensive ranching and farming interests in eastern Colorado and western Kansas, wants the University to use the money to produce still pictures and motion pictures of farming and livestock practices in New Zealand and Australia.

He says the finished movies and still pictures will be of great value for 4-H club and other farm meetings in showing Nebraska people how farming and ranching is carried on in other lands which have about the same climate as Nebraska.

The educational film will be taken next fall under the direction of a representative of the College of Agriculture. The cameraman is Rex G. Combs of Worth, Missouri. Mr. Wear, who travels extensively, will accompany the group.

Camera equipment purchased to make the pictures, and the finished pictures, become the property of the University.

First Workshop Begins June 14

The first in a series of three workshop conferences sponsored by the University summer session will be held June 14 and 15 in Burnett hall.

The theme of the family life conference is "The Family: a place to grow". It is being co-sponsored by the Nebraska Council of Family Life education and the University.

Dr. Ralph Ojeman of the Child Welfare Research station of the University of Iowa will be the principal speaker of the opening session June 14 at 10:30 a. m. in Room 108 Burnett.

The purpose of the conference is to help parents make their family a place for the "mental, emotional, social, and spiritual growth of every member." A registration fee of one dollar will cover the expenses of the conference for delegates. Registration will take place from 9:15 to 10:30 a.m. in Burnett hall.

Other plans for the conference are aimed at helping parents in organizing and leading study groups within the neighborhood, PTA, church and club.

Union Schedules Summer Events

What to do in your spare time this summer?

The Union Summer Sessions calendar has an answer. The complete calendar of events scheduled for the campus, both intellectual and recreational, is presented in a pamphlet titled "Good ole' Summertime at NU" which is now ready for distribution.

The booklet, available in the union activities office, the Crib and The Daily Nebraskan office, lists all the events scheduled for the campus in the next eight weeks.

Included on the summer calendar are all-University clinics on the possibilities of a third world war, all-state high school music recitals, table tennis tournaments, movies, an outdoor concert, Union parties, and a summer artist series.

The pamphlet itself has a photo-montage cover of summer on the Nebraska campus, and inside, Union services, as well as the clinics and conferences, are described.

Legless War Vet Gets Law Degree

John E. Davis of Aurora, started out to get a law degree from the University in 1938. That, of course, was before he was a lieutenant colonel, retired, U. S. Army—and that was also before he lost both of his legs in the Battle of the Bulge, and before he won the Silver Star.

But John Davis, now 30, got his law degree Monday. He was one of the 63 remaining from the 128 who entered the College of Law three years ago.

From here on, John figures he's pretty well set. He and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Davis, have bought a small telephone company at Bridgehead, Mich., an John will help manage that along with being the sole lawyer in the little resort town.

"That is," he says, "I'll be the only lawyer there if I can pass the Michigan bar examinations."

Basic Training
He will get a little basic training for the Michigan bar, however, this month when he takes the Nebraska State Bar examinations.

"You can't tell," he explains, "I may want to come back to Nebraska some day. I surely hate to leave here now, but Bridgeman looks like a good deal."

John graduated from Aurora high school in 1937. He came to the University the following fall and enrolled in the College of Business Administration.

Just before he entered the service early in 1942, John received his bachelor of science degree in business administration, preparatory to entering the College of Law.

He married before going overseas—the former Adell Wright of Lexington—and their first child, Donna, now 6, was born before John joined the 134th (Nebraska's Own) Infantry as a first lieutenant at Nancy, France, in September, 1944.

Veteran

John was first wounded December 9 that same year, at Saareguemines, an ankle injury, but was back with his outfit for the Battle of the Bulge. In fact he was hit twice, once, January 1, and then again on January 2. He lay in the snow for two days, and the freezing cold necessitated the amputation of both feet, part of the little finger of his right hand, and part of the middle finger of his left. He still carries a bullet in the head.

But despite that and the long hospitalization that followed, John found Monday, June 5, 1950, a great day. His wife, his sister Mrs. Margaret Siebler of Lincoln, and his father-in-law, Earl W. Wright of Lexington, were all there to see him graduate.

"My folks would have been there too," he explained, "but they had to hold the bridge at Bridgeman."

Reserved seats for this year's 500 mile race here were sold out within three days after the Speedway classic had been run in 1948, to assure another crowd of about 150,000.

Charles Pierson set a new archery mark in the free style flight shoot in the 1946 national tournament with an official measured distance of 658 yards, 2 feet and 8 inches.
