

Combined Defense Proposed Plan Includes U.S., Germany

Secretary of State Dean Acheson has presented to the North Atlantic Council an American proposal for the defense of western Europe. Highlight of the plan is inclusion of both American and German military contingents in a single unified force.

Acheson is understood to have described the proposition as revolutionary in American foreign policy. It also calls for a supreme effort by all 11 other Atlantic treaty nations to raise and equip their own military contingents for the prospective new international body.

While Acheson introduced the new proposition, in Washington congress approved 47 to 21 a special new law permitting Gen. George C. Marshall to take over the civilian post of secretary of defense. The final vote overrode stormy republican protests.

Nebraskans' Views

Rep. O'Sullivan of Nebraska voted to permit General Marshall to accept the post; Representatives Curtis, Stefan and Miller and Senators Wherry and Butler voted against the proposal.

Many World War II posts and camps that have been in mothballs for several years will again see live action.

According to Army Secretary Frank C. Pace Jr., the defense department "very definitely" plans to reactivate many of these camps and posts.

Some camps that have been declared surplus and sold would also be "recaptured."

When the first news of the American landing at Inchon reached this country, it was the work of Associated Press Correspondent Bill Shinn, former Hastings college student.

Studies at Hastings

Shinn, a North Korean, also has the name Shin Who Bong. He studied at Hastings for two years on a scholarship.

The United States has more embassy officials in Russia than the Soviet has in this country. That's what the state department has told congress.

Department officials testified that the official U.S. government representation in Moscow now totals 98 persons—12 more than the Soviet government has in Washington.

Fighting over the Korean war is not confined to Korean borders. The republican national chairman said Friday that the GOP can win the Nov. 7 election on this war issue even if the war ends in a United Nations' victory before then.

Guy G. Gabrielson said that even if Friday's U. S. invasion leads to a quick peace "the people are still sore about how we got into war in the first place."

AUF Pushes Drive For $5000 Goal

Nearly one-fifth of the goal has been reached in the All University fund's campaign for solicitations.

Jo Lisher, AUF director, stated that since campus solicitations began last spring, a total of $750 has been collected. The goal for the 1950-51 drive is $5,000.

Students have made their contributions to the University charity group, at booths located at different campus points.

For new students and freshmen of the University who are not acquainted with AUF, Lisher wished to remind them that the organization is the only one of its kind on campus. It was organized to protect students from constant solicitation by all of the important University-recognized welfare agencies, such as Community Chest, World Student Service fund, Red Cross, Infantile Paralysis fund and others which aid the needy.

A new method of collection is being tried out this year. It is part of a new system set up last spring to insure a more effective drive this year. This means that students may simply pledge a certain amount to AUF now or any time between now and the end of the year. The amount pledged will not be due until Feb. 25, 1951.

Miss Lisher urged all University students to remember that AUF represents many worthwhile charity and public aid organizations and that their one donation this year will make up for five or six contributions which they would otherwise make during the year.

Record Crowd Attends First Open House

A record-breaking crowd of nearly 2,500 students attended the annual Chancellor's Reception and Union Open House Friday evening.

According to Gene Grim, Union activities director, the crowd was one of the largest in NU history. The affair is a tradition at the University.

Students and faculty members formed a long line waiting to shake the hands of Chancellor and Mrs. R. G. Gustavson and other officials in the reception line from 8 to 10 p. m. Background music was provided by Ralph Hanneeman at the organ.

One of the most popular features of the open house program were four sorority skits. Students filled Parlors XYZ beyond capacity in order to see girls from Gamma Phi Beta, Alpha Phi, Kappa Kappa Gamma and Alpha Xi Delta present their floor shows.

The music of Dave Hunn and his orchestra was a large drawing card in the evening's entertainment. The ballroom was crowded with dancers and spectators.

Mortar Board members took charge of serving during the reception, while members of Innocents and the Union board and committees aided with the welcoming.

Lois Srb, gave her impersonations of Betty Hutton, Cass Daley and Spike Jones during the intermission.

More key entertainment during the open house included bingo and movies featuring W. C. Fields, and Abbott and Costello.

The craft shop, music room, book nook and ping pong rooms were on display during the evening. The publication offices were also open.

Med School Application Deadline Set

All applications for entrance to any accredited medical college in 1951 must be in by Dec. 1.

Dr. Eugene F. Powell, pre-med advisor, announced that those students who are interested in 1951 fall enrollment should see him as soon as possible.

According to Dr. Powell, it is imperative that the Dec. 1 deadline be met, because all acceptances to med college will be out by March 1. Application forms will be available in Dr. Powell's office, 306 Bessey hall.

Those students who still have not taken the medical aptitude test and wish to enter med college in 1951 should make arrangements as quickly as possible. The examination, the Medical College Admission test, will be given Nov. 6. It is necessary that students who take the test fill out an application now in order that it will reach the testing service, Princeton, N. J., by Oct. 23. Each application must be accompanied by a $10 fee.

Pre-meds who took the aptitude test last May 13 do not need to take the November test. However, Dr. Powell emphasized, that those who did not take the May test and still wish to enter med school in fall, 1951 must not fail to take the November test.

The 1951 class will be chosen on work already done.

Students wishing information regarding character references and official grade transcripts should see Dr. Powell.

Debate Squad Meeting Set For Thursday

Activities of the University debate squad will begin Thursday with a meeting of all those interested in intercollegiate debate this school year.

The meeting will be Thursday at 7:15 p. m., Room 203 of the Temple. All University students, regardless of previous experience, who are interested in participating in debate activities, are invited to attend, according to Donald Olson, director of University debate.

Question for debate is: Resolved: That non-communicative countries form a new international organization.

About ten veterans from last year's squad will return this year. Because of the small number of returning debaters, said Olson, there will be a lot of opportunity for new squad members to participate in actual intercollegiate conferences.

Speaking about the question, Olson said that it "certainly ought to be a live one." "It was made pertinent especially," he continued, "by Herbert Hoover's speech some time ago advocating its organization. Many people immediately expressed opposition against it."

First actual public debating of the year will be at the University of Kansas at Lawrence, Oct. 14, when Doris Carlson and Joan Krueger, sophomore debaters, participate in an exhibition debate before Kansas state high school students attending the conference at that university. Olson will also speak at the conference.

Kansas Debate

Carlson and Krueger will uphold the affirmative side of the national high school debate question which is: Resolved: That the American people reject the welfare state.

Coaching debate this year will be Olson and Bruce Kendall. Following the meeting Thursday, discussions will begin of the college question in order to give debaters background information.

Enrollment Figures Rise To 6900

Enrollment figures for the University, just released by Dr. G. W. Rosenlof, registrar, now total 6900.

Students now regularly enrolled on the Lincoln campus number 6400 plus 500 students at the University Medical college campus at Omaha.

"We fully expect the enrollment by the end of this week to reach 7500," stated Dr. Rosenlof.

Rosenlof added, "It appears now that we will approach 7800 which we had earlier estimated. Conceivably it will go even higher."

According to the registrar, the veteran enrollment is higher than the expected 1200. The vets now number 1500. Last semester, 1700 veterans were enrolled.

Earlier, Rosenlof had stated that he believed that between 7500 and 7800 students would attend school this semester as compared to 9000 for the same period last year.

Foreign students enrolled are as numerous as last year. Last week three Germans and an Austrian were new arrivals at the University. They were Heinz Schreiner, University of Vienna; Emory Warner, University of Mainz; Gudrun Wiebe, Stuttgart University; and Hubert Bruns, University of Munich.

Two new exchange students from Switzerland are expected to arrive soon. They will join two other exchanges who have been attending here. They are Walter Livi of Switzerland and Vladimir Lavko, Czechoslovakia.

Final registration figures are not expected to be compiled until graduate registration is complete about Sept. 25. Graduate registration is not normally finished until after school begins.

'Big Sisters' To Entertain Frosh Coeds

"Little Sisters" will meet all of their "Big Sisters" Tuesday evening at the annual Coed Counselor freshman party at the Union.

The party, which will begin at 7:30 p. m., in the Union ballroom, is the first mass party of the year for the Coed Counselors. Included in the evening's program will be a skit, group singing and refreshments. About 450 are expected to attend.

In charge of the skits are Fish Swanson and Nanci DeBord. One Coed Counselor from each of the 14 groups in the organization will participate in the skit concerning University life.

The party was previously scheduled for Thursday, Sept. 14, but was postponed because of redecorating activities in the Union ballroom. This is the second consecutive year the party has been held in the Union.

Previous events were in Ellen Smith Hall.

"Big Sisters" have been contacting their "Little Sisters" this week and last to help acquaint them to campus programs. Coed counselors assisted in registration, sold freshman beanies and "N" books.

Parking Sticker Deadline Tuesday

The deadline for obtaining parking permits for University parking lot and campus streets is Tuesday at 5 p. m.

Rob Raun, Student Council president, said he expected a total of about 2,000 permits to be issued before the Tuesday deadline.

Decals identifying permit holders will be affixed to their cars. A station has been set up for this purpose in the parking lot north of the Social Science building.

Permits are not necessary on the Ag campus and students living within eight blocks of the campus are not eligible for the permits.

O'Keefe Heads Outstate Ag Tests

Robert O'Keefe of Alliance will be in charge of the outstate testing program in horticulture at the University during the coming year. He succeeds Roger Sandstedt, from the Holdrege community, who has resigned to go to the University of Minnesota for graduate work.

O'Keefe is a graduate of the University and has been working with the Nebraska Certified Potato Growers association at Alliance, and doing graduate assistant work at the University.

At the same time, it was announced that Walter Jewell Jr., a recent graduate of the University of Kentucky, will serve as graduate assistant in horticulture at the University, working under Dr. H. O. Wernit. He will be assisting in a potato breeding project.

Frosh Hop To Acquaint Students With Activities

Freshman Class Invited To Attend Dance Sept. 23

Freshmen students will have an opportunity to become acquainted with University activities and with their fellow freshmen at the Frosh hop, sponsored by the Innocents Society and the Union.

FRANK JACOBS—represents Innocents in making arrangements for the Frosh Hop which is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 23.

Pepsters Will Attend Mass Meet

The freshman pep group will hold its first mass meeting Wednesday, Sept. 20, at 7 p. m. in the Union ballroom.

According to Dick Kuska, vice-president of Corn Cobs, all freshman pepsters must attend this meeting if they wish to obtain football tickets on the pep group section.

Kuska and Janet Carr, representing Tassels, are in charge of the frosh group which is composed of 154 freshmen.

All freshmen pepsters will be required to bring to the meeting three things before they will receive a ticket. They must have their identification cards, $5 and a card from their organization which authorizes them as an official representative of that group.

Alternate members of the group are also invited to attend even if they have already purchased their tickets.

At the meeting the freshmen will hear a talk from "Potsy" Clark, University athletic director, and will view demonstrations given by members of the new Yell Squad. The cheerleaders will go over various yells with the frosh and will teach them some new ones. Refreshments will also be served.

Replacements Of ID Cards Now Available

New ID cards to replace lost ones will be issued starting Monday at the Office of the Comptroller in the Administration building, announced John Selleck, University comptroller.

Students who have lost original ID cards sent to them during the summer or given them during fall registration, or who, for some reason, did not receive them, can obtain a replacement upon payment of a $1 fee. Students who have never received ID cards will not be required to pay the extra fee if the office can find the error.

According to Selleck, in answer to several complaints about the delay in issuing additional ID cards, the cards were not available to students previous to now because of the football season ticket campaign.

Selleck said the action was followed this year and last in view of the circumstances two years ago when the office issued cards upon demand. Students used the extra cards merely to purchase additional football tickets.

As a result the athletic department did not have enough season tickets for students and many were forced to sit on the cinders. "Editorials in The Daily Nebraskan at that time," Selleck continued, "strongly protested against the situation."

The athletic department had laid aside only enough tickets for the number of students enrolled in the University and consequently ran short when so many students presented ID cards for tickets.

The present procedure, Selleck said, is followed to protect the majority of University students from the small group which would take advantage of the situation.

Football Ducats Available Today

Business Manager A. J. Lewandowski announced Saturday that students may pick up their grid tickets Monday at the Coliseum. Students should present their ID cards and receipts to get the tickets. He also announced that some tickets would be available Monday for students who had not purchased their tickets by the Saturday noon deadline.

Students and faculty should sit in the seats designated on their football tickets during the Frosh-Varsity game. This procedure will simplify the task of finding their seats in their first game against Indiana, Sept. 30.

Student football tickets will admit student holders to the Frosh-Varsity game to be held Saturday, Sept. 23. Faculty tickets will also be honored.

Students will sit on the east side of the stadium, according to Lewandowski. Sections numbered 1, 2, 10 and 11 will be reserved exclusively for students. Seats, from row 30 down in sections 3 through 8 will also be reserved for students.

Allen Second NU Delegate to Head National YWCA

Sue Allen, recently elected national president of the student YWCA, is the second Nebraska girl in a row to be named president of the group for its national assembly.

Mary Ann Mattoon, former University coed, was chosen president of the YWCA at its meeting four years ago. The president presides alternately with the national YM president at the national YM-YW meetings. These "town meetings" establish the legislative policy of the groups for the next four years. This year the meetings will be held at Miami University, Oxford, O.

Miss Mattoon now serves as executive director of the student YW and YM at Miami university.

First Tryouts For 'Antigone' Start Sept. 20

Tryouts for "Antigone," recent Broadway production, will begin Wednesday, Dean Graunke, director of the first production of the University Theatre, said that tryouts will be held Wednesday, 3 to 5 p. m. and 7-9 p. m., and continue to Thursday, 7 to 9 p. m. in Room 201, Temple.

The story is based on the Greek myth of Antigone, a Greek maiden, and Edopos, her father. As a child Edopos was abandoned on a mountain to die because the gods thought that he would harm many people if allowed to grow up and freely roam the earth. He escapes however and grows to manhood only to return and kill his father.

Martir Mother

Edopos marries his mother not knowing she is his real mother. She bears him two sons, Eteocles and Polynices, and two daughters, Antigone and Ismene.

After the death of Edopos, his two sons were to take over the rule of the property, each ruling every other year. When Eteocles became the ruler he did not want to give it up; the brothers declared war on each other and both were killed in the battle. Creon, Edopos' brother and new regent of Thebes orders that Eteocles be given a burial of honor and that Polynices be left for the vultures. The punishment for anyone interfering in the attempt to get a proper burial for Polynices is death.

Becomes Martyr

Antigone attempts to bury the body and is caught by Creon. As a true martyr she becomes known for her good only after her death.

The adaptation that will be used was first displayed in Paris in 1945 and 1946, during the German occupation. A few revisions had to be made at that time because of the marked likeness of the dictatorship of Creon to that of Hitler. The modern setting will be used here with formal attire during the hour and 40 minute continuous performance.

The cast is composed of eight men and four women.

Add and Drop For Students To Continue

Headquarters for add and drop procedure and late registration procedure will continue to be in the Military and Naval Science building.

However, there will be a slight change in the add and drop part, according to Dr. F. W. Hoover, assistant registrar.

Students who did not complete their add and drop by last Saturday noon are required to obtain the signatures of course instructors as well as those of their advisors and deans.

Hoover stressed that the instructors consent must be obtained before any change is made.

This, briefly, is the system each student should follow in dropping and adding:

1. See his advisor and have any changes approved by him.
2. Secure the consent of his instructors.
3. Obtain the approval of the dean of his college.
4. Visit the Military Science building with the properly signed worksheet to re-register for classes.
5. Pay add and drop fees at the Administration building.

Students are asked to note the last step particularly. Last week all fees were paid at the Physical Education building. This week all fees including those for late registration will be paid at the Administration building.

Hoover emphasized that students who merely wish to change a class section do not need to go through the add and drop procedure. The class section need only be approved by the head of the department.

Coeds Schedule Programs For New Students

Three campus "Know-How" programs sponsored by the AWS board and the Mortar Boards will start this week. The programs are designed to acquaint new coeds with campus life at the University.

The programs are scheduled in Love library auditorium: Wednesday, Sept. 20; Wednesday, Sept. 27; and Wednesday, Oct. 4. All are at 5 p. m.

All Coed Counselors are to bring their "Little Sisters" to the program. All new coeds, Lincoln, dorm and organized house girls are invited.

The first program, Wednesday, is entitled "Campus Life." The girls will explain dress for all occasions. Campus standards and traditions at the University will be discussed in skit fashion.

The second program is on scholarship. AWS board members and Mortar Boards will give hints for studying, explanations of down slips and information on scholastic and professional honoraries.

The third program concerns campus activities. An explanation of all campus activities will be given. Representatives of the activities will be there. The last program is a week before the Activities Mart Oct. 11, when freshman women may sign up for work.

Draw Cartoons? 'Rag' Wants You

The Daily Nebraskan needs a cartoonist.

Any student interested in drawing cartoons for The Daily Nebraskan is asked to see Editor Bruce Kennedy in the "Rag" office in the Union basement.

The newspaper office is open from 1 to 5 p. m., week days, and each Saturday morning. The cartoonist position is a paid one.
