The Letterip Column

It has been the policy of The Daily Nebraskan in the past to print no letters without complete signatures of the authors. It was felt that unless a student had enough intestinal fortitude to sign the letters, they were not worthy of publication.

And in one light this conclusion is right. A person should have the nerve to sign his own letter and to stick up for what he believes. But in another sense it is depriving the student, who for various reasons, is unable to sign his name to a pertinent letter. For instance, a student worker in some University building may feel a proposal is being advanced that is a detriment to him or his working conditions. He wants to speak his mind and to go on record as disfavoring this certain plan. He is prevented in doing so, because such a published opinion may cost him his job. This is not a hypothetical example—it happened to a student last year.

This semester, to avoid repetition of such circumstances and to provide the best possible service to the students, The Daily Nebraskan is initiating a policy of pen names.

Regardless of the use of pen names, however, there is one requirement for each letter. And that is, each letter must be accompanied by the name and address of each author. If we are in possession of this information, your letter will be published with or without a pen name, depending upon your request. We must require this in order to insure both this paper and the students against those who would take advantage of the opportunity to further their own selfish interests. These names and addresses will be available in the editor's office to anyone who desires the information.

It is hoped this policy will end further problems of the Letterip column. It is also hoped that this column will be open to more students for their use and their betterment. It is your column to use as you wish.

NU Debaters To Organize On Thursday

Debaters this year will discuss: Resolved; That non-Communist countries form a new international organization.

The University debate squad will sound the call to colors Thursday at 7:15 p.m. in Room 203, Temple building. Debate director, Donald Olson will form the nucleus of the 1950-51 intercollegiate debate squad.

All University students, regardless of previous experience, who are interested in participating in debate activities, are invited to attend.

Only ten veterans will return from last year's debate team and Olson promises that there will be plenty of opportunities for new squad members to participate in actual intercollegiate conferences.

Joan Krueger and Doris Carlson, sophomore debaters, will enter the University's first performance of the year when they travel to the University of Kansas at Lawrence, Oct. 14, to debate before Kansas State high school students attending a conference.

Olson and Bruce Kendall will coach the debaters this year, following Thursday's meeting the two will brief the squad on background information in future discussions.

APO Announces First Session

Alpha Phi Omega will hold an open meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m. Applicants for membership must have previous training in scouting, a desire to give service on the campus and a satisfactory scholastic record.

Purpose of Alpha Phi Omega is "to assemble college men in the fellowship of the Boy Scout Oath and Law, to develop friendships and leadership and to promote service to humanity."

The University chapter, headed by Glenn E. Curtis, is one of 200 chapters in the United States. It was founded in 1935.

Crib Waiters Learn Trade By Experience

The men in white (Corn Crib waiters) have quick pick-up but some let down by their student following. They complain when "fussy" coeds can't decide or change their minds on orders or when fellows with lots of time and nothing to do sit in booths without buying a coke or a cup of coffee.

If anyone is seized with a paper tearing mood, they advise him to avoid the Crib with its many napkins as bait.

It is said that the girls are harder to please than the men and sometimes put on the "better than you" attitude. When blowing paper wrappers off straws became too popular, the waiters decided to hold the containers until the straws were extracted.

Several years ago the waiters had a code they used to call orders. Now, after much confusion they just say "two cokes."

A top flight waiter can be turned out in about fifteen days if he has the necessary balance to carry four glasses, full up and dripping, in one hand. Shifting feet and quick dodging are necessary during rush hours when people whip to and fro with no worry about a head-on collision.

Between the hours of 3 and 4 the Crib is the busiest. At this time there are approximately 100 cokes sold. Cokes are the most popular in the fall and spring along with lemon and lime sodas. Coffee rates high in the winter.

The oddest orders are grilled donuts and a race horse. The race horse is a coke with everything in the fountain such as pineapple strawberry and cherry mixed in it. Even a dash of marshmallow is added.

Students at Cal Design Unions

Advanced architecture students at the University of California have created scale models of the proposed student union on that campus. The models are on display in the present union.

Done as a class assignment all scale models are ultra modern with unique details. The plan calls for details of student models to be incorporated in the final drawings of the architects.

The new union building, when completed, will include such features as a bowling alley, two student theaters, a coffee shop and clubrooms.

Students Receive Chemistry Grants

The University department of chemistry and chemical engineering has announced the granting of seven fellowships to graduate students who are working toward Ph. D. degrees in chemistry.

The awards, effective for a year, are: DuPont Postgraduate, $1,800—John B. Thompson, who received his master's degree in 1949, for research in physical chemistry; Standard Oil of Indiana fellowship, $1,200—James E. Shewmaker, who received his master's degree in 1949, for research in physical chemistry.

Samuel Avery fellowship, $1,200—Arthur E. Beindorf, for research in biochemistry; Parke, Davis and Company, four fellowships, $1,200 each—Charles W. Winter, master's degree 1948; Lester McKinzie, master's degree 1948; Phillip J. Vanderhost, master's degree 1950; and David B. Capps, master's degree 1950. All four graduate students are doing research in the field of organic chemistry.

Adams, Englekemeier New Home Ec Club Officers

Marcia Adams and Joanne Englekemeier were recently elected officers of the Home Economics club following a reorganization meeting last week. Miss Adams was elected vice president and Miss Englekemeier will be secretary of the club.

Also chosen as council members were Virginia Baskin, Jackie Becker, Ramona Laun and Rita Renard.

According to Annette Stoppkotte, president of the organization, these appointments were necessary because of the failure of several council members to return to school.

Plans were also made for the get-acquainted picnic to be held Thursday, September 21, at 5 o'clock. To be held on lower campus, the picnic is especially planned to introduce the freshmen and new students to the Home Economics club. Eileen Derieg and Marilyn Barnesberger are co-chairman for the event.

The club is a college club division of the American Home Economics association and is also affiliated with the Nebraska Home Economics association. It carries on a varied program and serves to promote the profession.

Advisors for the club this year are Dr. Doretta Schlaphoff, Miss Jessie Warden, Mrs. Helen Sulek and Miss Mary Rose Graham.

Ag Faculty Plans Student Mixer

The annual Ag campus Student-Faculty party will be held in the College Activities Building Sept. 30 starting at 8 p.m. The party is given by the Ag faculty for all Ag students.

According to Dr. P. A. Downs, chairman of the party committee, the main purpose of the party is to give the students and faculty a chance to get acquainted and to give the students a chance to get acquainted with one another. Dancing will continue from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. to an orchestra to be announced later. Refreshments will also be served.

Ag students are reminded by Dr. Downs that this is an informal mixer which will provide a good opportunity to meet your faculty and to meet your fellow students.

Testing Service Will Give Exams

Educational testing service of Princeton, N.J., will give law school and graduate school admission tests to students four times in the next year.

The tests will be taken by candidates at 100 centers throughout the country. A student, after making separate application to the school of his choice, should first inquire of the school whether it wishes him to take educational testing service tests.

The law test feature objective questions measuring verbal aptitudes and reasoning ability. The test prepared for graduate school applicants contains questions of general scholastic ability and tests of general and advanced achievement in various subject matter fields.

Students interested should write to Educational Testing Service, P. O. Box 582, Princeton, N.J.

Cigarette Contest Open to Students

University students have the opportunity to win cash prizes in Luck Strike's national jingle contest.

The winning jingle will be used in the cigarette company's "Happy Go Lucky" campaign. Advertisements for the campaign will appear in the Daily Nebraskan and in 275 other college newspapers.

Say the Luck Strike officials: "Just compose a four-line jingle singing the praises of Luck Strike cigarettes and if the rhyme is accepted you will earn $25."

For example: "As quarter-back I lead the team; I call out, one-two-three! But when I'm not in training it's L. S. M. F. T."

Students can send in as many entries as they wish to Happy-Go-Lucky, P. O. Box 67, New York 46, N. Y.

Ag Y Members To Join in Party

The Ag college YM-YW will have a welcome party in the Activities building Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. All Ag college students are invited to attend.

The program for the evening includes introduction of the YM and YW officers, group mixers, party games, special music and refreshments.

This is the first of the regular weekly joint YM-YW meetings. The meetings will be held in the Home Ec parlors on each succeeding Tuesday evening.

Ag YM-YW officers urge all freshmen and new students to attend.
