

NU Activities . . .

MORNING COFFEE—These boys read the latest news as they wait for their breakfasts in the Crib. The story they're reading so attentively tells about the latest draft call.

RELAXING—Cozier Kline, Bruce Ferrine and John Mills relax in their house as they listen to the Nebraska-Minnesota football game. Ferrine compares the predictions of the experts as he hears that Nebraska is leading 13-0 in the first quarter.

TV SET—These boys have a good reason to stay home now that they have a television set in their house. Since the new television relay system was set up on Oct. 1, Nebraska can receive all programs broadcast from the east.

BELEAGUED STUDENTS—A pair of beauty experts when it comes to watching a car's appearance, these boys ready the "rig" for the weekend with a new polish job—a typical case of "conscientious students."

Series Listeners Mob Union Radio

Males only! The Union might as well have hung that sign in the area surrounding the radio in the northeast corner of the lounge during the World Series games last week. Every available chair and chair arm is being used by a man who is listening attentively as the reports of the Yankee-Phillies game come in over the radio. Take for instance the game last Friday. In the bottom of the eighth inning the Phillies are leading 2 to 1. Throughout the area, expectant silence prevails. The Yankee fans can be distinguished by the look of despair on their faces. The Phillies fans have smiles around the edge of their mouths. An Impossible Wish A passing instructor was heard to remark that he wished that he could get such sober and undivided attention from the members of his basket weaving 103 class. During station breaks a few conscientious students are scribbling notes on a piece of paper or reading. Assorted groans and cheers arose from the listeners as an error on a fly ball let in the tying Yankee run. The traffic in and out of the lounge increases as classes are over about 2 p.m. A few hardy souls mutter, listen for a few minutes, and then with the airs of true martyrs gather up their books and amble out of the Union. They must be going to classes. Ah—such fortitude! To these ardent fans, this Series is the all-important event of the moment. Every face is turned towards the radio, every muscle alert. No one looks where he is sitting—just unconsciously drops into a chair or onto the floor.

Ag Students Form First Soil Society

The first student chapter of the Soil Conservation Society of America in the United States was organized last week on Ag campus. Keith Young was elected chairman of the group. He is the son of Gladwyn Young, coordinator for all the agricultural phases of the Missouri basin development. Other officers elected were: Bill Reinsch, vice-chairman; Don Hovendick, secretary-treasurer; and Phillip Vrana as the student member of the governing board. The student chapter drew up a constitution patterned after other departmental clubs on Ag campus. This constitution must first be approved by the Ag Exec board before it is sent to the Student Council for ratification. Then it must be forwarded to the national chapter for further approval.

To Speed Action According to Dr. R. P. Matelski, sponsor of the group, it is hoped that these actions may be speeded up so that the student chapter can be approved by the national chapter at its meeting to be held the latter part of October.

Dr. Matelski pointed out that membership is still open to qualified candidates and students having interest in soil conservation. He said that no lines are drawn except for interest and an active participation in the club.

Members Membership in the student chapter includes: Frank V. Anderson, Melvin Argabright, Harlan Baker, William Bish, Dale Bush, Gordon Cisney, Richard Curley, Clinton Curry, Arnold Davis, Reid Dickerson, John Durr, Gerald Fellows, William Fobair, Robert Foster and Carl Fox.

State Merit System Seeks More Workers

Announcements have been released by the Nebraska Merit System to recruit additional professional and technical workers in the Welfare, Employment Security and Health Departments. According to Arthur W. Pendergast, Merit System Director, an attempt is being made to interest new groups of people in career jobs with the State agencies. In addition, there is a need for finding replacements for those who are promoted, resign or are called into government service.

The Social Security program to provide a category of assistance for totally and permanently disabled, has been broadened. While there is little information available as to the number of persons who will be eligible for benefits under this program, it is believed that additional personnel may be needed. A new procedure in the Claims Department of the State Employment agency will necessitate the hiring of temporary agents during the months of December, January, February and March. Technical and professional workers are in demand in the Health Department too, in the State Laboratory, in the sanitation program of the local health units and in many other phases of Public Health. Specific information relative to vacancies, qualifications and other information may be obtained by writing the Merit System, 1306 State Capitol, Lincoln, Nebraska.

Lucky Strike Asks for Jingles

As a part of a new advertising campaign by Lucky Strike cigarettes, 25 dollars is being offered to anyone writing an acceptable four-line jingle on campus characters.

For example there's a vibrant girl cheerleader who leads a yell for victory for L.S./M.F.T. or a staid professor who praises Lucky Strike.

Any college student is eligible to compete. Many of the jingles used in the "Be Happy-Go-Lucky" advertising campaign will be printed in 275 college newspapers from coast to coast. Jingles should be sent to Happy-Go-Lucky, P.O. Box 67, New York 46, N.Y.

NU Library Receives New Books

The University library has received several new books recently. The list was published by the Bulletin Board Supplement. These new books cover a variety of subjects. "Helping Children Write" by Mauree Applegate, is a book of practical helps in creative writing. "A Grammar of American Politics" by Wilfred E. Binkley is a history of American government and politics. "Practical Advertising" by Harry O. Bridge is a detailed study which aids both the small and big business advertisers. "Origin of Modern Science" by H. Butterfield discusses the history of the development of Scientific thought and points out its relation to the social and political ideas of the times.

Current Events James F. Corbett is the author of "Current Affairs and Modern Education, a Survey of the Nation's Schools." The book presents a national picture of the methods employed in teaching current events. The best techniques in teaching the subject are also discussed. Allen Edwards has written a book on the newer developments in statistical analysis called, "Experimental design in Psychological Research." "World Ski Book," by Frank Elkins covers all four systems of ski instruction. It is illustrated. "Economics of Transportation" by Marvin L. Fair and E. W. Williams treats the subject of transportation as a function of American economic development and economic activity.

Prose Artist "Recollection of Logan Pearsall Smith, the story of friendship" is a portrait of the prose-artist. "The Way to Game Abundance" tells about game fluctuations and wildlife conservation by Byron Wallace Cragg.

"Talking Wax" by LeRoy Hughbanks tells of the development of the phonograph. "Speech Problems of Children, a guide to care and correction" by Wendell Johnson emphasizes the major points, research and direct services to the handicapped.

"High School Journalism" by Harold Spears is designed for students actively engaged in publishing a school paper. "The Art of Cheese Cookery" by Nika tells how to use every variety of cheese in clear recipes, and the use of cheese in combination with fruit, bread, meat, and other foods.

"Paradox of Oscar Wilde" by George Woodcock is an objective evaluation of Wilde as a man and artist.

ASCE To Hear Gen. Henninger

Henninger, director of selective service of Nebraska, discuss phases of selective service on Wednesday, Oct. 7, in Parlors A, B, and C of the Union at 7:30. His talk will cover those phases of selective service that apply to college men. General Henninger graduated from the Military Honors . . .

GOOD SOLDIER—Pershing Rifleman Darrel Meinke received the Scabbard and Blade Best Cadet Award at a military parade from Capt. Oren W. Bryant. Other members of the group have won awards for military proficiency. Pershing Rifles has a crack drill squad which performs at the Military Ball and travels annually to the regimental drill meet to compete for drill honors.

Pershing Rifles Announce Fall Membership Drive

Pershing Rifles, national honorary military fraternity, is engaged in its fall drive to obtain new members. Cadet captain Charles Bressman, commander, announced the aims of the group at the first smoker held Tuesday, Oct. 3. He urged all ROTC students who are interested in military drill and precision to contact one of the officers or attend one of the meetings, which are held each Monday and Wednesday from 5 to 6 p.m. in the Army.

Bressman said that the aims of the group would be as follows: To provide a precision drill squad for the Military Ball. To form a rifle team to compete with other organization teams. To provide a color guard for all University functions, including football games.

college of engineering in 1918. He has been Adjutant General of Nebraska since 1939 and Nebraska selective service head since 1940.

President Frank Dutton reminds students that this will be their last chance to become members before the banquet, Oct. 17. The Nebraska Society of Civil Engineers will entertain the students members at the banquet.

To instruct and maintain a crack drill company with special emphasis on platoon drill. This platoon will compete in the annual national Pershing Rifle Regimental drill meet. To sponsor one formal party during the year. To serve in any job that Pershing Rifles may be called upon to do, either by the University or the ROTC department.

Pershing Rifles was founded in 1892 by Lt. John J. Pershing, who was then a military instructor at the University. Since then it has spread to many other colleges and universities throughout the nation. The national headquarters of the group are located on this campus.

Any freshman or sophomore ROTC student is eligible to join the group. Anyone who is interested should attend the first meeting, in uniform. Officer of the group for the year include: Bressman, Ist. Lt. Wendell Baumann, 2nd Lts. Darwin McAfee, Gayard Albers, and Robert Gilmore.
