

Commiss Retreat In Korea

UN Forces Take Over Red Capital

United Nations forces captured the capital of North Korea Thursday.

Two allied spearheads were able to occupy most of P'yongyang, red capital since the end of World War II.

The premier of North Korea, Kim Il Sung, and his government had apparently fled northward, possibly into Manchuria or Russian Siberia.

Frightened red troops surrendered by the thousands, some clad only in their long underwear. The capital was almost deserted, although in normal times, it had over 700,000 inhabitants. The two major escape roads northward were reported clogged with retreating red soldiers.

War Nearly Over

Most correspondents predicted that the war was almost over, although guerrilla operations may continue.

In England, Sir Stafford Cripps, better known as "Mr. Austerity," resigned as Chancellor of the Exchequer, a post he had held since November, 1947. The 61-year-old cabinet member had been in poor health for some time.

Senator Herbert R. O'Connor of Maryland charged that about a half million gallons of American oil had been sent to China after the Korean war began.

"Improper and wrong" were the words used by the chairman of the senate subcommittee investigating reports that American ships have been carrying strategic materials into red China since last June.

Quints Take Trip

The Dionne quintuplets, now 16 years old, made their first visit to New York City. Their host was Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York. Their only other trip into the United States was made in 1943, when they went to Wisconsin to launch some ships.

Reports from Washington are that President Truman assured General MacArthur that the administration policies in accord of those of the UN, will be to permanently neutralize Formosa.

Russia accepted an invitation issued by the UN to join a 14 member "peace patrol" to smash world aggression anywhere in the world.

NU Builders To Distribute Band Day Issue

Copies of Scarlet and Cream, official Builder's newspaper will be distributed to each high school student in attendance at the annual Band Day Saturday. 3,000 copies of the publication have been printed. Activities on campus are described or pictured in the publication.

This is the first issue of the year, under the editorship of Beverly Smith.

A card will be attached to the newspaper with information to be filled out by the high school student. Information requested will include the name, address, school, major and the college, if any, that the student plans to attend. In this way, the Builders may contact those students who are interested in attending the University.

Food, including sandwiches, milk and apples, will be given to the students under the direction of Poochie Rediger.

All hostesses at the feed will wear the newly initiated red and white Builders ribbon.

Builders is an organization which seeks to advertise the University as much as possible and to get Nebraska students to attend school at their own state University.

AWS Announces Coed Follies Rules

Letters containing the rules for Coed Follies participation were sent Friday by the AWS board to all organized women's houses.

Although Coed Follies will not be held until Feb. 27, 1951, the AWS board is asking that each house submit a written script for its skit or curtain act by Dec. 15. If a group has not entered a script by that date, it will be assumed that it does not intend to participate in the follies. It will not be necessary, however, to enter candidates for Typical Nebraska Coed until a later date.

The reason for the early submission of scripts is to prevent the duplication of ideas. In case two groups enter the same idea, the first script submitted will be used, and the other group will be asked to change its theme. The AWS board believes that this rule will give each group a better chance in the competition.

Scripts should be sent as soon as possible to Marilyn Mooney at 426 No. 18. Skits must not exceed eight minutes and curtain acts must be no more than five minutes.

The New Entrances

EAST STADIUM

WHICH DOOR IS WHICH?—This illustration shows the entrance system which will be used at the East Stadium Saturday for the Penn State-NU game and all other grid games. The plan is being used this year to protect students' interests, according to A. J. Lewandowski, athletics business manager. Only students will be able to go in entrances marked "Students" in the diagram. Similarly, only faculty members and the general public may enter ramps specifically marked for "Faculty" and "Public." The majority of doors, as the plan shows, will be used by students and faculty.

Gate Crashing Taboo at Games

If you have a ticket to sit in the student football section, you must present your ticket as well as your ID card before you will be admitted into all future games.

A. J. Lewandowski reports that too many non-students are trying to sit in the student section and all attempts will be made to have this cease.

Publication Interviews To Continue

Student Council interviews for sophomore and junior applicants for the Student Committee on Publications will be held next Wednesday, Oct. 25, at 4:15 at the Union.

Those students whose applications have been filed should report to room 305, Union, for the interviews.

Each applicant appears separately before the Council members to answer specific questions concerning qualifications and constructive ideas.

The Student Committee on Publications is comprised of both faculty and student representatives. Their duties include selection of the three publications' staffs and review and verification of contracts and budgets.

Approximately ten members of the sophomore and junior classes have filed for the position on the Publications Board.

Interviews for the senior Board member were held Wednesday in the Student Council meeting. Leon Pfeiffer was re-named to the senior Publications Board post.

Union Plans Two Dances

Two more free dances are on the schedule of the Union for this coming week-end.

Dungarees, levis or just plain rally clothes will be the vogue for the dungaree jamboree Friday night, Oct. 20. The dance will be held immediately after the rally to the music of Jerry Mayburn and his orchestra.

The Phi trio, Betty Lester, Nora Devore and Barb Adams will furnish entertainment. The barbershop ditties of the Beta Sig quartette and solos by Gwen Wilsner will also be on the program. Jan Frieche, chairman for the dance, promised other surprise acts.

Apple cider and cookies will be served. There will be a number of hostesses.

Saturday night, the Union plans to initiate a series of disc derby dances. Dancing will be from 8:30 p.m. to midnight.

Dancing will be entirely to records. Entertainment will consist of a duet of Mary Pitterman and Jo Pyle and a blackface ukulele act by Donna Kratler.

Chairman Perky Faib said that she anticipated a record crowd for the event, which the Union committee hopes to be able to make a traditional affair.

AWS Positions Open to Juniors

Unaffiliated junior coeds interested in membership in AWS—Associated Women Students—may file applications from which senior AWS board members will schedule interviews.

Applicants must have a 5.7 scholastic average, junior standing, and a year's residence in a University house.

Applications must be filed between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. at Ellen Smith hall by Friday.

The name on the ID card and football ticket must be written in ink and correspond if the ticketholder is to be admitted.

Some gatecrashers should be complimented on their ingenuity in trying to get into the Nebraska-Indiana game last month.

Sandwich Is Reason

One elderly lady asked a ticket taker if she could go through the gates, "Just to get a sandwich," she said.

Her reason wasn't accepted for some athletes were selling food outside the gates.

Another Nebraska fan tried to get by the ticket checkers under the pretense of checking a telephone. He was completely outfitted as a limeman, even including the spikes on his shoes.

His costume was authentic but his excuse didn't hold ground. There are no telephones in the stadium.

Plumbing Repairman

Another man claimed he was called to repair some plumbing. The fact that he didn't have any of his tools kept him from seeing the game.

No one knows what tricks will be tried this Saturday. Most likely most of them will end up listening to the game by radio.

All students with season football tickets this year must enter the door marked "Students." Members of the Innocents Society will be placed at each entrance for the purpose of identification.

Student Seating

The majority of seats in the East Stadium will be occupied by students and faculty. Exceptions are the several sections reserved to the public and single admission. Seats reserved for the faculty and the University students are the card section and the seats nearest the field.

Faculty members are to enter the door marked "faculty." This will be located directly north of the center door.

"This system is being used this year to protect student interests," said Lewandowski. A similar plan was tried once before in 1937 but only two doors were open to students.

When people create something and then share with others what they have created, happiness comes to the world, Chancellor R. G. Gustavson stated at the first All-University convocation Thursday.

Speaking at the Coliseum, Gustavson addressed over 3,000 University students and faculty members. His speech was entitled "Look to This Day."

"A creative life finds its satisfaction in its ability to share," the Chancellor said. "A nation which shares is a happy nation and a world which shares is a happy world," he continued.

Gustavson's speech climaxed United Nations Week activities on the University campus. Still on the agenda are a coffee hour at the Union Sunday, and the projects of UN Day, Tuesday, Oct. 24.

With Gustavson on the Coliseum stage were Dr. Carl J. Schneider, who gave the introductory speech, Jack Greer, who introduced the Chancellor, and Harold Peterson, president of NUCWA.

Schneider told the assembly of the convocation program as outlined for the coming year. All classes were dismissed for Dr. Gustavson's address.

House Display, Float Sketches Deadline Set

Sketches of the homecoming house displays and the floats must be turned in not later than Saturday noon in order to be eligible for competition.

Sketches and fees for the house decorations should be sent or brought to John Mills, 635 North 16th street, by noon Oct. 21. All houses of 20 or more members must pay the five dollar entry fee to be eligible for consideration.

Decorations must be completed and an expense account, totaling not more than fifty dollars, must be in Friday, Nov. 4 at 6 p.m. All organized houses are eligible. If duplicate entries are turned in the first one received is taken.

Float Contest

The float contest will be similar to the house decoration competition. Sororities may not compete. No entry fee is necessary but a sketch is required with the same rule on duplication. All entries must be sent to Jayne Wade 1619 R street before noon Oct. 21. An expense limit of fifteen dollars is placed on the float contest.

The judges will be faculty members.

All floats and other participants will form at 10:30 a.m., Saturday, Nov. 4th, at 14th and Vine streets. The parade will move down 14th street to R, down R to 15th, and down 15th to O street to 11th, down 11th to R to 12th and to the Coliseum.

No professional help may be used on any of the decorations.

Traveling Trophies

Traveling trophies are awarded to the winners in the float competition. In the house decoration contest, trophies will be awarded the top teams and traveling trophies go to second and third place winners. Only two places are recognized in the float contest.

Last year Sigma Nu copped first place in the mens division with Gamma Phi Beta as the top womens team, in the house decorations. Sigma Chi and Zeta Beta Tau took second and third place honors respectively in the mens division. Second and third places in the womens section went to Sigma Delta Tau and Delta Delta Delta.

the UN presents to organize the world on a creative, sharing basis," he said.

Gustavson pointed out the outstanding advancements which have come in the way of science to make the world a better place in which to live.

"We are living in a world of change. We can produce bigger animals and better producing grain crops through breeding. The most important work at the moment has to do with the nucleus of the cell. We are finding out that the whole architecture of the cell is determined by the qualities of the nucleus," he stated.

Though our knowledge of science and of the physical laws of the universe have progressed almost beyond belief, the problems of morals, ethics, and religion which we deal with today are nearly the same as they were many years ago, he told the group.

Gustavson pointed out some flaws in our society. According to the Chancellor, we show a tendency toward non-creative mass production and we emphasize the destructive instead of the constructive.

"Look well, therefore, to this day! Such is the salutation of the dawn."

NU Rally Tonight To 'Go to Town'

Commandant Call To Close Tuesday

Applications for the title of Honorary Commandant must be filed between today and Tuesday at 5 p.m. by senior coeds, in the Dean of Student Affairs office, Room 104 Administration building.

Seniors applying must meet the qualifications of their college for senior standing and must have an average of at least 5.5. There is no limit on the number of candidates who may apply from each house.

Students will vote for the six finalists at an all-University election, Oct. 31, and Nov. 2 a reception will be held from 2 to 7 p.m., at the Union at which time the six finalists will be presented to the candidate officers. The officers will then vote for the Honorary Commandant, who will be revealed at the annual Military Ball.

Class Posts Applications Due Today

Today is the last day for students to file for junior or senior class officers. Anyone interested should file with Dean Halgren's office in the Administration building today.

Eligibility requirements must be fulfilled before any student may file for junior or senior class officer. These refer to individual college requirements, hour requirements and a 5.5 average.

The tentative election date has been set for Thursday, Oct. 26. Voting may be done from 8 to 5 either on the Ag or city campus. There will be booths in the Unions of both campuses.

Eligible Voters

Only juniors and seniors may vote for the four officers which are to be elected for each class. A minimum of two candidates for each office is required. Sufficient interest must be shown in the elections and filings to warrant their being held.

Bob Parker, student council vice president, who is in charge of elections, announced some revisions to the campaign publicity rules which were issued this week.

For this election, no money is to be used for campaign purposes. Posters may be made, but no candidate is to pay for any advertising facilities.

P.A. Use Restricted

Another publicity revision has restricted use of the public address system during the elections. This means that no candidate may use P.A. advertising on campus or elsewhere during the elections.

The Student Council hopes that this election will be a "nice, quiet one."

This reason for these revisions is that elections are to be toned down until after the final Council constitution revisions.

The election organization isn't complete enough to let a regular election campaign be held.

Cornshucks Calls For Cartoonists

If you can produce drawings regularly, or even occasionally, here's your big chance. Cartoonists for Corn Shucks, the campus humor magazine, are greatly needed in room 20, Corn Shucks office, in the Student Union as soon as possible.

Fireworks, Parade To Kindle Spirit

"We're Going to Town for Penn State" will be the theme of the Cornhusker rally tonight at 7:15.

The rally tonight will be the only one of its kind this year. The rally committee has made plans for the Cornhusker backers to go downtown. There will be fireworks, yells, songs, speeches, to kindle the desired spirit to send the Cornhuskers off in full steam against Penn State.

All students are asked to be at the Coliseum before 7:15 or to wait in front of their houses to be picked up by the rally.

"We're going to town for Penn State" rally procedure will begin at the Coliseum and go down Vine street to 16th. From 16th the pepsters will march to R street; from R to 15th and from 15th to O street. From O they will proceed to 13th where the main part of the rally will be held.

The Corn Cobs and Tassels will form a circle at the intersection of 13th and O. The students will form behind this circle.

Bill to Speak

Speeches will be given by Coach Bill Glasford and the game co-captains in the middle of the circle. Yells, songs, and cheers will be led here by the yell leaders and the band.

After this part of the rally the Husker fans will then march back to the Union in rally procedure.

The order to be followed during the rally is: the band first; then the victory bell with the cheerleaders on the platform; See Rally, Page 2

Ag Board Filings To Close Monday

Filings for the junior members to the Farmer's Fair board will close Monday, according to Don Bever, manager.

To be eligible, students must have a 5.5 average, have completed 53 hours and be carrying 12 hours successfully at the present time.

Duties of the board include all planning for the Farmer's Fair, held annually each spring. In past years the fair has included open houses, barbecue, parade and the rodeo.
