

REX HOY... defensive guard, broke into the Husker scoring column with a pass interception and 66 yard run in the third quarter Saturday.

GEORGE PROCHASKA... played a great game at defensive end against Kansas. He was continually giving the KU backfield a hard time.

CHARLIE TOOGOOD... played his usually great football game at tackle against Kansas. Charley starred on both offense and defense.

FRAN NAGLE... did a good job of directing the Husker attack in addition to passing to two touchdowns against the Kansas Jayhawks.

CARL BRASEE... Omaha sophomore guard, sparked on defense all afternoon Saturday with his vicious tackling and staunch line-play.

VERL SCOTT... was still the Husker defensive giant with more bone-crushing defensive play against the previous conference leaders.

RON CLARK... shone on both offense and defense Saturday. His running was good and he sparked a surprisingly good pass defense.

Homecoming Game Pits Huskers Against Tigers

BY BILL MUDELL
Sports Editor, Daily Nebraskan
The Nebraska Cornhuskers were looking forward to their Homecoming contest with the University of Missouri this coming Saturday with a tasty victory over Kansas under their belts.

GEORGE PAYNICH—Nebraska's defensive end played a stellar role in the Cornhusker victory over the Kansas Jayhawks.

NICK ADDUCI... was the workhorse of the Huskers at offensive fullback Saturday afternoon. He scored once and was consistent in his ground gaining.

Sooners in First Place

Oklahoma climbed into sole possession of first place in the Big Seven conference Saturday with a 20-6 victory over stubborn Iowa State. The Sooners win coupled with Nebraska's 23-26 triumph over Kansas University enabled the Okies to become undisputed leader.

The Huskers advanced from sixth in the conference to fourth Saturday by virtue of their 33-26 win over Kansas University. At the same time the Jayhawks were tumbling from first place to third with a 2-1 record.

500 Percent
The Huskers climbed to a 500 percentage with a combined powerful ground and passing attack at Kansas, along with some good defensive play in crucial moments.

The passing of Fran Nagle and Bobby Reynolds appeared in prominence for the first time Saturday. The Huskers, using a potent ground game for most of the season, found the going a little easier in the air.

Nagle tossed to two touchdowns Saturday while his and Reynolds' flips kept the Jayhawkers on their guard the whole game.

Dick Regier took the first Nagle scoring toss in the second quarter of the game and chalked up the touchdown that put the Huskers in front for the first time during the hectic afternoon.

Simon Terrific
Frank Simon was on the scoring end of the other touchdown flip with a beautiful leaping catch. From all reports, the catch by Simon was definitely one of the finest ever seen in the Kansas stadium. This touchdown boosted the Husker total to 19 points with but a few moments remaining in the half and coupled with Reynolds' point after, put the Scarlet and Cream in the lead for the rest of the afternoon.

Nick Adduci powered across for the first NU score of the day in the middle of the first quarter to terminate an 80 yard Nebraska scoring drive. In this drive Adduci and Bill Mueller were the big ground gainers and came after the Jayhawks had roared to an early 12-0 lead.

Adduci was a workhorse all afternoon and turned in a sparkling performance at fullback. His drives set up the last Nebraska score, pushing the ball to the KU four-yard line from where Bobby Reynolds shot across for his touchdown.

Hoy Scores
The fourth Cornhusker touchdown came from the NU defensive platoon. Early in the third period the defensive ends, Paynich and Prochaska, who had been rushing so great all afternoon, hit the KU quarterback before he could pass, the ball bounding out of his hands into the arms of Husker guard Rex Hoy. Hoy grabbed tight and set out for Kansas' goal and with good blocking, went all the way—a 66 yard run.

Nebraska's terrific left-half, Bobby Reynolds, was the main concern of the Kansans all afternoon and concentrating on him they were vulnerable to attacks by the rest of the Husker team. Quarterback Fran Nagle handled the team very fine in this situation, giving the Huskers a 700 percentage for the year to date.

Six championships will be doled out during the playoffs but a couple of the teams will grab more than one title. The fraternity "A" crown will go to the survivor of the 16-team single elimination tourney; the fraternity "B" title will be awarded the winner of the 8-team "B" tournament; the interdenominational championship will be the reward of the winner of that four-team tourney; while a four-team tourney will also decide the Independent champion.

At this point in the competition the fraternity "B" champs will put away their footballs and admire their newly won trophy; they will not enter into the playoffs for the All-University Championship. The intramural department, deciding that the "B" teams were in reality the fraternity's second string, ruled that those teams were not eligible for the All-U title.

The other three champs will continue, however. The newly crowned Denom champion and Independent title holder will vie for the All-Unaffiliated Championship. Then in the finale, the unaffiliated champ will meet the fraternity "A" champ, the winner being declared champion of the University.

Every day except Thursday will see the teams in action this week. Thursday has been declared a "day-off" due to the ROTC parades scheduled then. All playoff games are scheduled to begin at 4:30 p.m. each afternoon.

Monday will find the current leader in the football ratings, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Theta Xi meeting in a feature battle. The Sig Eps are unbeaten and unscored upon in six games and rank as favorites, but they will have to be careful of the high-scoring TX outfit. This feature will take place on field 4.

Phi Delt Favored
Phi Delta Theta ranks as slight favorite over a good Theta Chi team on field 6. The Phi Delt is a potent outfit but have tasted defeat on two occasions, and a sharp passer was their downfall both times. The Theta Chi's boast of such a passer in John Fletcher and this could be the game of the day.

Field 3 will toss the Sigma Nu's against Sigma Alpha Mu in another potentially good game. Both are in the top-ten in their division and feature defense over offense. One touchdown here either way could take this one. The Nu's are favored.

Delts, Sig Eps Top Leagues Statistically

Delta Tau Delta and Sigma Phi Epsilon are the top offensive and defensive intramural football teams going into Monday's playoffs. The Delts have scored 111 points while the Sig Eps defense has not yet been scored upon. Both teams have played six contests to date.

In the averages, however, the Phi Delta Theta "B" team ranks at the top. The Phi Delt Bees have competed in only five games and have scored 102 points for an average of 20.4 markers per contest. The Delt average is 18.5 points per game.

In the individual divisions the top offensive and defensive outfits going into the playoffs are as follows:

The fraternity "A" leaders are the same as the All-U leaders, Delta Tau Delta and Sigma Phi Epsilon.

The Phi Delt Bees have 102 points in the fraternity "B" division and also are the top defensive unit, allowing only seven points to their opponents.

Presby House also holds down both leading positions in the Interdenominational division. The Presbys have scored 96 points and allowed their opponents but 13.

In the Independent division the City YMCA leads the offenses with 80 points while Sigma Gamma Epsilon is tops in defense with their opponents scoring only six markers.

Most of the ranking outfits can still alter the point totals with 32 teams gaining the playoffs.

The top ten teams to date in the two departments are:

I-M Football Playoffs Begin Monday; Six Games On Tap

Twelve fraternity "A" teams journey to the Ag College football fields tonight to begin the intramural grid playoffs. Thirty-two teams gained the playoffs and one-by-one, 31 of them will taste defeat, some of them maybe for the first time this year.

Six championships will be doled out during the playoffs but a couple of the teams will grab more than one title. The fraternity "A" crown will go to the survivor of the 16-team single elimination tourney; the fraternity "B" title will be awarded the winner of the 8-team "B" tournament; the interdenominational championship will be the reward of the winner of that four-team tourney; while a four-team tourney will also decide the Independent champion.

At this point in the competition the fraternity "B" champs will put away their footballs and admire their newly won trophy; they will not enter into the playoffs for the All-University Championship. The intramural department, deciding that the "B" teams were in reality the fraternity's second string, ruled that those teams were not eligible for the All-U title.

The other three champs will continue, however. The newly crowned Denom champion and Independent title holder will vie for the All-Unaffiliated Championship. Then in the finale, the unaffiliated champ will meet the fraternity "A" champ, the winner being declared champion of the University.

Every day except Thursday will see the teams in action this week. Thursday has been declared a "day-off" due to the ROTC parades scheduled then. All playoff games are scheduled to begin at 4:30 p.m. each afternoon.

Monday will find the current leader in the football ratings, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Theta Xi meeting in a feature battle. The Sig Eps are unbeaten and unscored upon in six games and rank as favorites, but they will have to be careful of the high-scoring TX outfit. This feature will take place on field 4.

Phi Delt Favored
Phi Delta Theta ranks as slight favorite over a good Theta Chi team on field 6. The Phi Delt is a potent outfit but have tasted defeat on two occasions, and a sharp passer was their downfall both times. The Theta Chi's boast of such a passer in John Fletcher and this could be the game of the day.

Field 3 will toss the Sigma Nu's against Sigma Alpha Mu in another potentially good game. Both are in the top-ten in their division and feature defense over offense. One touchdown here either way could take this one. The Nu's are favored.

A very evenly matched pair will battle on field 1 when Phi Kappa Psi and Pioneer House take the field. Both teams have had their ups and downs this season and the game could go either way with the Phi Psi's getting a slight nod.

Delts Strong
Delta Tau Delta rates as least two touchdowns better than Cornhusker Co-op. The Delts are the highest scoring outfit in the university at present and the co-op boys do not appear able to slow them down too much.

The final game of the afternoon taking place on field 5 will find Brown Palace as strong favorite over Tau Kappa Epsilon. The Palacers own a 20-0 win over the Tekes already this season and seem capable of repeating.

Another idle team over the week gained in the standings. Presby House, a non-fraternity outfit, moved up from sixth place last week to the number five spot. Their record is six wins and no losses.

Phi Delta Theta managed to hold on at sixth place this week. The Phi Delt's second week ago, were smacked by Sigma Alpha Epsilon by a 6-0 score. It was the Phi Delt's second loss of the year and only their wins over Alpha Tau Omega and Sigma Nu keeps them in the standings.

Another non-fraternity outfit is seventh this week. The Sigma Gamma Epsilon team dropped from fifth last week in the general shuffle.

Sigma Nu is this week's number eight team. The Nu's climbed a notch over the week with a 6-0 win over Phi Gamma Delta.

Seven Flight Winners Battle for Free-Throw Title

Seven survivors remain in the All-University Free Throw tourney out of a beginning entry list of 254. This was announced last Friday by the University Physical Education Department.

With match play completed in each of the eight leagues—league VII did not have a winner—Sigma Phi Epsilon holds a seven point lead over Phi Kappa Psi in the race for the team trophy. The Sig Eps have 110 points as compared to 103 for the Phi Psi's. In third place is Phi Delta Theta with 98 points. The Phi Delt total is final, as they qualified no men for the playoffs.

The only other team which has an outside chance to beat the Sig Eps or the Phi Psi's out of the title is Sigma Alpha Epsilon with a team total of 80 points. However, the Sig Alphas have qualified two men for the playoffs.

Other teams and their scores are Sigma Nu with 77; Sigma Chi, 55; Delta Omega, 41; Delta Tau Delta, 40; Farm House and Beta Theta Pi, 39; Alpha Tau Omega, 38; Theta Xi, 27; Cornhusker Co-op, 26; Alpha Gamma Rho, 22; Sigma Alpha Mu, 14; and Phi Gamma Delta with 13.

Playoffs Begin
The playoffs, which have already started, consist of three rounds of 50 throws each or a total of 150 throws. The player who has the highest total for the three rounds will become the All-University champion.

The seven men eligible for the playoffs are: Bill Alexander, Delta Upsilon, winner of League I; Don Sampson, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, winner of League II; Carr Trumbull, Sigma Chi, winner of League III; Dave Brandon, Sigma Phi Epsilon, winner of League IV; Dudley Saville, Phi Kappa Psi, winner of League V; Don Imig, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, winner of League VI; and Ronald Powers, Independent, winner of League VIII.

Early first-round playoff results indicate the new All-University champion will have faced pretty rough competition on the way to the crown.

How are these for first-round playoff scores? Bill Alexander, DU, and Carr Trumbull, Sig Chi, have each made 48 out of 50. Don Sampson, Sig Alpha, is close behind with 47 out of 50. So far these are the only three to have completed their first round.

Scoring for the playoffs will be as follows: The winner of each of the three rounds of competition will receive eight points, the second high scorer for each round will receive seven, and so on down to the last place contestant who will receive two points, assuming that there are supposed to be eight players left in the meet.

It Happened at NU...
It was the Music 86 classroom. The instructor was explaining to the three members of the class a few of the intricacies of the piano. About ten minutes before the closing bell, a young student wearing a freshman cap burst in the door.

"Arnie," he sobbed. "Arnie, come quick!"

He was yelling at Arnie Stern, a student in the class, who quickly obeyed and accompanied the wailing freshman out the door. Upon reaching the sidewalk, he was immediately mobbed and dragged to an awaiting car by half a dozen figures.

The freshman was Bernie Fish, ZBT pledge. Stern is a ZBT active. The ZBT pledges had skipped!

1. Sigma Phi Epsilon (6-0).

 3. Brown Palace (5-1).
 4. Delta Tau Delta (4-1).

 7. Sigma Gamma Epsilon (5-0).
 8. Sigma Nu (4-2).
 9. Theta Xi (4-2).
 10. Phi Delta Theta "B" (4-1).

Sigma Phi Epsilon is still perched atop the all-University football standings going into the playoffs. Although idle during the week, the Sig Ep record could not be matched and their hold on the top rung could not be loosened. Teams below them rose and fell in the standings over the week's activity, but the leaders held fast.

The regulation play has now ended for the teams; all play has ended for 22 of the teams, but 32 outfits now turn their attention to the playoffs.

Alpha Tau Omega jumped a peg over the week and going into the playoffs, holds down the number two spot in the University. The Taus added two more convincing victories to their string last week to run their record to 5-1. They crushed Sigma Alpha Epsilon by a 33 to 6 score and kept the same margin of victory in their 27 to 0 triumph over Kappa Sigma.

Brown Palace took a big jump in the ratings. The Palacers, eighth last week, are occupying the third position in these standings. The co-op men copped two contests by six-point margins in competition last week. They downed Farm House 20-14, and stopped a high-flying band of Theta Xi's, 6-0.

Delts Upped
Delta Tau Delta also climbed a considerable distance in the ratings, from seventh to fourth. The Delts accomplished this by merely remaining idle while the other teams were knocking themselves off.

Another idle team over the week gained in the standings. Presby House, a non-fraternity outfit, moved up from sixth place last week to the number five spot. Their record is six wins and no losses.

Phi Delta Theta managed to hold on at sixth place this week. The Phi Delt's second week ago, were smacked by Sigma Alpha Epsilon by a 6-0 score. It was the Phi Delt's second loss of the year and only their wins over Alpha Tau Omega and Sigma Nu keeps them in the standings.

Another non-fraternity outfit is seventh this week. The Sigma Gamma Epsilon team dropped from fifth last week in the general shuffle.

Sigma Nu is this week's number eight team. The Nu's climbed a notch over the week with a 6-0 win over Phi Gamma Delta.

Theta Xi Appears
A new comer in the all-U ratings as number nine. Theta Xi who has closed the season with a rush is holding down that position. The TXers defeated previously unbeaten Sigma Alpha Mu by a 13 to 12 count and then put up a good fight before falling before Brown Palace, 0-6.

Sigma Alpha Mu dropped out of the top ten altogether during the week. The Sammies, fourth last week, ran into stiff competition and after losing to the Theta Xi's, barely edged an improved Delta Sigma Phi outfit by an 8-7 score.

A "Bee" team is in tenth place this week marking the first appearance of a "B" outfit in three weeks. The Phi Delta Theta B team rounds out the top ten. Only a forfeit loss mars the record of the junior Phi Delt's who are sporting a record of four wins. Included in their wins is a 45-0 walloping of Sigma Nu, the second largest total run up by a team this year. The Bengals have a 47-0 win over Tridents for tops.

In the Denominational ratings it is still Presby House way out in front. Following the Presbys in second place is the Baptist House. The Baptists bounced the University YMCA 6 to 0 over the week to give them a 4-2 record to date.

Newman Club holds fast to the number three position although idle during the week. The same holds true for the Ag College YMCA in fourth place.

Uni YMCA Holds
Although losing to the Baptists, the University YMCA still remains the number five Denom team going into the playoffs.

Following the top ranked Phi Delt outfit in the fraternity "B" ratings is Kappa Sigma. The Kappa Sigs dropped the junior Fijis, 13-7 last week to move up from fourth place.

Sigma Chi moved into the number three slot although not playing over the week. Due to their early season 8-6 win over Beta Theta Pi, they moved up the two notches. The Betas this week occupy the fourth rung.

Rounding out the "B" ratings going into the playoffs is Sigma Phi Epsilon, not rated last week. The Sig Eps replace the Sig Alphas in the top five after the
