

Decoration, Parade Plans Progressing

The decorations at Nebraska's Homecoming dance will picture the 58-year old rivalry between the Cornhuskers and the Missouri Tigers.

Brightly colored cards, placed at various places throughout the coliseum will tell the story of each of the 43 games played between the two schools throughout that period. Red cards will tell the story of Nebraska victories, orange cards will depict Tiger victories, while blue cards will describe the three ties.

From balcony to balcony, 6,500 feet of scarlet and cream crepe paper will be strung, in an attempt to create the effect of a low ceiling. The stage will have a huge "N" on one side and a huge "M" on the other side. A giant "Hi Grads" sign will be placed above the stage.

Colored Cards

There will be 24 red cards for

Cornhusker victories, 16 orange cards for Missouri victories, and three blue cards representing the ties.

Committee members in charge of decorations: Sarah Fulton, Donna Hyland, Jim Downey and Hob Myers.

Tickets for the dance are $2.50. They are now on sale in a booth in the Union, Corn Cobs and Tassels are also selling the tickets.

Anson Weeks and his band will play for the dance, which will be from 8:30 p.m. until midnight. Weeks is the composer of the popular songs, "New Moon" and "I'm Sorry Dear."

Homecoming Winners

The winners in the Homecoming float and house display competition will be revealed at the dance. The name of the 1950 Pep Queen will also be revealed. The five candidates for the title will be introduced at the rally Friday night. Voting will take place immediately after the rally, in the Coliseum and the Union.

About 50 floats will be entered in the Homecoming parade on Saturday morning. Each of the five candidates for Pep Queen will ride in a convertible, Cobs and Tassels will march in a body in the parade.

Last year's Pep Queen, Shirley Allen will ride on one of the floats.

Three Judges

The three judges in the float competition will watch the parade from a stand which will be constructed in front of the Union. The judges will be: Prof. Thomas Gooding, Prof. Duard Laging, and Miss Mary Mielenz.

Each group which has entered a sketch in the float competition will be notified by letter this week as to their definite place in the parade. All floats must be in front of the Coliseum by 10 a.m., Saturday. Members of Corn Cobs will assist in placing the floats.

50 Floats

The 50 floats entered this year is one of the largest numbers ever entered in the competition, according to Jayne Wade and Dick Walsh, representing Tassels and Corn Cobs respectively. Sororities are not eligible to enter the competition because of a ruling by the Panhellenic council.

Participants will line up approximately in front of the coliseum by 9:30 a.m. The parade will start at 10 a.m.

The procession will march down 14th street to R, down R street to 15th, down 15th street to O, down O street to 11th, down 11th street to R, down R street to 12th, and down 12th back to the coliseum.

Missouri Band

Missouri's 87-piece band will perform for the first six minutes of the half-time ceremonies, Don Lentz, director of the University band has announced. The Missouri director, George Wilson has not yet informed Lentz the marching routine to be used by his band.

The University band will perform for the remaining minutes of the half. Last year's Pep Queen, Shirley Allen, will be honored during the ceremonies.

The innocents will present representatives of the University of Missouri the Victory Bell, symbol of gridiron supremacy between the two schools since 1928. This is in recognition of Missouri's 21-20 victory over the Cornhuskers last year.

Coed Trio Wins First in Union Talent Show

The first, second and third place winners of the Fall Talent show sponsored by the Union general entertainment committee are: trio, Jamie Day, Barb Farley and Pat Farley; tenor, Jack Vant; and acrobatic dancer, Jo Berry.

The trio placed first out of 21 various acts. Jamie Day, Table Rock, and Barb and Pat Farley, Battle Creek, Mich., made up the coed trio.

The trio was dressed in identical outfits while singing their winning number, "Say Something Sweet to Your Sweetheart."

Second Winner

Second place winner, Jack Vant, tenor from Lincoln, sang, "A Little Bit of Heaven" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Jo Berry, third place winner, did everything but tie herself in knots during her acrobatic routine.

None of the winners plan to enter the entertainment field but hope to continue their performances merely for enjoyment.

The acts were judged on the basis of originality, unity, and audience appeal. The judging was done by University personnel, in a full Union ballroom.

M. C. Henry Cech

Henry Cech emceed the show and filled in between acts with impromptu gags. While awaiting the judges' decision, he and Bill Dugan almost stole the show with original, "Burr Beer" radio skit.

Anne Barger, chairman of the general entertainment committee, was responsible for producing the show.

Assisting were Bob Moshier, sponsor; Carolyn Kunkle, Eddie Hokenson, Dick Axtell, Bob Fayman, Bernard Greenbury, Chuck Hruby, Dave Dohn, Maryann Leback, and All Ross.

All entries in the talent show will be placed in the Union talent pool and called upon to perform throughout the year.

Colonel Honored . . .

MERITORIOUS SERVICE—Prof. C. J. Frankforter, colonel in the honorary reserve of the United States Army, is pictured receiving the Army Commendation Ribbon at a special parade of Army and Air Force ROTC students Thursday afternoon. The award was presented by Innocents' President Bob Ruan, Frankforter formerly served as district commander of the fourth security and intelligence district, of the seventh service command in 1944 and 1945. A chemistry professor at the University, Frankforter is also faculty sponsor for Corn Cobs and Innocents. (Rag Photo by Rod Riggs.)

Migrating Huskers Sing, Rally, Cheer

By Donna Prescott

"All aboard for the Jayhawk Special!"

This call resounded throughout the railroad station Saturday at 6:15 a.m. when approximately 300 University students swarmed to their seats on the train.

Confusion reigned until the band had roll call and the reserved cars were opened for more seating room.

From the time the train started its journey to Lawrence, students sang songs, rallied and the poor person who though he would get a little shut-eye was distressed. People roamed from one car to another cheering and collecting spirit for the all-important game. Cow bells rang from one end of the train to the other.

Pep Band Plays

One highlight of the trip was Aaron Schmidt and his pep band. They played such popular pieces as "Goodnight Irene," "Music, Music, Music" and "There Is No Place Like Nebraska."

The snack bar was a meeting place of many friends for coffee and coke.

When the train rolled into Lawrence everyone clattered off and started to follow the band down the main street. A mass rally took place and Nebraska students and rooters took over the business district of the small city. The Lawrence police gave them an escort. Lawrence citizens came to the streets and watched the big parade. After the rally the fans formed a snake dance.

At the game the NU boosters, hoarse from the pre-game rallies, kept cheering for victory.

Carry Glassford

When the game was over everyone dashed to the field to congratulate the players and the coaches. Coach Glassford was hoisted by his players and carried into the stadium in triumph.

The goal post which the Kansas police said could not be shaken, fell to the ground without much struggle. It was reported that the goal posts had not been torn down for 29 years. It had been cemented in and the framework was of steel.

People on the Kansas side of the stadium stood up, watched the spectacle and didn't leave their seats for several minutes.

Visit Campus

Until 9:15 p.m., when the train departed for Lincoln, the migrants went to sorority and fraternity houses and down town.

Because of NU victory, the trip home was full of rallies and singing. About 11 p.m., tired from the long day and unable to make the vocal cords function properly, the jubilant Cornhuskers began to settle down to try to catch a wink of sleep.

It was nearly 2:30 a.m. when the train came to the home station.

Burton Marvin To Speak at Avery Lecture

Burton Marvin, dean of the William Allen White School of Journalism, University of Kansas, will be the speaker at the second annual Samuel Avery lecture Thursday, Nov. 2, at 7:30 p.m., Love Library auditorium.

"Wanted: More Truth for a Free People" will be the subject of the lecture. In the discussion Marvin will deal with the barriers that impede the flow of information.

A 1935 University graduate, Marvin was a member of Innocents society and president of the Palladian Literary society.

The first Hitchcock fellowship for graduate study in journalism at Columbia university was awarded to Marvin. After this graduate work he worked on the editorial staffs of Indianapolis, Ind., and Chicago newspapers and taught in the School of Journalism at Northwestern.

In 1949 he became head of the University of Kansas School of Journalism.

Mrs. Marvin is also a graduate from the University where she was vice president of the Palladians, member of Phi Beta Kappa and Mortar Board. The Marvins have three children.

The Avery Memorial Lecture-Fund, established in 1946 on the 75th anniversary of the Palladian Literary society, brings to the campus each year some speaker to deliver one or more lectures.

The Palladian Alumni association and the active society will combine Friday, Nov. 3.

Dr. Goldhor Discusses Goals Of American Librarianship

"Goals for American Librarianship" was the topic of Dr. Herbert Goldhor's speech before the annual convention banquet of the Nebraska Library Association, held at the Cornhusker hotel, Oct. 27. Dr. Goldhor is professor of library science at the University of Illinois.

He named the basic goals as: clarification of library objectives, development of an integrated system of libraries, increased knowledge of library operations and development of librarianship as a profession.

He declared a need for library objectives if there is to be good planning. The objectives must be measurable, realistic, unitary and significant.

Dr. Goldhor was concerned about the duplication, overlapping and gaps in the present library service. Most library systems in the country are independent of each other legally, and 1/3 of the population is without library service, he said.

He recommended the creation of more regional libraries, and a policy on the part of all libraries to honor their patrons' borrowers' cards to remedy the situation.

Dr. Goldhor urged that librarians be critical of themselves and build their operations on facts. In this manner, and by establishing standards of service and literature, he concluded, librarians will be able to have their profession reach a higher stage of development.

Annie Kramph of North Platte addressed a luncheon on Thursday. She spoke on the development of libraries in the state of Nebraska.

Voting Held Today For 'Commandant' Students to Elect Finalists at Polls

Countryman Goes On Sale Today

The Cornhusker Countryman will be on sale today in booths in the Ag Union and in Ag Hall, according to Eleanor Erickson, editor.

This year's magazine promises to have a more readable style and to contain more about campus personalities, Erickson said.

Next month's edition will run a resume of what is being done toward the new Ag Union, and the editor urged all interested persons to subscribe now. It is the policy of the Countryman to send one subscription to a non-University person for every subscription sold.

Rex Messersmith, managing editor, announced that more reporters are needed for the magazine. He said that anyone interested should attend Wednesday night meetings to obtain story assignments.

Builders Plan Program, Skit At Mass Meet

A skit and an orientation program about the organization is scheduled for the Builders' mass meeting Wednesday at 7 p.m., Parlors A and B of the Union.

Workers will present a humorous skit concerning Cornhusker spirit. Gene Berg, president of Builders, and Poochie Rediger and Anne Barger will be in charge of the orientation program. The purpose and activities of the organization will be explained to those present.

A faculty speaker is also on the program.

Students are asked by the Builders board to bring a schedule of their classes which can be turned into the office staff.

All workers, including freshmen and upperclassmen, are urged by Miss Rediger, mass meetings and conventions chairman, to attend the meeting Wednesday.

Officers of Builders are: Gene Berg, president; Nancy Porter, vice president in charge of publications; Phyllis Campbell, vice president general; Nancy Benjamin; and Leon Pfeiffer, treasurer.

Chairmen are: Poochie Rediger, mass meetings and conventions; Ann Barger, membership; Pat Bechan, First Glance editor; Chuck Burmeister, business manager; Phil Olson, pep convention; Anne Hall, calendar sales; Bev Smith, Scarlet and Cream editor; Jayne Wade and Helen Vitek, office managers; Bob Mosher, Student Directory editor; Jan Lindquist, business manager.

5 Journalists Will Receive Gold Keys

Presentation of gold keys to outstanding journalism students and initiation by Kappa Tau Alpha will be highlights of a noon luncheon Friday, Nov. 3, at the Union.

The keys will be awarded to five students who did the best academic work during their first year under jurisdiction of the University School of Journalism. These keys are provided each year by the School of Journalism and the Lincoln newspapers.

Sponsored by Kappa Tau Alpha, journalism scholarship society, and Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism group, the luncheon will begin at noon Friday in Parlor X of the Union.

In addition to the presentation of keys by Dr. William Swindler, director of the school, Kappa Tau Alpha will hold initiation ceremonies. Names of the candidates will be announced later this week.

Last year's gold key winners were: Susan Reed, Ladd Duryea, Lola Banghart, M. K. Roshan, and Nancy Sayre Norton.

Students are awarded keys on the basis of first year work at the University regardless of whether they are freshmen, sophomores or juniors.

Students to Elect Finalists at Polls

Voting for the six finalists for Honorary Commandant will take place today from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in both the city campus Union and Ag Union.

A faculty member, a representative from the military department and a representative from the Student Council or Ag Executive board will supervise the voting at each Union.

Students must present their identification cards to vote. All ballots must be validated by one of the three supervisors. Election section three will be runched.

The number of candidates, 32, who are on the ballot is the largest number ever to have filed for this military honor.

Candidates

Those whose names will appear on the ballot are Marcia Adams, Shirley Allen, Joel Bailey, Lola Banghart, Cherrie Ann Bengston, Phyllis Campbell, Marilyn Campfield, and Janet Carr.

Carmen Christoffel, Jan Crilly, Eileen Derieg, Shirley Evans, Betty Green, Dolores Henrichs, and Janice Hufford.

Marjorie Jensen, Virginia Koch, Dorothy Kurth, Jane Linn, Jo Jen Loder, Lois Nelson, Nancy Noble, Joan Norsworthy, Patsy Palmicky and Susan Reed.

Shirley Ruff, Marilyn Samuelson, Kathie Schreiber, Jean R. Smith, Kathryn Swanson, Virginia Taylor and Nancy Widener.

From this group, six will be chosen as finalists by the all-University election.

Reception

The finalists will be presented to the Candidate Officers association at a reception in parlors XYZ Thursday, Nov. 2 at 7 p.m. All officers are urged to attend this reception.

At this time one from the group will be chosen by the association to be the 1950-51 Honorary Commandant. The identity of the Honorary Commandant will not be revealed until the night of the Military Ball, which is to be Saturday, Dec. 2.

The Military Ball opens the University's formal season. This is the second time the title Honorary Commandant will be used. For the last 23 years the winning coed's title was Honorary Colonel. As the result of the national unification of the armed forces and the joint sponsorship of the Military Ball, the title "Commandant" was selected.

For her presentation at the Military Ball, the Honorary Commandant will wear a costume designed especially for her. The winning coed's outfit is to fit in with the theme of the Ball.

Last year's Honorary Commandant, Pat Berge, wore a cream colored tailored suit, a cream colored military cape with red satin lining and a matching overseas cap with gold military braid and red satin buttons.

The Honorary Commandant attends parades, reviews and is present at all official functions of the military department throughout the year.

Dick Meissner is chairman for the Military Ball.

Debate Squad To Meet Three Doane Teams

Three Doane debate teams will arrive on campus Tuesday for two practice rounds with six University teams.

The rounds will be held in the Temple building at 4 p.m. and 7 p.m.

University teams participating will be: Jim Wamsley and Bob Shiveley; Marion Uhe and Betty Lester; Gene Wohlner and Charles Rossow; Dorris Carlson and Joan Krueger; Bob Hasebroock and Paul Laase; and Wayne Johnson and Dale Johnson.

Doane's squad is under the direction of Norman Hansen and the University's, under Donald Olson and Bruce Kendall.

Prepare for Trips

The debaters will be preparing for several invitational trips which are scheduled in November and December.

Six or seven inexperienced debate teams will travel Nov. 11 to Kansas State college for a "warm-up" conference. The meet is restricted to debaters without previous intercollegiate experience.

Two teams will represent the University at Morningside college in Sioux City, Ia., Nov. 18 at a regular conference.

The first weekend in December two University teams will be selected to compete in the University of Iowa conference which is one of the major meets in the country. The same weekend four teams will travel to Wayne State Teachers college for an invitational conference.

Final Meets

The final conferences before Christmas vacation will be the second week in December at Cedar Falls, Ia., and Newton, Kan. Two teams will be sent to each conference. Those representing the University at these meets will be different teams than ones who debate at Wayne and the University of Iowa.

Red Division Continues Strong Push

The South Korean Sixth division retreated in disorder in northwestern Korea where it lost one-third of its men in combat.

American tanks and artillery attempted to stop the 10,000 reds and Chinese communists from advancing.

The red advancement caused the seventh regiment of the Sixth division to pull back more than 30 miles.

The Sixth and Eighth divisions took a severe beating in an attempt to give support to the Second regiment.

American fighter-bombers destroyed 12 red tanks and six self-propelled guns.

Inland, South Koreans were held off by the reds in an attempt to capture two vital power dams.

United Nations field forces are making a strong effort to end the Korean fighting before winter arrives.

Western Floods

In the towns of southern Oregon and northern California, two thousand people were left homeless as floods hit the northwest. Two people have already perished and one is missing.

At Lake Success, Russia asked for an emergency security council session to determine a successor to United Nations Secretary-General Trygve Lie.

Russia's move came when the United States and 13 other countries circulated a resolution to extend Lie's term by three years.

The issue was brought up when the council failed to agree on an alternate candidate.

Legal experts say that the general assembly can extend an incumbent's term when the council does not submit a new name. The council cannot elect someone new without a security council recommendation.

The United States will cast its first veto, if necessary, to keep the job from going to anyone but Lie. Lie has already been vetoed by Malik.

In Washington, revision of the McCarran communist-control law may come into the limelight next month.

The McCarran bill, named after Senator McCarran, was enacted into a law last month over the protest of President Truman.

The president said that it imperiled American freedoms for it requires the registration of communists and tightens up immigration laws.

A move to modify the law was granted immediately after congress overrode the president's veto.

Six people were injured and two hurt seriously in auto accidents near Lincoln. Frances Peterson and Peggy Bayer, both of Lincoln, are in critical condition.

Yugoslavia Premier Marshal Tito assured Yugoslavia's starving people they will receive from the United States "without any conditions" all the necessary food to prevent starvation.

Two University Girls Injured In Auto Crash

Two University students were injured Sunday in a traffic accident. They are Frances Hanson and Peggy Bayer, both of Lincoln.

The girls were riding in a car driven by Miss Bayer when it skidded about 80 feet, jumped a curb and hit a tree on the east side of So. 48th street between L and M streets. They were taken to Bryan Memorial hospital where their condition was described as "serious" yesterday.

Frances Hanson received "a possible brain injury" and was unconscious until late Sunday afternoon. The attending physician said that she received contusions about the face and knees and a fractured ankle.

Peggy Bayer was in "critical condition" but had improved by Sunday night. She suffered multiple lacerations, contusions about the face, a chest injury and a fractured clavicle, hospital attendants said.

The car driven by Miss Bayer was owned by Harold Riggs of Lincoln.

Revue Plans Talent Tests On Thursday

Kosmet Klub will begin preparation this week and next for the annual 1950 Fall Revue scheduled for Friday, Nov. 17 at the Coliseum, announced Leon Pfeiffer.

Talent tryouts to decide the between-the-skits entertainers will be held Thursday, Nov. 2 from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Union ballroom. All acts must have something to do with Broadway with accents on music and comedy. Individuals and groups are invited to participate. George Wilcox and Jerry Matzke are co-chairmen. All performers must furnish their own accompaniment, a piano will be available.

Candidate entries for the titles of Nebraska Sweetheart and Prince Kosmet must be in by Friday, Nov. 3. All entries for the royal titles must be sent to the Kosmet Klub, Room 307, Union.

Each of the men's organized houses may turn in their choice for the honor of Prince Kosmet. The women's organized houses may select their candidates for Nebraska Sweetheart in the same manner.

Six male finalists and six Sweetheart finalists will be chosen by the Mortar Board and Innocents societies, Thursday, Nov. 9.

The final decision will be voted on by the entire student body as they cast votes at the door, the night of the Revue. Selection will be on the basis of attractiveness, poise, personality and scholarship.

The presentation of the winners will provide the highlight of the show.

Preliminary Judging

Preliminary judging of all men's organized houses skits, will take place Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 7 and 8. A schedule of visits to the respective houses will be published later this week in The Daily Nebraskan. John Mills is chairman.

Tickets will go on sale beginning Tuesday, Nov. 8. Further information regarding scalars, booths and ticket prices will be given later.

Last year, top honors for Sweetheart and Prince Kosmet went to Roxie Elias and Don Bloom when they stepped through a red cellophane heart and were proclaimed the royalty of the 1949 show.

In order to be eligible, each candidate must be an upperclassman having a 4.5 average.

George Wilcox, chairman of the troupe, urges all male students interested in taking part in the talent show to appear at the Union ballroom at the stated date.

Fair Board Picks Junior Members

Six Junior members were elected to the Farmer's Fair board by the Senior members at a special meeting held last Friday.

Those elected were: JoAnne Engelkemier, Jean Hargleroad, Clarice Fiala, Clayton Yeutter, Rex Messersmith and Frank Sibert.

These members will serve until the Farmer's Fair is over in the spring. Senior members for next year will be elected at the spring elections.

Duties of the board include the entire organization of the Farmer's Fair. As in the past it is planned to hold a parade, rodeo and barbeque, and the fair will probably be held in conjunction with College Days.

Senior members of the board are: Mary Francis Johnson, Alice Boswell, Jean Fenster, Jack Wilson, Burnell Swanson and Don Bever.

Pre-med Interview Dates Scheduled

All pre-med students who desire admission to the College of Medicine in fall, 1951, are urged to remember the interview dates Nov. 8 and 9.

Dr. E. F. Powell, pre-med adviser, stated that members of the admissions committee of the College will visit the campus at that time to interview the prospects for the freshman class of 1951.

Hours of the conferences will be from 2 to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 9:30 p.m. in Bessey hall.

Applicants should arrange their schedule by signing soon the interview schedule sheet in Room 306, Bessey hall.

More information regarding the interviews may be obtained from Dr. Powell.
