Five Minutes More . . .

The scene: It's 10 minutes to the hour; the next class is on the other side of the campus; the students are eyeing their watches and shuffling their feet; and the instructor has just reached the high point in his lecture, which naturally needs a little further explanation.

We are glad to say that this editorial is aimed at the minority of the instructors on this campus, as it probably resembles the sermon delivered by the preacher to the members of the congregation who couldn't quite make it on that particular Sunday. The instructors this is aimed at are probably too busy preparing their next 59 minute lecture to take the time to read this.

We admit we've never stood in front of a class with a bit of material of bombshell significance which we feel must be presented during that particular lecture. But we have sat through a number of classes where the instructor has wasted a good portion of the allotted 50 minutes, and then finally gets his "second wind" just as the hour is up.

Frankly, it's more than a little annoying to have to walk into your next class late with no better excuse than, "I didn't get out of bed a few minutes earlier this wouldn't happen."

Furthermore, if there is something so important to be presented that it just can't wait until the next class—why not move it up to the front of the agenda, rather than saving it for the punch line, when every student has one foot pointed toward the door in a vain attempt to reach his next class on time?

Just one more plea. When the chatter of students moving on to their next class drifts in through the window, and your students start shaking their watches, why not take a quick squint at your own—please!

High Frequency While Student Keeps Dozing

MUSIC, music, music. Have you ever stopped to think of all the different kinds of music that has infested the American way of life? If you will stop to think it over you will come to realize that there are many different types. Of course, no one enjoys all the variations but enough people like some of the different kinds to keep each type popular.

Epstein

Today there are many vocal groups that are hit recording artists besides special vocal groups. No band of any fame is without at least a half dozen songs that have a vocal arrangement. The man who is mainly responsible for choral arrangements going over to well is FRED WARING.

Fred Waring's great musical organization needs no introduction to the student body. Whether you enjoy classical, semi-classical or popular songs you can enjoy Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians. Fred first gained fame with his glee club in the streets, recordings, and the motion pictures.

Waring's basic theory in choral arrangements is making each word understandable. With good reason Waring is proud of his staff, most of whom are developed from the ranks of performing musicians. The Pennsylvanians have on records a huge variety of songs, from pop tunes to spirituals. Songs under Fred Waring's direction that you will enjoy are "That Old Black Magic," "Nutcracker Suite," and "Ave Maria."

Although Dixieland jazz has never hit a peak in the Midwest as it has in the East, South, West and Northwest it is still in the eyes of some, great music. Music of this type will never die. It may fade away for a time, but it will never completely die. Dixie will always come back with new vim, vigor, and life.

I recommend that if you don't like Dixie you give it another chance and see what it has to offer. One of the best ways to give this jazz what it deserves is to listen to "Red" Nickols and his "Five Pennies."

When the greats of Dixie are being discussed over a circular table the name of LORING "RED" NICKOLS will pop up as often as the water who gets a cut of the tab from his employer. If you have ever heard "Red," but never seen him, you might picture him as an older man. However this is not the case. Nickols is in his early forties, and he looks even younger.

"Red's" records are many, and most of them are known as col-

MISS BETTY LOU WIESKAMP—Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Wieskamp of Beatrice have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter who is a University student.

Weddings Highlight Fall Social Season

The wedding of Patricia Holmquist and Glen Anderson was solemnized Sunday evening, Oct. 22, at the First Methodist Church at Oakland.

The bride wore a white slipper satin gown with Chantilly lace. Long, fitted sleeves ended in points over the hands, and a yoke of illusion designed the princess bodices of lace. Beneath the deep peplum of lace, the full skirt of satin tapered into a long train. A halo band of softly-shirred illusion caught at either side of the head with cluster of pearlized orange blossoms held her illusion veil. She carried a white prayer book ornamented with a nose gay of staphanotis and white feathered carnations.

Bridesmaids were Joan Peden, Gwen Harding, Marilyn Holmquist, and Martha DeLong. They wore identical gowns of satin and carried bouquets of bitter-sweet, ivy, and lemon leaf foliage. The bride is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma and P.E.O.

The engagement and approaching marriage of Betty Lou Wieskamp to Robert H. Bennington was announced Sunday.

Miss Wieskamp is a member of Tassels. Mr. Bennington is a senior member of Sigma Nu fraternity and Kappa Alpha Mu, photography honorary.

Tall baskets of white gladioli and greenery decorated the altar at Trinity Lutheran Church at Walton for the marriage of Sharon Lee Kemper to Jack Sauder.

At the double double ring ceremony, the bride wore a gown of bridal satin made with a fitted basque bodice buttoned from neck to waistline with tiny satin buttons and mandarin collar. The bouffant skirt had small bows of satin at intervals in the front and ended in a wide court train.

Her two tiered fingertip veil of imported bridal illusion was fastened to a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a crescent bouquet, fashioned with chrysanthemums. Mr. Sauder will graduate from the University in January.

Kathleen Virginia Seacrest and Walter H. Davis are engaged and planning a wedding in November. Miss Seacrest is a Kappa Delta and Davis is in Gamma Lambda and was a drum major at the University.

Phyllis Jean Ross and Charles Thomsen were married at Grace Methodist Church on Sunday, Oct. 22.

The church was decorated with white gladioli and greenery. The wedding gown was made of ivory toned brocaded taffeta with an Elizabethan point at the waist and a narrow skirt caught with fullness at the back and ending in a train.

Both Ross and Thomsen are graduates of the University. The bride is an AOPi and the groom is a Sigma Phi Epsilon. Jeanne Kerrigan and Walter R. Metz, jr. are engaged. They are planning a December wedding. Miss Kerrigan is a Pi Beta Phi, a Mortar Board and past editor of The Daily Nebraskan. Metz is a law student, a member of Phi Kappa Psi and Phi Delta Phi.

Colleen Marie Rankin became the bride of John E. Fleming at St. Mary's Cathedral in Sioux Falls, So. Dak.

The bride chose a ballerina length gown of Chantilly lace over satin. The lace-fitted bodice was designed with a net yoke topped with a small lace collar and had long tapering sleeves. The bouffant skirt was of double net over satin. Her double-tiered veil of French illusion was held by a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Fleming are both members of Delta Phi Delta, art honorary.

Joan Farrar and James H. Swanson were married Wednesday evening in a fall wedding at Westminster Presbyterian Church in Lincoln. White chrysanthemums and tall white cathedral candles

Van's Vine

By Joan Van Valkenburg Huskers really turned out Saturday to cheer Nebraska on to victory.

Chuck Saggau lead the parade in his convertible from the stadium. Seventeen Nebraskans either sat, stood or hung from it. Phi Psi boys had a luncheon Saturday noon for their Cornhusker guests. A dance was also given after the game. Among those attending were Dick Kuska and Marla Adams. Other visiting Phi Psi's were Larry Anderson, Jerry Fenton and Dave Noble.

The ATO chapter also threw a big party at Trudy Mayfair's. Attending were Fig Flag and Donna Burley, Ted Randolph and Burdette Pecka, and Rod Riggs and Marla Pratt.

Bill Pomroy and Pokey Berg, Bob Foote and Sally Finney celebrated the victory at a dinner and a dance at the Dynamite in Kansas City.

Delta Chi's at migration went to Kansas City, Mo., to take in the sights of the big city. Sight-seeing were Harry Hayward and Al Prang, Joe Neil and Kathleen Dodson went dancing in Topeka.

Migration was in a convenient place for Gene Engle; his steady, Lois Mather, lives in Kansas City. Ray Quackenbush and Doris Welles doubled with them after the game.

For those who came back from Kansas U. via Kansas City and St. Joe, Hank Lammers, ATO, was the perfect host. He entertained fraternity brothers, their dates and others at a cocktail party at his home. When guests arrived, they were served a buffet luncheon. Guests arrived from 1 p.m., to 5 p.m. and enjoyed themselves in southern hospitality on the patio.

Furnishing entertainment in the way of uke music on the migration train were Barb Young and Barb Wiley. Others journeying home on the train were Mary Pitterman and Bob Mosher, Nancy DeBord and Leon Pfeiffer and Rob Raun and Eileen Deberg.

Towne Club went "western" last Saturday night. Their party was held at Antelope pavilion. Cleverly decorated, the room featured dancing in The Palace, and card playing in the Dry Gulch. Refreshments were served in the Wet Gulch. The chaperons kept order dressed as sheriffs.

Janet Carr and Willis Krager, Ruth Hiatt and Wiley Vort, Pat Conway and Ivan Allen and Mary Gilmore and Pete Kessler attended costume festivity.

Corky Clore from Lincoln was the week-end guest of Katy Walensky in Sioux City.

Hunting at Diane Smith's home in Spalding this last week-end were she and her pinmate, Dick Smith.

Love Hall gave a Halloween hayride last Saturday night. Those on the rack were Elinor Erickson and Gervase Francke, Dick Steven and Roseanne Stuffer.

Liz Olsen's pinmate, Dick Dunne was her house guest at Bloomfield this last week-end. Bob Rogers also spent the week-end at the home of his pinmate, Joyce Griffiths, in Beatrice.

Retail Sales In Nebraska Show Increase

Retail sales in Nebraska in September show a substantial gain over the same month a year ago, judging from a spot check of eleven counties of the state.

The Business Research department of the University of Nebraska College of Business Administration reported Friday that all of the 11 counties regularly surveyed each month showed retail sales gains over the same month a year ago. Only two counties tested, Antelope and Franklin, showed a gain in September this year over August.

Buff Frosh-Sophs Hold Tug-of-War

The annual tug-of-war to determine whether the freshman will continue to wear their beanies or not will be held on the Colorado campus following a float parade.

There will be two tugs-of-war, one between the freshman and sophomore women and the other between freshman and sophomore men.

Five races will also be held for women who want to compete in field events. The races this year will follow the "C. U. Knight's Return" theme with white chargers, jesters and heralds taking part.

Part Time Jobs Open to Students

More than 50 part-time jobs are available for University male students.

Those interested in the jobs should inquire at Room 209 Administration building. Included are jobs in selling, manual labor and part-time jobs in exchange for room. In addition, there are openings for waiters, stock boys and bus boys.

According to Myron Cavender, head of the University employment office, students may apply any time during the year. When a student applies he is given an introduction card to the employer.

The most we give is the least they need. Give to AUF.

Two Honored . . .

HONORED AT LUNCHEON—Elsie Ford Piper (left), former University assistant dean of women, and Mary McNamara were honored by Nebraska Association of Deans of Women and Advisers of Girls.

Adviser Group Honors Piper, Elects Johnston President

Elsie Ford Piper and Mary McNamara, long time members, were honored Friday noon at a luncheon at Ellen Smith hall by the Nebraska Association of Deans of Women and Advisers of Girls.

Miss Piper is former assistant dean of women at the University and Miss McNamara is principal of Omaha Benson high school.

At the election of officers following the luncheon, Marjorie Johnston, dean of women at the University, was named president. She succeeds Hope A. Rees, McCook.

Speakers for the afternoon were: Dr. Arthur A. Hitchcock, director of the junior division of the University; Woodrow W. Reed, guidance consultant, junior division; Vernon R. Persell, assistant, and Willard Nelson, instructor in educational psychology and measurements, University Teachers college.

Topic for the afternoon was "The personnel profession, its organization, goals and workers."

'Sooner' Students Boycott Cleaners

"Saggy Sooner Days" was the title of a boycott staged by Oklahoma university students when cleaners raised their prices last week.

Spotted, unpressed clothing is the rule until a settlement is made. The response to the proclamation was tremendous. Greeks and independents joined forces to put pressure on the cleaners.

After six days no settlement was reached but one operator was quoted as saying he was losing money and "didn't want to see it (the boycott) go any further." He said that several other cleaners felt the same way.

Pat Phillips, editor of The Daily Oklahoman, wrote: "Perhaps the picket lines that form in front of the cleaning establishments will make them realize that OU students aren't about to quit fighting."

He added that the student answer to the situation was still the same—"No cleaning, which only time will change to no cleaners."

GI's Know Answers Before Taking Tests

The army classification test, complete with answers and scores, is published in November's Liberty magazine, which is now on the newsstands.

And prospective servicemen may see the test he is going to take before he takes it. Each man may test himself, determine his own score, and perhaps do better when he takes it again.
