Serve Red Hot . . .

RECIPE FOR HOMECOMING

One (1) football game packed with thrills, good sportsmanship and athletic ability. (A Nebraska victory is not necessary but it would add the right spice and seasoning to the finished dish.)

- One (1) king-sized rally Friday night
- One (1) long and interesting parade
- One (1) frosh-sophomore tug-of-war with the sophomores winning for a change
- An impressive half-time entertainment
- A large number of clever house decorations
- A generous portion of visiting alumni
- A large slice of good dancing Saturday night

DIRECTIONS

Blend these ingredients into the University mixing bowl with extreme care. Add a dash of Bobby Reynolds, sprinkle heavily with Cornhusker spirit and serve on a sunny Nebraska day. This recipe will serve 15,000 Nebraska students, alumni and faculty.

THE SIX HONORARY COMMANDANT FINALISTS—who were selected from 32 senior coeds to compete for the Military Ball honor. Election of the winner was to be made following a Candidate Officers association reception Thursday evening. CORN COBS AND TASSELS—for their excellent preparation and work for Homecoming festivities, and for their inauguration of the "cow bell tradition" to boost Husker spirit. Their efforts and the work of all other students and organizations helps assure success of 1950 Homecoming. AG COUNTRYMAN STAFF—which published the first issue of the Ag campus magazine this week. The edition contained comments and articles of particular interest to Ag students. COLL-AGRI-FUN WINNERS—both Farm House for their skit, and Ag YWCA for their curtain act, which merited first place. A tremendous amount of work and rehearsing went into the acts before they were ready for the final performance. EILEEN DERIEG—for winning the 1950 award for high scholarship on Coll-Agri-Fun night. She received the award for having the highest scholarship in the last two semesters among all participants in the 1949 show night. TALENT SHOW WINNERS—the coed trio composed of Janie Day and Barb and Pat Farley, tenor Jack Vant and acrobatic dancer Jo Berry. These three were top entries out of 21 acts in the Union sponsored show. THE COSMOPOLITAN CLUB—for its recent edition of the foreign students newspaper. The publication contained a wide cross section of world opinion which is conducive to international understanding. JUNIOR MEMBERS OF THE FARMERS FAIR BOARD—who will assist the senior board members plan the annual fair. Management and planning by this board is vital to the success of the spring Ag campus event. THE UNIVERSITY SYMPHONY—under Emanuel Wishnow's direction which is preparing for the concert Thursday with Ossy Renardy, violinist. UGLIEST MAN ON CAMPUS CANDIDATES—who have enough courage to compete for such a title. Any student volunteering such service for AUF's benefit deserves the congratulations of others who don't enter the contest.

Letterip

To the editor:

For various reasons, both scholastic and otherwise, I hereby resign from the office of president of the Independent Students Association, effective immediately.

I wish to express my gratitude for all of the help I have received during my term of office. I firmly believe that the work of I.S.A. should and will be carried on to even greater success than before. I have full confidence in Jim Tomasek, your future president. He has displayed both the willingness and the capacity to handle the job.

To encourage the independent students to participate in extra-curricular activities (including intramurals, social programs, and others) is the purpose and the challenge of the I.S.A. on the U.N. campus. It is this thought which has influenced my activities throughout my term of office.

Yours truly,
Donald F. Flesher

Three rousing cheers are in order at this juncture. The 52nd annual conference of the Nebraska Library association is behind us and we can once again settle down to the rigorous demands of the University libraries' patrons.

Vennix

I've made up my mind to inquire of my next potential employer whether he anticipates being host to a state conference. If he does, I reckon I'll simply cast about until I can find one who doesn't. Such a convention, while being educational and to a limited extent fun, cuts down too greatly on life expectancy.

So many people have been asking me about my collie that I guess I ought to say she's well and growing faster than a bride's first batch of baked beans. Lady Carynor, about whom this column carried so much information when she was only a few weeks old, now tips the scales at just short of 50 pounds.

Although she's only eight months old, she's a tremendous bundle of muscle and nerve and steel. When she takes a flying leap at yours truly he heads for the garage roof. She should be in great shape for the Oklahoma game. I'm thinking of sending her down to Norman to throw some powerful blocks into those hard running Okie halfbacks.

I spent an hour or so last night studying the "tricks or treats" of the Russian press. They don't seem to have trouble deciding which of the political parties they should favor. They have only one, and if they don't favor it, they no longer have to worry about meeting their deadline.

Dr. Ivar Spector has been teaching Russian literature and history for about 30 years at the University of Washington in Seattle. He has turned out an excellently compact little book called "Soviet Strength and Strategy in Asia." It deals with the method of the Soviet press in forming public opinion. Spector is in an enviable position to judge the merits of the Russian newspaper industry. For nearly four years he was the editor of "Soviet Press Translations," a biweekly journal that gives the highlights of social and political information contained in the more significant Russian newspapers.

The University of Nebraska Libraries have a complete file of "Soviet Press Translations." They originated in 1946. It's a chilling sort of pleasure to read them. If you're clear-sighted enough you can pick out the power program of Stalin's family from what the Russian newspapers tell the Russian hordes to believe. Right at the moment, the most significant data are concerned with the future of Asia. If you'd like to stimulate your thinking on this important matter while at the same time giving yourself a good case of jitters, read Spector's "Soviet Strength and Strategy in Asia" as background, and then wade through a few recent issues of "Soviet Press Translations."
