

K-State Pointing to Cornhusker Clash

Sports Editor, Daily Nebraskan Nebraska's only "easy" game this year doesn't look like the cinch it once did this week. The Kansas State Wildcats journey to Lincoln this weekend to meet the second place Huskers in what was supposed to have been sure victory for Nebraska.

Kansas State is the one team which the Huskers managed to whip through the lean war years. The last seven games in this series have been taken by Nebraska. Saturday's contest was supposedly the eighth.

The Wildcats will be no soft touch for the offensive minded Huskers, however, Last Saturday's Kansas State-Iowa State game proved that. The Aggies were supposed to play cousin to the Cyclones, also, but gave the lowans a real struggle before bowing 7-13.

The Wildcats led in that contest 7-0 for three quarters before two bad breaks allowed the Cyclones to score twice within a span of one minute and 24 sec onds. At that, Iowa State had to stop a Kansas State drive one foot short of a touchdown late in the fourth quarter. They did it again on the 8-yard line as time ran out.

Staters "Up"

It was definitely a case of a team being up for the game. And you can be sure that the Wildcats will be up for their contest with the Huskers.

Gerlach returned an interception to his own 25 yard line to set up a Phi Delt drive early in the second period. Short passes from Gerlach to team captain Jack Heckenlively and McBride put the Phi Delts in midfield, and a 20 yard throw to Bill Henkle gave them a first down on the Delt 23, but the Delt defense tightened to stop them with no gain.
