

Diplomats Confer About China Reds

United Nations diplomats conferred Tuesday in one of the most significant decisions in the history of the international organization.

Only 24 hours before the security council was to meet in emergency session today's diplomats discussed how to handle General MacArthur's charges that communist China has relayed her troops into Korea.

The diplomats were faced with somewhat of a dilemma. There was, on one hand, the fear that World War III might erupt if the Chinese reds were labeled as aggressors and the U.N. sent military action to combat them.

On the other side was the knowledge that the world looked to the U.N. to take a clear-cut stand opposing aggression.

As the diplomats looked at these alternatives they were puzzled. Two basic facts which were needed to form their decisions were missing.

Two Facts

First, how deeply committed red China is to the Korean war, and secondly, what Moscow's attitude would be in case of a war involving the U.N. against communist China.

They hoped to draw up a resolution which would fulfill the U.N.'s anti-aggression objectives, and yet not lead directly to an irrevocable war commitment.

Meanwhile on the actual battlefield, reinforced allied divisions smashed forward up to two and one-half miles in the most noticeable spurt since Chinese and North Korean communists drove them back from the Manchurian border area.

In the biggest series of hit-run dogfights of the war, American aircraft eliminated a made-by at least 15 Russian-made jet fighters from Manchurian bases.

While Chinese communists and their Korean buddies faded back in some places, allies had to hunt them out in others for attacks.

But Korea wasn't the only hot place in the world Tuesday.

National Election

The all important congressional election brought out heavy votes Tuesday as what was thought to be a record pileup of ballots of "off-year" elections formed.

And in Moscow the Russians continued their splash of celebrating their 33rd anniversary of the soviet revolution.

Russia paraded its military might Tuesday and expressed sympathy for Korean reds battling against "aggression."

The man who rose from a czarist private to commander of the red cavalry, Marshal Semion Budenny, excoriated Anglo-American "imperialists" in a speech before massed troops in Red square outside the Kremlin.

While surrounded by Soviet Deputy Premier V. M. Molotov, Nikolai Bulganin, Marshal Klementi Voroshilov, Anastas Mikoyan and other members of the politburo, Budenny spoke from the dias of Lenin's red granite mausoleum.

Meanwhile in the United States a plane with 21 aboard was feared lost in the Rockies.

The missing Northwest Airlines plane was believed down Tuesday in fog-bound, snow-covered Rocky mountain terrain between Butte, Mont., and Whithall, Mont.

Fate of ISA 'Undecided' Say Officers

The fate of the Independent Students Association is still hanging in the balance. Very little was accomplished in a meeting Monday night. The turmoil within the organization that began with the resignation of President Don Flesher last week is still boiling, according to ISA officers.

The new president of the ISA, Jim Tomasek, in a letter to the Rag stated three reasons for the trouble within the organization: First, the lack of support of the Independent. Second, the association is on the verge of bankruptcy because of lack of support during the active membership campaign this fall.

Third, the necessary quality of interested leadership is missing. Tomasek stated that if something was not done to remedy this situation, the organization will have to leave the campus.

Another meeting will be held at 5 p.m. next Monday in the ISA office of the Union. All students interested in the fate of the organization are urged to attend.

Union to Feature Hour of Dancing

An hour of dancing will be featured today from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m., in the Union ballroom in connection with the Religious Week recreation activities.

Special dances will be the "Circassian Circle," an "English dance," the "Peanut Cake Polka," a lively American Polka, and the "Ace of Diamonds," a Danish dance. There will also be some square dances.

At the Monday hour records were played and two dances were held, the "Road to the Isles," and the "Badger Gavot."

The Weather

Cloudy Wednesday with snow in the morning. Clearing and colder in the evening with a minimum temperature of near 15 degrees.

KK Judges To Review Eleven Skits

Judging the skits to be presented in the annual Kosmet Klub Fall Revue began Tuesday at 9 a.m. when six of the organized men's houses rehearsed their skits for members of the Kosmet Klub judging committee.

The remaining 11 houses will present their skits to the judges Wednesday evening.

After all 17 skits have been judged, the final seven will be chosen to participate in the production Friday, Nov. 17, at the Coliseum.

The skits are to be based on the theme of "Mythical Tour of Broadway." It was decided this year that the skits would follow a theme in color to add more organization to the show and to produce better entertainment. Skits must show sensibility in good humor and taste rather than vulgarity and unwholesomeness.

Judging Schedule

The schedule for Wednesday evening is:

7:20-7:40—Beta Theta Pi.
7:40-8:00—Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Scripts are due Saturday, Nov. 11, and rehearsals for the show will begin Nov. 14.

Ossy Renardy To Perform On Sunday

Ossy Renardy, world famous violinist, will appear as guest artist with the University Symphony, Sunday, Nov. 12, at 8 p.m. in the Union ballroom.

Born in Vienna, Ossy Renardy's musical gifts were discovered when he was five. Recognition came to him early on the continent and by the time he first came to America in 1937 he was an established artist.

In 1939 at Carnegie hall, he stirred critical attention with his performance of the entire Paganini Caprices.

Army Service

The war interrupted Renardy's career. The young violinist was in the United States army four years. During that time he played over 400 concerts for his fellow G.I.s and gave dozens of Red Cross and war bond concerts.

Renardy recently acquired the fabulous Guarneri del Gesu violin which is believed to have been made in 1743. The violin, said to have belonged to Paganini, is valued at over $50,000.

His guest appearances have included the Chicago and the Boston Symphonies and the New York Philharmonic Symphony.

Ernest Wisnow, conductor of the University Symphony orchestra, has held this position since 1941 and has also been head of the string department at the University since 1938. He is an associate professor of violin and director of string ensembles at the University.

Born in England

Born in England, he lived in Boston and studied violin with Max Stearns. He earned his baccalaureate degree from the University and completed his Master of Arts degree at New York University.

Wisnow is appearing in a series of chamber music recitals sponsored by Joslyn Memorial in Omaha this season.

Renardy's program includes "The Faithful Shepherd" by Handel-Beecham, "Concerto for Violin and Orchestra, Opus 26," by Bruch, "Chaconne in G minor" by Puccini-Barbirolli, "Fetes" by Debussy, and "L'Apprenti Sorcier" by Dukas.

Free tickets for the symphony are available in the activities office at the Union. They will be available as long as the supply lasts.

The concert is sponsored by the Union activities committee and the school of fine arts.

Thorpe Will Speak To Soil Students

"Water Control and Reclamation in Holland" will be the topic of James Thorpe of Lincoln as he addresses student members of the Soil Conservation society Wednesday.

The meeting will be held at the Ag Union at 7:30 p.m. All members are urged to attend.

CAN YOU PICK THE WINNER?—These twenty-five men are candidates for the "Uglyest Man on Campus." Although Halloween has passed, many people on the campus think that it has come back again. The reason is the present UMOOC election which has everybody astir. The UMOOC's and the organizations backing them have been campaigning for a week prior to the elections 'at are taking place this week, until Friday when the booths close. The UMOOC's were so ugly that the photographer was unable to identify them.

Vitek Appointed Directory Editor; Replaces Mosher

Helen Vitek has been appointed new editor of the 1950-51 Student-Faculty Directory to replace Bob Mosher who has resigned.

Mosher's resignation, which was accepted by the Builders executive board, was because of increasing pressure from other campus responsibilities. Gene Berg, president of Builders, explained.

Mosher is president of Red Cross, vice president of the Union, head of Magee's college board, member of Innocents society, Chesterfield campus representative and a member of Delta Upsilon.

Miss Vitek will assume responsibility of the Directory immediately. She has been serving as Builders office manager and was reappointed to the post last year. She is secretary of Terrace hall, treasurer of ISA, and an AUF worker.

Appointed Last Spring

Mosher, who was appointed editor of the Directory last spring after serving as business manager, has headed all preliminary and actual work thus far on the publication. His resignation, said that he felt he could not continue in the position, Berg said.

Concerning Mosher's act, Berg said that Builders regrets "very much his resignation, because he had added a great deal to the organization during his three-year membership. He hesitated as long as possible in making the decision so that work on the Directory could get well underway."

"Vitek—Efficient" Berg said that Miss Vitek has always been "a loyal and efficient Builders board member, and he feels that she will do an expert job on the finish up."

Assisting Miss Vitek will be Jayne Wade, also a Builders office manager, and Nancy Benjamin, secretary of Builders board.

Miss Wade will head the student lists and Miss Benjamin will be in charge of proofreading for the directory.

Louis Million will continue to head the organization lists, which are completed. Betty Stratton will assist Miss Wade with the student lists.

Jan Lindquist heads the business side of the Directory and Dick Ford is in charge of sales. Doree Canady headed the advertising sections, which are completed and are being proofread this week.

Sales End Soon

Receipt sales for the Directory will end soon. Faculty lists for the publication are complete. Proofreading on these lists which were directed by Miss Benjamin, began Tuesday. Also completed on the directory is the student section through names beginning with "G." The remainder will be finished in ten days.

After these lists are returned from the printers they will be checked by the Lincoln Telephone company for accuracy and proofread by Builders. The Directory will be sent to press then.

Miss Vitek said the publication should be ready before

Bridge Lessons Offered Tuesdays

If you are interested in learning to play bridge, the time is now and the place is the Union. The bridge lessons are being sponsored by the competitive games committee of the Union activities office.

MISS SEABURY

Y Seminar On Religion Scheduled

A student seminar sponsored by the YM-YW groups tonight will climax today's Religion-in-Life Week events.

Ruth Seabury, who gave the address at Tuesday's vesper service, will tell the group of "Freedom for Today's World." The meeting will be held in Temple lounge at 7 p.m.

Miss Seabury is one of eleven national leaders participating in Religion-in-Life Week activities. She has been active in foreign missions work and served as one of 45 delegates from the United States at the world church meeting in India.

Miss Seabury travels thousands of miles each year addressing student and university groups.

The meeting, though sponsored by the Y groups, is open to the public.

Classroom Appointments

Classroom appointments continue today. Three University classes, one in history, one in social sciences and one at Ag college will have Robert Fischer, Bryant Drake and Miss Seabury as guest speakers.

Students attending the Ag student club session at the Ag Union at 5 p.m. this afternoon will also hear Miss Seabury talk.

In describing her address concerning freedom in the world today, which she will give at the student seminar tonight, Miss Seabury says, "Our freedom in America rests on our heritage. We take for granted the reserve of freedom which our grandparents have fought for and preserved."

Taken for Granted

Miss Seabury feels that perhaps we don't deserve the freedom which we have. Some freedoms which we have taken for granted she says, we left to grow rusty out of non-use.

All students are urged to attend the seminar by YM-YW officers and by members of Religion-in-Life Week's Committee of 100.

Dean Charles McAllister will speak to a faculty luncheon at parlor XYZ of the Union today at noon. Dean McAllister will base his talk on "Inside the Campus."

With her observations of the miners and mines in Africa she commented:

"I think it is terrible that so much blood and sweat goes into taking gold from one hole in the ground in Africa to transport it at great cost in money and lives like our own Fort Knox."

Her pictures include scenes in over two dozen countries and her works hang in the Library of Congress, the Museum of Modern Art in New York, the Cleveland Museum of Art and the Brookline Museum and her photomurals are used for interiors in Radio City in New York.
