Statistics . . .

Traffic accident statistics are cold, cruel numerical facts. Seldom are they cheerful; invariably they are frightening and appalling. And always they are hard to change.

But sometimes we cheat those long rows of figures and percentages and come out on top. One of these infrequent times has been brought to our attention by Mr. Ray Osborn, director of public safety in the city of Lincoln.

"When a town can reverse the national average," says Mr. Osborn, "especially with the number of students we have, I consider that a fine record. I am very happy that people can't always say it is a kid or student who causes the accidents."

We agree with Mr. Osborn—this is an outstanding record for the students at the University. Statistics always have shown in the past that drivers in the age group 16 to 25 are involved in a high comparative percentage of accidents. The presence of the University in Lancaster county and the large increase of 16 to 25 year old drivers from it, would tend to swing the balance towards more traffic accidents. It speaks very well for all Nebraska students that this is not the case.

The relentless fight to prevent fatal accidents should not diminish, however, even though statistics are now in our favor. Excessive speed, extreme carelessness and the indulgence in alcoholic beverages while driving can quickly fill the debit side of the ledger unless there is a concentrated effort by all to prevent accidents.

Statistics are hard to change. But they can be through the consciousness of the student body that it has been, and could be responsible for a greater number of accidents. Student drivers who bear this fact in mind and who practice the simple safety rules will keep themselves and their friends out of the statistic columns.

Letterip

To The Student Body:

I would like to express my sincere thanks to the various organizations and individuals that made this year's Card Section a success. The Cobs and Tassels for their hard work on those cold Saturday mornings, Mr. Don Lantz for his words of wisdom and able counseling, and Mr. Lewandowski and "Potsy" Clark for their wonderful cooperation. Also to each one of the 1,388 students that form the card section I would like to say "thank you", for without your cooperation the Card Section could not exist.

Buchenwald 'Alum' Studies Industrial Engineering at NU

(Editors note: This is the third in a series of sketches designed to acquaint students with D. P.'s studies on campus.

An alumnus of the Nazi death-camp of Buchenwald, now a graduate student at the University, is Max Szklarczyk.

His name, a whopper for most people to pronounce, is said like "sklar-check." Max is a former citizen of Poland, of Jewish extraction. Like many other D. P. students, he now has taken out his first citizenship papers here.

Szklarczyk came to the United States in 1949. He is studying industrial engineering and has been supported by Zeta Beta fraternity where he lives at present. Max is active in the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and Cosmopolitan club.

During the summer, when most students scatter to find employment, Max headed for the east. He found a summer job as kitchen steward at a children's camp in the Blue Ridge mountains of Pennsylvania.

US Asked to Join Peace Movement

An appeal for cooperation with the International Union of Students was sent to the National Student Association in the United States recently. The appeal was contained in letters sent from the IUS headquarters in Communist-controlled Czechoslovakia.

A copy of the appeal, addressed to "students in the United States," was sent to the Daily Nebraskan.

The NSA was asked to join the international student group in working for peace and a reduction of world armaments. The IUS letter was signed by Josef Grohman, president, and Giovanni Berlinguer, general secretary. The IUS is composed of national student groups from all parts of the world. Headquarters of the group is located in Prague.

Americans Not Members The American NSA has not joined the group, although American observers have attended IUS congresses held in Europe during the past few years.

The IUS letter asks that American students join in demanding a peaceful settlement of the Korea question.

Aid is extended to "students of Viet Nam and Malaya, who . . . are attempting to cast off the yoke of foreign domination." Active support be given to student organizations of Puerto Rico, "which have been banned because of their activities for national independence."

Korean Intervention Grohman and Berlinguer point out, "we know quite well what the intervention in Korea means for the peoples of the countries whose armies have been sent into Korea . . . militarization; vast war budgets; decreased social services; increased taxation; increased prices . . . and repression of peace supporters."

"It means for U.S. students . . . military service, increased costs, deteriorating educational facilities . . . perversion of their knowledge for murder and destruction and eradication of personal and collective freedoms."

The IUS letter flays the University of California "loyalty oath," the banning at Harvard of the John Reed and Young Progressive clubs and the McCarran bill.

"Students who work actively for peace, against the oppression of Negroes, for reduction of military expenditures . . . will be subject to prosecution," Grohman and Berlinguer predict.

The IUS officers invite the NSA to send American students to participate in European sports and cultural festivals, to submit articles to the IUS news service, and in particular to invite foreign student groups to tour U.S. campuses.

The letter closes with a quotation by Ilya Ehrenburg, Soviet writer, saying that the threat of war affects "The religious and the irreligious, Communists and Conservatives, Left and Right . . ."

"In the face of this threat, it is more than ever necessary for honest people of different views to unite in order to win peace," ends the letter from Prague.

Dinner to Honor Foreign Students

The annual International Friendship dinner is planned for Nov. 30, in the Union ballroom at 6:30.

Each American is to bring a foreign student with him to the dinner. The purpose of this program is to acquaint the foreign students with the faculty and other members of the student body. The event is under the sponsorship of the Religious Welfare Council, NUCWA and the Cosmopolitan club.

Approximately 300 tickets will be offered for sale at $1 each. Teachers have first chance to invite overseas students but any of the 150 not asked by the faculty can be invited by students.

Pon Chinn has the list of foreign students. Those who wish to know who may yet be invited should call Chinn at the Baptist student house, 2-4862, or the YMCA, University extension 3261. The ticket sales are being handled by the YMCA in the Temple building.

Chairman for Ag E-Week Named

James Hossack, senior in civil and agricultural engineering, was recently elected Ag Engineers co-chairman for E-Week next spring.

As one of the co-chairmen for E-Week, he will coordinate displays and activities of the various Ag Engineering departments. The co-chairman representing the other engineering divisions has not been announced.

The industrial engineers have also been discussing plans for E-Week. This was the purpose of their business meeting Tuesday evening, at Burnett hall.

Other groups that will make preparations for E-Week include the societies of Mechanical Engineers, Electrical Engineers, Civil Engineers and Architectural Engineers. The projects of these organizations will be on display during this week also.

Greece to Receive Aid From AUF

Almost one-half of the University's contributions to AUF is distributed through the World Student Service fund. All organized houses were asked to designate which country they wanted their contributions to benefit, and Jackie Sorenson, Secretary of AUF has announced that Greece has been chosen to receive the AUF aid.

In Greece there are many students who are tuberculosis patients. These students have neither medicine nor hospitals and because of lack of money to combat the disease it is spreading.

The major project of World Student Relief this year has been the building of a pavilion for tubercular students. The AUF contributions will be of great assistance in the promotion of a rest center in Greece.

Greece was selected from five possible recipients: Greece, Indonesia, Pakistan, Switzerland and Athens.

Today is the first day of Farm and Home Days out here at Agricultural College!

The purpose of this program is to acquaint any out-state people with the accomplishments and the opportunities found on the Ag College campus.

Many talks and panel discussions are on the program which deal with almost any subject that a person might be interested in.

It is an annual event sponsored by the Lincoln Junior Chamber of Commerce and the College of Agriculture. This year it will last through Friday afternoon with special sections of the program for about every phase of Agriculture.

There are portions of the program on ag economics, ag engineering, agronomy, animal and dairy husbandry, home economics and poultry husbandry.

If the visitors want to eat, of course there are the Ag cafeteria and the Dell in the Ag Union. In addition to this the Block and Bridge club, Varsity Dairy club and the Student Ag Engineering society are all serving food to the crowd.

Congratulations are due Alene Ochsner, Lawrence Murphy and Rex Meyer for being selected to attend the national 4-H club congress this last week. Also, Beverly Kunc and Charles Klasek should be mentioned for entertaining the club congress as part of the Saine County trio. Seems as how Ag campus was pretty well represented.

The University sported some judging teams around the country this last weekend. Crops judges went to Kansas City, Mo., and to the International Livestock exposition. The livestock judging team was also at the International.

From reports close to the agronomy department, the crops team had a little automobile mishap while on the trip. Oh well, it just damaged the car and not any of the members, luckily. Another mishap reported from the trip was the fact that the ribbons won by the crops team displayed a "bull" at the top of them. What a blow to these Agronomy majors!

Ag Union is planning to "throw" a "snowball" next Jan. 5. This is not as fantastic as it sounds, since the "snowball" is the annual Sno-Ball dance which is held each winter after Christmas vacation to help the students get "into the swing" of things.

Bobby Mills has been contracted to furnish music for the affair and in my opinion this is about the most danceable music in this part of the country.

Rumors have it that there is a possibility of a hobby show with prizes and all. Hope it's not just a rumor.

Ag Union is also inaugurating a ping-pong tournament next Monday at noon. It is quite unique in that any one who is interested is eligible, but it will only last from 12:15 to 12:45. All entrants will place their names in a hat and then the four pairings will compete in successive elimination contests until the winner is crowned. Hollis Eggers, Ag Union activities director, said that all spectators are more than welcome, so all you ping-pong fans come over to the Ag Union next Monday noon.

"AUF assumed the responsibility of selling the seals," said Miss Lisher, "with the realization that no project is more worthy of support."

The Lancaster county drive is now in its second week of campaigning and will continue until Dec. 25. The first week has brought in a total of $4,454 or 22 percent of the goal of $19,875 set by the association as the amount needed to finance its 1951 program.

AUF Agenda To Include TB Seal Sales

The All-University Fund under the direction of Joe Lisher is handling the 1950 Christmas seal sales Tuesday through Friday on the University campus.

The drive is a part of the Lancaster County Tuberculosis association project. The sale of the Christmas seals is the only financial appeal made by the association for its year-round program of tuberculosis prevention and control.

Rather than begin any concerted effort toward selling the seals, AUF is sending out letters with seals enclosed to the organized houses on campus.

According to Jo Lisher, there is "no need to extol the advantages of the Tuberculosis association's project."

The free chest X-ray survey center in downtown Lincoln is dependent for its operations on seal sales.

The Lancaster county drive is now in its second week of campaigning and will continue until Dec. 25. The first week has brought in a total of $4,454 or 22 percent of the goal of $19,875 set by the association as the amount needed to finance its 1951 program.
