

Cornhuskers Return Home; Meet Iowa State Teachers

Nebraska's Cornhusker basketballers return to their home court Tuesday night in their last game before the Big Seven Tournament in Kansas City during the holidays. Furnishing the opposition for Harry Good's boys in their second home appearance of the year will be Iowa State Teachers.

The Huskers will be seeking their third win of the season against the teachers. The Scarlet currently is sporting a .333 mark with two victories and four losses.

Victims of the Cornhusker outfit in this young season are the Missouri State Teachers and Santa Clara. The Huskers dropped Santa Clara on their western road trip while routing the Missourians here in their initial home contest.

Husker Conquerors

Holding victories over Nebraska are Minnesota at Minneapolis in the season's opener and California university on the western road trip. The University of Washington slapped the Huskers twice on this same tour.

A shuffled lineup may face the Iowa Teachers for Nebraska Tuesday night, coach Good indicated. He is trying to overcome the NU lack of height and rebounding strength. Bob Pierce the Husker center, has done most of the rebounding and the NU opposition has been able to slack off on guarding the forwards.

Coach Good may send Jim Snyder and Joe Good to the forwards.

Snyder is the second tallest man on the squad at 6-4 and will be able to help Pierce. Good is currently the third scorer for the Huskers with 32 points.

Jim Buchanan, a veteran and dependable floor leader for the Scarlet, will team with maybe Bob Mercier at the guard slots. Mercier is speedy and a good long-shot artist that will come in handy at a guard position.

Not Discouraged

Coach Good was not discouraged by the showing the Huskers have made thus far. He said that he figured things would be much worse this year.

About the western tour he said, "We displayed our lack of experience. We could have won the first game with Washington and also the game with California, but we gave the ball away too much."

"We did, however, do better than I expected." The Big Seven conference began this week's activities with only one undefeated team in its ranks—Oklahoma. The other previously all-victorious quintet, the Kansas Jayhawks, was rudely shoved into the depths last Saturday by Kentucky, 68-39.

Kansas State had its four-game winning streak snapped by Indiana, 58-52. The Aggies will Colorado will be the busiest team this week. The Buffs, trying to improve a 1-5 record, the worst in the conference, will meet Stanford, Santa Clara and San Jose State away from home.

Kansas will try to resume their winning ways this week against Springfield, Mass. College at Lawrence. The unbeaten Sooners will head east for games with powerhouses, Holy Cross and CCNY. On the way home, they will have a return engagement with Minnesota.

1950 Big Seven Pre-Season Basketball Tournament Bracket

Conference Tourney Opens Dec. 27; NU Faces Tigers

The Big Seven Conference, after playing havoc with top-ranking teams throughout the country until last week's rather disastrous weekend, continues its outside engagements this week with an eye toward the approaching Big Seven Tournament in Kansas City, Dec. 27-30.

The University of Minnesota will be the guest school to complete the eight-cup bracket.

On the basis of early performances, it looks like the tourney finals will pit Kansas of the upper bracket against either Missouri or the winner of the Oklahoma-Kansas State clash in the lower bracket.

The Huskers, Cyclones, and Buffaloes will probably be fighting it out for consolation honors against the loser of the Sooner-Wildcat battle.

Before the season started it would have been easy to pick the tournament finalists. That would, of course, be Coach Phog Allen's Kansas Jayhawks against the Wildcats of Coach Jack Gardner.

However, happenings over the past weekend, coupled with surprisingly strong showings by Missouri and Oklahoma, have completely confused the experts.

Kansas's Jayhawkers—headed by Clyde Lovellette—will, nevertheless, have to be given the favorite's role because the pairings give them comparatively weaker competition the first two rounds. Minnesota should get by Colorado alright, but will have a tough time stopping the tall Kansans.

The battle between undefeated Oklahoma and twice-beaten Kansas State will be the feature attraction of the first round of play down Kansas City way. Although a Wildcat victory would be no surprise, the odds favor the Sooners who have faced some potent clubs in its all-victorious swing throughout the country.

The Missouri-Nebraska contest could also be close if Husker Coach Harry Good can upset the ball-control game of Coach Sparky Stallcup's Tigers.

Delta Pi's, Nu's, Phi Gams Gain Bowling Finals

Delta Sigma Pi, Sigma Nu, and Phi Gamma Delta moved into the intramural bowling finals last week with close wins over their chief contenders in their respective leagues.

The Delta Pi's turned back Theta Chi, Sigma Nu dropped Phi Delta Theta and the Phijs throttled Delta Tau Delta.

To gain the finals, the two top teams of each of the three leagues had to play each other, the winner gaining the finals. The finals will be a round-robin affair with all of the teams playing each other.

The Delta Pi's rolled to the highest score in their victory over Theta Chi. The final tally read 2244 to 2212. The Theta Chi's won the first line 746 to 704, but the Delta Pi's came roaring back.

Delta Toppie
The Fijis toppled the Delts by a score of 2156 to 2140. The Phi Gams won the first two lines and lost the third. Sig Nu won 2131 to 2085 over the Phi Delts.

Theta Chi came through with the second highest team score during the day, but their opponent turned out to have the highest score. Although the Chi's topped both Sig Nu's and the Fijis' score, they did not make the finals.

The Delta Pi's came through with the highest score in one line, a 799. Holmquist of Phi Gamma Delta had the highest three-line score, a 526. K. Moorehead of Phi Delta Theta topped the keglers with the top single line score. He posted a 208 in the third line.

K.U. Beginning Victory Streak

Home-board winning skeins aren't anything new for the Jayhawks. Allen's clubs of the past have unreeled no less than six others of from 12 to 26 in a row. However, this is the first time since 1947, when Missouri nicked them, 39-34, in the conference opener, that the Mt. Oreodans have put together a victory string of any length. The Bengal defied stopped them at 17.

By whipping Springfield, this Kansas could lift itself to ninth among all-time Jayhawk consecutive home game winners. Early successes in league play would vault them considerably higher.

Under Allen KU has fashioned two streaks of 26 in a row, from 1921-26 and from 1939-41. Oklahoma snapped both, winning 40-28 on the first occasion, and 45-37, on the second. The latter was one of the more dramatic clashes between the two sides, Sooner Center High Ford, the old goal tender, making a surprise appearance after being reported as out of action with a severe charley-horse.

Reynolds 2nd In Yardage

Nebraska's Bobby Reynolds finished in the number two spot nationally in yards gained rushing. Bobby, with 1,342 in nine games, finished second to Wildford "Whizzer" White of Arizona State at Tempe. White gained 1,502 yards in ten games.

The National Collegiate Athletic bureau, which keeps track of such things, announced that White thus became the second player in the history of the sport to lug the ball more than 1,500 yards in a single season.

The record is held by Fred Wendt of Texas Mines, who registered 1,570 yards in 1948.

Reynolds carried the ball for 1,342 yards to place third on the all-time list. His achievement was remarkable because it was made against major opposition whereas Arizona State played largely a minor schedule.

Wade Stinson of Kansas finished the year in the number five position with 1,129 yards gained in ten games.

Cleveland, Los Angeles Gain Pro Finals With Playoff Wins Bears Fall Giants Topple

Quarterback Bob Waterfield, playing perhaps the greatest game of his life Sunday, tossed three touchdown passes to End Tom Fears and kicked a tremendous 43-yard field goal to lead his Los Angeles Rams to a 24-14 triumph over the Chicago Bears in their National Football league divisional playoff.

The victory gave the Rams their second National conference title in a row and avenged a pair of defeats pinned on them by the Bears earlier in the season.

A near free-for-all battle between both teams halted the game in the closing seconds. It was several minutes before play was resumed and the field cleared. It took awhile for the officials to make the squads step back to their respective sidelines.

83,501 Watch
A crowd of 83,501 watched the thriller in 92 degree heat. The victory lifted the Rams into the playoff for the league championship with the Cleveland Browns next Sunday.

Waterfield, the old master who led the Rams to their only world title five years ago when the club was in Cleveland, put his team ahead in the closing minutes of the opening quarter with his sensational 43 yard field goal.

Chicago, which put up a game fight all the way, went ahead in the second quarter on Al Campana's 22 yard touchdown gallop. Waterfield, who kicked all his team's extra points, then hit Fears with a pay-off pitch that consumed 88 yards. Before the half ended the combination clicked again for a 27 yard scoring play and the Rams were never headed after that.

The Cleveland Browns, aided by Lou (Golden Toe) Groza, Sunday won the American Division title of the National Football League with an 8-2 play-off victory over the New York Giants in freezing temperatures at Cleveland.

The Brown-Giants struggle, played in 17-degree temperature over frozen turf, was won by Groza's hot toe.

He kicked two field goals, one for 11 yards in the first period and the last a 28-yard 3 pointer with 58 seconds to go in the game that broke a 3-3 tie and averted a sudden death period.

Groza was aided by another Brown stalwart, peerless Otto Graham. It was Graham's passing that set up the field goals.

Safety for Browns
With eight seconds to go, Jim Martin caught Giant Quarterback Chuck Conerly in the end zone for a safety, but the issue had already been settled.

The Browns defensive team gained much of the credit for the conquest thru a great goal line stand midway in the final period.

The slippery going and an intermittent snow coupled with cold hands hampered the passing attack of both teams, Graham completing three of nine attempts for 53 yards and the Giants connecting on three of 15 by Conerly and Travis Tidwell for a total of 48 yards.

The battle in Cleveland's Municipal Stadium next Sunday for the league title promises to be a wide-open affair, with the outcome probably hinging on how well the Browns can stop the great offense of the Rams. Los Angeles, on the other hand, must overcome the weather to be the winner.
