Huskers Return Home; Face Cyclones Tonight

Nebraska's Cornhuskers will return home tonight for their first home conference game of the season and play host to the troublesome Cyclones from Iowa State. It will be the second conference contest for the Huskers who opened the season Saturday night after this paper went to press against the Kansas Jayhawkers.

For the Huskers, it will either be trying to pot their second straight win or else trying to climb to a .500 percentage. The Cyclones opened their season Saturday against the Oklahoma Sooners at Ames.

Even Bet

The Huskers will go into the fray an even bet to keep their home record perfect this year. The Huskers have won all three of their home contests to date. The Cyclone tussel promises to be roughest test for the Huskers to master at home this season, however.

The Cyclones own a better pre-season record. The Iowans have copped five of nine contests to give them better than a .500 record. The Huskers on the other hand are just below that mark, winning five of eleven.

Nebraska's competition to date has been stiffer, however, and on that basis the two clubs appear quite even in the betting. The Cyclones will be under a slight jinx going into the battle.

Five Straight

Nebraska has won the last five straight from the Staters and haven't lost to the visitors on their home court since 1947. The Iowans came as close as possible in the last two meetings, however.

Both of those contests were overtime affairs with the Cyclones folding in the extra period. The first, in the pre-season tourney last year, the regulation game ended 66-66. The Huskers put on one of the blistering scoring sprees in overtime history to wrap that one up, the final score being 85-67.

At Ames the Huskers won out 56-54 in another overtime game that saw the Cyclones lose in the very last seconds.

Four Lettermen Back

Cyclone Coach Chick Sutherland is short of returning lettermen this year as is Husker Coach Harry Good. The Cyclones are one up on the Scarlet, however, bringing four letter winners to Lincoln.

Team captain Sy Wilhelm leads the invading aggregation. Wilhelm, also captain of this year's Cyclone grid team and winner of a berth on the Daily Nebraskan Husker All-Opponent team, will take over the center spot against the Huskers. This 22-year old senior potted 134 points for the Cyclones last year and figures heavily in the point getting department this season.

Teaming with Wilhelm are stalwarts, Gay Anderson, Eldon Clement, and Jim Stange.

Against these Coach Good will probably send Bernie Akromis, Jim Snyder, Bob Pierce, and Joe Good.

With this Husker quartet, Guard Jim Buchanan is expected to start. Buchanan's return to the lineup after injuring his foot in Kansas City brightens the Husker outlook.

The Iowa State contest will be the last home game until the Wildcats of Kansas State invade Febr. 5. The Huskers travel to Boulder to meet the Colorado Buffs Monday, Jan. 15.

Buffs to Play Cyclones in Homecoming

Iowa State's Cyclones, and the three-year gridiron jinx they have held over Colorado's Buffaloes, will be the target of Homecoming, 1951, at the Boulder school, it was announced today by Dean Harry G. Carlson, Colorado director of athletics.

The Homecoming date will be November 3, 1951, at Folsom Field in Boulder.

Defeated twice by Colorado, in 1948 and 1947, the Cyclones have bounced back in the last three years to shut out the Silver and Gold in Big Seven conference competition. The five games, which have only once been decided by more than 7 points, have produced one of the bitterest rivalries in the middle west.

Last season Iowa State came from behind in the first game of the year to swamp Colorado 14-7 with two last-quarter touchdowns. That never-say-die spirit, displayed by both squads, has made the annual Cyclone-Buff tilt one of the toughest of the season to forecast. It is bound to produce a top-flight Homecoming game. The Coloradoans are notoriously tough before their alumni on the home grounds.

Here's the scoring history of the five-year series:

Colorado	Year	Iowa State
7	1948	18
6	1949	13
7	1950	14

Janowicz Status at Ohio State Still in Doubt

All-American back Vic Janowicz's status with Ohio State university still was in doubt today as the school stunned the sporting world by announcing that Janowicz would be dismissed from school because of low grades.

Janowicz, 1950's Heisman trophy winner for being the outstanding football player of the year, was considered a fixture around the Ohio State campus.

A student who has been dismissed because of low grades at the Ohio school may apply for reinstatement but at the present time Janowicz has not done so.

Outing such a brilliant football player shocked most of the colleges in the nation and served notice that the Buckeye university was doing its part to live up to the Sanity code as set down by the NCAA.

Janowicz last season performed just about every task in football but that of the waterboy. At the beginning of the season he called signals, did all of the punting when in the game, most of the passing, and ran and blocked. He kicked off, passed or kicked for extra points, was a field goal expert and the number one defensive star for the Buckeyes.

The Buckeye gridder is a junior in college and has one more year of eligibility remaining.

Red Sox May Trade Williams

A Boston newspaper announced Saturday that outfielder Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox would be traded to the Philadelphia Athletics for a first baseman and three pitchers. Although the Sox head office has not confirmed this possibly the biggest trade of several seasons, it is believed to be true by several sources in the know.

The newspaper said the Athletics were "desperate for a drawing card" and were willing to trade infielder Ferris Fain and pitchers Lou Brissie, Bobby Shantz and Joe Coleman for Williams. Shantz will be remembered by the local fans as breaking into organized baseball with the Lincoln Athletics.

The dispatch said the Red Sox already have been in contact with the St. Louis Browns, offering them Fain for catcher Les Moss as a means of bolstering the Boston catching staff depleted by the trading of George "Birdie" Tebbette to the Cleveland Indians.

The Red Sox would not comment on the report. However, owner Tom Yawkey said recently that trading of Williams was not being considered. His comment followed reports the slugger would go to the Detroit Tigers.

Special Speech Class Offered

Foreign students who want to improve their oral English may take a special course of Speech 9 and 10 next semester.

The speech department will offer a special section of Speech 9 which meets at 11 a.m., Tuesdays and Thursdays. A third hour of individual speech training will be arranged.

Since a number of foreign students have requested such training, a special section of Speech 10 has been organized. The time will be arranged later.

Students wishing to take this course should contact Lucile E. Cypreans, Temple building, Room 102A, as soon as schedules are complete so the time may be arranged.

Foreign students registering for Speech 10 should have credit in Speech 9 or obtain permission from Miss Cypreans. Both courses carry three credits.

Browns Sign Stan Heath

The champion Cleveland Browns pro grid club jolted their National league rivals this week by announcing that they had signed quarterback Stan Heath, one-time All-American from Nevada university.

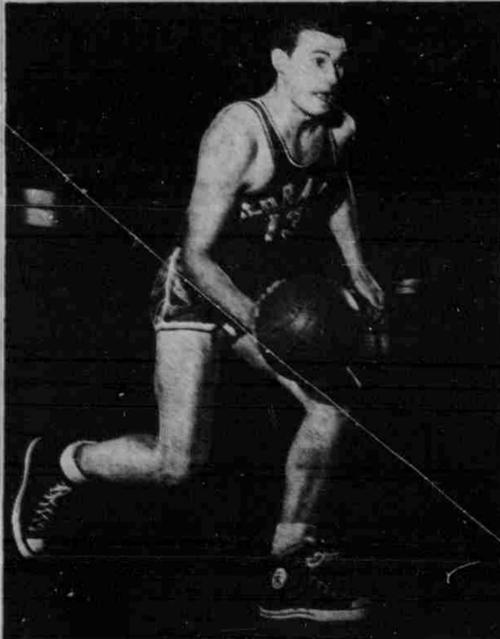

The Browns Coach Paul Brown is counting on Heath to provide depth and to relieve quarterback Otto Graham upon whom Brown has been forced to rely for the past five years and who has turned into the top quarterback in professional football.

Actors in British Film Speak English

A University of Texas student was a bit skeptical about a British film showing in Austin.

"Is it any good?" he asked the girl in the ticket office.

"Pretty good," she said. "It's a British film, but the actors speak English."

JIMMY BUCHANAN . . . will be fully recovered from his ankle injury and will see plenty of action against the Iowa State Cyclones in tonight's encounter on the home maples.

Track and Field Finals Set; 50 Dash, One-Lap Today

The intramural indoor track and field finals begin rolling this afternoon at 5:15 with the three divisions battling for top honors in the 50-yard dash. The spring opens the last and most important chance for the contenders. This is when it will count.

Also on the opening day's card of finals will be the one-lap run which will be staged immediately following the dash. The tentative time for this event is set at 5:25 p.m.

The Field House, Presby House, and Sigma Chi are reigning as favorites in the three divisions on the strength of preliminary showings. Although the Field House in the Independent and the Presby House in the Interdenominational are overwhelming favorites, Sigma Chi is seriously challenged in the fraternity division.

Sigs Not Certain

A slip up anywhere along the way by the Sigs and Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Phi Gamma Delta are ready to move ahead. On the showings of the prelims, the Sigs have only a little over a point bulge on the Taus who in turn own a two point margin over the Sig Eps.

The finals will be staged on four separate days in this year's meet with the windup Thursday evening.

Tuesday will see the running of the 60-yard dash and the two-lap run at 5:15 p.m. and 5:25 p.m., respectively.

Wednesday will run three events to completion. The shot put, 60-yard low hurdles and 440-yard dash are these three.

Thursday, the final day will have both an afternoon and evening card. At 5 p.m. the finals of the 60-yard high hurdles will be run off. At 7 p.m. will be the four-lap relay followed by the pole vault, high jump, 880-yard run, broad jump, and mile relay. The final event is set for 8:45 p.m.

Alexander Leads

Individuals expected to star in the finals are led by Sigma Phi Epsilon's Lee Alexander. Alexander was named the top performer in the 1948 indoor meet and appears to be rolling toward his second such honor.

Cage Action Returns To Normal With 16 Contests

After a long layoff for the holidays, intramural cage play returned to normalcy with 16 games being played in the first three days after the return to classes.

The top game on the card was expected to be the clash between Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Phi Delta Theta. The Sig Alphas are currently first in All-University rankings with the Phi Deltas holding down the number two spot. However, this game had to be postponed and will be played at a later date.

Alpha Tau Omega, continuing to show improvement after its opening loss to the Phi Deltas, turned back a strong bid from a high-scoring Phi Gamma Delta team to post a 45-41 victory.

The Taus led most of the way but had to repel a last-minute rush by the Fijis which closed a ten point gap in the last four minutes of play. Bosley and Sinkveld provided the scoring punch for the winners with 12 and 10 points, respectively. Olson and Schlegler each had 9 for the losers.

Delta Tau Delta's George Paynich and Ray Mladovich converged on a fighting Sigma Chi to lead a successful Delt victory effort, 33-27. Paynich hit for 14 points and controlled the rebounds. Mladovich got most of his 10 counters on fast breaks. Curtiss earned almost half of the Sigs' points with 13 markers.

Sigma Phi Epsilon and Kappa Sigma, currently ranked fourth and seventh, respectively, in All-University standings, engaged in a fierce battle that finally ended 29-26, in favor of the Sig Eps.

Both teams showed the lack of practice by missing easy layups and making numerous bad passes. The score was tied 17 times until the Sig Eps, led by center Kay Curtis, put on a final spurt that carried them to victory. Curtis finished with 10 points. The Kappa Sigs' Mimikus led his team's attack with 6 markers.

Sigma Nu overpowered a gallant Beta Sigma Psi team, 44-28.

The victory was just as decisive as the score indicates as the Nu's height under the basket was the big factor in the contest. Tom Stoup, elongated center, hit 12 for the winners while his teammate, Smith, was collecting 10.

Brown Palace swept past Theta Xi very handily, the score being 42-22. Stake and Staha were the big guns in the Palaces attack, Stake hitting for 11 and Staha for 14. Baris and Stockwell were about all the losers had to offer, each collecting 6 points.

Pioneer House found a slow-moving Zeta Beta Tau team to its liking and proceeded to register a 41-23 win. The fast-breaking Pioneer attack completely befuddled the ZBT defense on several occasions. Dwehus led the victors' attack with 10 points, ably assisted by Berry with 9. Stern hit 8 for the losers.

Two potent offenses met head on in the Phi Kappa Psi-Farm House clash with the Phi Psi's finally coming out on top, 45-38. Control of the boards brought victory for the Phi Psi's as the two Andersons continually grabbed the rebounds. J. Anderson led the winners with 12 points. Bob Reynolds accounted for 9. Radin of Farm House led his team with 12 markers, followed by Reynolds with 11.

Alpha Gamma Rho swept aside an impotent Delta Upsilon "A" team, 53-20. The AGR's scored almost as well as the DU attack splattered badly throughout the battle. Frost and Woltemath shared scoring honors for the winners with 16 points each. Beechen led the DU's with 8 counters.

Geologists, one of the top Independent teams this year, snowed-under Red Guidons, 58-19. The Geologists, boasting one of the tallest teams in intramural play, were paced by Yelkin with 20 points, followed by Carter with 10. Keister was the whole show for the losers with 10 points.

Phi Kappa Phi noised out Beta Theta Pi in the last minute of play for a 36-34 victory. The game was close all the way with Reynolds leading the Beta effort with 12 points. Odman and Loerch paced the winners with 10 and 8 points, respectively.

Another hotly-contested battle was staged by Delta Sigma Phi and Sigma Alpha Mu. The Delta Sigs finally emerged victors, 36-35. Pettijohn was tops for the winners with 12 while Swedleson and Rosenberg collected 14 and 10 points, respectively, for the losers.

In the third close game of the day, Tau Kappa Epsilon squeezed by Cornhusker Co-op, 29-25. Litterer led the winners with 11 with Hefflefinger collecting 8. Oshner and Canaday paced the losers, Oshner dunking in 8 points and Canaday, 9.

Wildcats Eye Gomer Jones

Ex-Husker line coach Gomer Jones said this weekend he was considering the head football coaching position at Kansas State college. Jones is currently line coach at the University of Oklahoma under Bud Wilkinson.

Although Jones admitted not getting an outright offer of the job from the Kansas school, he said that he did express interest in him and that he was awaiting his final offer before reaching any decision.

Jones visited the Kansas State campus at Manhattan two weeks ago upon request of K-State athletic officials.

Ralph Graham resigned as head coach and Thurlio McCrady resigned as athletic director to make the vacancies.

Jones said he would meet with K-State officials at the NCAA meeting at Dallas, Jan. 11-13.

Jones went to Oklahoma in 1947 following a year at Nebraska as line coach during the brief regime of Bernie Masterston.

Brown Denies Coaching Move

Paul Brown, coach of the professional football champion Cleveland Browns, continued Thursday to deny reports that he will return to collegiate ranks next season at one major grid institution or another.

The most recent report that he plans to return to Ohio State brought this reply:

"I'll be back with the Browns next year to the best of my knowledge."

Brown, mentioned every time a vacancy appears in coaching ranks, has been specifically mentioned in connection with openings at Stanford, Southern California, Minnesota and Ohio State.

Coach Brown is in Los Angeles to coach the American conference entry in the Pro Bowl game Jan. 15.

Rose Bowl Fate, TV Problems Aired by PCC

The fate of Pacific Coast conference participation in the Rose Bowl and effect of television on the PCC was discussed this week in meetings held in Riverside, Calif.

Guiding fathers of the PCC dug into the problems of televising football games at the annual winter meeting. But the main topic remained centered on the possibility of the conference withdrawing from the traditional Rose Bowl classic.

There was no further official comment on the startling possibility of junking the Pasadena game, which was disclosed by conference president, H. P. Everest, Wednesday. Definite action will be taken at a special meeting, the site and date to be set following the NCAA convention in Dallas this week.

However, it is not feared that the Rose Bowl would collapse because of the PCC withdrawal. In fact, it looms as a blessing to the Rose officials to rid themselves of having to make room for one Pacific Coast team in the classic every year, especially since the coast football has been sliding and is considerably under par compared to the rest of the country.

No definite action has yet been taken on television but certain information regarding attendance figures has been submitted which proved disturbing and undoubtedly will have a bearing on any decision which is made.

Hardest hit were Southern California and UCLA in the heavily TV populated Los Angeles area.

Stansbury Tops

In the interdenominational division, it is Dick Stansbury leading the way for the defending champion Presby House. Stansbury is expected to carry home divisional scoring honors here. Other Presby's expected to get more than their share of first places are Leo Weed, Hal Sampson, and Bill Giles.

Three Field House Men

In the independent division it appears to be Blake Cathro, Dale Schnackle, and Chester Scott leading the way for Field House.

Rex Coffman will be on hand for the Ag Men's Club to defend a few of his records as well as probably bettering a couple.

From all appearances, it is shaping up to be one whole of a battle from start to finish with predicted victories as well as startling upsets all along the trail.
