

'Rendezvous' Today . . . YWCA to Sign Up Coeds For Commission Groups

YWCA second semester Rendezvous for commission-group sign-ups will be held this afternoon from 3 to 5:30 p. m. in Ellen Smith hall.

DEE LOVEGROVE

All new students, all former students and anyone interested is invited to attend the Rendezvous and to sign-up for second semester commission groups.

The YW Lincoln Advisory board representatives from the Dean of Women's office, YW officers, cabinet members and Ruth Shinn, YW director on the campus, will be present at the tea.

The officers and cabinet members will be on hand to explain the purposes and functions of the University YW and to explain the functions and activities carried on by the various commission groups.

Refreshments will be served during the hours of 3 to 5:30 p. m. The Rendezvous will be under the direction of Ginny Koehler, cabinet member.

The commission groups have been set up under four new headings for this semester. They are: higher education, nation and world, personal growth and Christian heritage.

Various discussion and work groups have been formed under these headings to meet the needs, wants and capabilities of University women. The groups usually meet once a week in Ellen Smith hall under the direction of a YW officer or cabinet member.

Four Day Schedule Monday through Thursday schedule for the commission-group meetings is as follows:

Monday, 3 p. m.: Community service led by Joan Forbes, and skit/dance corner led by Barbara Young, 4 p. m.: Representative council headed by Ruth Raymond and Office Staff under the direction of Virginia Magdanz, 5 p. m.: Common beliefs for a World Church led by Mary S. ner, Human rights headed by Ruth Sorenzen; and Conference co-presided over by Pat McKlany and Mary Feary.

Tuesday, 3 p. m.: Senior commission led by Audrey Rosenbaum and camp counseling headed by Shirley Coy, 4 p. m.: Social service, tours conducted by Barbara Hershberger and campus critics led by Dorothy Gartrell, 5 p. m.: Comparative religions supervised by Virginia Cooper.

Wednesday, 3 p. m.: Alum-Faculty news letter under the direction of Jane Jackson and Fine Arts led by Anne Jane Hall.

Noon Discussion Thursday, 12 noon: Noon-discussion group under the leadership of Virginia Cummings and Hester Morrison, 3 p. m.: May morning breakfast headed by Mary Hubka and world organizations led by Ginny Koehler, 4 p. m.: Student-faculty group presided over by Audrey Flood and Workshop workshop led by Kathy Dill, 5 p. m.: Leadership training under the direction of Sue Allen and Current affairs headed by Barbara Mann.

All University women are urged to attend the tea sometime during the specified hours, whether they want to be members of the campus YWCA or are interested in joining one of the commission groups.

From the point of view of the YW, anyone—which includes all members of religious, racial or ethnic groups—is welcome to attend the Rendezvous and to take part in YWCA activities.

Two Attend Red Cross Meet

Twenty members of the local Red Cross unit and University chapter of the Red Cross will attend a luncheon meeting with the American Red Cross president today in Omaha.

Mrs. Genevieve Grimm, volunteer sponsor of the Red Cross college unit, and Joan Hanson, president of the University chapter, will drive to Omaha to attend the luncheon and meeting.

E. Roland Harriman, president, will attend a luncheon in the Fontenelle hotel and speak to Red Cross representatives from the midwestern area.

Harriman will speak to the assembled Red Cross representatives regarding the responsibilities of Red Cross in the national emergency and in its increased program in the national emergency.

His address will be tied in with the Red Cross fund-raising campaign which begins in March.

Harriman will emphasize the expanded services of Red Cross in relation to the national emergency and the additional duties as an aid to national defense.

Hirold Hill, manager of the local Red Cross chapter, will also be present as one of the representatives from this area's unit.

Citizenship Topic Planned For Educators

Seven Regional Citizenship institutes to be held in the state during February and March were announced Thursday by Dr. R. H. Knapp, of the University and director of the Nebraska Citizenship Education project.

Nearly 100 schools will participate in the institutes.

At each institute, Dr. Knapp and staff members of the Citizenship project will present new materials and present ideas on citizenship education. Social studies teachers, principals, and superintendents will discuss some of the problems and have personal consultations with members of the project staff.

The institutes and host schools for the days are: Feb. 5—Gering; Feb. 6—Ogallala; Feb. 7—Hastings; Feb. 8—Broken Bow; Feb. 12—Culbertson; Feb. 27—Madison; March 8—Nebraska City.

The Nebraska Citizenship Education project is part of a long range national program directed by Columbia University and financed by the Carnegie foundation.

The University Teachers college recently was selected as one of the regional centers in the United States and was granted $21,400 to forward the Nebraska Citizenship Education project.

"The main purpose of the Nebraska Citizenship project," according to Dr. Knapp, is to help Nebraska's smaller schools plan new ways of linking together basic American ideals and knowledge of society so that the behavior and conduct patterns of children are directed toward social and civic competence."

Ag Judges Place in Meet

The reserve champion livestock judging team from the University was relegated to 11th place in the Southwest Pit Livestock show at Fort Worth Wednesday. The team took second place at the National Livestock show at Denver recently.

This is the way the Nebraskans stood by classes: sixth in sheep, 10th in hogs, 14th in cattle and fifth in horses. Steve Eberhart was high individual on the team and 10th high individual in sheep. Russell Schelkopf was second high on the team, fourth in hogs and 11th in sheep. Clayton Yeutter was the team's third high man and seventh high individual in hogs. New teams is coached by Prof. M. A. Alexander.

A team from Iowa State college won the contest and was coached by Vern Kerchberger, a University graduate, formerly of Hay Springs.

The building under consideration will measure 161 by 95 feet. The central part of the armory will be two stories high. The outer tier of rooms will be one story high. Building plans specify brick veneer to conform to the architectural finish of the other structures on Ag campus. The plan provides simultaneous meeting space for 40 units. With this construction, 20 units will be handled in one week.

Night Day Uses ROTC units will use the building during the day and reserve units at night. Space will be provided for a drill hall, rifle range, school rooms and mess facilities. A second building is proposed to store vehicles and the equipment.

The new armory building will be located in the northwest corner of the Ag campus. The lot is east of 33rd street and near Hitchcock street. The lot is located in the Poultry Husbandry area.

This is a correction of the location described in yesterday's article. Measurements of the area are 300 feet east and west, and 400 feet north and south.

The Ag armory building will compare with the present Military and Naval Science building on city campus. Col. Hardein C. Sweeney of Omaha announced the authority to go ahead with the construction yesterday. His office, and the Board of Regents have been negotiating for the construction almost a year.

Ag Exec Approves New Rodeo Group

Reinhardt Will Speak to COA

Dr. James Reinhardt, professor of sociology, will speak on "America's Stake in Europe and Asia" at a meeting of the Candidate Officer association Wednesday, 7:30 p. m., in Love Memorial Library auditorium.

Of student interest will be election of officers for the coming year to replace present officers.

Scobard and Blade, professional military honor society, will be in charge of the meeting.

All freshmen and sophomores are cordially invited to attend the meeting.

Suggest Revision Of Constitution

The University Rodeo Association Constitution was ratified by Ag Executive action Wednesday, but with the provision that a financial agreement between the rodeo club and Farmers Fair board be ratified and included.

The passing of the association's constitution with the special clause marks a climax to a drive by a small group of students interested in ranching and riding who have been wanting a recognized and functioning organization on this campus for years.

TNC Candidates, Follies' Script Tryout Times Told

Plans are now under way for the annual Coed Follies to be held Tuesday, Feb. 27, at the Nebraska theatre. Sponsored by the AWS board, this year's event is under the direction of Marilyn Moomey.

Climaxed by the presentation of the Typical Nebraska Coed, the show will offer skits, curtain acts, and a style show given by the finalists in the TNC contest.

The TNC tryouts will take place on two different Wednesday, Feb. 6, and Feb. 13. The first tryout, on Feb. 6, will be held in Union parlors X and Y at 7:15 p. m. Last year's TNC was Janet Carr.

At the first tryout, the candidates will wear date dresses and will be interviewed by the AWS Board and faculty judges. From these candidates, 20 girls will be chosen for final tryouts.

Style Show At the final tryout, the girls will wear school clothes and will be individually judged by the AWS Board and faculty judges. From this group, the Typical Nebraska Coed will be chosen. The finalists will also take part in the style show narrated by Janice Crilly, this year's "Dame Fashion".

Before the second World War, the candidates were chosen on their posture, poise, general appearance and dress. The TNC had to meet professional modeling qualifications. When the war started, the now present qualifications of scholarship, personality, appearance and interest in school activities were decided upon by the board.

Candidates Candidates for Typical Nebraska Coed and their respective houses are: Marilyn Ogden, Miriam Wiley, Alpha Phi; Molly Brittenham, Ruth Lemke, Howard Hall; Norma Engle, Barbara Brithduser, Sigma Kappa; Anne Jane Hall, Lorraine Westphal, Pi Beta Phi; Betty Stratton, Janice Fullerton, Tri Delta; Betty Weaver, Delores Lovegrove, Alpha Xi Delta; Artie Westcott, Jo Ann Knotts, Lambda Chi; Luella Cooney, Jean Holmes, Love Meagor; Joan Krueger, Barbara Young, Gamma Phi Beta; Phyllis M. Mrs. Genevieve Grimm will again serve as adviser.

Ag Armory Building to Start Next May; Cost: $250,000

The new armory on Ag campus may be started by the middle of May. This was disclosed today by the company contractor.

The standard four unit armory is estimated to cost $250,000. Federal authorities will lease the ground from the University on a lease arrangement of one dollar a year for a 99-year term. A department of the army will handle the building costs.

The building under consideration will measure 161 by 95 feet. The central part of the armory will be two stories high. The outer tier of rooms will be one story high. Building plans specify brick veneer to conform to the architectural finish of the other structures on Ag campus. The plan provides simultaneous meeting space for 40 units. With this construction, 20 units will be handled in one week.

Night Day Uses ROTC units will use the building during the day and reserve units at night. Space will be provided for a drill hall, rifle range, school rooms and mess facilities. A second building is proposed to store vehicles and the equipment.

Grave Need For Arms-Eisenhower

In a report to congress Thursday Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said that Europe needs American arms more than American troops. He stated that the need for equipment is "grave and crying" and that the United States must start production "as if preparing for meeting the emergency of war."

Eisenhower said that our European allies must cooperate fully to protect themselves against the communists and that we must make sure "that the United States is not merely an atlas carrying the rest of the world on its shoulders."

The U.N. voted 44 to 7 in naming red China an aggressor. Nine countries did not cast a ballot.

Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee said that there would be no more UN measures against China until all efforts to come to an agreement have failed.

In a vote taken to determine if there would be debate of the issue, only five members—the Soviet bloc—voted for it. Since the assembly rules require a one-third vote and 32 voted 'No' U. N. Troops Gain Miles United Nations troops in Western Korea gained three miles by hand-to-hand fighting, it was reported. However, a French-American combat team was trapped by superior forces in another section of the front.

Turkish troops, wielding bayonets, drove to within 4,000 yards of Anyang which is nine miles northeast of Seoul.

Legislature Passes Building Freeze The Nebraska legislature passed Governor Val Peterson's proposed freeze on institutional building for the remainder of the national emergency Thursday.

The bill under went revision ten times before it was passed and will become law when Peterson signs it.

Third Atomic Explosion Held The third atomic test explosion in the last six days was set off near Las Vegas Thursday. The blast was similar to the two set off Saturday and Sunday.

Proposed Sales Tax Debated Speaking on the proposed sales tax, Sen. Dwight Burney said that "it will take a crop failure or complete deflation" to ready the state for such a tax. Sen. Burney is the sponsor of the bill which is before the legislature.

Ag to Begin Directory Sale

Summer comes and you want to know the address of a friend you met at the University. If only you had a Student Directory!

Clayton Yeutter, director of sales and distribution for Ag Builders, emphasizes the Directory's possible future use since the student's home address as well as the school address is listed. On Ag campus sales of student and faculty directories will definitely end Wednesday, February 7, according to Yeutter.

Workers will be in the Builders booth in the Ag Union Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. Directories can be obtained on presentation of the purchase receipt or purchased for fifty cents.

Stockmen to Hear NU Chancellor

Chancellor R. G. Gustavson will be included on the list of speakers at the third annual pasture-forage-livestock conference in Omaha, March 8.

The conference will use talks and panel discussion to cover the subject of animal breeding.

Sponsors are the agriculture committee of the Omaha chamber of commerce, the Omaha livestock market interests, the Nebraska college of agriculture, Iowa State college and leading livestock breeders and feeders organizations of the area.

The Weather

Clear 24 to 28 with light winds, continued cold with high from 15 to 25 degrees.

WHODUNIT?—Shown above is a Nebraska student, unidentified (due to the furnishings piled on top) victim of a practical joker. Strangely enough, there was no foul play, as the student showed no signs of bumps, or bruises. The "victim" innocently had taken refuge from his studies, only to find himself pinned down by heavier subjects than books. Who was guilty? His roommate, who had nothing better to do.

College Days TC Committee Is Named

With the opening of the second semester, plans continue for College Days.

Teachers college has begun its plans for College Days to be held April 26 to 28.

The Dean's Advisory committee has appointed a committee of 17 students to work on plans for Teachers college participation in the three-day event.

Working with the committee will be faculty member Charles Kniedt. Kniedt has taught on the Iowa State college campus and is familiar with that college's annual Veishea Day celebration, which is similar to Nebraska's College Days.

The committee, which will meet Monday, Feb. 5 in room 213 of the Teachers college, expects to select a chairman and immediately begin plans for open house and exhibits.

NU Debaters' Team Travels Outside Today

Twenty University debaters will travel to Crete Friday and Saturday to compete with 11 other colleges in a tournament at Doane college.

Four teams will go to the meet Friday to take part in debate, discussion and extemporaneous speaking. They are: Paul Laese and Bob Hasebrook; Dale Johnson and Wayne Johnson; Charles Klasek and Don Cunningham; and Bob Shively and Jim Wamsley.

The six teams that will participate Saturday are Joan Krueger and Doris Carlson, Marian Uhe and Betty Lester, Joan Caha and Betty Brinkman, Joan Holden and Janet Steffen, and Charles Rossow and Gene Wohlner.

Dale Johnson and Paul Laese will enter the extemporaneous speaking division.

NU Prof Comments On Puerto Rico

Dr. Ralph Ireland, professor in the University pedodontics department, has just returned as a speaker from a ten day dental convention in Puerto Rico.

The convention was for the Colegio de Cirujanos Dentistas de Puerto Rico (College of Dental Surgeons of Puerto Rico).

As a speaker for the convention, Dr. Ireland spoke on the subjects of Operative Technique for the Child Patient and a Dental Health Program for Children. Dr. Ireland stated that since there is not, as yet, any recognized dental school in Puerto Rico, most of the Puerto Rican dentists are graduates of American schools.

Studies Conditions While in Puerto Rico, Dr. Ireland got a chance to see the island, its people and its living conditions.

He stated that right now, 80 per cent of the Puerto Rican families are living on a yearly income of $1,000 or less.

"However," he added, "Puerto Rico is trying to industrialize the country and to raise the living conditions. It is one of the most progressive islands in that region and their industrialization program is advancing steadily."

'Bunny' Weather Dr. Ireland arrived in Puerto Rico on Sunday, Jan. 21, before the sugar harvest season and during the rainy season. He stated that even though Puerto Rico was having a rainy season, it rained only in early morning hours, so it did not affect the temperature at all.

"In fact," added Dr. Ireland, "the weather was just wonderful. The temperature was 80 degrees most of the time."

Bad Flying Weather Dr. Ireland left San Juan, Puerto Rico, by plane on Monday, Jan. 29. However, due to the bad weather conditions in the New York area, the plane couldn't land at the New York air field.

In order to make any landing at all, the plane had to turn back and land in Bermuda. Dr. Ireland stated that because of the bad weather in New York, he got to spend almost two days in Bermuda, courtesy of the air lines.

Mayor Victor Anderson of Lincoln accompanied Dr. Ireland during the trip to Puerto Rico.
