Facts Amplified . . .

(Editor's Note: This is an editorial reprinted from the March issue of "Hesperus," an engineering college magazine, by General Manager George Cobel.)

In the past few months, we have been reading in the Daily Nebraskan many excuses as to why the Nebraska Builders have been unable to release the Student Directory on time. We have attempted to amplify the facts by several interviews with members of the Builders and members of the committee set up by the Student Council and to find out what might be done.

We of the Blue Print would like to put before the College of Engineering summary of the facts and some suggested remedies.

The Builders' problems seem to fall into three categories. They are: changes in the editorial staff; poor sources of information necessary for compiling directory listings; and lack of co-operation of the faculty and administration.

In our experience in presenting to the engineers of this school and state a publication for the last fifty years, we have found that it is a poor policy to make unnecessary changes in our editorial staff, unless there is full co-operation between the new and retiring staffs and the new staff has had an opportunity to procure some editorial and managing experience. We understand that the Builders have again changed editors of the Student Directory and that the change was affected by an election. We hope that this election was not another popularity contest but that all candidates considered had the necessary qualifications for this most important job. We further hope that the new editor will have the co-operation of all who may be of help to her.

The question of information sources presents a problem of another sort. We see three remedies which offer possible solutions. All three will first require the solution of the third problem, administration co-operation. Possible sources of information are: an additional tab on the registration cards we fill out each semester; the use of lists of students in each department possessed by the heads of the departments; and employment of the IBM cards or religious or alumni cards already in existence. Obviously the first source would seem best, and every effort to initiate its use should be made.

If we are to believe what information we are able to obtain from the Builders, the administration should regret the attitude it has taken towards the worthwhile activity undertaken by students. On the other hand, if the attitude shown by the administration toward the Student Council committee, in regard to the Student Directory, is to prevail, this attitude has already been reversed. Could it be that the official attitude is one thing and that the actual attitude is another? Which-ever is the case, all co-operation given must be earned, and so far as we can ascertain no effort has been made as yet by the new staff of the Student Directory.

We of the Blue Print are primarily interested in the well being of the engineering student. Unless we feel that some of the problems of the Student Directory staff are being solved and not, as in the past, used as excuses, we shall include in our October, 1951, issue a directory of all engineering students.

We are not contemplating this to spite any group or to take revenue from the Builders. The Blue Print has included such a listing before, and we feel that it is our right to do so again. Since we feel that the students of the College of Engineering and Architecture need this service in October, not in December or January, we shall undertake to give engineering students a directory one way or another.

Complaints Justified . . .

To the Editor:

Deploable! Deploable indeed! Tuesday's "Rag" contains two complaints. Both are very important and should be given full consideration by "the authorities concerned."

The location of the lab theater's performances is really as bad as it could be. The actors do and did a marvelous job—particularly if we remember "Antigone" and "Caesar and Cleopatra"—but most of the little plays were jewels too.

But I think the small plays need more publicity and the big plays definitely not only a better but also a larger room—or more performances. If the solving of both needs could be combined—the better.

The "Rag" did a good job in pointing out the deplorable location (but it would be worth while to say more about the play and the playing than just "Miss X did a good job, Mr. Y was very fine and Mrs. Z is not too bad at all.")

The other thing concerns the swimming pools (or mud baths if you like) on the campus. You chase around the campus blocks to find your parking place in one of the lots. Your car is in the mud up to the axles and you are hardly able to open the doors because they stick in the mud. When you get out you can wade and take a healthy foot-and-leg mud bath. Of course, this is not free.

You have the benefit of this "treat" to your car and yourself for 25 cents—the cost of your University parking sticker "designed to keep up parking facilities on the campus." Facilities! It is darn hard to get your car into the lot and to get it out takes the driver and three pushers, or swimmers or waders, as you like it. But I don't like it.

Novel Color Combinations Come with Ultra-Modern Age

BY CONNIE GORDON

Gone are the days when you could walk into a store and ask for a "red dress" or a "blue shirt to match the color of my eyes."

No, with this ultra-modern age has come new color combinations.

BABW Board Heads Elected

Gertrude Carey, Marjorie Erickson, Carolyn Alma and Muriel Softley were elected to BABW offices Monday night, April 9, at the Barb heard meeting.

Miss Carey, a sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences and a member of YWCA, was elected secretary.

Treasurer is Miss Erickson, a freshman in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Miss Alma, social chairman, is a junior in Teachers college and a commercial arts major.

Historian, Miss Softley, is a sophomore in Teachers college, a member of YWCA and formerly of the freshmen pepsters.

Jo Hoff, president, and Eldean Breeze, vice president, were elected in the all-campus elections March 19.

35 Engine Students To Attend Confab

Thirty-five students of the mechanical engineering department will attend the Annual American Society of Mechanical Engineer's convention in Kansas City, April 16 and 17.

Field trips have been scheduled for the meeting.

Six schools will be represented at the meeting. They are: the University of Arkansas, Kansas State, University of Kansas, University of Oklahoma, Oklahoma A & M, and the University of Nebraska.

Sponsors of the A.S.M.E. Convention are the Parents Society and the Senior Society.

Geier to Speak At Tri-K Club Meet Tonight

Leo Geier, executive secretary of the Salt-Wahoo Watershed association, will speak before the Tri-K club Thursday night, April 12.

His talk, which will be at 7:30 in the Horse barn, will be devoted to a discussion of the watershed program in Nebraska.

Primarily designed for graduating seniors who will be going back to the farm, the lecture will consist of a talk on organizing watershed programs. The Salt-Wahoo Watershed Association was started after the flood which occurred last May.

Geier stated that after his talk there will be time for discussion and the answering of questions that may arise.

'Expert' Describes Symptoms Of Students' Spring Fever

By Mickey McKie

What is this thing called "spring fever"? Is it a disease that occurs in the spring of the year and is accompanied by a burning fever?

Well, yes and no, we answer. It usually occurs in the spring, but we've also seen it in the fall. As for the "fever" part, it seems to be a combination of a burning sensation along with a tremendous desire to do as little as possible.

Now we're certain you are all familiar with this condition, but just in case you haven't already

Spring Edition Of 'Schooner' Just Released

What every college student should read!

What is it? It's the spring edition of the Prairie Schooner just released from the publishers.

Within the green and tan covers of the quarterly are stories, sonnets, poems, quatrains and satires. The authors are known to students as faculty members and fellow students.

"Larry," a story by Harry F. Cunningham, former head of the department of architecture, and "Losing Liberty By Default," an article by Dr. Lane W. Lancaster of the political science department, are included in this issue.

"The Wife," a satire by Patricia Kaveny, is the second undergraduate manuscript accepted by the Schooner since Willa Cather. "The Image," by Dick Miller, is another student contribution.

Among the other stories and poems included are: "Another Day," a story by Desmond Clarke; "Sustenance," a poem by Albert W. Dowling; "Panther in the Dark," a sonnet by Helen Rowe Henze, and "A Sock in the Buskin," a story by Michael Rosene.

had an attack this year, we would like to warn you of some of its symptoms.

Glassy Stare The first noticeable sign is a glassy stare occurring about the middle of some class period. This is usually detected by the instructor who immediately calls upon you to recite. From this moment on things go from bad to worse.

A whiff of fresh air is likely to send you into spasms of playfulness. You may find yourself leaping the hedges by Andrew's hall, or noticing how nice people are, or even forgetting to gripe about anything, except the weather, which, because it is so nice, makes you want to cut class.

Heart Skips Beat Then, too, your heart may skip a beat or two at the sight of your best gal. Of course the very thought of studies turns your stomach and even at night, during study hours, you cannot resist the temptation to sneak out for a cup of coffee. Afternoon classes suffer terribly when picnic weather starts and the gang persuades you to go along.

Now that is a short concise description of this "dreaded" disease. If you notice any of these signs appearing on your normally composed anatomy, try everything and anything in your power to overcome it. They tell me the administration is determined to complete this semester, come what may, and should we have a severe epidemic of "spring fever" this goal may prove unattainable.

1800 Mile Tour Feature of Ag Summer Class

A special summer school class, Agronomy 179, will feature an 1800 mile tour of Nebraska. Enrolled students will get a chance to study geologic formations, soil types, vegetation types, and different kinds of soil conservation practices.

Also, the tour will take in water conservation projects that are found in the Republican and Platte River valleys.

Leading the trip will be Dr. Mark Weldon, soils specialist at the College of Agriculture, and A. R. Marquardt, State Soil Conservation official.

The touring students will leave Lincoln June 6, and will come back June 14. There will be no limit to the number of students going, as all who register for the class will be accepted.

Anyone wishing to enroll in this class may do so by registering for the summer session. Aside from the registration fees, the student will have to pay for his room, board and transportation. Estimated cost of the trip is about $5 dollars.

Anyone desiring information about this tour should see Dave Sanders at the Crops Laboratory, College of Agriculture.
