Congress Hears Doug State Views

Gen. Douglas MacArthur in an address to congress Thursday said that his views on the foreign policies in Korea are "shared by practically every military leader" including the U. S. joint chiefs of staff.

This statement by the general, relieved of his far eastern command, brought a storm of applause with the republican members standing and cheering.

He stated the four points of his strategic policy for the Orient. They are:

1. An economic blockade of China.
2. A naval blockade of the China coast.
3. Removal of the restrictions on aerial reconnaissance over China.
4. A removal of the restrictions on the ground forces of nationalist China with "logistical support from us."

This last stipulation means the use of nationalist troops with the United States furnishing the supplies.

Of his policy, MacArthur said: "For this I have been severely criticized in many quarters, principally abroad." But he said that he had never heard any criticism from "responsible military authorities, including our own chiefs of staff."

MacArthur said that he had called for reinforcements in Korea but was informed that none were available. He said that he had warned that his position in Korea "forbade victory" unless he could bomb Manchuria bases, blockade the Chinese coast and use nationalist forces on Formosa.

The general told congress that "we can hold Korea by constant maneuver... but we could hope at best for only an indecisive campaign."

"Those who would appease red China 'are blind,'" said MacArthur.

MacArthur concluded his speech dramatically saying, "I now close my military career and just fade away, an old soldier who has tried to do his duty as God gave him the light to see that duty."

The white house said that President Truman would not turn on the TV set and no one from the white house would listen to the speech.

In effect MacArthur's address was a direct challenge to the Truman administration's position that Europe must be the place this country will direct its fight against communism.

SENATOR VANDENBERG DIES WEDNESDAY

Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, policy leader for both parties and one of the senate's most respected men, died Wednesday night in Grand Rapids, Mich.

The Republican statesman had been ill for several years and had undergone several operations in the last two years.

His death means the loss of one of the United Nation's founders and one of congress' foremost advocates of the bi-partisan unified foreign policy in the cold war with Russia.

It also undoubtedly means a gain for the democrats in the senate. Michigan's democratic governor, G. Mennen Williams, will name his successor. The expected democratic appointment will bring the democratic appointment to 50-48.

Cotton, Denim Dance . . .

LEE BARRON

Bondarin Chosen to Emcee 1951 Cotton, Denim Dance

Av Bondarin will emcee the Cotton and Denim dance Saturday, April 28.

Bondarin is a former University student and now a radio announcer for KFOR. He emceed the Honorary Commandant presentation at the Military Ball this year.

Lee Barron and his orchestra will provide the music for the dance which will climax the week end activities.

Like most bandleaders, Barron has built his band around veterans who have returned to military service in the armed forces.

Special Music Rack

At the moment he has a special type of music rack. The front of the rack is made of a translucent screen. A colored light behind the screen conveys the color without the glare. Instead of using the dated "name on the front idea" he uses a special built electric sign that conveys, with colors, the identity of the band.

Those attending the dance will find themselves leading the band, singing with it, imitating, trying to name tunes the band cannot play, or trying to identify theme songs and singing commercials.

Goddess Finalists

The five finalists for the Goddess of Agriculture will be announced in The Daily Nebraskan Monday. The one elected as Goddess will be revealed at the dance.

The other four will serve in her court.

The Whisker King will be presented at the dance by a board of faculty judges. The beard will be judged on the basis of the texture, length and uniqueness.

Entertainment

The entertainment at the dance will also include a satirical review of this year's Cornhusker royalty. According to Shirley Coy, chairman of the skit, the review will show the queens "as only their sisters know them."

Monday evening skits will be given at all organized houses to

Dentists Ready College Days Tour Program

The College of Dentistry has announced its College Days plans. Ray M. Knapp is chairman of a three member faculty committee which is planning a schedule of tours and displays. Tours will be conducted Thursday, April 26, at 2:30 and 4 p.m. Friday's tours will begin at 9:30 and 11 a.m., and another will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday.

College Days visitors will be taken to the fourth floor of Andrews hall for the beginning of the tours. There they will be met by a guide, who will explain the display set up in the library of the College of Dentistry.

The library display is designed to explain how to become a dentist. There will be a colorful poster on exhibit to show the steps in the process. Aptitude tests which are given to dental students will also be explained.

The Thursday afternoon tours will visit laboratory sessions after leaving the library. There they will see students studying and applying techniques of dental medicine.

All tour groups will see the dental clinic in operation and also the clinic receiving desk and offices. Work in the College of Dentistry will not be interrupted during College Days, so visitors will see the actual operation of the clinic, in addition to displays and exhibits.

Water Exhibition Needs Skiers

A water ski show will be held as a part of College Days, Friday, April 26. The exhibition will take place at Oak Lake between 4 and 6 p.m.

Several students have already planned to take part in the exhibition at Oak Lake.

Faculty members and City campus students are also invited to join in wearing the strictly informal attire.

E Ribbon Sale Begins Monday

E ribbons will go on sale Monday, April 23, through Wednesday, April 25.

The ribbons will be sold by nearly every person within the Engineering college. Specific salesmen for each of the departments have not been appointed.

However, since competition for the E Week plaque exists between the six different Engineering departments, and the number of ribbons sold counts

'No Student Unforgettable'

By Gerry Fellman

This is another in a series of articles entitled "My Most Unforgettable Student." Each article contains a true story told to the reporter by an instructor on the campus.

Roger V. Siu, ie, professor of political science, said that he has no most unforgettable student.

He added that it is the mass of students who come to class every day and who do what they are supposed to do that are the ones he remembers longest.

Shumate believes that the majority of the students are decent and well behaved. But he also recalls several extraordinary cases.

Liked Shoes Off

There was one student who liked to take his shoes off during class periods. When Shumate asked him what the idea was, the barefooted lad said that he could think better with his shoes off.

Another unforgettable was a Moslem student who was a missionary to the United States. His aim in life was to spread the Mohammedan religion.

He attended the University of Nebraska so that he would be able to learn more about our customs and therefore become a more effective missionary. This was one case where the United States was on the receiving rather than the giving end of missionary work.

Shumate will also never forget two of the best students who sat together in classes and later died together during World War II. That is, they were both killed during the same engagement overseas.

Took Part in War

Two other memorable students also took part in World War II.

One was in the famous Doolittle raid over Tokyo. The other became a famous war correspondent.

Now, to switch to an entirely different kind of student, there is the case of the attempted bribe. One student, who was at the time failing in a course, offered Shumate a bribe to pass him. Later, the instructor discovered that the same student refused to fight in World War II and was sentenced to prison as a conscientious objector.

Student Found Cheating

Another student who is hard to forget is one who was caught cheating on an exam. The odd part about it was that he showed no shame for the act. On the contrary, he said that certainly he was cheating, but what of it? The student declared that he was attending a Sunday school class and that there was no reason why he should not cheat. Needless to say, the instructor's philosophy of life differed quite radically from that of the student.

Need for Draft, College Test Plans Outlined by Gustavson

It is the duty of every citizen to make his maximum contribution to the welfare of the United States, Chancellor R. C. Gustavson said Thursday.

Addressing a convocation of University men in the Coliseum, Chancellor Gustavson said that in "ordinary times," citizens are able to make their contributions in a field of their own choice. "These are not ordinary times," he said. "We are now in a period of national emergency darkened by the clouds of war. Under this circumstance, citizens, and more particularly those of us who are students in the University, do not have the opportunity to always select the contribution to the national welfare which we wish to make.

Contributions To Government
"This is as it should be, and is the essence of democracy. As a consequence, your government is setting up methods whereby some of you will be able to make immediate contribution in the work of your choice."

The Chancellor urged University men to apply at their local draft boards for the right to take qualification tests. This, he said, is simply assisting our government, through local draft boards, to help determine how our manpower problems should be solved in the current emergency.

The Chancellor pointed out that during the World War II, allocation of manpower resulted in some post-war dislocations, including shortages of such essential persons as doctors, dentists, physicists, and chemists—a shortage from which we are just now recovering.

Victory Through Know-How

"We cannot hope to match the enemy man for man on the field of battle. Our victory will come through our technological know-how," Chancellor Gustavson said. "This is why it is essential that young men should be trained now for the big job ahead."

"Please remember," the Chancellor said, "that it is your government's wishes, and your draft board's wishes, to make the wisest use of our manpower not only for today, but for tomorrow and the next day. It is my hope that you will be good citizens and co-operate fully in this endeavor," he said.

Chancellor Gustavson outlined the following steps involved in taking the Selective Service test for University men.

Test Dates

The test will be given May 26, June 18, and June 30.

To be eligible to take the Selective Service College Qualification Test, an applicant—

- (1) Must be a registrant under the Selective Service Act who intends to request occupational deferment as a student;
- (2) Must be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time college course leading to a degree (the applicant need not be in a four-year college but his entire course of study must be satisfactory for transfer of credits to a degree-granting institution);
- (3) Must not previously have taken the test.

How To Apply

All eligible registrants who wish to take the test should apply immediately by this method.

1. Obtain a post card application (SSS Form No. 106 and attached SSS Form No. 107) from any Selective Service local board.
2. Fill out the application in exact accordance with instructions in this bulletin and mail it immediately. You will not get the card is self-addressed but a one-cent stamp is necessary. On the application you must designate an examination center and its number, chosen from the list of centers and center numbers appearing in Part 2 of this Bulletin. Educational Testing Service will assign you to the center requested or to the closest possible alternative center.

Ticket of Admission

3. Do not mail more than one application. A ticket of admission will not be issued to you if you file more than one application. Tickets of admission will be issued as rapidly as possible. The applicant may, however, be assigned to any of the three testing dates. He should not become concerned, therefore, if there is some delay in his receiving his ticket of admission.

4. You must take the Selective Service College Qualification Test on the date and at the place specified on the ticket of admission that will be mailed to you.

5. When you report for the test you must bring with you an official document showing your selective service number and the organization exists in theory and practice.

H. P. Davis, animal husbandry instructor, is ISA faculty advisor.

The Interim Council regularly meets Mondays at 5 p.m. in the Union. The Monday night meeting will include all interested independent students.

ISA Needs Membership

Turner emphasized that an organization cannot exist without membership and that ISA can't offer anything adequate to the independent students until the organization exists in theory and practice.

Union Board Announces 12 New Student Members

The 12 student representatives to the Union Board of managers for the 1951-52 term were elected Thursday by this year's board.

The new members are:
Seniors: Sara Devoe, Marilyn Moomey, Betty Roessler, and Charles Widmaier.

Juniors: Jack Greer, Robert LaSelle, Al Ross and Nancy Weir.

Ag Union seniors: Frank Sibert and Dick Walsh.

Juniors: Jean Holmes and Jeanne Vierk.

Basis of Selection

The representatives were elected on the basis of filings and interviews.

Six faculty members and three alumni act in advisory capacity on the board.

To be members of this board, students must have served two or more years on Union activities, both as a worker and as committee chairman.

Each student member is sponsor of a Union activity committee. These committees are recreation, special activities, public relations, general entertainment, convocations and hospitality, dance, music, house and office, overall budget and evaluation and orientation.

Each committee in turn is directed by a chairman chosen by the activities committee on the basis of their service and leadership qualities.

The Union managers board is the sponsor of special convocations on the campus. Examples of these convos are the recent Duke Ellington concert and the Emily Kimbrough speech.

The administrative work of the board is handled by the vice president in charge of the board and the chairman of the activities committee.

T. J. Thompson to Discuss ISA Future At Independent Interim Council Meeting

T. J. Thompson, dean of University student affairs, will speak to a meeting of Independent students and the Independent Interim Council Monday evening, 7:45 p.m., in Room 315, Union.

Thompson will address independent students on "The Necessity for I.S.A." I.S.A. is a national independent students organization represented on the University campus.

J. Bristol Turner, president of the interim council, has asked all independent students to attend the meeting to hear Dr. Thompson's address.

Ag Students to Vote Monday On Constitutional Change

Ag college students go to the polls Monday to consider the proposed amendment to the Ag Exec board constitution. The change would authorize Ag organizations representation to the board.

The amendment also guarantees proportional representation of men to women.

Ag Exec board decided to place the amendment before the student body at their last regular meeting. Their action followed several weeks of debate that saw many portions of the amendment altered and others left in the best form possible.

Rob Rau, president of Student Council, and delegate to Ag Exec board, feels "the whole plan is fine" and that minor changes can be made later.

Voc-Ag Comments

The Voc-Ag Association committee which drew up the bill admits that a few weak points still remain in the proposed amendment; however, it feels such points can be altered to suit the constantly changing conditions.

It was reported the last Ag Exec board constitutional revision was seven years ago. A majority of the Ag Exec board members agree with the provisions of the constitutional change.

The amendment provides the following:
Representation from any authorized group on Ag campus. This includes religious, honorary, departmental and service groups. One member will be allowed for the first ten members average at Men's dorms, Adelphi, Cox hall, Rosa Bouton hall, Terrace hall, Howard hall, Rundel hall, Love hall, Loomis hall, Ag men and Independent students who are off-campus residents.

ISA Will Succeed
Turner said that the interim council is functioning "on the assumption that ISA is going to succeed."

"Why we have such a small turn-out for meetings" was discussed by the council members at their meeting last week.

Suggestions advanced by members were: 1) competition of other campus organizations; 2) lack of interest in ISA because it has little to offer; 3) fear of giving financial support to such a large organization.

ISA Needs Membership
Turner emphasized that an organization cannot exist without membership and that ISA can't offer anything adequate to the independent students until the organization exists in theory and practice.

Class of '51 to Order Caps, Gowns

Students graduating in the class of 1951 should order their caps and gowns as soon as possible said Aaron Schmidt, senior class president.

Caps and gowns may be ordered for $3 at Peders or the Nebraska Book store. A $1 deposit must accompany the order and will be returned when the cap and gown is returned. Orders must be placed three weeks in advance.

Schmidt said that information regarding official class announcements will be released the first of next week.

Farmers' Fair Barbeque Tickets to Go Off Sale Today; Large Crowd Expected

Tickets for the annual Farmers' Fair Barbeque go off sale Friday, April 20 according to co-chairmen, Alice Flowerday and Clayton Yeutter.

As a definite quantity of beef must be ordered, this deadline is definite and will not be extended.

A part of the College Days festivities, the barbeque will be held at the College activities building between 5 and 7 p.m. on Friday, April 27. A square dance will follow the barbeque.

The price of the tickets is $75. This is made possible only by the large numbers that are hoped will be present.

Formerly an all Ag college affair the Barbeque this year will be held in conjunction with College Days. All city campus students are invited and may purchase tickets at the Union anytime this week or from salesmen in all of the organized houses.

Ticket sales are under the direction of a sub-committee composed of Jo Meyer and Wayne White. Ag students could get their tickets from a booth in the College activities building or from Farmer's Fair board members anytime prior to today.

This year's barbeque will be the largest in Farmer's Fair history, according to Clayton Yeutter. He said that well over 1,000 tickets are being distributed.

Last year, 700 plates were served while many were turned away the week after ticket sales were halted. Consequently, he said, it is advised that anyone wishing to attend and take a part in this portion of College Days should purchase their tickets immediately.

In former years, pits were dug west of the College activities building and fires were burning at the close of the Cotton and Denim dance. The barbeque will be performed under the direction of W. J. Loeffel, chairman of the animal husbandry department.

The schools represented at the assembly meeting are Ohio State university, University of Iowa, Indiana university, Pennsylvania State college, Utah State Agricultural college, City College of New York, University of San Francisco and Denver university. National Headquarters of Pershing Rifles is located at the University of Nebraska.

BARBEQUE MEAT—From the expressed satisfaction shown on the faces of these students who attended last year's Farmers' Fair barbeque, what the ticket salesmen are saying about the College Days barbeque this year is probably true. Tickets go off sale today to facilitate ordering the proper amount of meat for the feed
