

Swimming, Water Safety on Monday

Are you one of those persons who likes to bathe in the sun, enjoy the girls in bathing suits and good summer jobs?

If so, then enroll in the University swimming and water safety instructors course which begins next Monday.

Each spring Swimming Coach Hollie Lepley receives requests for life savers and swimming instructors from all over the state. He fills these positions with persons who have completed the life saving and swimming and water safety courses.

The first two weeks which consisted of a senior life saving course will end this Saturday.

George Hill, varsity distance swimmer, has been instructing the life saving class.

Emphasis has been placed on the various methods of rescue, breaking holds in the water, carries and artificial respiration.

Men who have been outstanding in the class are William Jones, Thomas Kidd, Dean Jamison, Patrick Healey, Paul Hughes, Philip Egan, Herbert Helzer, Donald Stake, Eugene Cotter and Bernard Sprague.

Course Successful

Hill believes the course has been completely successful and much has been accomplished in the basic fundamentals of life saving.

Lepley will instruct the swimming and water safety instructors course. It will last a minimum of two weeks, and the time will be extended if necessary in order to get a thorough background in the course.

Lepley also announced that anyone wishing to learn how to swim should enroll in the class. The only requirement for the swimming and water safety program is a senior life saving certificate.

It will cover methods in teaching swimming and general water safety instruction.

Persons interested in renewing their swimming and water safety instructors card are urged to enroll.

The valueableness of the course cannot be over-emphasized. It has been estimated that only 7 per cent of the United States population are capable swimmers.

And drownings are one of the main factors in deaths through accidents. This results from the simple reason that a great many Americans have not learned how to swim and to save lives.

Service Men Men going into the service will also find the course extremely beneficial. One of the biggest complaints of the army is that such a minority of its men know how to swim.

The service training program includes some swimming instruction, but it does not have the time to devote to real needs.

There will also be a chance for properly qualified persons to get positions in the army as swimming and water safety instructors. So this may be your chance to escape that dreaded infantry.

At the end of the course a card will be issued to each person who successfully completes it indicating that he is qualified to teach swimming and water safety.

Husker Tennis Coach Has Varied Abilities, Interests

"Nebraska weather!" groaned Ed Higginbotham, Husker tennis coach.

The unstable Nebraska weather with its flash rains and snows is a hold-up spot with many of the spring sports, including tennis. Coach Higginbotham is tramurals at present. Outdoor courts and diamonds too frequently show the weather and discourage the competitive meets.

"With 256 persons participating in tennis intramurals," said Higginbotham, "you can see how eight groups of 32 each would be a time finding space and time in rainy weather to play the full amount of sets."

Proud of His Boys Coach Higginbotham is pretty proud of his varsity tennis men. The boys are really doing their best and coming right along.

The nine varsity members use a challenge system to gain rank on the team. Bob Radin holds number one spot on the tennis team now, but the honor varies according to who beats who.

Jamie Curran is number two man. However, if Curran challenges Radin to a match and Curran wins, he will become number one man until someone challenges him and wins. Radin would take over the number two position.

This arrangement works for all nine positions on the team. Each member may challenge the one above him.

Other Members The other seven team members are Walt Weaver, Jeff Leiton, Andy Buntin, Frank Redmond, Bob Crook, John Schroeder and Dan Thompson. The coach went on to explain that one reason tennis was handicapped at Nebraska was that many of the boys do not receive competitive training in high school.

Few Nebraska high schools support a varsity tennis team constantly.

Next year's tennis team will have at least three returning lettermen along with freshmen eligible for the varsity team. Higginbotham hopes to use the experienced men as a nucleus and add others in building up team strength. Also he hopes to keep on improving the caliber of competition that the boys face.

The team will face the Colorado Buffs, April 27. Higginbotham is looking forward to the Denver university match to be played in Lincoln on May 9. He said Denver has one of the best tennis teams in the country.

Coach Higginbotham graduated from Doane college in Crete. He had taken pharmacy and then decided to go to the University of Illinois for an undergraduate physical education course.

He took his master in P. E. at the University of Wisconsin. Then he taught at Beatrice and Fremont before coming to the University.

In college, Higginbotham excelled in football, basketball and track. In his experience as coach, he has taught these three sports plus swimming, gymnastics, tennis and baseball.

He is a very enthusiastic sportsman and considers it an opportunity to coach and meet so many boys as he does. Phil Sprague and Al Dumovan are two of Higginbotham's boys. He coached them in gymnastics at Beatrice and coached them again when they came to the University.

He says that it really feels grand to get to know the boys so well and be able to help them and share their enthusiasm and spirit, also watch their success.

Coach Higginbotham had a chance to coach Robert Taylor in track. He said that Taylor could really run the hurdles and would have been a very able track man.

Instead Taylor was interested in music and finally became affiliated with Hollywood. In one of his movies during a track scene, however, Taylor did his own running.

Spring Intramural Award Night Thursday; Attendance Urged

The Spring intramural trophy night is scheduled for tonight in the Physical Education building.

The trophy awarding night, which is to be a semi-annual affair, is the second staged this year.

Eleven trophies and over 20 I-M official medals will be awarded Thursday night to the champions crowned in the intramural activities during the second semester.

A change has been scheduled for this evening, however. Last fall at the first trophy night all winners were present at the same time and a bottle-neck in the picture-taking held up the proceedings.

Tonight, the champions are scheduled to appear in staggered times thus speeding up the process of awarding and taking pictures.

The first champs will be scheduled to appear at 7:15 p.m. and the final awards will be made at 8:15 p.m.

Leading off the proceedings will be the badminton presentations to Phi Delta Theta as a team and to Harry Cech as an individual. The Phi Deltas captured the bird-game trophy by one point over second place Alpha Tau Omega. Cech defeated Jimmie Curran for the All-University title.

Following the badminton presentations and also scheduled for 7:15 p.m. will be the basketball awarding.

Four teams will carry off trophies designating them champions of their divisions. The Geologists will get the Independent trophy, the Newman Club will be awarded the Interdenominational trophy, Phi Delta Theta will be given the Fraternity "A" trophy and Sigma Phi Epsilon will carry off the Fraternity "B" trophy.

The Geologists, All-University title-holders by virtue of their wins over the Newman Club and the Phi Deltas, will be awarded certificates stating their superiority.

Bowling Champs Bowling champions, Sigma Nu and Delta Theta Pi, are scheduled to appear at 7:45 p.m. The Nu's will receive the Fraternity trophy while Independent medals will go to the Delta Thetas.

Beta Theta Pi and Alpha Tau Omega, deep and shallow water basketball champions, will also meet at 7:45 p.m. for their trophies and photos. The Betas downed Sigma Nu and the Taus disposed of the Beta Sigs to win.

Beta Theta Pi will stay on to accept the Hanball trophy at 7:45 p.m. Howard Hansen will be presented with the individual medal designating his title.

Wrestlers At 8:15 p.m. the eight individual wrestling champs and the team winner will get their rewards. Delta Tau Delta will carry off the team trophy. The individual champs and their classes are: Milton Norsworthy—123; Bill Hofgard—136; Scott Hedden—138; Phil Sprague—147; Rich Fiala—157; Ben Leonard—167; Don Becker—177; Dick Goeglein—Heavyweight.

The indoor track awards will be presented at 8:15 p.m. also. The Field House, Presby House and Sigma Chi will be present then to carry off their trophies designating titles in the Independent, Denominational and Fraternity divisions, respectively.

High Bail Set For 18th Player In BB Scandal

Jackie Goldsmith, former Long Island university set-shot artist, was branded as the "biggest fixer of all" in New York's ever-increasing basketball bribery scandal.

Goldsmith, the 18th college player drawn into the net since Jan. 1, is held on $50,000 bail—the highest yet set in the scandal.

Assistant District Attorney Vincent O'Connor termed him "the sum of all that is wrong in the basketball picture in recent years."

O'Connor said Goldsmith "was responsible for the corruption of whole groups of players, more than anyone else in the city."

$3,500 In Bribes Goldsmith was arrested Saturday in the climax of a police hunt which started Feb. 15. He was charged with offering four ex-Long Island university players—Natie Lipman, Eddie Gard, Dick Feurtado and Lou Lipman—$3,500 in bribes to throw the Long Island-Duquesne game at Madison Square Garden Jan. 1, 1950.

However, O'Connor—in demanding the high bail Sunday in week end court, said Goldsmith's activities in fixing games carried on for six years. He said the 31-year-old should not be allowed to go free because "people associated with him fear what he can give us."

Corruption Exemplified "In Goldsmith we see all phases of corruption exemplified," O'Connor asserted.

The assistant District Attorney told Magistrate John Pendergast, "he has known over a period of weeks we have been looking for him. He has been hiding in the city and elsewhere. He was intercepted Saturday night while dashing into a waiting car whose motor was running with a relative behind the wheel.

team victor. Official I-M medal will be given to the individual champion. The champions' names will also be emblazoned on the lobby plaques in the Coliseum. Certificates of merit will also be awarded to the best golfers.

The tourney will consist of 36 holes of medal play. In the first round, all scores will be recorded. The low six scores of each organization will determine the placement of the organization at the end of the first round. However, placing below the first six does not eliminate you from the tourney. In the second round all men who are still interested in playing are urged to do so.

May Play Again The men who play the first Saturday, may play on the second Saturday or if they are not available, other men of the organization can take their places. The low six scores of each organization will again be chosen from all those recorded by the organization.

The first and second round low totals will be added together to determine the final placing of the organizations in the golf tourney.

Mr. Kubitschek and Mr. Teller will personally supervise the tourney at the Pioneer course. All golfers should read the notice as you enter the Pro-shop at the course. No more than two men from the same team can play together in any tourney.

Entry fee will be $1.25 per man for each round, to be paid at the course.

AROUND THE LOOP...

Jay Relays Become Midwest Olympics

The Kansas Relays have grown from a dream in 1920 to a mid-west olympic track meet in 1951.

On April 23, 1923, the carnival in Lawrence was inaugurated. It was then that the dream of an all-union meet was realized and a huge track and field meet was planned for Mt. Oread. Still in its early years, the Relays attained national prominence by being host to 95 different colleges from coast to coast.

Rain kept the first relay running in drizzling rain. By 1925 the meet was insured for $4,000 and it became one of the most eventful meets in relay history with three world's records being broken.

In 1928, Dr. "Phog" Allen introduced the decathlon and marathon from Topeka to Lawrence. The 1935 meet saw eight records exceeded. The same happened in 1938 with stormy clouds pouring their wrath upon the participants.

Silver Jubilee was celebrated in 1950. This was the year when Bill Carroll of Oklahoma smashed an 11 year old record by pole vaulting 14 feet 5 inches.

Colorado university played host to the annual Colorado open sabre championships. The winner of the meet will compete for the national Amateur Fencers League of America sabre championships in June.

The AFLA governs all fencing in the United States. They are divided into 35 sections over the country with Colorado as one division. Three different weapons are used in fencing, foil, epee and sabre. Three separate divisional tournaments decide the champion with each of the types of weapons.

The "daily dozen" were announced by the Iowa State football coaches. By this, we mean the outstanding players of the week for spring football practices.

Linemen of the week are Ron Shop, Gean Kowalski, Bob Matheson, Jack Lessin, Ron Thompson, Bob Rohwedder and Mal Schmidt. The backs of the week are George Hess, Dick Cherpinsky, Frank Congiaro, Bill Plantan and Bob Clendenen.

Billy Borders held a 6-2 lead in the first period of NCAA finals in wrestling. He is Oklahoma's 123-pound junior who battled defending national collegiate champion, Anthony Gizona from Waynesburg college.

Gizona won 7-6, but he battled to do so. Even then, Borders made a fine record for himself by winning 15 bouts in a row, nine by fall. He was voted as the outstanding wrestler in the national tournament last year. Both Gizona and Borders will be out to wrestle again next year.

Spring Golf Ready to Go

Intramural spring golf was just about set today, according to the I-M department. Play is ready to begin Saturday, May 5. The second round will be run off the following Saturday.

Pioneer Golf Course will be the site of the spring action. Both team and individual championships will be declared in the tourney.

There will be no formal entries in the golf play as in the other I-M sports this year. Every organization may play as many men as desired with only the stipulation that they must have their men at the golf course ready to play at the scheduled hours.

Initial tee-off on May 5 will be at 7 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. The second round tee-off will be the same hours.

Call to Independents There is a special call out for independent men to compete in this year's tourney. All non-affiliated men are welcome and urged to participate. Men may participate as individuals or as an organized team with church, club, co-op or independent affiliation with team rosters on file at the Intramural headquarters. A trophy will be awarded the
