Beef Price Ceilings Hit By Senators

The senate agriculture committee called on the office of price stabilization Wednesday to protest the ceiling prices on beef. They declared that such ceilings would result in a "meat famine" and asked that they be removed without delay.

The price order will become effective a week from Wednesday.

The formal resolution said that the OPS order has already resulted in the marketing of live-stock by producers before their cattle reach their best marketable weights.

The committee said that the net result will be a reduction in meat production and a "severe meat famine in the United States."

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R., Ia.) said that the new order, rolling back the price of beef, is resulting in a "glut on the market now."

Lincoln Voters OK School Bond Issue

Lincoln voters Tuesday approved the bond sponsored $6 million bond issue and re-elected, by substantial margins, Mrs. Roscoe Hill and Robert C. Venner, as members of the school board.

The bond issue brought out a record number of Lincoln voters. The unofficial primary total was 19,874, an increase of 7,446. The total vote exceeded estimates by 2,000.

Another record vote was recorded in the city council election Tuesday. Two new men were elected to sit in on council meetings—Pat Ash and C. W. D. Kinsey, both businessmen.

Rees Wilkinson received the top number of votes with Pat Ash his nearest competition.

The new council:

Holder council members: Fern Hubbard Orme, John H. Comstock, Ray Sheaff.

New councilmen: Pat Ash, C. W. D. Kinsey.

Newly elected but completing a four year term: Reese Wilkinson.

Jr.-Sr. Class Day Scheduled For Friday—Unless It Rains

If juniors or seniors would like to receive a trophy on Ivy Day, they must attend the Junior-Senior competition day at Pioneer Park, Friday, May 4, at 2:30 p. m., according to Aaron Schmidt, senior class president.

Forced to cancel their inter-class competition two weeks in a row, the classes have scheduled the event for Friday.

A softball game between the innocents and junior men at 2:30 p. m. will open the competition. In the following game, the senior women will play the junior women.

Each team will play four innings. If enough students participate other games will be scheduled.

Other events of the afternoon include sack races, egg throwing and three legged races. At the end of the competition points will be totaled to determine the winning class. The winner to be announced on Ivy Day will be presented with a trophy.

Any junior or senior coed interested in playing should contact Pat Wiedman, 6-2440. Junior and senior men are to call Hank Cech, 3-1960, if they wish to play on a team.

Though the executive faculty committee on student affairs has granted approval for the junior-senior competition day, attendance is voluntary and no student will be excused from regularly scheduled class work or required examinations.

Unforgettable Coed Loved Horses

This is another in a series of articles entitled "The Most Unforgettable Student." Each article is a true story told to the reporter by an instructor on this campus.

By Gerry Fellman

Have you ever heard of a coed who would rather be with a horse than a man?

Now, the question as to which is more desirable is debatable. Actually, though, I have heard of few college girls who preferred the former to the latter.

But one coed, who in this article will be referred to as Gal, did not care for men—at least in the first half of her college career. Gal is the most unforgettable student of Curtis M. Elliott, associate professor of economics and insurance.

In her freshman year here at the University, Gal was very shy. Elliott said that she would practically die when a boy so much as glanced her way. She had an extremely difficult time adjusting herself to college. Later she was pledged to a sorority. Elliott remarked that this helped her quite a bit because she learned how to get along with people.

Probably the main reason for her shyness at first was her background. She had lived most of her life on a ranch and did not mix with people often until she came to school.

But as she and Gal was, she rated a big feature story in the Chicago Daily News. The article told that although she was a female, she nevertheless, was one of the state's finest ranchers. She was famous for her amazing riding skill as well as her ability to handle nearly everything on a ranch.

Tassels Will Select New Pledges at Tea Sunday

Tassel pledges for the 1951-52 school year will be chosen after the annual tea Sunday from 4 to 6 p. m. at the Kappa Delta house, 405 University Terrace.

Twenty-eight girls will be chosen on enthusiasm to work in the organization, interest in it, pep and poise. Voting by all present Tassel members immediately after the tea will determine new pledges.

These girls will be notified the following day and at the same time will be invited to a picnic Monday evening. The picnic will be

Convention . . . Big Seven Pep Group Elects Robinson Head

Eugene Robinson, University A college junior, was elected president of the Big Seven pep association at a convention held at the University of Kansas last weekend.

Eugene Wolner, sophomore in pre-law from the University, was elected secretary of the Big Seven organization.

Robinson will direct activities of the association until the next annual meeting tentatively scheduled for the same dates as the Big Seven indoor track meet.

Delegates from all Big Seven schools met at KU for the first pep convention in the conference's history.

Corn Cob delegates from the University were Jim Downey, Robert La Shelle, Dan Tolman, Robinson and Wolner.

Questions discussed at the convention were: service to the University, finance, pep assemblies, trick card stunts for football games, organization and pledging rules.

Attempts were made to activate Psi Epsilon Pi and Phi Sigma Chi, men's and women's honorary pep organizations.

The convention began with an opening luncheon and then broke up into various groups to discuss problems of the individual clubs.

Hosts to the Big Seven delegates was the Kuku's, men's pep group at KU. The conference was held in the Kansas Memorial Union building.

'Aida' Concerns Slave Girl

The University Choral Union with guest soloists will present the opera "Aida" at the Coliseum at 3 p. m., Sunday, May 6.

"Aida" was written by Giuseppe Verdi for the Khedive of Egypt. The opera takes place in Egypt in the time of the Pharaohs, and all its characters are either Egyptian or Ethiopian.

The play opens with Egypt and Ethiopia at war. Aida, the daughter of Amnonso who is King of Ethiopia, has been captured and made a slave at the court of Egypt.

Most of the story revolves around the love of Radames, general-in-chief of the Egyptian because she wanted to be able to run a ranch even more effectively and profitably. At first, as I said before, she had scholastic difficulties. But later she developed into a much better than average student. She was a conscientious student.

Business Administration

But while she was paying attention to her books, many men were paying quite a bit of attention to her. Incidentally, she was considered to be "darn good looking." And since she was the only girl in some of her business courses, she received plenty of notice. Elliott remarked that he used to like to make her blush during class periods. But she had a good sense of humor and eventually seemed to rather enjoy being the center of attraction although she always stayed quiet.

Council Seeks Final OK On Revised Constitution

Student Body Vote Slated for May 16

University students will go to the polls May 16 to ratify the recently-adopted constitution of the Student Council.

At a meeting Wednesday afternoon the Council members heard various students' view on the proposed constitution and set the date for the first necessary ratification of the body of laws.

If the constitution is passed by the student body, it will then be sent to the faculty senate and finally to the Board of Regents for ultimate approval.

If the statute passes these three elections, it will go into effect next spring.

Voting booths will be set up on both Ag and city campuses. Bob Parker, Council head of elections, will announce further voting procedures.

The Council heard Delores Lovegrove, Ruth Sorenson and Kathryn Dill present a Bill of Rights to be amended to the constitution.

The three students proposed the amendment as a result of a conference on human rights which they attended.

The specific articles of the Bill of Rights which were suggested as an addition to the proposed constitution are:

1. Protection of all University students from discrimination on the basis of race, creed, color, nationality, sex or religion.
2. Protection of all University students from administrative faculty or Student Council interference in matters not directly related to the University or its functions.
3. Right of application for the University based solely on individual merit.
4. Administration should publish a report of specific limitations on the liberty of students.
5. Democratic methods of student government.
6. Right of every University student to free study.
7. Right of every University student to free press, speech and assembly.
8. Right of every University student to defend himself.
9. Right to redress of grievances to every University student.
10. Student Council is to act as the protector of the rights of all students.

It was brought out by various Council members and faculty members H. E. Smith, H. P. Davis and Miss Mary Mienz, that the Bill of Rights would be repetitions of national, state and city documents similar to it and that it would be usurping power from the administrative persons and bodies of the University in matters regarding student conduct, etc.

Sorenson's Ideas

Miss Sorenson emphasized that she was interested in having the Student Council use the Bill of Rights as an amendment to their constitution, recommended it to the proper University authorities or proclaim that they are in agreement with it.

Rob Raun, president of the student governing body, pointed out that the Council has no jurisdiction over such a Bill of Rights. He said, "We are operating under specified power from the Board of Regents and as such, cannot take it upon ourselves to enact legislation of this sort."

The matter has been referred to the present judiciary committee, to be worked on by the new judiciary committee. The group will attempt to clarify to the Council the specific University policy in regard to the Rights set forth in the bill.

Hold-Over Members

At their meeting next week, Council members will elect six hold-over members from the juniors in their body, to serve as Council members next year.

From these hold-over members the new president, vice president and judiciary committee chairman will be elected at the next meeting. Eleven juniors are present Council members.

It Happened at NU

Every once in awhile, instructors like to be warned of a few things.

This one, however, didn't seem the least bit perturbed when he walked into his classroom to find that he was a student again. One of the sophomore boys had taken over.

The boy, upon seeing the instructor enter, embarrassedly climbed down from his perch on the desk in the front of the room.

"Oh no!" protested the instructor. "Stay up there! I am gratified when my students show their self confidence."

Even more embarrassed, the student resumed his original position. He made an announcement, pertinent to all the members of the class, and concluded by saying that all assignments in the course were cancelled to the end of the year.

The last part was too much. The instructor waved the precocious sophomore to his seat, sighing, "Oh, if it were only true!"

Exception Made On Draft Tests

A special date has been set aside by the Selective Service board for those who because of their religion cannot take the aptitude test for deferment at the regular times.

The date for this special examination is July 12, 1951.

Students who are affected by this should get their card, Form 106, from the local draft board and at that time have the clerk help with it. It is the same form as the other men have but it should be indicated on the card that one wishes to take the test at the special time.

Charter Members Attend PMA Meet

Three charter members were presented for commemoration of the 30th anniversary of Upsilon chapter of Phi Mu Alpha, national honorary music fraternity.

Dr. A. E. Westbrook, head of the school of music at the University, was an honored guest of the fraternity. He recently was named as an honorary member of national Phi Mu Alpha.

Ivy Day Golden Anniversary To Initiate New Traditions

The Golden anniversary of Ivy Day Saturday will not only observe past traditions but initiate new ones as well.

Only one of the events on the first Ivy Day program—the planting of the ivy—is still observed.

The presidents of the junior and senior classes, who plant the ivy, will have help this year from two persons present at the first ceremony. Aaron Schmidt, president of the 1951 senior class and Charles Burmeister, president of the junior class, will be assisted by W. L. Hall and Fred Dewese, both of Lincoln.

Alumni President

Hall, alumni president of the class of 1901, will represent John Swenson of Seattle and Dewese, alumni president of the class of 1902, will represent Fred C. Swenson and Nielsen were the original planters of the ivy.

Following this, Schmidt will present the class winning trophy with a trophy. This is the first year this has been done.

Jan Nutzman, last year's May Queen, will inaugurate a new tradition this year by presenting the '51 May Queen with a gift. Mrs. Lewis Barr Anderson, the first coed to have been crowned by the Queen title will be present Saturday.

Court Jesters

For the first time, two men will be in the royal court. Jerry Tubbs and Ira Epstein. The two will be dressed as jesters in black tights, tan corduroy jackets and jester caps. The acrobatic jesters will lead the procession.

Through the years, many other features have been added to this all-University day—fraternity and sorority sings, pages, attendants and band concerts.

The queen's attendants were selected by the Mortar Boards on the basis of scholarship and activities. The Queen was selected by junior and senior women at the all-coed election, March 20. The candidate receiving the second highest votes will serve as maid of honor.

French Club to Present 'Ballet of the Paris Opera'

French club will meet tonight in Parlor Z in the Union at 7:30.

A movie, "Ballet of the Paris Opera," will be shown as the entertainment feature for the evening. According to Carl Fend of the French department this is an excellent movie of the French opera.

Following the movie refreshments will be served.

Initiated were: Shirley Cling, Barbara Kratz, Betty Nama, Vera Larsen, Norma VerMaas, Jean Cahah and Natalie Samuelson.

Following initiation, a meeting was called to elect officers. Elected were: dean, Betty Nama; associate dean, Norma VerMaas; registrar, Vera Larsen; chancellor, Natalie Samuelson, and marshal, Jean Cahah. Officers were then installed by Dean Teagarden.

Union Plans 13th Birthday Celebration

"The most tremendous party the Union has ever had," according to Chuck Widmaier, sponsor of the party, will be the "Topsy-Turvy Inside Out" party Friday night.

The party, sponsored by the Union special activities committee, will be from 8 to 12 p. m. It is free for all University students who would like to help celebrate the Union's thirteenth birthday.

The party which will usher in Ivy Day, will include dancing "under the stars," acarnival midway and an outdoor movie. Having the party outside is a new innovation in Union parties.

Eddie Garner and his orchestra will furnish the music for the dance. A portable dance floor will be set up on the east lawn of the Union.

A carnival midway with booths and prizes will be held on the lawn. The outdoor movie will be "Give My Regards to Broadway."
