Police Take Seven Into Custody

Annual Event Begins 9:15 A.M.

Chimes from the Carillon tower at 9:15 a.m. Saturday will announce the 50th anniversary of the University's oldest and most colorful traditional ceremony—Ivy Day.

The formal regality of the court procession, the annual planting of the ivy, harmonious voices in the fraternity and sorority sings and the suspense in the masking and tapping of the new Mortar Boards and Innocents blend together to make Ivy Day a fitting climax to end the year's activities.

All Saturday morning classes will be dismissed for the ceremonies which will be held, according to tradition, north of the Administration building. If the weather is bad, the program will be in the Coliseum.

History of Ivy Day

Master of ceremonies will be Dick Carson. He will announce the selections in the singing contests, the new Mortar Boards and Innocents as they are tapped and read the history of Ivy Day. Last year's emcee was Dutch Meyers.

Following the chimes, Don Lentz will direct the University band from 9:20 to 9:30 a.m. Then Chancellor Gustavson will give his welcome address. Master of Ceremonies, Dick Carson, will read the history of Ivy Day at 9:35 a.m.

One hundred and six coeds will enter at 9:45 a.m. carrying the ivy and daisy chains. Ten have been selected by the Mortar Boards to lead the chains which will be on both sides of the carpet leading to the queen's throne. Suzanne Koehler will sing the chain bearer's song over the public address.

Procession Begins

At 10:05 a.m. the procession is scheduled to begin. Leading the royal party will be jesters, Ira Epstein and Jerry Tubbs. They will be followed by the two freshman pages, two freshman attendants, four sophomore and four junior attendants, maid of honor, a crown bearer, two flower girls and the May Queen.

After the May Queen is crowned by the maid of honor, the president of Innocents, Bob Raun, and president of Mortar Board, Nancy Porter will present the first May Queen, Mrs. Louise Barr Anderson with a bouquet of roses.

After the procession the junior and senior class presidents, Charles Burmeister and Aaron Schmidt will plant the ivy. They will be aided by the alumni presidents of the classes of 1901 and 1902, W. L. Hall and Fred Deweese. Aaron Schmidt will present a trophy to the class winning the Junior-Senior Class day competition.

Sorority Sing

The sorority sing is scheduled to begin at 10:50 a.m. After the court recessional there will be a noon recess until the band concert starts the afternoon session at 1 p.m.

The court will re-enter before the fraternity signs begins at 1:15 p.m.

While the four judges choose the sorority and fraternity sing winners, Symphonia, national men's music fraternity, will sing, "Brothers, Sing On," "You'll Never Walk Alone," and "Hail Symphonia." The latter was written by member of Symphonia, Gilbert Sullivan, Dennis Rohrs is directing the Symphonia sings.

Tappings Commence

Following the court recessional, the Mortar Boards will begin looking for the new members. Junior women will be expected to be sitting near the front, near the throne, during the afternoon.

After the Mortar Boards have been masked, Col. C. J. Frankforter will introduce the alumni and honorary Innocent members present. The new Innocents will then be tapped.

After the masking of the Mortar boards the new and old members are asked to stay for pictures.

The admissions committee of the University College of Medicine will be on this campus, May 9 and 10, to interview 1952 applicants. All 1952 applicants who have not been interviewed this spring by the committee should immediately sign the schedule sheet at 308 Bessey hall.

The Weather

Partly cloudy Friday and Saturday with scattered afternoon or evening thundershowers in the southwestern portion both days. Cooler east portion. High Friday 70 to 75.

Students Found Engaged In 'Suspicious' Activities

At Last . . . Class Day Competition Begins Today

Today—at last—Junior-Senior competition day is here.

After being cancelled for two weeks in a row, interclass competition will be held at 2:30 p.m. at Pioneer Park, Aaron Schmidt, senior class president, announced.

Activities will open with a softball game between the Innocents and junior men at 2:30 p.m. Following the men's competition, the senior women will play the junior women.

Each game will last four innings and if enough students participate, other games will be held. Sack races, egg throwing contests and three legged races will also be held during the afternoon. Points will be totaled at the end of the competition to determine the winning class.

A trophy will be presented to the winning class at the Ivy Day festivities. The president of the losing class will make the presentation to the president of the winning class.

Junior and senior coeds interested in taking part in the games should contact Pat Wiedman at 6-2440. Junior and senior men should call Hank Cech, 3-1950, if they wish to enter the competition.

The executive faculty committee on student affairs has granted approval of the junior-senior competition day, but attendance is voluntary. No student will be excused from regularly scheduled classes or required examinations.

Seven University students were taken into custody late Wednesday night or early Thursday morning when Lincoln and campus police discovered them and a number of companions engaged in "suspicious" activities.

According to Lincoln police Chief Joseph Carrol, the students were brought to the police station and held for "about four hours" before they were turned over to the dean of student affairs' office.

Chief Carroll said the students were not formally charged by the police.
