A Memorable Day . . .

Wednesday was an election day which will long be remembered in the history of campus politics. A record breaking number of votes were cast on the question of a proposed Student Council constitution.

which virtually refuses any one party a dominant hold on the Student Council. The Faction, or any other group or individual who opposed the constitution still has a great responsibility. They should strive to reach by amendment some agreement as to the compromise they want in student government.

It May Take Time . . .

It will be a long time before members of the 1951-1952 AWS board forget the women's point system. This was evidenced Monday afternoon at the board's open meeting when students presented ideas for revision, modification and improvement of the existing activity point system.

of work and responsibility of the job with no regard to prestige. In addition to methods of evaluating points, AWS is considering the idea of a flexible point system based on scholastic average. It started at a reasonable average—6.0 or 6.5—this would probably gain approval of most women students.

Right Direction . . .

The recent action of the faculty senate in approving student representation on faculty committees is a step in the right direction. Although not holding voting membership on faculty committees, students will have an opportunity to learn the reasons for faculty action.

K-State Slated As Destination Of Migration

Next year's migration train will carry University students to the Kansas State-Nebraska football game at Manhattan, Kans. The migration committee, appointed by the Student Council, has announced that about 300 students will take the special train to Kansas on Oct. 8, 1951.
