

Frosh Week Called 'Success'

September '51 Sees Debut Of Student Week

New Student Week was very successful, said Arthur A. Hitchcock, director of Junior Division. Freshmen activities included registration, orientation, and special programs designed to acquaint them with the University campus.

Registration of freshmen at the Union, Sunday, Sept. 9, opened New Student Week. They and their parents were received by 60 hosts and hostesses who acquainted them with the program for the week.

Freshmen were divided into four groups designated by colors—red, green, blue and brown. Blues and reds took pre-registration tests in addition to the other activities of the week. All students were required to attend some meetings as a group.

The daytime schedules included individual and group appointments with advisers. Advisers were assisted by 175 student leaders appointed by Coed Counselors and Innocents. This program gave new students help in planning their class schedules for the year.

Two orientation sessions for each color group were held during the week. At the first meeting a panel discussed "Getting Started Right in College." Panel members were Sharon Fritzer, Marilyn Moomey, Jerry Johnson and Jerry Matzke. Use of the library was discussed in the second orientation meeting.

Registration and college convocations concluded the daytime activities. Physical examinations and speech and hearing tests were also given to the freshmen.

An informal address by Chancellor Gustavson highlighted the New Student convocation, Monday night. Mary Hubka, president of Coed Counselors, and George Cobel, Student Council president, welcomed the new students. Group singing led by Aaron Schmidt was included in the program.

Tuesday, Sept. 11, was proclaimed as Cornhusker night. Fourteen hundred freshmen attended a barbecue dinner on the Ag College campus. The evening program directed by the rally committee acquainted new students with Cornhusker tradition.

Student church parties and open houses were held Wednesday night. Freshmen visited the student houses of their denomination where they were entertained with square dancing and group singing. Discussions of religious groups activities for the coming year were also included in the programs.

Women and men were entertained at separate programs Thursday evening. Coed Counselors with the assistance of the YWCA and AWS sponsored a party for freshmen women in the Union ballroom. Under the direction of the N club, a men's smoker was held at the indoor track in the East stadium.

The Chancellor's reception and Union open house provided the program for Friday night. Students met Chancellor and Mrs. Gustavson and other faculty members. Dancing to the music of Aaron Schmidt's band, as well as bingo, movies and a vaudeville show entertained the freshmen.

The Freshman Hop was the climax of New Student Week. Saturday evening found the freshmen dancing in the Union ballroom and being entertained with skits and an activities carnival. The Union and Innocents were in charge of the program.

The churches in Lincoln observed Sunday as All-University Church Sunday with a special welcome for all new students.

M E Chairman Attends Oxford Church Convo

Niles H. Barnard, chairman of mechanical engineering, returned late Friday from England. He had attended the Methodist Ecumenical conference at Oxford from Aug. 28 until Sept. 7, and also spent about 12 days in London.

Barnard was among 200 delegates from the United States who attended the world-wide session. About 500 persons attended the conference, which reviewed the ideas of Methodism.

"We visited the home of John Wesley, the founder of the Methodist church," says Barnard, "the churches where he preached and his grave."

The Methodist Ecumenical conferences have been held every 10 years since 1881. The 1941 conference was postponed because of the war until 1947, when it was held at Springfield, Mass.

Theme Of Freshman Parties Was Know Your University

By Connie Gordon Staff Reporter

Segregation was practiced last Thursday night at the University, but nobody seemed to mind! The boys went their way—to the Corn Cob sponsored smoker held in the east stadium; and the girls went their way—to the informal freshman party sponsored by Coed Counselors with AWS and YWCA.

At the smoker, Elsworth DuTeau, president of the alumni association, told approximately 500 freshmen that two challenges faced them at the University.

"One is to write the story of your career at the University, and the other is to help write the history of the class of 1955," he stated.

The girls' freshman party was held in the Union ballroom and the accent was on getting acquainted.

Nancy Button, president of the AWS, got the party in swing by leading the group in songs. Cheerleaders Jo Berry and Jane Cal-

Variety Of Colored Ribbons Identify Sororities Pledges

Color, color—and then some! As if the University scarlet and cream and the new system of registering by the colors of red, brown, blue and green weren't enough for the new freshmen to remember—sorority pledge ribbon colors are tacked onto the list.

But, looking at it from another angle, it is merely another means of identification—another shortcut.

Sorority pledge ribbons color vary from one to three. For instance, those of Alpha Chi Omega are red and green, while that of Alpha Omicron Pi is simply red.

The Alpha Phi's come up with a couple more hues—silver and Bordeaux. Bordeaux is a variation of wine, in case you haven't studied your dictionary lately.

Alpha Xi Delta is to come out with three colors—gold and double blue, whereas the Chi Omega's sport the scarlet and straw.

Tri Delta and Delta Gamma agree on the pink and blue end of it, but differ when it comes to the third hue. It is white for one and bronze for the other—respectively, of course.

Gamma Phi Beta is right in style for fall with brown and mode, a tan shade. So is Kappa Alpha Theta with black and gold.

Kappa Delta, on the other hand, brings spring to the campus with its white and kelly green.

Kappa Kappa Gamma has decided on one color—with a couple of variations—dark and silver blue to be exact. Pi Beta Phi likes silver blue as well, but there it is combined with wine.

Sigma Delta Tau turns to the pastels—blue and yellow—and Sigma Kappa employs another one of them, violet, along with maroon.

Confusing? Well, maybe. But—no matter how you look at it, it's the truth when they say that the University goes all-out for color in the fall!

Frosh To Sport Red Beans Until Snowfall

One of the traditions that pertain to the freshman student, is the beanie of Scarlet and Cream. This tradition is sponsored by the Coed Counselors, represented by Peg Mulvaney, and the Innocents Society, represented by Kent Ax-tell.

This beanie has been worn for many years and though its color has changed from green to Scarlet and Cream, the tradition has not changed.

Traditionally, the beanie is worn until the first snow. If the snow is late in coming, there is a tug of war between the freshmen boys, and the sophomore boys, at the annual homecoming football game.

School tradition has it that if the sophomore class wins the tug of war, the freshmen must wear the beanies until the first snow, but if the freshmen class wins, all freshmen students may remove their beanies immediately.

According to the sponsors more than 1,200 beanies have been sold this year. Anyone who did not get a beanie may purchase one at Mr. Harper's office, Room 201 Administration Building.

Council Issuing Permits

Permits for parking on campus are being issued this week in a booth in the Union, George Cobel, president of the Student Council, announced Saturday.

Automobile owners who live more than six blocks from the city campus may get their parking application forms in the Union at the booth in front of the Corn Crib. In order to file applications, students must bring their student identification cards, car registration and 25 cents.

The booth will be open Monday and Wednesday from 9:30 until 11 a. m. and each afternoon this week from 1 until 5 p. m.

The cars and application forms are to be taken to campus policemen on the 12th street mall north of the Social Science building, where parking stickers will be issued. The hours for this are 8 a. m. until 12 noon and 1 until 5 p. m.

All faculty members must have their parking stickers starting today and students are requested not to park in the faculty sections.

Cars parked on the campus without parking stickers will be issued tickets by campus policemen after this week.

Yale Alumnus To Supervise University 'Y'

Sam Gibson of Troy, Ala., is taking over the position of University YMCA executive secretary for this coming school year.

Gibson will fill the position vacated by Charles Kemp who directed the "Y" student activities last year.

The new director is a June graduate of the Yale Divinity School. He and his wife have taken up permanent residence in Lincoln.

The campus "Y" offices are located on the first floor of the Temple building where Gibson will be working this year in connection with a fall estimate of 200 "Y" members and city campus president Dave Cargo and Ag campus president Steve Eberhart.

The YMCA cabinets will meet with their officers this week to determine this semester's policies and current membership drives.

Charles Kemp is now minister of the First Christian Church of Lincoln.

NU Galleries Schedule First Art Exhibition

The University art galleries resumed its schedule of activities for the coming season Sunday, Sept. 9, with an exhibition of student work done during the 1951 summer session.

Sixteen pieces of art work compose the new exhibition to be shown until Sept. 1. Seven oil paintings and nine water colors are included in this first showing of summer session work.

The work was done in oil painting and water color classes under the supervision of assistant Professor Walter Meigs and has been hung in the galleries as a supplement to the annual student show which includes all work done during the academic year.

Students View Campus Addition

BIG EXCAVATION . . . Janelle Mohr and Ron Dreamer look with interest towards the site of the new home of the Nebraska State Historical Society. The Society's museum was formerly located in the basement of the state capitol building. An exchange of property between the Society and the University resulted in this addition to the Nebraska campus.

Sixty-Five High School Bands To Appear At Lincoln Oct. 13

Sixty-five Nebraska high school bands with a combined membership of 3,400 musicians will take part in the University of Nebraska's annual Band Day Oct. 13, Don Lentz, University band director, announced Sunday.

The young bandsmen will stage a parade at noon through downtown Lincoln and will present a special show at half-time of the Penn State-Cornhusker football game.

Although a record number of groups was accepted, applications from bands with a total membership of more than 3,000 were turned down because all available space in the stadium had been filled. Lentz said he regretted very much the necessity of rejecting applications from many of the state's finest high school bands.

Bands which will take part are: Ainsworth, Alma, Beatrice, Beaver City, Beaver Crossing, Beemer, Benkelman, Blair, Boelus, Burwell, Callaway, Cambridge, Campbell, Chappell, Clarks, Columbus, College View (Lincoln), Cozad, Creighton, David City, Dorchester, Exeter, Fairbury, Falls City, Franklin, Fremont, Friend.

Gibbon, Gordon, Hastings, Hebron, Holdrege, Hooper, Kenesaw, Litchfield, Lyons, McCook, Norfolk, North Platte, Oakland, Ogallala, Osceola, Plattsmouth, Red Cloud.

Basset, Rushville, St. Paul, Schuyler, Seward, Sidney, Superior, Syracuse, Tecumseh, Tekamah, Trenton, Ulysses, Curtis, Valentine, Wahoo, Wauneta, Weeping Water, Wilber and York.

Special Edition Sent To 1,500 New Students

About 1,500 copies of The Daily Nebraskan special edition, which is published each summer by the Builders, were sent in August to students planning to attend the University for the first time.

The 32-page tabloid-size paper was edited by Joan Kreuger, Builders board member. Associate editor was Shirley Murphy and Marshall Kushner was in charge of sports pages. Bob Reichenbach was business manager.

On the cover of the edition is a large "N" with a background of pictures depicting campus events.

Highlights of the paper included a calendar of University events and welcoming letters from Chancellor R. G. Gustavson, Sharon Fritzer and Jerry Johnson, presidents of Mortar Board and Innocent societies respectively, Miss Marjorie Johnston, dean of women, and T. J. Thompson, dean of student affairs.

Information about New Student Week, College Days, participation in activities, Love library, courses of study, social events, ROTC training and sports contests is also included in the edition.

One page is devoted to Ivy Day festivities and membership in campus honorary societies.

Other features include fashion information, sorority and fraternity activities and names of Cornhusker beauty queens.

Raymond Chosen For Royal Court

Ruth Raymond was selected August 28 to represent Scottsbluff as a candidate for the royal court at the American Royal livestock and horse show in Kansas City, Mo.

Five judges chose Miss Raymond from a group of 10 candidates. Their selection was based upon beauty, poise, personality and education.

Miss Raymond and candidates from all major midwest cities will be in Kansas City Oct. 9 to 14 where the queen of the American Royal and her court will be selected.

The queen and her court will be presented at the coronation ball Oct. 9.

Miss Raymond, a junior majoring in journalism, is managing editor of The Daily Nebraskan and one of the 12 Builder's calendar girls. She is a member of Delta Gamma.

staff has scheduled a varied program for this year, featuring utilitarian and commercial art plus exhibition space being given to the decorative and fine arts.

Yearbook Plans Picture Schedule

"Smile party! Look at the birdie!" These phrases are common when camera clicking time for the Cornhusker begins.

Individual pictures for the 1952 Cornhusker yearbook will be taken at Colvin-Heyn studio at 222 South 13th street beginning Wednesday, Sept. 26. The rates per picture have been reduced to $2 per person, compared to a previous $3.

Organizations will be contacted about specific times and schedule. Organized groups may choose to have the group photographed in tuxedos or formal drapes, which is a new idea this year.

A new photographic process will be used which will insure uniform head size and light density. The process will produce clearer and better pictures.
