

YWCA Rendezvous Set For Wednesday

"Rendezvousing" at Ellen Smith hall from 3 to 5:30 p.m. Wednesday will be all University upper-class women.

Wednesday is the date of the University YWCA's annual round-up and rendezvous for University women. Specific purpose of the afternoon session is to give coeds an opportunity to sign up for various 'Y' commission groups.

The commission groups are small sessions that meet weekly to discuss and to act upon problems and circumstances of interest to college women.

A special rendezvous for freshmen women is scheduled to take place following the six weeks period during which freshmen women cannot participate in activities.

Hostesses at the rendezvous will be the YWCA cabinet members, the 'Y' officers and executive directors and other 'Y' members.

Radio Studios No Exception To Price Rise

Costs of living are rising and so are the recording prices in the radio studios of the speech department.

A 10 inch aluminum base acetate disc recording at 78 and 33 1/2 RPM will cost $2.50. A 12 inch disc at the same speeds is $3.50. The 16 inch records at 33 1/2 RPM are $5.

Tape recording prices are: $2 for 10 minutes or less; $4 for 15 minutes; and $8 for 30 minutes. Tapes can be recorded at 75 or 15 inches per second.

Recording appointments must be made 48 hours in advance. To make an appointment, a student may call the radio studio office any afternoon.

The student must have a recording fee slip in advance and pay fee at the comptroller's office in the Administration building. The comptroller's receipt must be presented at time of recording.

Annual Rooters Day Slated For Friday

The 16th annual Rooters Day will be held at the college of agriculture on Friday. The affair is sponsored jointly by the University and Nebraska Livestock Breeders and Feeders Association.

Rooters Day will start with an inspection of the experimental lots of hogs at the institution's swine research center near Havelock at 10 a.m.

Dean W. V. Lambert will give a welcome to the group at 1:15 p.m. in the College Activities building.

Dr. George A. Young, jr., of Austin, Minn., nationally prominent authority on swine diseases, will speak on "Has Disease Undermined the Swine Industry?" The past year's experiments at the college of agriculture will be discussed by Merle Brinegar, swine department head.

P.M. Headlines

English King Gravely Ill

LONDON—The eight doctors attending King George VI of England announced that the results of the operation on the King's lung would be evident within a few days.

Anxious crowds surrounding Buckingham palace did not disperse even to greet the Duke of Windsor when he arrived at Victoria station across London from the palace.

Even if the King recovers, he will require a long period of rest and speculation was that a council of state, consisting of several members of the royal family, would be formed to conduct the King's duties in his absence.

Uranium Ore Found Buried

DALHART, Tex.—A block of refined uranium ore was found half-buried under a tree in Dalhart, Texas, and a second block was discovered on a refuse pile in the same city.

Before FBI men threw a cloak of secrecy around the event, newsmen found that the two blocks weighed about 93 pounds.

Officials were mum about how so much of the atom-bomb material traveled the distance from Los Alamos, N. M., the nearest uranium processing plant. There was a marked lack of public reaction to the discovery, which seemed unusual considering the furor caused by the recent theft of a small vial of uranium from the Argonne Laboratory in Chicago.

Ethiopian Troops Find No Prisoners

KOREA—Ethiopian soldiers in Korea are disappointed these days because they can't seem to capture as many prisoners as other allied units.

It seems some brilliant Red propagandist spread the word among the Chinese that Ethiopians are cannibals. Consequently, almost no Chinese troops have allowed themselves to fall into the hands of the hard-fighting volunteers from Emperor Haile Selassie's army.

As a lone Chinese soldier, who was finally taken, explained it, "They told us you would eat us alive!"

Allies Ask Moving Of Truce Site

TOKIO—As the recently demobilized battleship New Jersey added its 16-inch guns to the weight of allied artillery fire on the Korean east coast front, Gen. Matthew Ridgway's headquarters announced that the allies were once again requesting a shift in truce talk sites.

The Reds, who only a few days ago seemed anxious to resume the talks as soon as possible, are reverting to their old stalling tactics.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il insisted that no discussion would be allowed on any proposal to move the site of talks except during sessions of the talks themselves. Gen. Ridgway objects to the Kaesong area because he says that irresponsible guerrillas from both sides are likely to disrupt the meetings at any time.

It Happened At NU . . .

One year of University life can change completely the attitude and philosophy of a person. And finding out this fact only too well are the University sophomores this year.

During an informal discussion of the most significant things in University life, a certain sophomore came up with a mighty wise evaluation of his beginning year at college.

The sophomore emphatically announced that he had discovered an average is the most significant thing.

To prove his view, the young man explained that last year activities were first on his schedule, dates second, and averages third.

He has now found that the first two are nearly impossible without that average!

Wishnow To Conduct '51 Concerts

University orchestra director, Emanuel Wishnow, has been engaged by the Omaha Symphony orchestra to conduct their series of concerts for the 1951-52 season.

Following his termination of a summer's work conducting the Omaha Pops concert, Wishnow was offered the directorship of the regular season. He will conduct all of the winter appearances with the exception of the first concert which will be conducted by Dr. Howard Hanson, an ex-Nebraskan prominent in music throughout the nation. Hanson delivered a series of lectures at the University last year.

Wishnow is to conduct concerts featuring four soloists who have become famous in eastern music circles: Ervine Lasslo, piano; Richard Tucker, Metropolitan soprano, and William Primrose.

Wishnow has been conductor of the University orchestra since 1941. He has headed the strings department of the school of music since 1938.

Born in England, Wishnow lived in Boston and studied violin with Max Stearns. He graduated from the University in 1932 and received his Masters degree in 1939 from New York university.

Wishnow is chairman of the commission of standards for the American String Teachers association. He is a member and chapter advisor of Phi Mu Alpha, and a member of Phi Kappa Lambda and Alpha Rho Tau music honoraries.

One of his latest accomplishments was his two year membership in the artist conductor class of Pierre Monteux of the San Francisco symphony.

Junior Division Project Uses Machine To Aid Slow Reader

How fast can you read? Most students do not know how well they read. Upon being asked, they are more than likely to reply "average." How fast then is average?

The average reading rate is around 250 words a minute for something difficult like a history book. The reading rate for a fiction book, however, is much higher. The average rate runs around 500 words a minute.

A good reader can read almost 1500 words per minute, while a slow reader can only read about 90 words.

Slow readers have an obvious handicap—one that would be more than worth their time to correct. If you are a slow reader, it would take you almost fifteen times as long to read an assignment as located in temporary building A.

NEW HOME FOR BUGS . . . Architect's drawing of proposed addition to the University's entomology department. A U-shaped structure, it will contain space for experiments with insects and insecticides. Officials hope to start construction this fall.

Hollywood Stars To Present 'Don Juan In Hell' Tonight

RESIDENTS IN HELL—The Drama Quartet, (l. to r.) Charles Laughton, Charles Boyer, Agnes Moorehead and Sir Cecil Hardwick, will star in "Don Juan in Hell" in the Coliseum tonight.

Tickets May Be Bought Until 6 P.M.

The devil and his companions will be on the campus tonight.

The first Drama Quartet will enact "Don Juan in Hell," which will be presented in Nebraska for the first time tonight in the Coliseum at 8 o'clock.

George Bernard Shaw's play stars Charles Boyer, Sir Cecil Hardwick, Charles Laughton and Agnes Moorehead.

The doors will open at 7 p.m. Holders of student tickets should use the east or west side entrances.

Student price tickets may be purchased until 6 p.m. in the Union main office for 90 cents. Student seating is in the south balcony, which is directly above seats priced at $3.60.

The play, directed and designed by Laughton, will be produced in the front center of the Coliseum with the audience surrounding the stage. This is termed "theater-in-the-round."

"Don Juan in Hell," which is an insert to Shaw's "Man and Superman," takes place in hell and involves a conversation between the devil (Laughton), Don Juan (Boyer), Linna Ana, the wronged girl of the Don Juan legend (Miss Moorehead) and the statue of her father (Hardwick).

Four microphones will be spaced across the stage with high stools for the actors and stands for loose-leaf binder notes. No scenery, props, or costumes will be used. The effects will be achieved by the actor's interpretation of lines.

The first Drama Quartet originated last spring. Since then it has toured England and the United States, catering especially to University cities. The group will perform in Omaha Wednesday evening.

Sponsored by the Union, the drama quartet is the first of the 1951 fine arts series which originated last year. Last year's series included Sadler Well's Ballet, Boys' Town choir and Duke Ellington.

The purpose of the series, Union activity director Gene E. Grimm said, "is to provide cultural entertainment for students at a non-profit basis." She added that the series will continue only if students give it their complete support.

YWCA Needs 50 Coeds For Volunteer Aid

Fifty girls are needed by the University YWCA to fulfill requests from at least six local agencies for volunteer assistance in dozens of fields, according to Kathleen Dill who is in charge of the community service group of the YW.

The YM has openings for girls who would like to work with nursery children, teach simple handicrafts and plaster molding, direct rhythmic bands, teach folk dancing and basketball, give book reviews, give manicures, assist scout leaders, lead a nature club, assist and learn about recreation for older people, and lead general recreation for elementary children.

Agencies who have applied for help are the state hospital, the Girl Scouts, the Campfire Girls, the city YMCA, the Urban League and other community organizations.

Miss Dill emphasizes that the possibilities for learning by teaching and having personal contact with people is one of the primary benefits of the program besides the helping of persons who need it.

Interested persons may actively participate in the YW's program by contacting the YW office in Ellen Smith hall or coming to the YW Roundup Wednesday.

Special Train Is Available For Husker-Gopher Game

A Cornhusker football special train will travel to Minneapolis for the Nebraska-Minnesota game Saturday, Oct. 20.

Round-trip tickets from Lincoln are $26.75 in a coach and $38.95 in a Pullman. This price includes rail fare, reserved seat for the game, and bus to and from the game.

The train leaves Lincoln at 7:00 p.m., Oct. 18, and arrives back at 11:00 a.m., Oct. 21.

The trip is sponsored by the Lincoln Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Mass Meeting Scheduled For Directory Salesmen

Harriet Wenke, business manager of the Student Directory, announced the first meeting of the Directory sales committee on Sept. 26 at 5 p.m. in Union parlors KYZ.

This is the sales department's first mass meeting and the most important. Sales begin Oct. 1 in fraternities, sororities, and organized houses.

Miss Wenke also stated that all those selling or interested in selling directories should attend this meeting.

Ag Reception Attended By 450 Students

More than 450 students attended the faculty-student reception and Ag Union open house at the College of Agriculture last Saturday.

The theme of the open house was "School Days," and it featured dancing to Dave Haun and his orchestra. Television, bingo, and card games also furnished entertainment for those attending and refreshments were served to everyone.

Student organizations on the Ag campus furnished displays and booths. Among these was a handicraft display by the Ag Union craft shop.

Joe Hines was winner of the prize, which was three goldfish in a bowl.

Chairman of the affair was Dr. P. A. Downs of the dairy husbandry department.

Faculty members in the reception line were Dean and Mrs. V. Lambert, Dean and Mrs. Ephriam Hixson, Dean and Mrs. T. J. Thompson, Dr. and Mrs. M. L. Baker, Prof. and Mrs. L. F. Hurlbert, Dean Marjorie Johnston, Dean and Mrs. Carl Borgmann, Prof. and Mrs. F. D. Keim, and Dr. Doretta Schlaphoff.

Students aiding in the event include William Waldo, Donald Leising, Glenn Vehmeyer, Fred Hosterman, Joan Meyer and Wayne White.

Faculty members that directed committees for the affair include Prof. A. E. Barager, Prof. C. W. Smith, Wayne C. Whitney, Prof. Clarence Miller, Prof. Carolyn Ruby, Dr. C. C. Minteer, Dr. L. B. Snyder and Cal Orr.

Dad's Day Luncheon Planned For Saturday

It may not be a woman's world as yet, but mothers of the University varsity football team are not far behind the dads.

This year the moms have been invited to the Dad's Day luncheon—a new touch to old tradition.

Dr. G. E. Condra, director of the division of conservation and survey, will address the luncheon in parlors ABC of the Union Saturday. He will speak on the "Origin and Development of the Conservation Program in Nebraska," stressing human conservation.

Starting at 11:30 a.m. the luncheon will be over by game time, 2 p.m.

While the luncheon will honor varsity dads, fathers and mothers of all University students are invited to attend.

The Innocents Society sponsors the annual event.

Charlotte Hervert To Play Fourth Recital At Joslyn

Sunday at 4:30 p.m. Charlotte Hervert will cross the stage of the Joslyn Memorial in Omaha to open her fourth recital there.

Miss Hervert is a junior majoring in music at the university. Already she possesses one college degree. In 1949 and '50 she studied at the Royal Academy of Music in London, England where she gained the degree of Licentiate, abbreviated LIAM. The degree is intermediate between a bachelor's and doctor's degree.

Although Miss Hervert is looking forward to the coming concert, she explained that it is "old stuff." She had played at Joslyn three times and has given several concerts in Lincoln and in Nashville where she studied last year in the Ward Belmont school.

The chance to go abroad came to Miss Hervert when he father decided to go to England for advanced study in medicine.

Entrance to the Royal Academy was accomplished only through rigorous try outs. Two hundred out of one thousand applicants are accepted annually for enrollment in the three year course.

Instead of using the university system as is done in the United States the English colleges are highly specialized in the various fields hence there is little chance for a liberal education. For this reason Miss Hervert prefers to complete her education in this country.

A recital played in Lincoln in 1947 is considered by Miss Hervert to have been her first significant exhibition.

The impending recital is "just part of my piano lessons" she said.

Miss Hervert said she would not be satisfied that she was yet in the "big time" until she was either playing in New York or playing for profit.

When she was asked to "brag a little" during the interview Miss Hervert replied that there was "nothing to brag about."

She will open her Sunday recital with Bach's "Chromatic Fantasia" and "Fugue in D Minor." For her second selection she will play "Sonata, Opus 101 in A Major" by Beethoven. Three compositions by Tcherenpina are next on the program: "Ten Bagatelles," "Canonetta," and "Dance." She will close with "Concerto, Opus 23 in B Flat Minor" by Tchaikovsky.

Dr. M. H. Muma Accepts Florida University Post

Dr. Martin H. Muma, staff member of the University's entomology department since 1946, has resigned to accept a research position with the University of Florida. His resignation is effective Sept. 30.

The entomologist's duties will include basic research on the control of citrus fruit insects. He will be stationed at the university's citrus experiment station at Lake Alfred, east of Tampa, Fla.

Dr. Muma was extension entomologist at the University from 1946 to 1946. Since that time he has devoted his time to research and teaching. He also was in charge of an insect exhibit at the University's museum.

One of his most notable achievements at the University was the discovery that benzene hexachloride would control mange in hogs. He was associated on the project with Dr. Ephriam Hixson, now associate director of resident teaching on the project.

AUF Will Hold 'Kick-off' Dinner

All University Fund members will ready themselves for the forthcoming University drive at their "kick-off" dinner Thursday at 6 p.m. in Union parlors XY.

Chancellor R. G. Gustavson and the Rev. Rex Knowles, pastor of the Congregational-Presbyterian student house, will speak to the group. Rev. Knowles' subject is "Participation Through Solicitation."

The program will include a film, "Hungry Minds," and a skit directed by the co-chairmen of the dinner, Julie Johnson and Harriet Wenke. Divisional meetings will be held following the program.

Price of tickets for the dinner is $1.05. Sarah Fulton, AUF president, urged all workers to buy tickets from any AUF board member.

Ag Country Dance Group To Meet

Want to learn to square dance? If you do you'll get your chance Friday at 7:30 p.m. by coming to the activities building on Ag campus. The Ag Country Dancers will be on hand to show you how to "promenade, honor your partner, and swing 'er to the right."

This dance will be the first regular meeting of this organization. The first All-University Square Dance will be held on Oct. 12.

For information, contact Gerald Fellows, 2718 Starr, telephone 5-8337, or Roy Stohler, 3401 Holdrege.
