

Don Vogt Drops Out Of School; Cliff Hopp Back In Action

By ARLEY BONDARIN
Sports Staff Reporter

When will All-American Bobby Reynolds be ready for action? The question which has been on the lips of football fans throughout the state the past week still goes unanswered.

With the Minnesota Gophers looming ominously on the horizon, there is no indication that Reynolds may be physically fit to spike the spitting Husker offense in next Saturday's contest at Minneapolis.

Coach Bill Glassford said Reynolds will continue to work out in order to keep in condition, but the junior halfback's return to contact work will not be determined until a thorough examination is made some time this week.

Meanwhile, the Huskers were dealt another blow as it was learned the big Don Vogt, 220 pound halfback, has left school. Coach Glassford indicated that the promising sophomore left without notifying or conferring with the team's coaching officials. Glassford could give no reason for Vogt's sudden decision to leave.

The departure of Vogt, the drafting of fullback Nick Adduci, and the absence of Reynolds, has caused some switches in the backfield as Glassford still seeks to gear the Husker offense to a faster clip.

Don Norris, Omaha sophomore, has apparently sewed up the quarterback post for the Huskers. His pin-point passing and improved ball handling in the Penn State tiff indicate that he may develop into a top notch signal caller. Being groomed as replacements for Norris are freshmen Duane Rankin and Dan Brown.

By his performance last Saturday, John Bordogna has garnered the right halfback slot in the Nebraska backfield. Bordogna's speed and drive added a great deal of impetus to the Husker running attack. Tom Carodine, recovering from rib injuries, saw only brief duty in the Penn State contest, and will have a tough job regaining first string status at right half. Freshman Jim Cederdahl will serve as understudy to Bordogna and Carodine.

Freshman Don Smith has continued to sparkle and will man the left halfback position until the return of Reynolds. Dennis Korinek and Dick Westin will provide the reserve strength in an attempt to fill in for Vogt.

The loss of Nick Adduci to the army leaves a large gap to be filled in the Husker backfield. Coach Glassford indicated that upon the return of Reynolds to active duty, young Smith will be switched to fullback on a fulltime basis. Until that time, the duties will be divided between Smith, Ray Novak, and Westin.

Other lineup changes announced by Glassford showed George Prochaska and Jerry Paulson moving to offensive guard in an effort to strengthen the blocking of the offensive. Wayne Handshy and Dick Regier will man the left and right tackle posts, respectively.

The return of two top notch linemen to the lineup tended to brighten the somewhat dampened prospects. Cliff Hopp will return to duty next Saturday and should add greatly to the defensive line-backing corps. Ted Connors will see action for the first time this year in Saturday's game. Because of an eligibility ruling, Connors missed the first three games of the season. Big Ted had been counted on to shoulder a large share of the tackle duties this fall and his return is greatly anticipated.

The Cornhuskers can through a light signal drill Monday as they worked without pads. Heavier action is planned for the squad during the week.

The boys showed last Saturday that they can improve and if this improvement continues the Gophers of Minnesota should be in for an interesting afternoon.

Lions Pointing For Spartans

The day is nearly a week away when Penn State engages Michigan State on the gridiron, but this quiet little mountain village is already running a football fever.

It's a cinch that the biggest football crowd in Nittany Lion history will sit in on the game. More than 20,000 fans are expected for the first sellout here since Beaver Field's seating capacity was doubled two years ago.

Everywhere you go, you hear the guarded observation: "I'll bet we can do it."

IM Grid Rating

The Warriors, leaders of the Independent football section, possess the most impressive record of the intramural league. The Warriors have won four while dropping none.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Gamma Delta, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Delta Tau Delta, Farm House, and Theta Xi have a slight edge over Acacia and Sigma Alpha Mu in the fraternity A games. All have won three and lost none except Acacia and Sigma Alpha Mu which have won two and dropped none.

Among the B teams, Sigma Alpha Epsilon has won three and lost none to lead in that section. The standing are:

Delts, Sig Alphas, Presbys, Phi Delts Take Intramural Games

By DOUG WILCOX

Fall's cold weather is beginning to appear on the scene but the enthusiastic intramural football players are still at it.

Last Friday at the Ag College, Delta Tau Delta and Sigma Phi Epsilon played to a thrilling 8 to 7 victory in favor of the Delts.

The Delts won the game in the last 40 seconds of play as Bert Sample threw a pass to Don Wood. The following extra point was made as Sample again passed to Jim Lowell in the end zone.

The Sig Eps led all the way in game until the last 40 seconds when the Delts tied the score. As the teams went into the overtime the Sig Eps fumbled the ball and all the Delts needed to do was make one yard which they accomplished and won the game.

The Sig Eps scored on a pass half way in the second quarter when Tom Whitcomb threw to Rich Newell. The extra point was successful as Whitcomb passed to Gale Teller.

In the last few seconds of play, Burt Sample threw a pass to Don Wood for the touchdown and then tied up the game by passing to Jim Lowell for the extra point.

The Delts feel that this was a very close game and that the Sig Eps have a terrific squad.

Batthey, Rea In Golf Finals

The fall golf tourney is slowly moving towards its culmination. In the first flight, Chick Batthey, Phi Delta Theta, will meet Jack Rea, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, for the championship of the winners bracket.

Al Blessing, Alpha Tau Omega, won the consolation bracket.

Bob Kubitcheck and Charlie Burgenhagen, both of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, will meet for the championship of the winners' bracket, while Bill Bletzer, Kappa Sigma, and Bill Holmquist, Phi Gamma Delta, will vie for the consolation title.

Jim Snyder, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, won the consolation bracket of the third flight. Bruce Evans, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, will meet Hal Mardis, Delta Tau Delta, for the upper bracket crown.

In the fourth flight, Al Cramer, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, captured the lower bracket and Charlie Haupt, Phi Delta Theta, will meet Pat Madden, Phi Gamma Delta, for the upper bracket title.

Doug Wilcox, Kappa Sigma, won the upper bracket. Duane Wamsley, Phi Gamma Delta, will play Downey for the lower bracket crown in the fifth flight.

The Benchwarmer

In view of Chancellor Gustavson's recent address concerning overemphasis on college sports one should stop and really consider the facts of the case.

In outlining his ideas on athletics, the Chancellor favored elimination of off-season practices, adopting a rule making freshman ineligible for varsity competition, be certain that athletic make normal progress toward graduation and eliminate post-season bowl games.

To the mind of the sports enthusiast, these rulings may seem too rigid. However, his ideas should be examined.

First, what is the logic in allowing freshmen to compete in varsity athletics. In passing the ruling athletic boards maintained it was necessary because the draft would take a major portion of college athletics, but this has not been the case at all. Using our own University as an example, this statement is easily proved.

Total enrollment at Nebraska is 6,200 and according to a recent poll, boys still outnumber girls five to two on the campus. Only one football player was lost to the service by draft this year. This situation certainly does not indicate a desperate lack of athletes.

The real reason behind the ruling allowing freshmen to play is simply petty rivalry on the part of colleges. It was begun by one, and the rest followed suit because they feared losing some outstanding prospects. It might have been better if some conferences would have waited to see the ultimate results of the draft before passing a fresh eligibility ruling.

Baseball Team Completes Drills; Rests Til February

By RON GIBSON

With the completion of fall baseball workouts on October 10, the diamond sport went back on the shelf until next February for Nebraska baseballers.

Diamond coach Tony Sharpe, who held the workouts to give freshmen and sophomore hopefuls a chance to show their ability, announced Monday that he would ask out 25 to 30 men for the varsity squad in February. About 20 candidates for the B squad will be called out at a later date. The B team will be made up of these men and those who failed to make the varsity.

The varsity diamondmen will begin working out in the field house immediately after first semester final exams. Coach Sharpe will try to whip the hopefuls into shape for their 1952 season.

The Cornhuskers will play a 22 game schedule, which is the maximum number of games allowed under Big Seven rules. Coach Sharpe said he was planning to arrange an early season trip for the Huskers during Easter vacation. If things go as planned, the trip will be made through Oklahoma and Texas and will include four games.

The regular season for the baseballers will open against Kansas State at Manhattan on April 15 and 16. The home opener will be at the NU diamond against Kansas on April 18 and 19.

In addition to a 14 game conference schedule, Sharpe has tentative plans for four non-conference home games.

Since former assistant coach Angelo Ossino is no longer at the university, the B squad is as yet without a leader. A B team member will be named later. Sharpe said he had hopes for a good-sized schedule for the nubbins next season.

Meek Puts New Life In Cats

Pressbox occupants who saw Kansas State's football squad pull an upset as the Cats settled for a 6-all tie with Nebraska's favored Cornhuskers were amazed at the fast rebuilding Coach Bill Meek is doing at the Wildcat school.

"These Kansas State kids are sound in their blocking and tackling fundamentals," was the consensus of the writers. The general impression gathered from the writers was Kansas State is going to be a respectable foe for any of its conference brethren this fall.

Kansas State's defensive unit, rapidly becoming known for its stingy way of dealing out yardage to opponents, is getting tougher with each game. It now appears that the offense has started to click after playing dead for two games.

In the Cincinnati game, lost by the Wildcats 34 to 0, the Kansas Staters had possession of the ball for only 58 plays. They gained a total of 194 yards, only 32 of them by rushing. The next week against Iowa, a game lost by the Cats 16 to 0, the Meek squad had the ball for 47 plays and ended with a total of only 68 yards. The rushing yardage was a minus 21 yards. But, against Nebraska things were different as a hasty oiling of the Cat offense seemed to pay off.

In the Husker game, the Wildcat offense had the ball for 71 plays and netted 269 yards. Forward passing accounted for 116 yards and the rushing game netted 153 yards.

Minnesota, Huskers Try For First Campaign Win

Nebraska's Cornhuskers and the Minnesota Golden Gophers will meet Saturday in Memorial stadium in Minneapolis and the winner of the contest will claim its first victory of the 1951 season.

It would be rather easy to compare the caliber of competition that the two squads have faced this year. The edge goes to the Gophers by a decided margin.

Coach Wes Fesler's eleven has taken it on the chin from Washington, California and Northwestern. The Huskies tripped the Gophers 28-13. "Pappy" Waldorf's Golden Bears gave the Feslermen the worst defeat in school history 55-14 and the Wildcats dumped them 21-7 last Saturday.

The Husker record is just as unimpressive only with less potential foes to combat. They dropped their season opener to T.C.U. by a 28-7 score, fell to Penn State 15-7 and tied Kansas-State 6-6.

The teams are on a comparably equal basis as far as team experience is concerned. The Gophers and Cornhuskers both depend a great deal on their freshman and sophomore members.

The Gophers are definitely out for revenge. The Huskers upset the Gophers in Minneapolis 32-26 last year. The scarlet team will be out to drop the men from the Northlands two times in a row, a feat that no Husker team has ever accomplished.

Coach Fesler is depending on many of his "old hands" to carry a good share of the burden against the Huskers. Six seniors, two sophomores and three juniors have been comprising Fesler's starting offensive team.

Carlson plays right tackle, Hudak plays left halfback, Wheaton will take the right halfback post and "Skip" Engel will be at fullback. Hudak has also been heralded as a top notch runner from

Tennis Tourny Nearing End

Jim Fabeita is the standout thus far in the fall tennis tourney. Fabeita has defeated Bill Hamann, Phi Delta Theta, and Bob Bale, Theta Xi.

Right behind Fabeita is Walt Weaver, Phi Delta Theta, who has defeated Erv Peterson, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Jimmy Collins, Acacia.

Carl Faharenbach, City YMCA, over David Alkine, Phi Kappa Psi, defeated Gordon Metcalf, Theta Xi; Don Davis, Phi Kappa Psi, over George Green, Theta Xi.

Bob Crook, Theta Xi, beat Jean Herman, Brown Palace; Mike Holyoke, Beta Theta Pi, defeated Harry Weiner; John Russell, bye.
