Rediger, Rosenquist, Kiffin Take Positions

VOL. 51—No. 24

LINCOLN, NEBRASKA

Thursday, October 18, 1951

The Student Council Wednesday afternoon appointed three new members to represent the student body on the committee of student publications.

The new members are Juanita Rediger, senior; Glen Rosenquist, junior; and Charles Kiffin, sophomore.

REDIGER

It happened at noon... The orientation programs for freshmen coeds slipped up somewhere or the coeds concerned slipped up on attending the meeting in question.

The meeting in question was the one which explains the symbol of the black Mortar Board suits which are worn by 20 seniors.

At the Activities Mart yesterday, one freshman said to her companion as an MB whizzed by, "Look at that black, I'd love to have one like it."

Her companion replied, "Oh, that suit. I wouldn't. Yesterday I saw suits like that on six different girls."

Also at the Activities Mart, a sophomore who should by this time know one activity from the other displayed her ignorance.

Volunteering to sit in one booth for an hour, she sat in the wrong booth during the assigned period.

Activities do get a little confusing.

Miss Rediger is a member of the Mortar Board, AWS senior board members, secretary of Theta Sigma Phi, vice-president of Gamma Alpha Chi and president of Gamma Phi Beta.

Rosenquist is treasurer of the Interfraternity Council and secretary of Phi Gamma Delta.

Kiffin is a Kosmet Klub worker and solicitor for AUP.

The publication board consists of four faculty members as well as the three student members.

Faculty members, student affairs committeemen, are, Dr. Roger V. Shumate, chairman; W. C. Harper, director of student affairs and commercial activities, secretary; William J. Arnold, associate professor of psychology; and Mary Guthrie, assistant extension home economist.

Advisor to the board is Ken Keller, assistant director of public relations.

The committee supervises all student publications and serves as final authority for publication policy matters. They also select the Cornhusker and The Daily Nebraskan staffs and handle all financial matters.

Student members last year were Norman Rasmussen, sophomore; Jerry Matzke, junior; and Leon Pfeifer, senior.

12 Groups To Enter Coll-Agri-Fun Show

Seven skits and five curtain acts will highlight the annual Coll-Agri-Fun skit night Saturday.

The performance will start at 8 p.m. in the College Activities building.

A $10 prize is being offered to the winning curtain act. The skit winner will receive a traveling plaque. Any organization winning the plaque three years in a row is entitled to keep it.

The skits are "Football Fools" by Amikita; "Small Fry Professors" by Loomis Hall; "Blue Monday" by Love Hall; "The Fashion Show" by Ag Men; "The Cowboy's Dream" by Alpha Gamma Rho; "The Lone Stranger Rides Again" by Farm House and "The Bad Brahma Bull" by the Rodeo association.

The curtain acts are "The Trying Hour" by Loomis Hall; "Dangerous Dan McGrew" by Love Hall; "Cutie Coeds of NU Campus" by home economics club;

"Cowlege Days" by YW; "Release My Hands, Sir" by YM.

The Ag Country Dancers will give a square dancing exhibition, but they are not entered in the competition.

Each skit will be allowed a maximum time of 10 minutes, while curtain acts will be allowed five minutes each.

The judges for the performance are Milo Arms, R. P. Matelski and Aultnas Tullis. Skits will be judged on quality of performance, time required, interest of action and originality.

Last year's skit winner was Farm House with "Good Knight Irene," YWCA was the winner in the curtain acts with "Play Without Words."

Rollie Reynolds will be emcee of the event.

Members of the Coll-Agri-Fun board are Wayne White, manager; Joyce Shaner, assistant manager; Jo Knotts, secretary; Dean Lin-schott, treasurer and Jan Ross and Jerry Johnson.

Farm Home Days . . .

Last Day Program Features Grassland Farm Discussions

Today is the final day of the 1951 Farm and Home Days at the College of Agriculture.

During the first two days the annual event drew hundreds of farmers and their wives to the campus. The purpose of the three-day program is to acquaint them with the latest research in agriculture and home economics.

The theme for today's program is "Grassland Farming."

The main speaker is Prof. A. J. Dyer of the University of Missouri. A panel moderated by Dr. Philip Henderson, manager of the University development farms, will discuss how to get the most out of grass.

The afternoon program includes a joint session of all agricultural departments in the Ag Engineering building. Under the direction of soil conservationist Fred B. Hamilton, the group will discuss phases of soil and water conservation.

Florence Atwood, state home extension leader, will preside over the home economics afternoon program. Loa Davis, extension economist from Washington, D. C., will speak on differences in products which the consumer buys. Problems of teen-agers will be discussed by a group of family relations specialists.

Farm and Home Days opened Tuesday with an address by Dr. George D. Scarseth, director of research of the American Farm Research association, Lafayette, Ind. Dr. Scarseth illustrated his lecture on "Soil, Civilization and Our Health" with 50 colored slides.

The late Edward Provost (Ned) Brown, farmer near Lincoln, a lawyer and member of the University of Nebraska Board of Regents, was honored during the Nebraska Hall of Agricultural Achievement program as a part of Tuesday's session. Dean Emeritus W. W. Burr of the College of Agriculture read the tribute to Brown.

One of the highlights of the Tuesday program was a barbecue. More than 2,000 former alumni were invited. Music for the program was furnished by the Lancaster county home extension chorus.

"Open house" discussions were held in the agricultural economics department. Farmers gathered to talk about lease arrangements, farm costs, farm tax problems and marketing problems.

'Roundup' . . .

Freshman Coeds To Register For YWCA Activity Group

Freshman coeds will have the opportunity to enroll in YWCA activities at the freshman "roundup" this afternoon from 3 to 5:30 in Ellen Smith hall.

At the "roundup," coeds may register for one of the ten YWCA freshman groups.

Virginia Koehler, leader of the freshman cabinet, said that every freshman woman is welcome whether or not she is, or intends to be, a member of the YWCA.

Three types of activities will be offered to the freshmen. These are discussions, planning their own programs and participation in two general programs. The general programs include one for the YWCA and one for a Lincoln service organization.

Topics for group discussions will be: "Why Are We in College?" "Problems of Campus Living," "Religion on the Campus," "Christian Heritage," "Political Effectiveness," and "Social Service Tour."

The freshmen discussion groups, Miss Koehler said, are patterned after the groups to which upperclassmen belong. The freshmen program is designed to acquaint them with all the areas of YWCA activity.

Weekly programs are planned by the freshman cabinet. The cabinet is comprised of the leaders of the freshman discussion groups.

YWCA freshman commission group leaders are:

Monday
4 p.m. Elaine Kagawa.
5 p.m. Donna Palmer.

Tuesday
3 p.m. Pat Patterson.
4 p.m. Norma Lothrop.
5 p.m. Phyllis Chubbuck.

Wednesday
4 p.m. Jackie Ullstrom.
5 p.m. Marilyn Housel.

Thursday
3 p.m. Jean Davis.
4 p.m. Rosemary Castner.
5 p.m. Carol Cherny.

Students Sign Up . . .

Mass Meet Set Tonight By NUCWA

Students who are interested in promoting the understanding of world affairs may still sign up for NUCWA committee work after the mass meeting tonight at 7 p.m. in Union Parlors X and Y.

New members will be welcomed according to Sally Hall, chairman of mass meetings, who announced the program for tonight's meeting.

Dale Johnson, defending the affirmative, and Paul Laase, defending the negative, will debate on the proposition: "All American citizens should be subject to conscription for essential services in time of war."

A discussion in which the audience may participate will follow the debate.

Hester Morrison will outline the plans of United Nations week which will be observed from Oct. 21 to 27. Miss Morrison is chairman of United Nations Week. She says more workers will help make the observance a success.

Sixteen Donate Blood

Only 16 blood donors volunteered to fill the September quota of 25 pints according to reports issued by the University Red Cross chapter.

Sixteen Coed Counselors have volunteered to help fill the October quota of 25 pints of blood set by the Lincoln Red Cross.

The deadline for this month is Oct. 30 and the campus unit expects enough volunteers for the requirement.

The September donors are: Mrs. Marvin Grimm, Fred W. Anderson, Lois D. Johnson, D. Templemeyer, Charles Bell, L. Downing, Erna Frissen, R. Milnar, Mrs. Lucille Stone, Marcella Ducey, Roger Hanson, Peggy Neville, Juanita Button and Ruth Raymond.

Coed Counselors who have volunteered for the October donations are: Marjorie Danly, Hattie Miller, Sue Gorton, Dee Gode, Jan Hepperly, Grace Dunn, Darlene Gooding, Donna Murphy, Mary Hubka, Peggy Mulvaney, Susie Reinhardt, Nancy DeBord, Terry Barnes, Elizabeth Gass, Joan Folmer, and Jennie Loudon.

First Union Mass Meet To Feature Skit, Tour

The first Union activities mass meeting will feature an explanation of the Union system by Chuck Widmeier.

The meeting, to be held Thursday in Parlors B and C, will also have a skit and a tour of the Union.

Model Security Council To Highlight Celebration Of United Nations Week

United Nations Week begins Oct. 21.

The highlight of the week will be the Model Security Council meeting planned for Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at Love library auditorium.

Doris Carlson, NUCWA president, Charles Gomon, and Dr. Frank Sorenson will participate in the Security Council discussion of the Iranian oil dispute.

University foreign students will present the point of view represented by their own countries.

United Nations Day all over the nation will be observed on Wednesday. To remind the campus of this event music will be played from the Carlillon tower Wednesday.

Another event scheduled for the week is the International Friendship dinner. It will be held Friday evening. Foreign students on this campus will be guests of University students.

The university faculty will also bring foreign guests.

In the social studies reading room of Love library will be a special exhibit of information on the United Nations. A booth will be set up and United Nations publications and literature will be available for reference there.

A booth will be open in the lobby of the Union every afternoon. United Nations literature will be on display as well as United Nations flags and publications.

United States state department is sending out a representative to photograph the events of United Nations Week through Nebraska. He will be in Lincoln for many of the main events during the week. Pictures he takes will be compiled into a booklet to be sent overseas to promote international understanding.

This Sunday Doris Carlson and Charles Gomon will be guests of "Your University Speaks," the radio program designed to publicize the University. They will outline United Nations week on campus and tell the public about the University activities of NUCWA.

The student body and faculty may attend the Security Council model meeting and help observe United Nations week on campus.

Hester Morrison, NUCWA committee chairman, is in charge of the week's events which will end Oct. 27.

Suez Canal Zone Riot Continues

EGYPT—The Suez canal continued to head the list of world trouble spots as both British and Egyptian troops were rushed to the scene of recent riots and demonstrations.

The city of Ismailia, British headquarters in the canal zone, was an armed camp bristling with machine-guns and tanks, and the 3,500 men of the 16th parachute brigade left Cyprus to reinforce the British garrison in Egypt.

New Pakistan Premier Closes Frontier

KARACHI, Pakistan—The first premier of Pakistan was buried Wednesday in Karachi following his assassination at a Moslem league meeting near the border of Pakistan and the disputed territory of Kashmir.

Liaquat Ali Khan was succeeded by a British-educated moderate, Khwaja Nazimuddin, who in turn ordered the frontier between India and Pakistan closed. He also ordered all Indians out of Pakistan immediately.

Allied Drive Advances Slowly

KOREA—The allied drive still ground slowly ahead on all fronts, but resistance was bitter in many sectors. The first cavalry division found the Reds in its area particularly obtuse and had to scratch them out of caves and bunkers with grenades and flamethrowers.

On the central front the 24th division captured a strategic eight and sealed off the remnants of five Chinese battalions in the area. These 800 men were all that remained of the 5,000 Chinese detailed to hold the important city of Kumsong at all costs.

The attack on Kumsong was the culmination of a gigantic allied flanking movement executed against several divisions of communists.

On the east coast the U.S. battleship New Jersey used her 16-inch guns to help the South Korean capital division storm to within two miles of the city of Kosong, 45 miles north of the 38th parallel.

Reds Stall At Truce Talks

TOKYO — Gen. Matthew Ridway announced that the Reds at the preliminary truce talks in Korea were up to their old stalling tricks. He added that over a period of several days "considerable progress" had been made in trying to determine where and when the full-dress talks will be resumed, but that the communists were definitely trying to delay the proceedings.

Headquarters also revealed that during a recent engagement a first cavalry division outpost in Korea was approached by about 30 Reds under a white flag. When they got within range they opened fire on allied positions. The Americans replied and advanced to hand-to-hand combat, whereupon hidden Red mortars began to lob shells into the battle. Both sides scurried to cover, to avoid the communist barrage, an interesting commentary on the value of human life in China.

NAA To Sell Paintings On Exhibit

Art pieces are being offered for sale to anyone who would like to buy pictures from the Nebraska Art Association's autumn show now open in Morrill hall.

The exhibit is composed of originals by contemporary artists in America. The NAA selected the pieces with emphasis on price, size and suitability for the home. Oil, watercolor, screen prints are all displayed and priced within the private purchase budget.

All pieces on display are for sale, although no prices are quoted beneath the pictures. Prospective buyers should inquire at the exhibit office where the artworks are catalogued with their prices. Approximately 100 pieces are included in the exhibit.

Almost every classification of art work is on display, from the deepest abstraction to the realistic Victorian school.

A large part of the show is devoted to wood cuts. Colored prints and black and white types are shown.

Through the autumn show the NAA is amplifying the functions of its annual spring show.

Admission to the exhibit is free for University students. A charge of 25 cents is made to the public. The show is scheduled through Nov. 9.

College Day Board Interviews Today

College Days board will interview members of honoraries and professional organizations today for board positions.

Applicants will be selected on the basis of interest, experience and willingness to work.

Students belonging to professional or honorary organizations, interested in helping with College Days, should apply to their respective presidents to represent their organization during College Days, Bob Reichenbach, president said.

Interviews will be in the Union, Room 316, from 3 to 5 p.m. No application blanks are necessary.

A map was perched atop one of Atlanta's buildings, very seriously contemplating suicide. A policeman made his way up to the roof to try to persuade him not to jump.

"Think of your mother and father," he pleaded.

"I haven't any."

"Think of your sweetheart, then."

"I hate women."

"All right then, think of Robert E. Lee."

"Who's he?"

"Jump you Yankee, jump."

"Are you free tonight?"

"No, but I'm inexpensive."
