

Reynolds In Limited Scrimmage

BY MARSHALL KUSHNER
Assistant Sports Editor

Bobby Reynolds, the country's first major football injury of the 1951 season was put through light scrimmages during the Cornhusker secret practice session Wednesday afternoon.

Bill Glassford chimed in with "the possibility of Reynolds playing is very doubtful Saturday." The fact remains that Reynolds will begin a necessary process of getting back into shape even though he will probably only see "very limited work" for several days at least.

The facts will show that Reynolds hasn't been in a scrimmage since September at the Huskers' training camp, Curtiss. The Husker mentor announced that Reynolds will definitely play in the Missouri game.

"Once I cut a boy from my squad, he is through." That was the answer Coach Glassford gave fans who were questioning whether Tom Caroline would return to the Nebraska squad this year.

The scarlet tutor said he would not reconsider saying that there can be no exceptions. He also claimed that he did not know what Caroline's future plans were.

The former all-state football star from Boys Town was the Huskers leading ground gainer with 167 yards and scored the Cornhuskers only touch down against Kansas State to gain a 6-6 tie with the Wildcats.

Don Vogt, the other missing link of the past Husker starting backfield gave his excuse for giving up the gridiron sport. "I felt that I owed it to myself to get in more study time."

Vogt is majoring in physical education and will continue his studies at the University of South Dakota at Vermillion. Vogt added, "I wasn't mad at anybody at Ne-work Minnesota plays behind closed gates Wednesday. The pass defense is also getting a thorough workout for the Gopher passing attack.

The Huskers will be playing without the services of two starting linemen, George Payne and Tony Winey who will definitely miss the Minnesota fray Saturday.

Payne was injured in the Kansas State game which forced him to miss the Penn State contest. He has been watching Husker workouts from the sidelines with sweat togs. Winey started against the Nittany Lions last Saturday and doctors found that what they had previously diagnosed as an ankle sprain was a chipped bone, which may keep him out several weeks.

Glassford continues to switch his starting personnel to strengthen the Nebraska potential. On the offensive team, Glassford has four new faces, while there will be three new defensive starters.

Wayne "the Bear" Handshy will see the starting action at the offensive left tackle spot. Handshy opened against Kansas State two weeks ago and saw a good amount of action against Penn State last week end.

Teaming up with Handshy at the tackle spot will be Dick Regier. Regier was injured against Kansas State and played very little against Penn State. He has been educated for both tackle and end play.

Joe Ponsiego will start at the offensive right guard position. Ponsiego was formerly a backfield man last year and was switched to the line to aid the loss of linemen through graduation.

Ray Novak will be seeing plenty of action at the starting fullback spot, taking the place of drafted Nick Adduci. Novak is a terror when it comes to hitting that line for valuable plunge plays.

Also included on the starting offensive team will be Frank Simons and Bill Giles on the ends. Both have been Glassford's chief assets for pass catching duty.

George Prohaska will again start at right tackle with Ponsiego. Prohaska's beautiful recovery of Don Norris' fumble deep in Penn State territory and running deeper into Lionland was a sign of his fine heads-up football ability.

Verl Scott will open at center Saturday. The rugged pivotman is a converted linebacker from last year's squad, where he was Nebraska's top pass interception artist.

Don Norris will get the call at quarterback and Bob Smith of Grand Island and Johnny Bordogna will open at the halfbacks.

On the defensive alignment, Dick Goll and Ted Connors will start at ends. Goll started last week's contest and Connors has missed the three opening games this season for eligibility reasons.

Connors may be used at end and tackle Glassford revealed. Jerry "the mauler" Minnick and Don Boll will start at defensive tackles. Minnick was a solid wall against the Nittany Lions and most of the Penn State comment after the game was praise for Minnick's fiery showing. Boll also was tremendous against the Lions. Nebraska Basketball Mentor Must Fill Graduating Posts

Coach Harry Good is starting his 1951-52 University of Nebraska basketball players through their first drills this week.

In seven weeks, Coach Good has to find replacements for Bob Pierce, Lincoln, regular center; Bob Mercer, Lincoln, guard; and Bernard Akromis, Omaha, at forward.

Paul Kipper, Lincoln, utility guard or forward, and the sixth man on last year's squad also has graduated.

Jim Buchanan, Avilla, Ind., senior guard, and Joe Good, Lincoln, junior forward, are the only two returning starters.

One other letterman who reported Monday was senior Bud Ward, Plainfield, Mo., center.

Ten freshmen numeral winners of last year reporting will be Jim Abernathy, Scottsbluff; Bud Exstrom, Holdrege; Bill Johnson, Lincoln; Danny Kuska, Chadron; Charles McAfee, Wichita, Kansas; Bennett Martin, Lincoln; Pat Mallette,

Hooper; Fred Seger, Omaha; Clark Smaha, Chicago; Don Weber, Esterville, Ia. A number of likely freshmen are trying out for the team. They are:

Two freshman candidates made the Iowa All State first team. They are: Gerald Sandulte, 6-0, Sioux Center, guard; and Bill Goelberg, 6-4, Sioux City Central, center. Third team center Ronald Colton, 6-5, of Peoria, Ill., and Charles Ott, 6-8 1/2, of Lincoln, Ill., are two other players who will report after the grid season ends.

Hoppy McCue has indicated he would pass up basketball for track. Howard Rudloff, 6-5, Omaha Holy Name, is a transfer from St. Louis U. One year's residence is necessary before he is eligible.

The Huskers open the season December 1 against Iowa State Teachers College. The trip to Southern Methodist, Tampa and Miami will be made by air starting December 19. The schedule:

Fire Away

By CORK BIEMOND

Those lucky persons who are journeying to the Missouri game this weekend will not be interested in reading the following paragraphs, however, those who are planning to don the gear of the hunter will be most interested.

The latest information available indicates that many scattergunners in Nebraska who are taking to the fields this weekend will be successful in their quest for game.

The season starts Friday at noon, and according to a newly filed report by state game warden Art Edmunds of Grand Island there are more large blue geese and white snow geese in central Nebraska this week than have been seen in many years.

Edmunds piloted an aircraft over the central section of the state early this week and from personal observation he stated that this season should be the best ever for nimrods who enjoy the privilege of eating roast geese, providing they can successfully maneuver these tempting targets into shotgun range.

Both the duck and geese situation is most promising barring very cold weather in the immediate future.

The specific areas around Grand Island, Aurora, York and also along the Missouri river are those mentioned in this report which are considered to be the best place to hunt. Many hundreds of the big birds have been seen in the green wheat fields in this section, as well as along the Platte River.

Although there will be many persons who will hunt along the river and by walking, will hope to sneak up on a bunch of the big honkers by far the most successful hunters of this state bird will have a special blind built and also will have invested many dollars in decoys and equipment.

Remember that a federal migratory waterfowl permit is required in addition to a license, and they can be secured at any U. S. Post office, prior to hunting.

Rumor has it that there are several sororities that would appreciate the privilege of enjoying a roast goose dinner with the successful hunters. It does look like a marvelous opportunity for some of the more social minded male members of the University.

Kansas University Tops League

By Staff Writer

Reeves Peters, executive secretary of the Missouri Valley, or Big Seven football conference announced the latest facts and figures on Big Seven teams and individual players.

Perhaps the saddest record in the conference is the list of injured stars. Three pre-season favorites to garner all-American honors have been hurt and will miss good shares of this seasons gridiron play.

Nebraska's Bobby Reynolds has already missed the first three Husker games this season because of a shoulder separation. Billy Vessels injured his knee in the Texas-Oklahoma football game last Saturday and will be out for about a month. Charlie Hoag is the third star to bite the injury dust, Charlie has been sidelined with a groin injury.

As far as team titles are concerned, Kansas university boasts the top total offensive yardage and pass yardage in the conference. The Colorado Buffaloes lead the league in yards gained rushing.

Nebraska's Cornhuskers receive the blue ribbon for the worst pass defense. Opponents have hit 571 of their passes against the scarlet and cream. Kansas State ranks second with 520.

Nebraska is also running away with the least yards penalized this year. The Huskers have been sentenced to 90 yards in three games, while Kansas has taken 154 yards in penalties in their first four contests.

Bud Laughlin of Kansas takes the top ball carrier laurels for the third straight week. Bud has picked up 268 yards and leads teammate Bob Brandenburg by nine yards for the top spot in this department.

Nebraska's Bob Smith, freshman from Grand Island, ranks sixth in the ball carrying picture. Tom Caroline ranks tenth in the conference. Smith has collected 167 yards to Caroline's 142.

Another Jayhawker leads the conference in passing. Jerry Robertson, junior from Dallas, work Bob "Moon" Mullen will be game captains against the Gophers Saturday. The Huskers were expected to Texas, 22 of 38 passes for 522 yards. Robertson leads Colorado's Zack Jordan, who has hit 29 of 63 aerials for 393 yards.

Johnny Bordogna ranks tenth with his six completions out of 13 attempts and Don Norris has the number twelve spot with nine hits and nine misses. Bordogna's net yards in 69 and Norris' 66.

Orbon Tice of Kansas is the top pass receiver with five catches totaling 144 yards. Bob Brandenburg of Kansas is second with three catches and 132 yards.

Frank Congiador of Iowa State is the conference top notch punter with five punts averaging 39.8 yards per kick. Junior Wren of Missouri is right on his heels with 28 punts averaging 39.7 yards.

Johnny Bordogna is seventh and Ray Novak eighth in this department. Bordogna has a 34.4 average and Novak a 34.2. Tom Caroline is tenth with a 40.5 average.

Kansas ace Bud Laughlin also heads the list of leading scorers this year. Laughlin has hit pay dirt for six touchdowns and 36 points.

Stan Cozzi of Iowa State has five touchdowns as does Brandenburg of Kansas for 30 points. John Konek has connected on 12 extra points for Kansas and Bob Clendingen of Iowa State has 11 extra points and a field goal.

The first game on the program for the day was the tilt between the Theta Xi's and the Tau Kappa Epsilon. The final score in this game was 20 to 0 in favor of the Theta Xi's.

The second tilt of the day was the game between the Sigma Phi Epsilon and the Phi Delta Theta houses. The final score in this contest was 19 to 0 in favor of the Sig Eps.

Scoring for the Sig Ep's was Bill Anderson who caught a 35 yard pass from the hands of the Sig Ep passer Ted Pratt. The conversion attempt was unsuccessful so at the half time the score stood at 6 to 0 in favor of the Sig Ep's.

The final score in the tilt came in the last of the fourth quarter as Ted Pratt again wound up his throwing arm and sent a pass to Bob Svanda. Pratt proved to the Phi Delt's that he could also run by carrying the ball over the goal line for the extra point.

A very close game was played between the men of Beta Theta Pi and the Farm House. This game finally resulted in an overtime and a win for the Beta's. The score in this tilt was 8 to 7 in favor of the Beta's.

The Farm House scored on a 25 yard pass from Rollie Reynolds to Ray Vlasin. On the try for conversion Reynolds again passed only to Ray Gard. This was the last of the Farm House scoring for the day.

The winners scored on a 20 yard pass from Beta quarterback Bud Wiederspan to Pete Peters. This pass was the climax of a series of 5 pass plays from the Beta's own 20 yard line.

The extra point was a combination of Wiederspan to Tom Harrington and made the score all tied up 7 to 7 at the end of the final quarter.
