Moot Court To Open

Moot court competition for freshmen law students will begin Nov. 23.

Each student is required to write a brief and argue a case in a practice round during the first semester and a competitive round second semester.

Moot court was established by the Board of Regents and the faculty as a memorial to Thomas Stinson Allen, first Law College graduate.

Students are chosen on the basis of high scholastic standing and interest in the success of the competition.

A board of advisers of faculty and upperclassmen in law college supervise moot court.

New board members are Richard Tobler, Harrison Russell, Richard Spangler, Gladwyn Youngs, Jay Dunlap and Alan Curtis.

Faculty members participating in the first faculty recital of the year were Jack E. Snider, Mary Jane Waggoner and Earl F. Jenkins.

The recital was the first of a series to be held on Sunday afternoons in the Union ballroom.

Miss Waggoner has been an instructor of piano here for three years. Last summer she studied music in New York.

Jenkins is an instructor of voice and an assistant choral director at the University.

Accompanists for the recital were Mary Green and John Blyth.

Danforth Officer Appointed

Chancellor R. G. Gustavson has named Dean Robert W. Goss of the Graduate College liaison officer to work with the Danforth Foundation.

Goss is an instructor in brass instruments and conducts the brass choir. He was formerly supervisor of instrumental music at Kearney.

The fellowships, varying from $500 to $2,400, according to the student's need, are granted annually to college seniors and recent graduates preparing themselves for a career of teaching.

Students wishing further information should contact Dean Goss, Social Sciences building, Room 111.

Filings for junior and senior class officers will close Wednesday, according to Student Council representative George Wilcox.

To avert pressure from any group the Council will not announce the names of any candidates until filings have officially closed.

Voting will be held at Kings from 8:30 to 9:30 p.m.

The 500 tickets available may be purchased from AUF representatives in organized and unorganized houses or in the AUF booths at the Union.

Ugliest Man on Campus ends Tuesday according to AUF president, Sarah Fulton.

The six finalists will be revealed in Wednesday's issue of The Daily Nebraskan.

Voting jars have been placed in the Crib, University Drug, Campus Inn, Hermie's and Ag Union for the initial voting.

In the primary voting, each vote must be wrapped around a nickel and dropped in one of the voting jars.

Tickets are now on sale in the Union for the Charity Ball which will climax this year's AUF fund drive Friday.

"Let's cut Biology class today." "I can't, I need the sleep."

"Do you smoke?" "No."

"Do you drink?" "No."

"Do you neck?" "No!"

"How long have you been in college?" "I just registered."

According to Lincoln weather authorities, light rainfall and showers are expected for today or Tuesday.

The young college student was a looking very weary and dejected.

"What's the trouble?" asked the kindly acquaintance.

"It's yooz," moaned he. "I've got a bad case of yooz!"

"What's yooz?" "It's double Scotch, thanks."
