

Joe Good To Miss Gopher Fray

By MARSHALL KUSHNER
Assistant Sports Editor

The Nebraska basketball team will run into what might well be its toughest non-conference foe of the season when it meets the veteran-studded Gophers from Minnesota this Saturday.

Adding to the dismay of Coach Harry Good is the announcement that Joe Good received a sprained ankle in practice Wednesday and will miss the fray. The ankle is not fractured.

Good has been taking treatments from the corps of Husker trainers and will receive medical treatment in the student health for the rest of the week.

With Joe out, Coach Harry Good will have only one other starter to carry the burden. Jim Buchanan is the only other first stringer with this year's case on.

Nothing has been definitely decided concerning who will fill the vacancy of the Lincoln junior, but Good indicated that either Jim Snyder or Clarence Cook will get the nod.

Snyder is a veteran of the 1950-51 squad and got in enough playing time to win a letter. Cook is the former all-state guard at McCook high school.

Coach Ozzie Cowles will bring his northern giants into Lincoln with plenty of experience behind them. Cowles has a multitude of both—experience and giants, that is.

For example, a look at the starting lineup shows the starting Gopher lineup averaging over 6'2" and the chart shows their average weight 203, a mark that would cause many a football coach to rub their hands.

Dick Means, former all-state basketball player from Lincoln high, will be one of the senior guards opening for the Minnesota five. Means weighs 180 and stands 6'1".

At the other forward position will be Glen Reed, a 183 pound, 6'3 1/2" sophomore, Reed hails from the state of Wisconsin. His ability speaks for itself when one finds that Cowles has access to two other senior cagers at the same position.

Starting at center for the Gophers will be sophomore Edward Kalafat, weighing 244 and standing 6'6 1/2". Kalafat was the main feature in the Gophers' 58-54 loss to Bradley. This Montana ace looks like another Jim McIntyre in the making.

Opening guards for the northern quintet will be Arthur Anderson and Bob Gelle. Anderson is a senior weighing 195 and measuring 6'4" tall. Anderson is also from Wisconsin and is a two year letterman.

Bob Gelle, also a Gopher football performer, will fill the other guard spot with his 215 pounds filling out a 6'3" frame. He is the only starter on the team that hails from Minnesota.

From the experience angle, Coach Cowles' squad is composed of seven seniors, three juniors, seven sophomores and two freshmen. It becomes quite apparent that the two sophomore starters must be pretty sharp to beat out senior members with two years experience with the team.

Stan Matzke will take the other forward spot and Bill Johnson will open at center for the scarlet crew. Buchanan and sophomore Fred Seger will spearhead the Cornhuskers from their guard positions.

A run-down of the Nebraska lineup shows the possibility of two freshman starters; two sophomore starters; and one senior. This leaves the Huskers with a great gap of inexperience for a victory.

"The boys will pick up needed experience against the Gophers. It will take time for the boys to become accustomed to college basketball." He was referring to the fact that a good share of the Husker cage team is composed of underclassmen.

In reference to the team performance last weekend against the Iowa Teachers, Good said, "we showed possibilities. We need a great deal of improvement in the way of team play, offense and individual defense."

ED BERG . . . Pro Baseballer Says School Comes First

By RON GIBSON
Sports Staff Writer

Any would-be professional baseball player in the audience? "Go to college first, and then if you're a standout you can play professional baseball. That way you have an education to fall back on."

This is the advice of Ed Berg, a junior in Teachers College at the University. Ed has been a pro ballplayer for four years. Berg started his professional career in 1947 when he was a freshman at the University. Since the fall semester of every year, then he has gone to school in dropping out every spring to play baseball.

After signing with the St. Louis Cardinals, Ed, a second baseman, was sent to Tallahassee, Ala., the Redbirds' affiliate in the Class D Georgia-Alabama, Ontario, a Card farm club in the Pony League, also a Class D circuit.

Berg played the keystone position for two years at Hamilton, and in his last season was chosen the team's most popular player.

Ed has decided to quit the diamond sport for a while, in order to finish his education. He plans to major in journalism. When he finishes school, wants to be connected with baseball in some way.

What did he get out of his pro career? Here's what Ed has to say:

I got to travel all around the country, and I was able to meet a lot of different people from so many different places. During his four-year tenure in the Cardinal organization, Berg played ball with some promising young stars. Some of his teammates were Ben Boyer, who later played for the Omaha Cards; Tom Keating, who played for Rochester in the Triple A International League; Dave Johnston, who went to the A Columbus (Georgia) Cardinals; an Bob Tif-fenauer who is listed on the "big" Cards.

Although Berg is ineligible for college baseball because of his pro career, he doesn't feel that it was a mistake to play professional. Ed said he thought the Cardinals had always given him a fair deal, and that they were one of the best clubs in baseball.

Ed's not through with baseball, though. The redheaded second sacker plans to play semipro ball next summer, just to keep in touch with the game.

Thirty-Nine Wrestlers Slated To See Action In IM Tournament Semi-finals

By GLEN NELSON
Sports Staff Writer

Thirty-nine intramural wrestlers survived the preliminary and second rounds of the all-University wrestling tournament.

The semi-final and final rounds, previously scheduled for Thursday and Friday of this week, have been postponed until Monday and Tuesday by Al Partin, meet director.

A total of 52 fall points have been piled up by teams in a scramble for the championship trophy. Some of the fall points were won by virtue of forfeits however.

Beta Theta Pi leads the race with 11 fall points, Sigma Chi is second with 10, and Delta Tau Delta ranks third with nine.

Sigma Chi has the most men remaining in the meet with a total of nine. Delta Tau Delta and Beta Theta Pi are tied with five men apiece for the second high total.

The quickest match in the books was turned in by Jerry Yeager, Delt 167-pounder. Yeager threw Al Osborne, Alpha Tau Omega, in :25 of the first round Wednesday.

In the semi-finals of the 123-pound class, Marty Lewis, Sigma Phi Epsilon, will meet Don Peterson, Delta Sigma Psi, and Bob Glenn, representing Men's Dorm, takes on Gary Sherman, Sigma Chi.

Sherman pinned Ross Hecht, Sig Ep, in 3:21 in the only 123-pound match in the tourney to date. The other three men drew byes.

Only four men are entered in the 130-pound class, so each automatically reaches the semis. Jerry Carranzo, Delta Sig, grapples Dale Hahn, Sigma Chi, and Scott Hedden, Men's Dorm, is paired with Phil Visek, Beta Theta Pi. Hedden was 137-pound champ last year.

The 137-pound class should feature some close matches. Three of the four remaining men earned wins by pinning their Wednesday opponents. Milo Brabek, Sig Ep, meets Tom Thompson, Phi Gam, and Bill Burrows, Theta Chi, meets Richard Hildek.

Brabek has yet to wrestle in the meet, as he hurdled the preliminary matches with a bye, and won a forfeit to reach the quarter-finals. Thompson pinned Dick Clark, Beta, in :41 of the first round; Burrows pinned Paul Cook, Delta Tau Delta, in 1:09; and Hildek threw Jack Gillespie, Beta, in :55.

All four survivors in the 147-pound class gained the semifinals by virtue of falls. Hray O'Hanian, winner over Tom Beal, Delta Tau Delta in 4:57 of the second round, tussles Bob Howard, Beta who pinned John Ellwell, Phi Gam, in 4:32.

In the other 147 match Max Andrews, Beta, wrestles Dick Shellenberg, Sigma Nu. Andrews threw Dennis Wamsley, Phi Gam, in 1:12 of the first round. Shellenberg made quick work of Jerry Atkinson, Alpha Tau Omega, finishing the match in only :32. Three Sigma Chi's remain in the 157-pound class, assuring the Sigs three places in that weight.

Tough combats are slated for the 177-pound division. Stan Snyder, Sigma Chi, is paired with Tom Harrington, Beta. Snyder won over George Kohde, ATO, in the prelims, and Harrington pinned Waldo Berg, Delt, in 1:50 Wednesday night.

Milt Dewhirst, Delta Tau Delta, is slated to meet Gary Ashbaugh, Sigma Chi, in the other 177-pound match of the semi-finals. Ashbaugh now has two falls to his credit.

Seven heavyweights are still in the running. Ed Husman, Phi Kappa Phi, meets J. Benedict, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Herschel Morton, Sigma Nu, fights Dick Pickett, Beta Theta Pi; and Max Kitzelman wrestles Kenneth Kunes, Alpha Tau Omega.

Yanks Curb Radio' TV

The World Champion Yankees announced a cut back Wednesday in radio and TV coverage of their 1952 games in response to "an appeal by minor league boss George M. Trautman for "reasonable restraint."

Trautman warned at the minors' opening business session that the "umbrella" of "highly colored" big league broadcasts and telecasts threatens to destroy the small circuits.

The Yankees immediately announced they will authorize no national network or "game of the day" presentations and will cut other broadcast activities wherever possible.

Trautman's remarks came as the minor leaguers rolled up their sleeves to tackle problems after two convention days spent principally in their annual player draft.

The minors' executive pointed out that the number of leagues under his jurisdiction has declined from 59 to 49 in the past two years with attendance falling from 43,700,000 to 27,500,000.

Baseball Commissioner Ford C. Frick urged major and minor executive to co-operate more closely and not "sit in their own moated castles" selfishly unaware of each other's problems.
