BURKE SAYS . . .

'Basic Core' To Continue In Omaha

Harry A. Burke, superintendent of Omaha public schools, proposed Monday that the University drop specific requirements for admission.

Burke declared that requiring "basic core" of subjects for high school students is essential in Omaha.

The proposal is under discussion by the Nebraska Association of School Administrators.

"Basic core" will be continued even if the University should abolish specific requirements for admission, he declared.

He continued by saying, "Forty percent of the 2,000 students who will be graduated from Omaha high schools this year will go to 150 separate colleges over the country."

He stated that the pattern will not change because we send students to so many institutions. Even students who do not go to college will need English, mathematics, social studies and science.

Noel Lawrence of Grand Island, vice president of the School Administrators' association, answered a letter of criticism from the executive committee of the University College of Arts and Sciences by saying the only action taken by the association at a recent meeting was to name a committee to discuss the matter.

Card Distribution Altered In Registration Process

The major change in student registration for second semester is the manner in which class cards will be distributed.

Before, students were given one IBM card for each class, lab and quiz section for which they registered. Next semester two IBM cards will be distributed to each student. The cards will be like those previously distributed except that one card will be brown.

The brown card will be the students' enrollment card which they will carry to class instructors. This card, which will have "paid" stamped across it by the controller, will indicate to instructors that students' registration has been completed.

"Students who lose their brown-colored enrollment cards must expect some delay in completing their enrollment even if their fees have been paid," said Dr. Floyd W. Hoover, acting director of registration and records.

Students are to make appointments with their advisors as soon as possible so that they may plan their second semester schedules before Christmas vacation.

Theta Xis, Betas, Sigma Nus, Sammies Elect New Officers

Four fraternities have elected their officers for the second semester.

The following Theta Xi officers were installed Monday night: Leonard Hammes, president; Dave Knapp, vice president; Alan Blaha, treasurer; Vaden Miller, secretary; Reed Perry, house manager; Andrew Boris, pledge trainer.

Charles Thompson was elected president of Beta Theta Pi, succeeding Bill Hein who has been called into military service. Stu Reynolds will replace Thompson as corresponding secretary. Bill Michelson, recording secretary;

Keith Mumby, vice president and pledge trainer; and Bill Greer, treasurer, will remain in their respective positions.

Sigma Alpha Mu officers will be: Ira Epstein, president; Don Silverman, secretary; Earl Rochman, treasurer; Jerry Spitzer, house manager; Gerry Fellman, historian; Allan Garfinkle, alumni recorder; Leonard Bush and Marvin Kohli, pledge master.

New officers of Sigma Nu are: Lyle Altman, commander; Dick Duxberry, it. commander; Wayne Hunt, recorder; Hille Goodrich, treasurer; Stan Sipple, marshal; Fran Richardson, pledge trainer.

RCCU VOLUNTEERS . . .

Gray Ladies Assist At State Hospital

Red Cross College Unit not only serves the physically handicapped and the socially deprived, but it also lends a helping hand to the patients at the state mental hospital.

Seven University coeds serve as Gray Lady assistants at the hospital.

The RCCU volunteers each spend an afternoon every week offering companionship for the patients and helping the hospital staff.

Every Monday, Margie DeLamatre assists in the recreational program of social and square dancing.

Mary Lou Carnaby serves in a secretarial capacity on Tuesday afternoons. She also plays cards with the patients and arranges parties for them.

On Wednesday afternoons, Pat VinSant and Phyllis Armstrong can either be found in the hospital library checking out books or working on the hospital paper, "Hospital Highlights."

Sally Bartling aids the art classes on Thursday afternoons. The current art projects have been painting still life pictures and making Christmas cards.

Shopping with the patients in the hospital drug store is one of the duties of Paula Withey. She then directs the patients to the

There is a slight difference between the Military Ball and the AUF auction. However, one University male wonders if the person who took his ticket at the Military Ball was aware of this fact.

Saturday morning when the fellow was checking the contents of his billfold he discovered that he still had his ticket to the Ball but his AUF auction ticket was gone. It seems that the doorman had accepted it by mistake.

The fellow now wonders why he bothered to spend the $3 for the ticket when he could have been admitted for 25 cents. The only problem is that he must pay another quarter to go to the auction.

'MISS RAG MOP' . . .

Nebraskan To Sponsor New Type Queen Contest

During the course of a school year more queens are chosen by various campus organizations than could be counted on a centipede's legs.

Not to be outdone, The Daily Nebraskan is announcing a new type of queen contest—with qualifications different from those usually sponsored by various organizations. It's the "Miss Rag Mop" contest.

"Miss Rag Mop" will be different in more ways than one. The qualifications for judging will be as follows:

1. She must have at least a 7-5 average.
2. She must be attractive.
3. She must be active in no activities.

Once a man and his dog were sitting on a park bench watching the pigeons. The man reached for a cigarette and found his pack was empty. Turning to the dog, he said, "Hey, Charles, do you have a cigarette?"

"No," said the dog, "but there's a place down the street where they sell them."

"Fine," said the man, "here's a quarter, go get me a pack."

An hour later the dog had not returned, so the man went to look for him. He found the dog sitting at a bar, casually sipping a Martini.

"This is a hell of a note," said the man. "Here I've always been able to depend on you before, and now you pull a trick like this. What's the idea?"

"Well," began the dog sheepishly, "I gave you a quarter before."

Temperatures will rise slightly today, with the day's high near 34; with the temperature again falling this evening.

We're broom mates. We swept together. Dust we two.

Only nine more school days left till Christmas.

Records of "The Messiah" by the University choral union may be ordered in the radio department, Temple basement. Orders will be filled during Christmas vacation. The records which are both long and standard playing are priced from $2.25 to $11.

AUF To Reveal Activity Queen At Auction Tonight

"For Sale" will be the sign of the times tonight at the AUF auction.

The fourth annual AUF Auction will be held tonight at 7 p.m. in the Union ballroom. In keeping with the auction tradition, all items will be sold to the highest bidder.

This year's auction will feature everything from pie targets to University royalty. Some of the merchandise slated to be sold includes innocents, a page in The Daily Nebraskan, Prince Kosmet Jim Buchanan and Nebraska Sweetheart Adele Coryell.

Other items with "for sale" signs include fraternity and sorority pledge classes and All-American football player Bob Reynolds.

In keeping with an AUF tradition that began last year, a new queen will be added to the University's royalty roster. The new queen, the Activity Queen, will be chosen by vote of those attending the auction.

Candidates for this year's Activity Queen are:

Barbara Adams, who is representing the Cornhusker. Miss Adams is in Arts and Science College and a member of Pi Beta Phi.

Sue Gorton, Coed Counselor board representative in Arts and Science college. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Sue Holmes is personnel committee chairman of Union activities which she represents. Miss Holmes is affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta.

Women's Athletic Association representative is Georgia Hulac. Miss Hulac is assistant intramural coordinator of the organization.

The Daily Nebraskan representative, Shirley Murphy, is a news editor on the staff. Miss Murphy is a member of Sigma Kappa.

Jan Steffen represents Associated Women Students board. Miss Steffen is a member of Gamma Phi Beta.

Last year's Activity Queen was Julie Johnson, who represented the Cornhusker.

GOING, GOING, GONE! . . . Curtis M. Elliott, economics professor, turned auctioneer at the All University Fund 1950 auction. This year, Prof. Ray M. Knapp, will auction off innocents, Beauty Queens and the Football team to the highest bidders tonight at the AUF auction. (Daily Nebraskan Photo.)

Money received from the auction will be added to the funds received during the recent AUF fund drive. This money will be turned over to various charitable organizations.

Tickets for the auction are on sale today in the Union. They may also be purchased at the door.

Rhodes Scholarship Board To Screen State Applicants

Nebraska applicants for one of the most valued scholastic achievements for university graduates in the United States, Rhodes scholarships, will be privately interviewed in Chancellor Gustavson's office Wednesday.

Two representatives from the state will be picked from seven applicants. The two will take part in final screening at a regional meeting which the student winners from six states will attend.

Four from the group of 12 will be selected to study for two years in Oxford, England, with the possibility of a third year.

Applicants from Nebraska for scholarships are:

Thomas Rische, 21, a senior in the school of journalism at the University and editor of The Daily Nebraskan.

James M. Gerhart, 21, Omaha, senior in the United States military academy at West Point.

Dick Henry Holze, 20, Lincoln, a junior in the College of Arts and Sciences at the University.

Wesley Fuerst, 21, Wilcox, a graduate with a bachelor degree from Midland college.

Delwyn J. Nagengast, 21, Dodge, a senior at Creighton University.

Donald M. Heese, 21, of Earl, Ia., a senior at Creighton University.

H. David Willey, 21, of Omaha, now a senior at Colgate university at Hamilton, N. Y.

Students applying for the scholarship may do so either in their home state or in the state of the school they are attending.

Members of the board to review the seven students are Henry A. Gunderson, Fremont; Paul F. Good, Omaha; E. O. Belsheim, dean of the law school at the University and Dr. N. B. Blumberg, assistant professor of journalism at the University.

ASAE To Hold Annual Oyster Feed Tonight

Students and faculty members of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers will be guests tonight at the annual oyster feed sponsored by the tractor testing division of agricultural engineering.

Lester Larsen, engineer in charge of tractor testing, announced that the feed will begin at 6 p.m. at the tractor testing laboratory. Guest speaker will be W. V. Lambert, dean of the College of Agriculture. He will show films taken on his recent trip to Africa.

Bruce Villars, student in charge of invitations, reports that Lt. Gov. Charles Warner and Roy M. Green, dean of the College of Engineering and Architecture, will also be present.

Warner's interest in tractor testing dates back to the time when he introduced a bill to the Nebraska legislature which provided for establishment of tractor testing.

L. W. Hurlbut, head of the agricultural engineering department, will act as master of ceremonies.

TALENT AT ITS HEIGHT . . .

Gridsters Imitate Glassford, Franklin

By STAFF REVIEWER

Kosmet Klub attention: The Cornhusker football team has more talent than its record of the past season indicates—acting talent that is.

The gridsters put on their show before a packed house of Quarterback club members Monday night. The event was the annual football banquet honoring the Cornhusker football squad.

Due to some oversight the entertainment for the evening had been overlooked. Quickly, after threatened with the loss of scholarship, the Husker squad filled the bill.

Robert "Moon" Mullen, unofficial spokesman for the squad, introduced the first personality in Wayne "Bear" Handshy.

Before going through the repertoire of imitating Coach Bill Glassford, the self-styled politician lumbered to the speaker's table and shook hands with his former boss to insure no hard feelings.

Handshy then proceeded to put the patrons in hysterics with his act of "Glassford vs. Handshy."

Veri Scott continued along the same line. His subject was the sharp-witted Preacher Franklin. Veri with his "Geojaw" accent performed well.

Standing in case Scott couldn't recall enough of the Preacher's witty sayings were Bill Schabacker and George Prochaska. Both men had acquired the experience for the part from their rookie days.

George Paynich, honorary member, faculty adviser and composer of the loyalty song, conducted the members in their first public appearance.

With their right hands over their hearts, the boys sang with so much sincerity and feeling that tears were evident throughout the crowd of old grads.

Oh, yes, with the entertainment finished, there were a few speakers—Coach "Biggie" Munn of Michigan State, Bill Glassford, and Mayor Victor Anderson of Lincoln.
