Two Teams To Debate At Purdue U

The question of permanent price and wage controls is keeping freshmen and upperclass debaters busy. Four university students, Doris Carlson, junior, Joan Krueger, junior, Wayne Johnson, sophomore, and Dale Johnson, sophomore, will debate this question at Purdue University, La Fayette, Ind., on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Miss Carlson and Miss Krueger will present the negative argument for establishment of permanent controls. The affirmative will be presented by Johnson and Johnson. The debate will consist of four rounds. The first two will be audience debates. The two top teams will compete in the two final rounds.

Donald Olson, director of debate, will discuss "Judging Techniques in Debate" at a special discussion for debate coaches. Dale Johnson will also speak at a special discussion period.

Two freshman teams attended a debate held Saturday at Southwestern College, Winfield, Kans. David Gradwohl and Ken Philbrick were undefeated in the first five rounds of the junior division. They were defeated in the quarter finals.

Debate teams from 27 colleges and universities were entered in both the junior and senior divisions. The junior division consists of inexperienced teams while experienced debaters are in the senior division.

19 Outstanding 'Sisters' To Be Named At Tea

Nineteen outstanding Coed Counselors will be announced at 4:30 p.m. Thursday at the annual Christmas tea.

They have been selected by the Coed Counselor board on the basis of interest in the organization, participation in group projects, ratings from "little sisters" and recommendations of board members.

Presiding at the tea tables will be: Marjorie Johnston, dean of women; Helen Snyder, assistant dean of women; Mary L. Mielenz, associate professor of secondary education; Mary Augustine, assistant to the dean of women; Anne L. Christensen, instructor in elementary education, and Katherine L. Parks, director of counseling and social activities at the residence halls for women.

Wilcox Takes Over Daily Nebraskan Circulation Duties

George Wilcox has been appointed circulation manager of The Daily Nebraskan for the remainder of the semester. He was named by Jack Cohen, business manager, to succeed Charles Burmeister, who was unable to do the work because of illness.

Wilcox, a former reporter and columnist for The Daily Nebraskan, will be assisted by Dick Barnhart and Ed Berg.

Black Masque Ball To Feature Eligible Bachelors, Beauty Queens, Tex Beneke

Have you asked your fella' to the Black Masque Ball? The date is Dec. 14, the time 8 p.m., and the place is the University coliseum. Tex Beneke and his band will provide the music and the evening will be highlighted by the presentation of the Eligible Bachelors and the 12 Beauty Queen finalists.

Dan Dailey, Ann Baxter To Star In Union Film

The musical comedy, "Ticket to Tomahawk," starring Dan Dailey and Ann Baxter, is the movie to be shown Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in the Union ballroom.

The brilliant singing and dancing of Hollywood stars, Dan Dailey and Ann Baxter, add gaiety and life to the old theme of "the train must go through." The story is laid in the west and is centered around an early train and its struggle to stay on schedule.

'Efficiency Of College Students Depends On Food'—Leverton

Food and efficiency definitely go hand in hand. That is the opinion of Dr. Ruth Leverton, professor of home economics, concerning diet and its effect on University students. Miss Leverton said that persons with the biggest general diet problems were the students whose diets "were in the little zone between adequacy and top notch health diets." Dr. Leverton said that most students do not actually suffer from malnutrition but that many of the students do not always eat the best of food necessary to a good diet.

studies, Dr. Leverton has found an interesting correlation between the food habits of students who pay for their meals in advance and those who pay for one meal at a time. Dr. Leverton said that "students who have paid their board ahead of time usually eat better than those who pay for their food one meal at a time. She explained that in many cases students who buy their meals one at a time let such things as money influence their choice of food. She added that many times students would rather save the money they would ordinarily spend for milk so they could spend it for a Saturday night date. Much of Dr. Leverton's findings have been based on controlled studies at the University Ag campus.

"In these studies," she explained, "we give students the food to which they are accustomed to eating and then we add something." Dr. Leverton said that many people have erroneous ideas concerning these studies. She said that these studies are not made to do "something good or bad."

The controlled diets include foods necessary to the average person's diet plus other foods richer in a certain vitamin or element.

Dr. Leverton commented that a diet that is good for the average adult is usually good for the average student. She said that a good daily diet should include: one and one half to two servings of meat; green or yellow vegetables; a minimum of one pint of milk; tomatoes, oranges or grapefruit; several servings of cereal and bread; butter or fortified margarine; other fruits or vegetables including potatoes.

"Efficiency depends on good health," said Dr. Leverton, "and good health depends on proper food. In the final analysis, health and efficiency depends on you."

Ag Students To Discuss Chaperones

"Care and Feeding of Chaperones" is the topic of Better Living series' discussion today at 5 p.m. in the Ag Union lounge.

The members of the discussion panel include Mr. and Mrs. Merle Brinegar, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Alexander, Ag college faculty members, and Marvin Moore, Ag college sophomore. After the planned talks by the panel members, an open discussion will be held. Mary Lou Huse, Ag Union activities director, urges all students to attend and participate in the discussion in order to help students and faculty members learn the "proper treatment" of chaperones.

A similar panel discussion was held Monday by the Ag Union. The members of yesterday's panel were Mr. and Mrs. Dave Sander, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander, and Marvin Moore.

One more better living discussion will be held before Christmas. The topic will be, "Number, Please." Telephone conversation and etiquette will be discussed. After Christmas, the series will broaden into discussions on marriage, finances and student loans, student and community leadership and other topics suggested by students.
