Coach Harry Good is still pondering over a combination that will run on all cylinders during four quarters of a basketball game. The Nebraska basketball team resembled a class B high school team during the first half of their game with the Marysville Teachers.

One must sympathize with Coach Good when one finds what players Good must draw a starting lineup from. That is not to criticize the members of the squad but simply to mean that positions for starting positions are fairly wide-open from where we sit. Jim Buchanan needn't worry too much about his guard position after his first three game performances. "Bucky" proved what a nightmare is like for a basketball player as he missed numerous shots during the first three quarters of the game with Marysville Teachers.

The other guard slot cleared up slightly on a fine performance turned in by Fred Seger in the Marysville ordeal. Seger provided the hustle and drive that kept Husker hopes alive during that pathetic first half showing. Seger connected for 13 tallies to add to his brilliant floor game.

Joe Good is still out with a sprained ankle. This has given, if not forced, Coach Good to track down a man to fill the vacancy left by his veteran son. Last year Joe was used wherever needed. One game he played forward, the next guard.

If Seger continues to play the type of ball he did last Wednesday, Joe Good will probably play forward for the remaining part of the season.

A battle is likely to occur at the other forward spot. Contending for the starting spot will probably be Stan Matzke and Don Weber.

Matzke is the former Lincoln Teachers high ace and Weber who played his high school ball for Easterville, Ia. Matzke has opened the past three games at forward and Weber has displayed some fine floor play in the first three contests.

The main source of Good's headache stems from the lack of a center who can pour pointers through the hoop and pull down rebounds.

Bill Johnson, sophomore and Charlie Ott, freshman, have taken on the burden of pleasing customers who expect to see play of that of cagers like Milton "Bus" Whitehead and Bob "Shorty" Pierce.

Both youngsters are naturally less polished than these two ex-stars. Johnson seems reluctant to shoot at times but will probably break from his shell with experience. Ott appears to be quite clumsy but is a hard man to move out when it comes to rebounding.

Coach Good presently has a squad of 20 men. Some of these men will not be with the Husker basketball team next semester. Several of the Husker round ball artists have been drowned by a shower of downpours.

Husker basketball fortunes might easily reach a pretty low ebb this year, but Coach Harry Good is in the process of building. He can also look for some valuable aid from Coach Tony Sharpe's B team.

Sharpe has an assembly of some better than average ball players also in school this year is Larry Knee. Knee played with Luther Junior college last year and is now waiting out the season to gain eligibility with Nebraska.

OFF THE CUFF: It is my opinion that the Big Seven committee's action to ban any and all post season events to members of the conference will result in hurting the conference and its members more than helping.

There is no doubt that this will de-emphasize football, though. But how shall we go before football is completely stripped of its color and competition?

Big Seven conference basketball teams have chalked up a torrid 739 winning percentage against outside competition in early round ball activity. Facing clubs from all parts of the country, the Big Seven units have come out on top in 18 of 23 games.

Leading the parade are Kansas, Iowa State and Kansas State with four victories apiece. Missouri has two triumphs without a loss, while the Nebraska Cornhuskers have compiled a 2-1 mark. Oklahoma and Colorado each managed one win while losing twice.

Iowa State has established themselves as a scrambling, fighting ball club, having come from behind in registering all their wins. The Cyclones, coached by Clayton (Chick) Sutherland, knocked over Drake 51-46 for their latest success. Other victims were South Dakota (54-50), Morningside (65-63), and Creighton (57-49). In tuning up for the Big Seven tournament later this month, Kansas State has slipped through four opponents. California went down before Jack Gardner's boys Tuesday night 64-50. Ohio State, of the Big Ten, was another topnotch outfit that felt the all-around class of the Wildcats.

Kansas, featuring All-American center Clyde Lovellette, seems intent on living up to the high pre-season rating given it by the experts around the nation. All ready the Jays have brushed aside Baylor, Creighton and a very strong Denver team which includes the former Grand Island high great, Dale Toft. In the first Associated Press basketball ratings of the year the Jayhawks, under Phog Allen's direction, were selected for the fifth place spot. Kansas State was awarded a position in the top ten also.

Oklahoma is banking on a number of untried freshmen and men and sophomores in an attempt to win a third place conference finish—the peg given them by preseason selectors. So far their youngsters have found the going pretty tough. The Sooners clipped Baylor, who has yet to win this year, 56-48 for their single victory as against two defeats. Southern Methodist, who plays our Huskers Dec. 19 and 20, is one of the quintets to whip the Bruce Drake coached Sooners.

Colorado has failed to impress in its three starts this year. The Buffs have failed to show the power that stamped them as one of the outstanding clubs in the conference last season. Colorado A&M, a small school in the Rocky Mountain area, dropped the Buffs in a three-overtime battle.

Sparky Stalcup's Missouri outfit did the unusual the other day in its inaugural contest. They took on two clubs the same night and beat them both.

Sooners Answer Judge Saul Streit's Charge

Judge Saul Streit of New York, who recently declared that "at Oklahoma, one of the football players in his senior year was taking introduction to geography and loaded his program with theories of basketball, swimming games and volleyball" never has answered Wilkinson's challenge: "If Judge Streit will name the Oklahoma football player he was referring to, we will be glad to make the player's record public. If the judge does not do this, I think it should be assumed that he is mistaken."

All of Oklahoma's seven senior football lettermen will graduate in either June, 1952, or January, 1953, thus bettering the Sooner record of having graduated football lettermen at a 92 per cent pace since Bud Wilkinson became coach at Oklahoma.

Moreover, all seven will graduate in responsible fields, which Wilkinson also emphasizes. The office of admissions and records reveals that End Jack Lockett has a B average, Tackle Jim Weatherall a B average and Halfback Dick Healy a B average in the business administration school. Guard Fred Smith is a C student in education. Halfback Frank Silva has a C plus average in industrial engineering. Linebacker Bert Clark has a C average in geology and Tackle Art James a B plus average in geology (at Oklahoma A is valued at 95 to 100 per cent, B 85 to 94, C 75 to 84).

Lockett, Weatherall, Healy, Silva and James graduate in June, Clark and Smith one semester later.

The Sooners still look proudly in the Associated Press records where they were listed tenth this year. It marks the first time any school has landed a berth in the top ten four years running.

Intramural Hockey Tournney Announced

Intramural hockey plans are being made now that colder weather is expected.

Intramural chairmen are urged to compile a roster of all men in their organization who are eligible and wish to play hockey.

Although only 15 men per team will be allowed to play in any individual game, this arrangement will permit use of all players on a roster sometime during the season.

All rosters must be submitted before 6 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 12, to the intramural office in the Physical Education building. A meeting for representatives from all organizations wishing to participate in the program will be held in room 315 of the Union at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Iowa State Wrestlers Open Against Grinnell

Iowa State will open its dual meet wrestling season here Saturday, facing Grinnell.

While not a part of the Iowa High School Athletic association's mid-winter coaching school, the meet will be an added feature for those in attendance. All coaches attending the clinic will be guests of the athletic department.

Leading Coach Hugo Otopalik's squad will be three champions from the invitational meet at Cedar Falls last week. The first place winners were Sam Ruzic, 137; Bob Wilson, 147, and Ron Larsen, 157.

When the football season ends, Bob Carey will return to the Michigan State basketball team. He scored 174 points last season.

The 45th annual invitation track meet of the Millrose A. A. will be held Saturday, Jan. 26, in Madison Square Garden.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 29...THE HYENA

Hysteria reigned from the moment he heard the details of those quick-trick cigarette mildness tests. First he giggled... then he guffawed... wound-up rolling in the aisle! He knew that the "single sniff" test or the "one puff" test didn't prove anything! Millions of smokers have reached the same conclusion — there's just one test that really proves cigarette flavor and mildness!

It's the sensible test... the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke — on a pack-after-pack, day-after-day basis. No snap judgments! Once you've enjoyed Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

After all the Mildness Tests...
