

Gustavson Explains Basis Of Education

Chancellor R. G. Gustavson, speaking to the University chapter of the American Association of University Professors, said Wednesday that the "basic foundation for the operation of the University of Nebraska" is built around four major points:

1. Education must teach young people their place in history.
2. Education must teach students the value and meaning of freedom.
3. Education must allow in-

DR. GUSTAVSON

structors the freedom to search for truth.

4. Education must be characterized by liberalism.

These four points of educational philosophy, Gustavson said, stem from this definition of the purpose of higher education: The purpose of the University is to offer the maximum number of young people who have the capacity the opportunity to learn skills and develop attitudes for effective and intelligent living in a free society, and to mature young minds to make judgments essential to the preservation of a free society.

The first problem which the University must face in applying this definition, Gustavson said, is the question of who shall be admitted to the University.

"Higher education is a trust and a privilege vested in young men and women by the people of Nebraska," Gustavson pointed out. "In admitting young people to the University, we must justify our decision to those whose money supports it. We must make every effort to be sure those young people, upon graduation, will contribute constructively to the way we live," he said.

The proper teaching of history, the Chancellor stressed, should occupy an important position in any general or specialized training program. For example, Gustavson pointed out, students of agriculture must be taught, not only the skills of agriculture, but also a background of history which will illustrate the value of conserving soil for future generations.

Discussing his second point, Gustavson asserted that "We cannot teach young people the meaning of freedom unless we teach them truth." Through truth, he said, we must teach them the value and meaning of freedom so it will remain with them as a lasting conviction.

The problem of freedom must apply also to University teachers, the Chancellor added. Our educators, he said, must be permitted to search for truth even though "at times we may find that truth is inconvenient for us to search for or explain."

"Finally," Gustavson said, "the search for truth must be characterized by liberalism."

"The liberalism of which I speak," Gustavson explained, "is not a political creed, but a disposition of character. It is the kind of thinking which encourages a restless inquiry into the nature of things about us; which regards very little as absolutely certain; which does not fear witnessing all of the evidence; which scrupulously depends on persuasive reasoning rather than suppression and fear."

Second Semester 1951-52

Jan. 23, 24, Wed. to Thurs.	Pre-registration tests
Jan. 24, Thurs.	Medical examinations
Jan. 25, Fri.	Registration
Jan. 28-Feb. 2, Mon. to Sat.	Registration, Graduate College
Jan. 28, Mon.	Second semester classes begin
Feb. 15, Fri.	Charter day
March 8, Sat.	First scholastic reports
April 11-16, Fri., 8 a.m. to Wed., 8 a.m.	Spring vacation (Easter, April 13)
April 19, Sat.	Second scholastic reports
April 29, Tues.	Honors convocation
May 1-3, Thurs. to Sat.	College Days
May 3, Sat.	Farmers Fair
May 10, Sat.	Ivy Day
May 17, Sat.	Last day of second semester classes
May 21-31, Wed. to Sat.	Second semester examinations
May 30, Fri.	Memorial Day
May 31, Sat.	Alumni Day
June 1, Sun.	Baccalaureate Sunday
June 2, Mon.	Eighty-first Annual Commencement

Thirteen Builders Board Posts Open To Workers

Thirteen board positions are open to Builders' workers. Applications must be turned in to the Builders' office, Union Room 308, by Wednesday, Jan. 9.

A student filling for board position must have a five average, carry 12 University hours and be Builders' worker. Appointments to the board will be made the third week in January by the new executive board, former executive board and senior board members.

Former board members evaluate the work of each worker on their committees. These reports are taken into consideration when applicants are interviewed and selected.

Board positions to be filled, the present chairman, and the duties of each position are:

Office manager, Gretchen Hein, supervises typing, mimeographing and other office jobs for all Builders' committees.

Membership chairman, Shirley Coy, plans mass meetings and membership drives on city campus.

Parties and conventions chairman, Ting Lilly, plans activities for high school students attending the pep convention, Band Day, state basketball tournament and similar functions.

Campus tours chairman, Cecilia Pinkerton, supervises and plans tours for all organizations visiting the city campus.

First Glance editor, Barbara Adams, plans the yearly magazine which presents a preview of University life to Nebraska high school students.

Scout and Cream editor, Shirley Stehlik, plans the Builders' newspaper which is sent to high school students three times a year.

Student Directory editor, Lou Kennedy, supervises the yearly publication for University students.

District chairman, Jack Davis, works in cooperation with the University athletic department. The state is divided into districts and students personally contact high schoolers during vacation periods to publicize the University.

Ag tours chairman, Jean Vierk, plans and supervises tours of Ag campus for visiting organizations.

Ag parties and conventions chairman, Barbara Raun, plans entertainment and hospitality programs for high school students visiting Ag campus.

Ag sales and publications chairman, Dale Reynolds, handles all sales of student publications on Ag campus including Student Directories and Cornhusker Countryman.

Ag publicity chairman, Terry Barnes, plans all Builders publicity for Ag students.

Ag membership chairman, Artie Westcott, plans mass meetings and membership drives in cooperation with the city campus chairman.

and selected.

Board positions to be filled, the present chairman, and the duties of each position are:

Office manager, Gretchen Hein, supervises typing, mimeographing and other office jobs for all Builders' committees.

Membership chairman, Shirley Coy, plans mass meetings and membership drives on city campus.

Parties and conventions chairman, Ting Lilly, plans activities for high school students attending the pep convention, Band Day, state basketball tournament and similar functions.

Campus tours chairman, Cecilia Pinkerton, supervises and plans tours for all organizations visiting the city campus.

First Glance editor, Barbara Adams, plans the yearly magazine which presents a preview of University life to Nebraska high school students.

Scout and Cream editor, Shirley Stehlik, plans the Builders' newspaper which is sent to high school students three times a year.

Student Directory editor, Lou Kennedy, supervises the yearly publication for University students.

District chairman, Jack Davis, works in cooperation with the University athletic department. The state is divided into districts and students personally contact high schoolers during vacation periods to publicize the University.

Ag tours chairman, Jean Vierk, plans and supervises tours of Ag campus for visiting organizations.

Ag parties and conventions chairman, Barbara Raun, plans entertainment and hospitality programs for high school students visiting Ag campus.

Ag sales and publications chairman, Dale Reynolds, handles all sales of student publications on Ag campus including Student Directories and Cornhusker Countryman.

Ag publicity chairman, Terry Barnes, plans all Builders publicity for Ag students.

Ag membership chairman, Artie Westcott, plans mass meetings and membership drives in cooperation with the city campus chairman.

Ag parties and conventions chairman, Barbara Raun, plans entertainment and hospitality programs for high school students visiting Ag campus.

Ag sales and publications chairman, Dale Reynolds, handles all sales of student publications on Ag campus including Student Directories and Cornhusker Countryman.

Ag publicity chairman, Terry Barnes, plans all Builders publicity for Ag students.

Ag membership chairman, Artie Westcott, plans mass meetings and membership drives in cooperation with the city campus chairman.

Ag parties and conventions chairman, Barbara Raun, plans entertainment and hospitality programs for high school students visiting Ag campus.

Ag sales and publications chairman, Dale Reynolds, handles all sales of student publications on Ag campus including Student Directories and Cornhusker Countryman.

Ag publicity chairman, Terry Barnes, plans all Builders publicity for Ag students.

Ag membership chairman, Artie Westcott, plans mass meetings and membership drives in cooperation with the city campus chairman.

Ag parties and conventions chairman, Barbara Raun, plans entertainment and hospitality programs for high school students visiting Ag campus.

Ag sales and publications chairman, Dale Reynolds, handles all sales of student publications on Ag campus including Student Directories and Cornhusker Countryman.

Ag publicity chairman, Terry Barnes, plans all Builders publicity for Ag students.

Ag membership chairman, Artie Westcott, plans mass meetings and membership drives in cooperation with the city campus chairman.

Ag parties and conventions chairman, Barbara Raun, plans entertainment and hospitality programs for high school students visiting Ag campus.

Ag sales and publications chairman, Dale Reynolds, handles all sales of student publications on Ag campus including Student Directories and Cornhusker Countryman.

Network Broadcasts NU Christmas Music

DAVID FOLTZ

Nebraskan Filings—Jan. 4 To 11

All editorial, sports and business staff positions of The Daily Nebraskan will be open to applicants Jan. 4 to 11.

Applicants will be interviewed for the publication positions Jan. 10 or 11, according to Ken Keller, student publications adviser and ex-officio publications committee member.

The interviews will be conducted by the six faculty and three student members of the committee on student publications.

Heading the committee is Roger V. Shumate, political science professor completing the faculty membership are: Mary Guthrie, associate home economics professor; W. C. Harper, committee secretary and student activities director; W. J. Arnold, associate psychology professor; and T. J. Thompson, dean of student affairs. Keller serves in an advisory capacity on the committee.

Student board members are: Juanita Rediger, senior Glenn Rosenquist, junior; and Charles Kiffin, sophomore.

Application blanks, which may be obtained at the Office of Public Relations, 1125 R street, Administration Annex, No. 1, require information about weighted average, hours completed, hours being carried, delinquencies, previous experience on The Daily Nebraskan and other publications.

A weighted 4.5 average is required of applicants. Twelve hours of college work must also be carried.

Editorial positions open to second semester staff applicants are: editor, $87.50; per month; associate editor, $55; five news editors, $40; feature editor, $40; society editor, $20; and Ag editor, $40.

Sports positions and monthly pay are: editor, $55; assistant editor, $25.

Business staff positions open to applicants are: business manager, $85; three assistant business managers, $45; circulation manager, $80.

Applicants for staff positions are judged, according to a publications committee member, on leadership ability, organizational capacity, writing proficiency, recommendations by editor and staff members, averages, interest and ideas for improving the publication.

Faculty Dance Club Plans Annual Party

Members of the Faculty Dance Club of the University will hold their annual Christmas dinner dance at the Union Friday night.

Dinner will begin at 6:30 p.m. and dancing will provide the evening's entertainment.

Guests at the Christmas party will be Mr. and Mrs. Charles Flakers, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Schrepf, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Spilker, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Conrad, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fredricks, John Russell, Miss Julia Crom, James McDougal and Miss Elizabeth Duik.

Peterson will speak on the Missouri Valley Basin project. The talk will begin at 9:40 a.m. in the College Activities building.

The conference is open to all denominations interested in town and country programs.

Interested students need only stop at Dean Thompson's office to confer with the representative.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

Two University choral programs will be broadcast Christmas eve.

The Madrigal Singers, directed by David Foltz, will be heard from coast to coast at 10:15 p.m. as a part of the two-hour Christmas at CBS radio presentation and "The Messiah" as performed by the University choral union will be broadcast from 8:30 to 10:00 p.m. locally.

The Madrigal Singers, invited by Columbia Broadcasting officials to appear on the network program which will include the CBS symphony orchestra and Robert Shaw and his CBS chorus, will present their part of the program from 10:15 to 10:30 p.m. Lincoln time.

Their program will consist of:

1. Carol of the Doves, an ancient Polish carol arranged by Harvey Gaul.
2. Sleep of the Child Jesus by S. A. Gevaert.
3. Our Sweet Savior Dear, a Christmas lullaby with words and music by Norman Bell and arrangement by Fred Waring.
4. Rise Up Shepherd And Follow, a Negro Christmas spiritual arranged by Fred Waring.
5. Lullaby on Christmas Eve by F. Mellus Christiansen.
6. A Merry Christmas, a West Country traditional song arranged by Arthur Warrell.

The Madrigals will also broadcast a part of the above program in addition to Christmas carols including a "jump" version of Jingle Bells over the Nebraska Network Sunday on the Your University Speaks program.

The "Messiah" chorus will be heard Christmas Eve at 8:30 when, for the second successive year, KFOR presents the transcription of the oratorio by Handel. The transcription was made at the "Messiah" concert, Dec. 9.

Dr. Arthur Westbrook directed the 600 voice chorus, composed of the Agricultural college chorus, the University choruses I and II, University Singers, Grieg male chorus and the Lincoln male chorus. Soloists for the 1951 concert were Marjorie Murphy, soprano; Earl Jenkins, tenor; Marjorie Dally, alto; and Eugene Kuyper, baritone.

The University symphony orchestra directed by Emanuel Wishnow assisted with the concert.

Huskers Lose To TCU; Close Battle Ends 58-57

The Cornhusker Cagers were defeated Thursday night by the Texas Christian Horned Frogs, 58-57, in an overtime period. The score was tied at the end of the regular playing time, 55-55. Next foe on the Nebraska schedule is Miami University, Coach Harry Good's squad dropped a 61-55 decision to Southern Methodist Wednesday night.

By CHARLES GOMON
Staff News Writer

POW List Puzzles UN Officials

NEW YORK—A new discrepancy in the communist POW list from Korea has officials puzzled at the UN headquarters. It seems that last August Russian delegate Jacob Malik circulated a cable allegedly from Korea with the names of 37 Americans on it. The cable stated that the men who signed the cable wanted the UN forces to withdraw from Korea. Upon checking these 37 names with the recent POW list from Korea it was discovered that only ten of these men are still prisoners. The fate of the other 27, all officers, is unknown.

Reds 'Might Consider' UN Demands

MUNSAN, Korea—Communist and allied negotiators agreed only to disagree at Thursday's session in Panmunjom. After both sides stated that they would not budge from their current stands, the delegates decided to turn the issue of supervision of the armistice over to a sub-committee of staff officers for further study.

Currently the reds are demanding: (1) permission to construct airfields during the truce, (2) acceptance of their proposal for inspection only at specified points and times, and (3) prohibition of aerial photography over all Korea. In exchange the communists said they "might consider" UN demands for unlimited rotation of troops and replenishment of supplies.

Arthur Capper Dies Wednesday

TOPEKA—Former senator Arthur Capper of Kansas died of pneumonia Wednesday night. He was 86. Capper was governor of Kansas for four years and a United States senator for 30 years before his retirement in 1949.

Steel Strike Set For New Years

WASHINGTON—Hope began to fade in Washington that an industry-wide steel strike set for New Years day could be avoided.

Philip Murray, president of the CIO, announced that his union wants a raise in pay from $2 per hour to about $2.15 plus the fringe benefits now in effect. John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers is supporting Murray because, as some government officials see it, he plans to ask for an increase for his miners in the spring.

Washington is busy checking the steel industry to determine if costs will permit a wage increase without a corresponding price increase. It is understood that a recent report found the steel industry to be able to absorb a 30-40 percent increase in wages. Steel, expecting a surplus before long, can hardly be expected to swallow that one without a fight.

Auto Price Increase Seen In '52

DETROIT—Ford, Studebaker, Hudson, and Kaiser-Frazer have all put in for increases in price on their 1952 models. Although the increase would not apply to this year's model anyway, the government will have to begin investigation of the application.

Gen. Dean Reported Alive

TOKYO—Investigation by far eastern command intelligence officers reveals that Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, reported missing July 20, 1950, may still be alive in a communist prison camp, but his health is probably very poor.

Maj. Roy E. Appleton, of Richmond, Va., assigned to dig up the facts, announced that he interviewed a North Korean agent whose story of what happened to Gen. Dean seemed "the most credible" of the versions circulated.

According to the K.orean, after Dean's 24th division position was overrun by the reds, he wandered in the hills for

NU Messiah Recordings To Go On Sale

Records of the University Choral Union's "Messiah" will go on sale from the radio department after the Christmas holidays.

Both long-playing and regular recordings of the entire "Messiah" or any part of the Handel oratorio will be available.

The records will be sold at the radio department, Temple building. Erling S. Jorgensen is head of the radio department which is recording the "Messiah."

The University Choral Union is composed of approximately 600 voices under the direction of Dr. Arthur E. Westbrook. Taking part in the Union are the Ag college chorus, University choruses, one and two, University Singers, Grieg male chorus and the Lincoln male chorus.

D. M. Pace Elected President Of AAUP

Prof. D. M. Pace of the department of physiology and pharmacology of the University was elected president of the Nebraska chapter of the American Association of University Professors Wednesday night.

Professor Pace replaces Prof. C. E. McNeill, retiring president. Other officers elected at the meeting in the Union were: Prof. M. C. Latta, vice president; Prof. J. S. Blackman, secretary; Miss V. Marian Clarke, treasurer; Miss Doretta M. Schlaphoff, member of the executive committee.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

YW Cabinet Filings Open Till Jan. 11

Following Christmas vacation, YWCA members may file for second semester cabinet positions until Jan. 11.

Filings are open only to upperclassmen. Freshmen may file for cabinet positions in May.

Cabinet members will be chosen by new officers on the basis of interviews, recommendations from past cabinet members and their qualifications.

Application blanks may be obtained in commission groups or Ellen Smith hall, YWCA office.

On the blanks, applicants must list their past YWCA activities, specific commission groups or committees they are interested in, amount of time to devote to YWCA, weighted average and number of AWS activity points.

Harvard Representative To Explain Grad School

A representative of the Harvard graduate school of business will meet with University students Monday, Jan. 21, in Dean T. J. Thompson's office. He will explain the school and the regional scholarships offered to students in this area.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

The Harvard graduate-business school does not require previous business training for entrance, the office of the dean of student affairs explained.

RED CROSS CHRISTMAS CHEER...

Carolers Sing, Leave Gifts At Hospitals, Orphanage

By CONNIE GORDON
Feature Editor

"Merry Christmas" in the form of University carolers was brought to Lincoln institutions Wednesday night.

The University Red Cross College Unit held its annual Christmas caroling party. Students from all over the University were picked up by special buses and chartered to their destinations.

Under the direction of song leaders Aaron Schmidt and Bob Swalm, the carolers began singing as soon as they boarded the buses. To make sure that everyone knew the words to the perennial Christmas carols, caroling books were distributed to each caroler.

Orthopedic hospital was the first stop made by the carolers. The group spent approximately 20 minutes going from ward to ward. Some of the gifts that were brought to the "Miss Snowflake" Union party were left at the hospital for Santa Claus to distribute Saturday night at the children's Christmas party.

The next stop on the carolers' list was the mental hospital. Smiles on the residents' faces reflected the happiness the carolers brought them.

Tabitha Home and St. Thomas' Orphanage were the last stops on the carolers' list. The remainder of the gifts were handed out at these orphanages.

One of the carolers said that a little boy at St. Thomas' Orphanage was so happy at his gift of a box of cocoa that he ran all around the room overjoyed at his wonderful present.

JOY TO THE WORLD... Bringing joy to the different hospitals and orphanages in Lincoln are these University carolers. They are participants in the Red Cross College Unit's second annual All-University Caroling party held Wednesday evening.

The children at Tabitha Home were awakened to the sound of the carolers because they had gone to bed before the carolers arrived. But they listened to the singing and the carolers left gifts under the tree.

Everyone who returned to the Union was full of the Christmas spirit. Even the bus driver was singing with the carolers. Hot cocoa was served to the carolers at the Union.

Two little boys were standing on a corner. A little girl passed. Said one: "Her neck's dirty." Said the other: "Her does."