

Huskers Lack Experience, Final Punch To Win—Good

By TOM BECKER
Sports Staff Writer

Inexperience, says Coach Harry Good, is Nebraska's big trouble. "We're just too young."

Nebraska took it on the chin Saturday night as Missouri

BASKETEER BUCKY... Jim "Bucky" Buchanan adds a little experienced spice with the Huskers' comparatively green basketball crew this year. The Huskers, riding in the Big Seven conference cellar, have depended on Buchanan's point producing and play-making ability.

nicked the Huskers, 60-55; thanks largely to the effort of center Bill Stauffer, who dunked 31 points. "In the final minutes of a close game," Good continues, "we have no final punch."

"Because of a lack of strength in the center spot, the boys don't have confidence in the post and are consequently relying on long shots at crucial times," the coach added.

Missouri's screening game proved advantageous against the confused Nebraska defensive. Good felt that if the officiating had been a little closer a few more fouls would have been called against Missouri.

Despite an inefficiently at the center spot, Coach Good believes that the squad is definitely improving and doing better than he had expected.

Joe Good suffered a broken nose in the fray and spent Sunday at the infirmary where he was operated on.

Nebraska will meet the Sooners from Oklahoma Saturday night at the coliseum. Oklahoma hosts Iowa State at Norman Monday night.

The Sooners sport a 3-3 record in the Big Seven conference and claimed an undisputed third place but dropped a 43-39 non-conference decision to Texas.

Sherman Norton and Walker are pacing the Oklahoma offense with 45 points apiece in four conference games. In all games, Norton leads with 200 tallies in 15 games.

For the first time in the history of Grant Memorial there are too many boys in the girls' physical education department. In Mrs. C's co-educational square dancing class, it is nothing unusual to see girls dancing together in that class, but to watch boys dancing together is really something new. Any girls that would like to work an extra hour into their schedules, would be greatly appreciated.

The intramural table tennis tournament is well under way. There are a hundred girls entered in the tournament, forty of whom are Kappas, so it will probably take until spring to get to the finals.

The first round has been played, and girls still in the tournament are: Carol French, Dorm; Sue Huddleston, Alpha Xi; Bobbie Russell, Kappa; Kay Christoffel, Alpha Phi; Rosmary Amos, Chi Omega; Lois Eddy, Wesley House.

Also winning the first round are: Ann Griffiths, Kappa; Gale Wellensick, Kappa; Norma Setzkorn, Town club; Betty Roessler, Gamma Phi; Tikki Rothenberger, Kappa; Ginney Cooper, Pi Phi; Dottie Newman, Kappa; Sue Adams, Kappa.

Others are Jean Bilkenstoff, Wesley; Jan Glock, Chi Omega; Marly Solfermar, Lutheran Student association; Patsy Peters, Kappa; Darlene Gooding, Town club; Marilyn Frampton, Alpha Xi; Joyce Laase, Alpha Xi; Yolanda Davis, Chi Omega; Phyllis Armstrong, Kappa; Allison Faulkner, Kappa.

Also Sheila Brown, Chi Omega; Marion Brown, Kappa; Jackie Orr, Gamma Phi; Judy Pollock, Kappa; Nancy Stebbins, Kappa; Carolyn Gierhan, Chi Omega; Mary Jane Weir, Alpha Phi; Marilyn Tyson, Kappa; Marilyn Martin, Wesley house; Katy Coad, Alpha Phi; Barbara Peters, Dorm; Marilyn Bamesberger, Chi Omega.

IS Winter Sports Slate Packed Full

Iowa State winter sports teams will take part in five contests this week with each sport showing once during the six-day period.

Chick Sutherland's cagers open the week tonight (Monday) at Norman in a contest that will involve the Oklahoma Sooners. Prior to the Cyclone contest at Kansas Saturday the Iowa State and Oklahoma fives were tied for third in the loop.

Tuesday night the junior varsity will meet Grinnell in the men's gym. The game was originally set for a January date, but was moved to the later time because of icy roads.

Friday the big track rivalry of the state will be renewed when Iowa State faces Drake at the Drake Field House. One of the toughest meets of recent years is expected for both teams.

Two contests are scheduled for Saturday. The wrestlers will be at Manhattan, Kan., for a duel with Kansas State. The home-standing swimmers will meet Colorado. In that meet the Cyclones hope to alter one or more national records.

Still Champ

Kid Gavilan is still the world's welterweight champion after grabbing a split decision from Bobby Dykes Monday night.

It was Gavilan's second defense of his title.

Sports Highlights

Another Big Seven graduate, Oklahoma Stan West, opened at defensive guard for the National leaguers. Billy Grimes, former Oklahoma A&M halfback, played for the winners also.

The meeting between Kansas and Kansas State at Manhattan was the 120th between the two ancient basketball rivals. The Jayhawkers have won 78, the Wildcats 42.

Highlights

Returning from the annual Pro Bowl game in Los Angeles, Otto Schnellbacher, one-time Kansas football and basketball great, says the only guy who hit him hard all season was another Jayhawker, Mike McCormack. The latter played so well as a rookie tackle for the New York Yankees (now the Dallas Rangers) that he earned a starting offensive berth with the winning National League team.

Schnellbacher, who was named to the All-Pro defensive team at halfback for the second straight year, opened at that spot for the American conference stars; McCormack at offensive tackle for the National leaguers. Schnellbacher played his second season with the New York Giants.

Big Ten Vies With ACE

The Big Ten and the American Council on Education do not see eye to eye on stringent athletic restrictions.

The conference said Sunday that it will seek personal representation before the group Feb. 16 in Washington.

A Big Ten spokesman said that the league would like to arrive at a more specific national sports program.

All discussion of renewing the Rose Bowl pact with the Pacific Coast conference was tabled by faculty and athletic directors of the midwestern league.

The pact expires after the 1954 New Year's day game. They did agree, however, to bring out-of-season practices within the limitations set up by the National Collegiate Athletic association. The ACE has asked that all out-of-season practices be abolished as well as post-season games.

There did seem to be an attempt to abide with the national scale of suggested reforms. It was indicated that the continuance of the Rose Bowl pact was uppermost in the minds of the Big Ten officials.

It was suggested that Rose Bowl scouting be limited to two game films rather than live scouting of all prospective bowl teams.

Gym Team Prepares For Meet

By ARNE STERN

Four gymnastic teams will meet here on February 18 when the Nebraska squad plays host to teams from Iowa, Kansas State, and Colorado.

Coach Jake Geier expects this meet to be one of the early season's toughest, for the three visiting teams all have strong squads.

The Husker squad competed in Minneapolis, last week, against the University of Minnesota gymnasts. The powerful Gopher squad ran away with the meet, but two of the Nebraska squadmen fared quite well. Max Kennedy, of Beatrice, captured first place honors in the tumbling event for Nebraska's only blue ribbon. Tom Kidd, Lincoln sophomore, garnered three third places, and Coach Geier feels that after a couple of meets, Kidd will work out in fine shape.

Bob Yarwood, senior letterman from Omaha, dislocated his finger and could not compete against the Gophers. His participation in the contest certainly would have aided the Husker cause in a number of the events. Yarwood, however, should be in shape for the quadrangular meet.

Husker Swimmers Face Busy Weekend; Show Marked Improvement

It was no disgrace for the Nebraska swimming team to drop a 71-22 dual meet to Iowa State last Saturday. The Cyclones possess one of the country's top aquatic teams and some of the finest swimmers in the country. On top of this, the times showed improvement on many Husker swimmers.

Bob Brown is second ranked national intercollegiate swimmer in the country. Brown clipped off a 51.2 clocking in the 100 yard freestyle race. Lee Anderson is a ranking back-stroker.

On the Nebraska side of the ledger, the times were much improved. Calvin Bentz covered the 440 freestyle route in 5:19.4 seconds. This is the best time of his career and is only four seconds off the Nebraska record of 5:15.4 set in 1935.

Jerry Desmond also recorded his best timing of the season. John Greer and Homer Munson clipped off their top mark in the sprint race thus far along in the season. So, all was not gloom for Coach Hollie Lepley's team.

The Husker swimmers will meet Colorado university in their next meet. The place will be the coliseum swimming pool and the time will be 3:45 p.m.

Nebraska Matmen Play Host To Wisconsin Wrestlers

The University of Nebraska wrestling team will run into some Big Ten opposition this week when they battle the University of Wisconsin in Lincoln Wednesday night.

Last year the two squads grappled to a 12-12 deadlock and everything points to an equally tough battle this year. The public is invited to witness eight top wrestling matches and here is how they will stack up:

In the 123 pound class, Wisconsin will offer Jerry Nussbaum and the Cornhuskers Don Beam. Nussbaum has won six matches this year and lost four. Beam will be competing in his first meet for the Huskers. He is a junior and will replace Jim Farris in this division against the Badgers.

The 130 pound clash will pit Wisconsin's Don Hill against Nebraska's Darrell Adamson. Hill is the holder of a four win, one loss record and lost a close 3-2 decision to Harry Arthur of Indiana. Adamson will get his second start of the season and Coach Al Partin has claimed that Adamson has "showed marked improvement."

It'll be Badger Louis Zur against Jerry Wolpa of Nebraska in the 137 pound class. Zur has a 2-1 record this year. Wolpa is a junior and "a good wrestler, although not in top condition," says Al Partin. Wolpa won his last match against Colorado State college, 8-5.

In the 147 pound carnival, Jerry Seeber will face Husker Perry Lietell. Seeber possesses a 5-1 record and has come along fast with the Badger outfit. Lietell has gained the title of "the most improved wrestler from last year's squad" by Coach Partin.

Ed Lane will face Don Ryan in what might well be the feature event of the meet. Lane is a fine wrestler and is the winner of the squad's "tough-luck" title. Lane lost eight matches last year by only one point.

A great deal could be said for Ryan. He is captain of the Wisconsin team and has won 25 straight wrestling matches. He has taken the Big Ten 157 pound wrestling title twice and his only defeats came during the NCAA tournaments.

In the 167 pound department, Wisconsin's Ed Mathews will meet Leo Heng. Mathews has a 4-2 wrestling record thus far in the season. Heng is a senior and this will be his first meet. "He's a very aggressive wrestler," claims Coach Partin.

The 177 pound clash will feature John Falter and Husker Dave Mackie. Falter won three straight matches before he was injured in his bout with Joe Sturgis of Northwestern. Mackie is one of the Huskers ranking contenders, having won all his matches this year.

Art Prehlik has established a 2-3-1 record for the Badgers in the heavyweight class and will meet either Don Boll or Ed Hussman of the scarlet. Both Huskers are members of the football squad.

"Boll has taken to the sport in fine shape," states Coach Partin. His potentialities are great and it is quite possible that he could land a berth on the Olympic team. The Olympic style of wrestling is different than regular wrestling in that the premium is on strength and power. Both would be to Boll's advantage.

Lost to the Huskers will be the services of Kenny Fisher. He has a chipped fracture of his two lumbar vertebrae. Coach Partin says that his less will weaken Nebraska victory hopes, but that Fisher will be out again in a few weeks.

Coaching the Wisconsin Badger wrestling squad is George Martin. Martin was graduated from Iowa State college and went to Wisconsin in 1936. He was the NCAA and AAU 165 wrestling champion while in college.

The lineups:

Wisconsin	Nebraska
Jerry Nussbaum	Don Beam
Don Hill	Darrell Adamson
Louis Zur	Jerry Wolpa
Jerry Seeber	Perry Lietell
Don Ryan	Ed Lane
Ed Mathews	Leo Heng
John Falter	Dave Mackie
Art Prehlik	Heavyweight: Don Boll or Ed Hussman

Oklahoma Wrestlers Prepare For Meet With Iowa State

—With Bill Borders and Tommy Evans, its twin aces largely recovered from influenza, Oklahoma's wrestling team, defending NCAA and Big Seven Conference champions, goes north in automobiles Thursday to wrestle its most crucial dual meet road trip of the year.

In fact, Coach Robertson's Sooners, protecting a short winning streak of 11 consecutive dual meet wins, finishes its 1952 dual meet road slate on this trip, meeting all-victorious Iowa State at Ames Friday, Iowa Teachers at Cedar Falls Saturday and Arkansas State at State College, Ark., Monday.

Evans, rugged little Tulsa junior who won 16 bouts in a row last year before losing to George Layman of Oklahoma A&M in the NCAA finals, spent all of last week in the infirmary with influenza but came back fast in try-outs this week.

In marvelous shape prior to taking the "flu," Evans provided the clincher in Oklahoma's narrow 14-12 nose-out over Oklahoma A&M at Stillwater, January 19 by pinning Byron Todd, veteran Argie 147-pounder, in 8:19 with a bar-arm and half-nelson. Evans also won by fall from Delbert Lockwood of Colorado A&M in 4:49 in the Sooners opener here January 11. But his long siege with the "flu" is bound to have taken something out of him.

Although tryouts this week were muddling the final picture, it appeared that Oklahoma's lineup in Iowa would include Don Reese or Bill Borders at 123, Borders or Harold Reece at 130, Ronald Scott at 137, Evans at 147, Bryan Rayburn at 157, Frank Marks at 167, Joe Butler or Larry Cotton at 177 and Doc Heaton at heavyweight. Coach Robertson plans to take along two spares.

Ping-Pong Tourney To Begin Friday

Table tennis enthusiasts will get their chance to make good when the annual All-University tournament gets under way Friday in the Union.

A large number of ping-pong specialists is expected to turn out for the tourney, which offers a medal for the first place winner and certificates to the men placing second and third. Entries must be turned in to the activities office of the Student Union by Tuesday noon.

Pairings for the matches will be listed in the Union activities office on Thursday. There will be an elimination tournament until the quarter finals, followed by a round robin tournament to decide the winners.

Winners of the first three places will participate in the Big Seven tourney which will be held here on March 7 and 8. Co-sponsors of the tournament are the Student Union Competitive Games committee and the intramural department.

Two former Kansas footballers, Otto Schnellbacher, former All-American end, and Mike McCormack, former All-West tackle, earned starting berths in the recent Pro bowl game.

OU Has Track Prowess

The Oklahoma Sooners have been picked as one of the top contending track squads to replace Nebraska as the Big Seven indoor track crown winner. The Sooners are packed with power-plus iron men this year, but Coach Jacobs of the Sooner camp would never let it be known.

Quannah Cox is one of the top sprinters in the conference along with another Oklahoma speed-beat, Neville Price.

The Oklahoma entry for a recent dual meet showed the Sooners strong in every event. The Oklahoma Sooner track team:

60 yard dash: Cox, Price, Harry Lee, Don Sobocinski.

440 yard dash: Charles Coleman,

Lee, Jerry Meader and J. W. Mashburn.

880 yard run: Phillip Beeler, Don Crabtree, George McCormick, Ron Reed, Derald Smith and Jim Wilkinson.

1 mile: Crabtree, Willson, Bruce Drummond, Mickey Hubbard, 2 mile: Drummond, Warren Rouse.

60 yard high hurdles: Ronnie Dobson, Sol Jones.

80 yard low hurdles: Dobson, Dick Jones, Sol Jones and Sam Gilbert.
