

M-Street, Sigma Chi 'B' Still Unbeaten, Defeat ASME, Phi Delt -B' In I-M Play

By BILL MUNDELL
Intramural Sports Writer

Two unbeaten intramural case teams continued to roar along Monday night in convincing style. The M-Street Boys and Sigma Chi "B" both added another mark in the win column by blasting ASME and Phi Delta Theta "B," respectively.

The M-Street gridders started slowly in their romp over ASME and led only 15-6 at halftime, but the momentum had begun and at the three-quarter mark the tally read 49-10 and at the conclusion, a resounding 69-14 to give the M-Streeters their fifth consecutive win.

Chuck Chamley and Bill Thayer led the assault with 12 counters apiece while Stu Thorell contributed ten more to the winning total. All nine men on the victorious team broke into the scoring column with four or more points. Bob Klissinger topped the engineer scoring with six counters.

The Sig Bees ran up a 12-4 first quarter score and then stood still while Phi Delt Paul Gustafson took sole responsibility in the scoring chores in the second quarter. Gustafson's five counters were the only second period tallies to go into the books and the intermission score read 12-3, Sigma Chi.

It was close for six minutes in the third stanza with neither outfit ahead by more than three points. With fourteen minutes remaining the Sigs owned a narrow 17-16 lead. That was all the Phi Delt had to offer.

Going into the final ten minutes, the Sigs had stretched that one point to a 22-16 score and three minutes later to 28-16. Frolicking on, it was no contest as the Phi Delt managed only two more points and went down to a 18-35 defeat.

It was the seventh consecutive victory for the junior Sigs, who are the top fraternity "B" outfit and tenth in the All-U rankings.

Ben Leonard led all scoring with nine points toward the victory. Teammate Al Barnard added eight more while Larry Dunning dropped in another six. Tony Winey was high man for the losers with six points followed by the Gustafsons, Paul and Don, with five and four.

The Dorm A Stars kept in the thick of the League X battle Monday night but not without a scare from the lowly Dorms B-C. The B-C boys with a 1-6 record battled the Stars with a 4-3 record on even terms all the way, in fact, led practically all the way. The Stars had previously whopped the B-C'ers, 34-19.

Big Keith Kohrs, who was the only Star that bothered the smaller B-C cagers personally narrowed down the margin and pushed the game into overtime at 29-29. Until that time, it appeared curtains for the favorites.

The overtime produced two counters by Star Keith Schwartz in the first minute and a very effective stall with Kohrs dropping in the clincher with two seconds remaining. The B-C men only touched the ball twice during the extra period and never had control.

Kohrs was the whole story Stars' center ripped the nets for 23 points. Schwartz added six more to the count.

For the hard-fighting losers it was Charles Huestis who topped the scoring with 16 while Dan Houser contributed another six.

Out Ag College way the University Argies took undisputed possession of first place in league VIII by blasting the AGR Scrubs, 47-4. It was the ninth win in ten games for the Argies and also established a new all-time defensive record in allowing only four points to their opposition. The previous all-time low was five, held by several teams.

Phi Gamma Delta "B" exploded for 21 points in the fourth period of their contest with Sigma Alpha Epsilon "B" and rolled to a 50-37 victory. The Phi Bees led all the

NU Athletic Slate Full This Week

University of Nebraska athletic teams are going to be kept quite busy this weekend. A full schedule faces all athletic teams with the exception of Coach Ed Weir's Cornhusker cindermen.

Highlighting the weekend festivities will be the basketball game between Coach Harry Good's quintet and the Oklahoma Sooners. The Husker cagers will be seeking revenge for the 60-55 decision they lost to the Missouri Tigers on the coliseum maples last Saturday.

Action between the two Big Seven rivals will get underway at 7:30. The Huskers will be concentrating their defense on Sooner high scorer, Sherman Norton and Norm Waller.

The Nebraska wrestling team, tutored by Al Partin, will match wits and muscles with the University of Wisconsin in a dual meet tonight. The meet will be held in the coliseum and will begin at 7:30. The top match of the evening should be the 157 pound clash between Don Ryan of the Badgers and Ed Lane of Nebraska.

The wrestling team will also go into action after the Nebraska-Oklahoma basketball game. The Cornhusker matmen will face the Cornell college grapplers immediately after the game.

Coach Hollie Lepley's swimming team will meet Colorado university in a dual meet in the coliseum pool Friday, at 3:45 p.m. The Husker swimmers will then take part in a double dual meet with the University of Kansas and Colorado A. M. This meet will also be held in the coliseum pool and will start at 2 p.m.

way but the SAE's were still in the thick of the fight until that last quarter flurry.

Murl Maupin notched 21 points, 13 in the last quarter, to lead the way for the Phi Gams. Jack Shull was runner-up scorer with 12. Tom Cushing topped the Sig Alph effort with 15 points while Norm Rassmussen added eight.

Shortys kept within shooting distance of the eladers in league X by throttling a wild Nebraska Co-op outfit, 29-26. The score was almost identical to the Shortys earlier win over the same Co-op. That score was recorded as 29-25.

Shortys kept the lead practically all the way and were helped considerably by the wildness of the Co-op men. Several times a Co-op rally was cut short by erring passes.

The victors presented a well-rounded machine the Nebraskans couldn't cope with. Everyone on the Shortys bench got into the scoring act. Charles Bush and Allyn Karle led the way with eight apiece while Harvey Bettenhausen boosted the winning total another six.

Don Gabriel, Allen Aden and Dale Harned all notched six to lead the scoring for Nebraska Co-op.

The victors were especially uncanny at the free-throws line, dunking 14 out of 19. The Pluggers used four men to run up a nine-point third quarter lead and then stalled out the remaining ten minutes to edge the Ramblers, 42-41.

The Ramblers couldn't get going until the fourth quarter and by then it was just a shade too late.

I-M Rosters Due Friday

All intramural basketball managers are warned to have their second semester basketball rosters turned in by 5 p.m. Friday. These rosters must be turned in whether or not any changes from the first semester are being considered and must be on the official roster lists available at the PE building. Any team not getting their rosters in by the deadline will automatically forfeit all their remaining contests.

Glassford Plans Spring Grid Drills; Invites Those Interested To Report

Coach J. William Glassford and his assistants are busy preparing for the opening of spring football drills, which are scheduled to begin on the 13th or 14th of March.

Everyone's invited out, and men interested should contact myself or one of the other members of the coaching staff," Glassford said.

He expects a fine turnout for spring ball, and hopes that some of the men on the campus who were talented prep players but have not worked with the squad previously will come out.

Big Seven conference rules allow 20 practice sessions during a 30 day period of spring grid workouts. The Huskers will conclude their spring drills on April 5, when they appear during All-Sports Day.

Squad members who are out for some spring sport will be expected to report for spring football ball drills, if only for a light workout, the mentor said. Several members of the squad are working with the track and baseball teams.

Coach Glassford announced that Nebraska would probably continue to use the T formation. He plans to use spread formation plays along with the T, however.

The biggest problem which faces the coaching staff at the present time is grooming an effective quarterback. Those to be considered for the position are Dan Brown, Ken Moore, Emil Radik, Duane Rankin, John Bordogna and Don Norris.

In commenting on the Big Seven ruling that freshmen will not be eligible to compete in varsity athletics next year, Glassford said, "The changeover from high school to college in both sports and class work cannot be made easily, and it is to everyone's benefit to give the freshmen athletes a year of preparation before they assume varsity roles."

Glassford had no prediction for the outcome of the Big Seven football standings next year, but said he believes that Nebraska can win if the men make up their minds to do the job, and work hard to do the job well.
