Truman 'Keeps-Em-Guessing'

WASHINGTON- Confusion reigned supreme regarding the possibility of President Truman's seeking re-election. Every vistor coming out of the White House the past few days has had a different story to tell and each claims to get his information direct from the chief executive.

Rep. Sabath of Illinois got the impression that Mr. Truman might make the "sacrifice" and seek re-election if to do so would serve world peace. Benjamin G. Browdy, president of the Zionist Organization of America, said the President told him he will make up his mind in the next 10 to 15 days whether he would run.

Abraham Feinberg, New York holsery manufacturer, told reporters after his session with Mr. Truman that the President hadn't made up his mind and wasn't going to do so in the near future. Mr. Truman himself might be following the keep-emguessing policy which the late Franklin D. Roosevelt used before announcing his candidacy for his third and fourth terms as president.

Beech Interprets Peace Talks months while the truce talks

TOKYO-Keyes Beech, foreign correspondent for the Lincoln Journal and Chicago Daily News, outlined the feelings of the American delegates to the Panmunjom peace talks. According to Beech, "military men on the scene feel that the worst thing that could happen would be for American impatience or political pressure to force them to seek a sudden military decision in Korea." Beech points out that the
