AWS Follies Between-Act Program Stuffed With Talent

By SARA STEPHENSON Staff Writer

Talent! Talent! Talent! Yes, even the Coed Follies' between-act entertainment is stuffed with talent—all seven acts chosen during tryout held last week.

As an example of the experienced between-act entertainment to be seen Tuesday at the Nebraska theater, Miss DuTeau and Jean Sweeney, both freshmen, will perform a tap duet called "Midnight Rendezvous" which will start with a soft shoe dance and develop into a fast tap routine.

Miss Sweeney and Miss DuTeau have taken lessons for 14 years and have been dancing together for about 12 years. Coed Follies will be their first performance at the University. Together and separately they have danced at Lincoln High Joy Nights, Junior Talent assemblies and at various functions in Lincoln.

Miss DuTeau is a member of Orchestras and has a part in the dancing chorus of "Girl Crazy." Miss Sweeney, a member of Orchestras, has been teaching dancing for the last four years in her home studio.

Janis McCaw, another freshman giving her first performance at the University, will present a dramatic dialogue called "My Experiences in New York" in which she will portray a "country hick" telling about his vacation. Miss McCaw, at present minoring in speech, studied drama for a year in Los Angeles.

The Alpha Chi trio is another of the between-act features. Composed of the trio, which was rather accidentally formed during a pledge sneak last year, is Kathy Radaker, Marilyn McKie and Beverly Kunc. "Blue Moon" and "Moon Lndigo" will be their selections.

Miss Radaker, a transfer from Colorado Women's College where she was a member of the quartet, glee and chorus, has been doing solo work since high school. A music major, she is a member of the University Singers, the First Christian Church choir and has sung at various gatherings around Lincoln.

Miss McKie, another CWC transfer, has been taking music lessons for three years and was also a member of the CWC chorus.

Miss Kunc has experience as a member of the 4-H Club Trio. This trio appeared on Paul Whitman's TV show last year, toured Chicago and Philadelphia, sang on radio innumerable times and has appeared on TV five times. Besides this, they won the grand championship last year for trios and appeared at the 4-H Club congress. Miss Kunc has had no special voice training but plays piano and clarinet.

This will be the Alpha Chi trio's second University performance. The coeds sang for the Co-ed Counselors' tea this year. Peggy Jensen is accompanist.

Jo Hinds will give three different imitations while singing "Put Your Arms Around Me Honey." Her act will be the same one she presented at the Miss Nebraska contest during talent night. Miss Hinds, who acted in high school plays, appeared last year in Coed Follies with the Alpha Phi's and in the Kosmet Klub spring show.

Mary Maude Bedford, who has studied music for six years including four summers at Northwestern university, will play a marimba solo, "Dizzy Fingers," on one of her three marimbas. A music major, Miss Bedford appeared on Horace Heidt's talent show when he was in Lincoln. She has also performed in the Union talent show for veterans and at many banquets in Lincoln.

At present she is giving marimba lessons at a Lincoln music store. Accompanying her will be Sherill Clover.

Lois Srb will give two pantomime impersonations as another between-act feature. She will portray Betty Hutton in "Rocking Horse" and Cass Daley in "A Good Man's Hard to Find." Although she has had no dramatic training, Miss Srb has given performances in Joy Night at Lincoln high and at Friday and Saturday night talent shows at the Union.

Marilyn Lehr will do a combination. Miss Lehr participated in the Kosmet Klub show, "Good News," last spring and has performed in several Union talent shows.

The between-act entertainment will not be on a competitive basis.

WAVEs Outline USNR For University Coeds

Gertrude Wieler, USNR and Alice Brown Andersen, Supply Corps, USNR are the representatives at the University for the Wave Reserve Officer Candidate program.

Four teams of Waves were sent out from the US Great Lakes Naval Training Station to colleges and universities in the United States. The reserve recruiting effort will be concluded this month. Applications must be submitted before the middle of March.

Lieutenants Wieler and Andersen came to the University from Kansas university where they introduced the Reserve program.

Lieutenant Wieler was in the Navy during World War II. She was trained at Mt. Holyoke, Mass., and went to the patrol force of Treasure Island, San Francisco, upon completion of her training. She requested recall to active duty in 1950.

Lt. Wieler points out that recall is an advantage of the Naval reserve program for any girl who doesn't want the Navy as a career. In the reserve, she will be subject only to intermittent duty and may request a return to active duty if she desires it.

Lt. Andersen is a graduate of the University. She served in World War II. She was stationed at the US Great Lakes Naval Training Station. Lt. Andersen returned to active duty in 1950.

Tuesday evening Margaret Wiedman, University senior who has completed two summers in ROC school led a discussion about the program.

Other speakers Tuesday were Lieutenants Andersen and Wieler; Lt. R. T. George, Wave procurement officer at the Naval Air Station in Lincoln; and Lt. Cir. J. E. Halligan, inspector instructor at the Naval Reserve Training center in Lincoln.

Lieutenants Wieler and Andersen will be available for individual conferences at Ellen Smith hall Wednesday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

PUBLIC POWER

Eighteen Plan EE Inspection Trip To Omaha

Fourteen electrical engineering students and four instructors will inspect facilities of the Omaha public power district at a meeting of the Nebraska branch, American Institute of Electrical Engineering, Wednesday night in Omaha.

Students attending will be Vernon Scoville, Rex Wiese, Donald Werner, Wayne Gustafson, Elmer Brejcha, Don J. Nelson, John Prusha, R. R. Patel, Churley Jones, James Weldon, Curtis Sorenson, Robert Eggers, Arnis Aumalis and John Marks.

Professors O. E. Edison and G. H. Sechrist and assistant professors R. M. Ibatia and E. J. Ballard, Jr., will represent the electrical engineering department faculty.

NU Chemical Engineers Purchase Molding Press

A hydraulic press, to be used in plastic molding and rubber vulcanizing experiments has been purchased by the chemical engineering department.

The press has a capacity of 7,800 pounds of pressure per square inch, according to associate professor Herbert T. Bates of the department. It has not yet been installed, the instructor said.

Skits To Highlight French Club Meet

Skits, poems, songs and refreshments will highlight the French club monthly meeting Wednesday, in Room 315, Union, from 4 to 5 p.m.

A French skit will be presented by Sandra Daley, Shirley Hamilton, Virginia Boberg and Agita Abens. Poems will be read and Forrest Hazard will conduct a radio quiz. Popular songs will be led by vice president Doris Bratt.

All French students are urged to attend the meeting. Refreshments will be served.

WATER SAFETY

Red Cross To Offer Instruction

The annual Water Safety Instructors Training course will begin on Thursday, Feb. 21, at the YWCA. The class will meet on six consecutive Thursday evenings from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

The Lancaster county chapter of the American Red Cross sponsors this training course in the interest of better qualified teachers of aquatic skills. This 18 hour course will include a life saving review and will teach the methods of teaching swimming. The class will learn the standards set by Red Cross determining swimming ability.

Any man or woman in the county who is eighteen years of age, or older and who has passed the Senior Life Saving course may enroll in this class. A medical permit will be required from your own Health Service or you may have a YWCA medical examination for 75 cents. Appointments for this examination may be made by calling 2-6801 before beginning the course.

All class members must furnish their own suits and girls must wear caps.

The instructors course will be under the direction of Mrs. Virginia Roberts and two University Physical education instructors: Miss Eunice Way and Mr. Hollie Lepley.

For further information about the class, call the Red Cross office, 2-5988.

31 Learn Sheep Shearing

Thirty-one eastern Nebraska sheep shearers attended the annual two-day sheep shearing school Monday and Tuesday at the College of Agriculture.

The school is sponsored by the agricultural extension service, and is under the direction of W. W. "Bill" Derrick, extension animal husbandman, and E. A. Warner, representative of a Chicago sheep shearing equipment manufacturer.

Those attending the school received training in shearing sheep, tying fleeces, care of wool and shipping fleeces.

A meeting of the eastern Nebraska members of the Mid-West Wool Marketing Co-operative was held in connection with the school.

Brass Choir To Perform On Sunday

The School of Fine Arts will present the University brass choir in a concert in the Union ballroom at 4 p.m., Sunday.

The concert will be the sixth annual performance by the brass choir. The choir is composed of members of the ROTC band, which is divided into two groups—the choir and the concert band.

Jack Snider, head of the brass department of the school of music, will direct the program.

Presentations, ranging the musical spectrum from the classical "Sonata Piano Forte" by Gabrielli-Harvey to the ever popular "Smoke Gets in our Eyes," presented in a new arrangement written by a band member, should please all musical tastes.

Another number, "Concerto for Clarinet and Timpani," will feature Denny Schneider, Richard Brodfeueher, Gary Kesselman, Paul Bieberstein, Robert Olsen, Duane Johnson, Paul Thompson and Kent Phillips.

An unusual musical number will be "The Four Hornsman," featuring Walter Cole, Lewis Forney, William Barret, and Dennis Carrol.

The concert is sponsored by the Union music committee.

'Wartime Marriage' To Be Discussed At Coffee Hour

A coffee discussion hour has been planned for 4 p.m. Thursday in Room 316, Union to discuss "Marriage In Wartime."

The discussion is part of a series on better living sponsored by the Union convocations committee.

An informal discussion will be led by a panel consisting of Dr. Don Clifton, instructor of history and principles of education; Joan Krueger, editor of The Daily Nebraskan; Jerry Johnson, president of Innocents, AGR and Kosmet Klub; and Ernie Bebb, Corn Cob and Union board member.

There will be a similar discussion on the Ag campus in the Ag Union Lounge at 5 p.m. Wednesday. All students and faculty are invited to attend either discussion.

The convocations committee is sponsored by Bob LaShelle. The chairman is Lynn Kunkel and committee members are Charles Swingle, Jo LaShelle, Don Mead, Jean Davis, Ruth Sorenson and Jo Reifschneider.

Alumni Club To Give Award

The University Builders' award, highest non-academic award of the University, will be presented to a prominent Nebraskan at the Lincoln Alumni Club's Charter Day dinner at the Union Wednesday evening.

A concert by the Madrigal Singers will be a feature of the program. The Singers are directed by Prof. David Foltz.

It will be "Deans Night" and all deans of the University will be honored, according to Walter White, president of the Lincoln club.

Webster Reports To Club On Recent Nigerian Trip

Dr. Orrin J. Webster of the University's agronomy department gave a talk and showed slides of his trip to Nigeria, West Africa, at an Ag Men's club meeting Monday night.

Webster's trip was sponsored by the Economic Co-operative administration, a phase of the Marshall plan. His trip lasted nine months. His work consisted of teaching methods of producing higher yields of crops, especially in corn and sorghum.

Living Series Features Panel

A panel discussion will feature this week's Ag Better Living Series scheduled for 5 p.m. Wednesday in Ag Union lounge.

Topic of the discussion is "Marriage In Wartime." The members of the panel are Jerry Johnson, Ernie Bebb and Jeanne Vierk. Three questions will be under

- discussion by the panel. They are:
- (1) If a couple is pinned, and the boy has to go to the service, should the girl date or stay home?
 - (2) If a boy is called to the service and he immediately becomes engaged, should they be married before he leaves or wait until he comes back?
 - (3) If a couple is engaged before he finds out he has to go to the service, should they become married or wait, and what problems should they consider?
- All Ag students and faculty are invited to attend the series, according to Mary Lou Huse, Ag Union activities director.
- A period at the end of discussion will be held for any questions or points of discussion that may arise.

Brotherhood Week Observed At University

BROTHERS ALL . . . To students living at Norris house, University cooperative house for men, brotherhood is more than just a term used by those advocating religious and racial tolerance. Here foreign students and their American brothers live together throughout the year. National Brotherhood week (Feb. 17 to 24) is just another week in their lives. International friendship is apparent even at mealtime. Dining together are (l. to r.) Marjan Petric, Slovenia-Yugoslavia; Andrew Sainte, Panama; Conrad Super, Poland; Ricardo Luti, Argentina; H. Ti Tien, China; and Toni Anvelt, Estonia—all brothers under the skin. (Courtesy Lincoln Star.)

National Brotherhood Week, Feb. 17 to 24, will be observed in various ways on the University campus.

It will be just another week to members of Norris House and International House, for instance. Members of these houses live Brotherhood Week every week of the year.

Of the 20 residing members of Norris House, four are foreign students, and eight more foreign students board there, according to John Woodin, Norris House president.

International House has six foreign students and two who are displaced persons among its 26 residing members, Elizabeth Johnson, president, said.

Several of the religious student houses on campus have had or will have special programs or speakers in observance of Brotherhood Week.

The week will be highlighted on the University campus by a box social for foreign students Friday

INTERNATIONAL FLAVOR . . . These coeds living at International house observe Brotherhood week throughout the year. Students from our own and foreign nations gathered around the piano are (l. to r.) Elizabeth Johnson; Tokuyo Sumiga, Japan; May Belle Okawaki; Elane Roussin, France; and Janis McCaw, originally from Portugal. (Courtesy Lincoln Star.)

The devout followers of the Aga Khan, Moslem leader, number more than 20 million.
