

Council Rejects N-Club Appeal

A motion to allow N-club representation on the Student Council in future years was voted down in Council meeting Wednesday. The motion, discussed and tabled during last week's meeting, lost by a 16 to five vote. A two-thirds majority was needed for passage.

Ira Epstein, present N-club representative, said he will draw up a petition to present to University students if the N-club is still interested. Such a petition would have to contain 500 student signatures and be submitted to the general faculty committee on student organizations for approval. If approved, the amendment to the constitution would then be submitted to a student vote. It would have to carry a majority of 50 per cent of voting students before it would take effect.

A motion for a roll call vote to be printed in The Daily Nebraskan, on the amendment was made by George Wilcox, Council vice president. Council members voted out the motion and a secret ballot was taken.

Further Council business included a report on the faculty parking committee meeting. Rex Messersmith, chairman of the student activities committee, reported that the joint student-faculty committee voted out a Council-proposed plan to return to non-segregated student-faculty parking.

Further recommendations made by the committee were to change the hour of free parking to 1 p.m. Formerly it was 1:30 p.m. The committee suggested that special cards be made available to instructors who found it necessary to deliver equipment at different buildings. These cards would be placed in the windshield when necessary.

Plans for next year's parking plan include a modification of the present system. It was suggested that the faculty be given a choice of whether they prefer a student or faculty sticker. With this plan it could be possible to limit faculty parking to two or three larger and less centrally located lots, Council representatives said. The American Institute of Chemical Engineers constitution was approved by the Council.

Gary Wirsig To Direct City YM Group

Gary Wirsig, University junior majoring in chemical engineering, will head YMCA activities for the coming year. New vice president is Philip Mesner.

William Barnas was elected secretary and Wilson Strand is district representative.

The new president was formerly "YM News" editor. He is a member of Pershing Rifles and the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

Mesner, freshman in the College of Arts and Sciences, has served as acting president of the city YMCA and former YMCA secretary. He is a member of Brown Palace and the Paddian Literary society.

Strand, journalism sophomore in Teachers college, is a member of Brown Palace and Pe-gassus.

An English major in arts and sciences, Barnas was vice president of city YMCA. He is a member of Canterbury club and the Religious Welfare council.

Cow Milking Contestant

JUST ONE MORE SQUIRT . . . Joan Legg, representing Kappa Alpha Theta, works furiously to get more milk in the allotted time than other contestants in the Dairy Royal show's coed cow milking contest. Winner of the milking event was Sallie Matteson, Kappa Delta, who said she was milking for the "first time in five years."

Freshman Champion In Dairy Royal Show

Delbert Merritt, Ag college freshman, was named grand champion showman in the first annual Dairy Royal, a dairy showmanship contest held Tuesday night at Ag college. Reserve champion was Roger Richards, Ag college sophomore.

Sallie Matteson, representing Kappa Delta, was winner of the coed cow milking contest. She milked five pounds in 1 1/2 minutes. Two tenths of a pound behind her was Joann Miller of Phi Beta Phi with 4.3 pounds.

Dairy Royal was sponsored by the Varsity Dairy club, Dairy Husbandry department; the Nebraska State Dairyman's association and the Sunshine Dairy 4-H club.

Merritt represented Alpha Gamma Rho and Richards is a member of Ag Men's club. They also placed first and second in the senior division of the contest. The senior division was for students with previous dairy showmanship experience.

Winner of the junior division, which for students with no previous dairy experience, was Kay Schwachman.

Other winners in senior division: third, Kenneth Schmidt; fourth, Charles Frederick; and fifth, Carl Leising.

Other junior division winners: second, Russel Schelkopf; third, Ralph Hill; fourth, Clayton Yeuter; and fifth, John Ranney.

Other coed cow milking contest winners: third, Mary Ann Nelson, Alpha Omicron Pi; fourth, Geneva Berns, Love Hall; and fifth, Mary Alice Nelson, Terrace Hall.

Miss Matteson was presented a trophy by the State Dairyman's Association president, R. E. Wagner. Otto Liebers, county dairy operator presented a trophy to Merritt.

Elton Lux, extension agriculturalist and C. W. Nibler, extension dairy husbandman, judged the showmanship contest. H. P. Davis, professor of dairy husbandry, judged the coed milking contest. Charles Fredericks and Don Beck, members of the Varsity Dairy club, were co-chairmen of the show.

The Dairy Royal was held in conjunction with a dairy barn open house and the Dairy Industry Week. It was presented with the idea of acquainting students and faculty members and 4-H club members with the Dairy Husbandry department and the Varsity dairy club and its activities.

Beard King Candidates To Register

The Farmers Fair Whisker King contest will begin Monday with registration of all contestants in the Ag Union from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

According to the rules announced by Frank Sibert, Farmer's Fair board chairman, all contestants must appear clean shaven and sign their names in the Ag Union. They are then officially entered in the contest.

The contest was begun earlier this year, than last, he said, so that males would have a longer growth when they went home for Easter vacation.

A faculty committee will judge the beards. The winner will reign with the Goddess of Agriculture at the Cotton and Denim dance and the two day Fair which will open April 21.

Faculty members are invited to enter in the beard growing contest.

Jo Meyer and Jan Ross are in charge of the Whisker King registration.

Festivities will begin with the Cotton and Denim dance on April 21. The following day there will be a parade in the morning with a rodeo in the afternoon. Climaxing the activities will be the barbecue.

Ag students will wear cotton and denim clothes for the week preceding the Fair. According to reports violators of the cotton and denim tradition may be thrown into a horse tank.

Work has already begun on the barbecue. Sibert announced that tickets will be 80 cents.

Bailey Advocates Expansion Plan

A more expansive program of United Nations education is needed to reach the people of Nebraska.

This was the theme of a discussion led by C. Lloyd Bailey, executive director of the National Citizens' committee for United Nations Day. He met in the Union Wednesday noon with representatives from Nebraska University Council of World Affairs, Wesleyan University International Relations Club and Lincoln civic leaders interested in the United Nations.

Bailey suggested an increased use of newspapers, radio and television. In addition to these he plan used last year, built around the theme, "Homes of the World." The plan involved a small discussion group meeting in a home, having a meal cooked in Brazilian style, and talking to a Brazilian about his native country and its relations with the United States.

The many foreign students at the University would provide excellent opportunities for this type of gathering, it was pointed out.

Bailey also specifically recommended that state organization for United Nations Day be set up as was done last year under Mrs. W. H. Hasebroock of West Point. He said the good work of the organization was responsible for the fact that 121 Nebraska communities cooperated as against 65 the year before.

Bailey complimented the group on the "growth of interest in the United Nations which you seem to have in Lincoln." He also noted "Nebraska's outstanding participation" in the worldwide observance of the United Nations Day last Oct. 24.

However, he said that the objective was to increase interest and to spread it to as many towns as possible. Members of the group agreed that lectures helped, but that only a few interested persons would attend. Other methods will have to be found to reach more people, it was decided.

Subject Of Recent Religious Controversy, Dr Martin Niemoller, To Speak Monday

Dr. Martin Niemoller, a German pastor, subject of recent religious controversy, will speak at the Coliseum Monday at 8 p.m.

According to a report by foreign news correspondent David M. Nichol, Niemoller is the "leading church exponent of a policy which coincides with the program of the Soviets."

He is president of the German Evangelical (Lutheran) church in two western German regions, Nichol reported, and head of the church's central foreign office in Berlin, which supervises German church missions in foreign countries.

"Niemoller's influence within Germany is sliding downward, however," Nichol wrote. "His stand on 'neutrality' is increasingly unpopular, and his comments on life and religious freedom in the Soviet Union have antagonized many Germans."

Niemoller was the subject of recent controversy at Florida Southern College in Lakeland. Student leaders there claimed that a chapel speech by Niemoller was "un-American."

According to a Religious News Service report from London, Niemoller told a press conference there that 34 years of Communism have not extinguished religious feelings in Russian people.

According to RNS, Niemoller, in reporting on his one-week trip to Moscow in January, said that well over 60 churches are now active in the Soviet capital. He said the Protestant churches in Russia have a membership of more than 3,000,000, the news service added.

Niemoller was in London for a meeting of the executive committee of the World Council of Churches.

Niemoller was a German U-boat commander in World War I, but resigned after the Armistice.

He headed an anti-Nazi movement for several years, but was arrested and confined to a concentration camp during the war.

Niemoller will be a guest at an open house in the Methodist student house at 3 p.m., Monday, according to Rev. Richard W. Nutt, Methodist student pastor.

Mrs. Niemoller will be honored at a ladies' reception at St. Paul's Methodist Church at the same time.

Niemoller is expected to arrive in Lincoln by plane Monday morning, and will remain until Tuesday afternoon when he will leave by plane for Denver.

Niemoller's sponsoring agencies here are the University Committee for Search Week and the Lincoln Council of Churches.

NUCWA Mock Assembly Delegates Meet Tonight

All members of Nebraska University Council for World Affairs and head delegates to the NUCWA spring conference are urged to attend the first of four preliminary meetings Thursday evening. The meeting will be held in Union Parlors X and Y at 7 p.m.

"It is very important that all delegates be there so they will understand the technical arrangements of the assembly," Virg Koehler, NUCWA president, explained. Dr. Frank Sorensen, faculty sponsor, and Ruth Sorensen will furnish basic information and give background on the conference, which will be April 4, 5 and 6. Delegates will receive first fact sheets containing background material of the issues to be discussed. The sheets are supplied by the Department of Research and the Secretariat.

All houses and groups of two or more students who are interested in representing a country and have not yet turned in their preference should send a delegate to the meeting to submit their choice, Miss Koehler said.

Charles Gomon, head of the committee in charge of the conference, urges every foreign student who is interested in representing his own country to submit an application. He said also that foreign students are being asked to volunteer their services as advisors to representatives of their countries.

Countries still available for representation are the following: Bolivia, Burma, Byelorussian SSR, Chile, Columbia, Cuba, Denmark, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Guatemala, Haiti, Iceland, Indonesia, Iraq, Lebanon, Pakistan, Paraguay, Peru, Philippine Republic, Saudi Arabia, Slav, Syria, Turkey, Union of South Africa, Uruguay, Venezuela and Yugoslavia.

Carl Snider will explain the veto power, one of the problems of the conference, at the second preliminary meeting March 3. Povers of the General Assembly will be discussed at the March 20 meeting by Norma L. Hill, professor of political science. The last meeting on March 27 will be concerned with the final arrangements and procedure before the conference.

"Charter Amendment Conference," this year's model UN assembly, which deals with veto power problems and legislative powers of the General Assembly, will begin with a meeting of the International Court of Justice on April 2, which will be conducted by the Law college. Clyde Eagleton, professor of international law at Harvard, will give the main address at this time. The planning meeting is scheduled for Thursday, April 3.

Watson, Merritt Win Trip To Washington 4-H Camp

MADELINE WATSON

DELBERT MERRITT

Two Ag college freshmen have received the highest award that can be made to 4-H club members—a trip to the National 4-H club camp at Washington, D. C., next June.

The University winners are Madeline Watson, 16, and Delbert Merritt, 17. Others who won the trip are Shirley G. Slagle, 17, of Grant and Bob Delap, 21, of Lexington.

State Club Leader Wesley M. Antes, associate extension agriculturalist at the University, said the award of the trips was based on all-around 4-H records. Individuals were selected by a committee of county agents and members of the state staff.

Miss Watson is paying a part of the cost of her college education with profits from 4-H work. She has had nine years in 4-H, carrying out projects in sheep, beef, swine, clothing, foods, garden, homemaking and sewing. She has won purple ribbons in each of the projects along with cash awards. Miss Watson earned more than $4,500 from her projects.

Merritt was a winner of the Carl Raymond Gray scholarship, which helped him attend the University. Outside of 4-H he was named the State Dairy farmer and State farmer in the Future Farmers of America organization, outstanding scholar and citizenship student at Elkhorn high school and state citizenship winner.

Merritt's 4-H projects in swine, dairy, horse, rope and rural electrification have grossed him $9,151. He has been a club leader for the past two years.

The all-expense-paid trips to the 4-H camp are being furnished by the Omaha World Herald.

UNIVERSITY SYMPHONY

Orchestra To Give Concert

The University symphony orchestra, under the direction of Emanuel Wishnow, will present its annual spring concert at 4 p.m. Sunday in the Union ballroom.

Beethoven's "Overture to Leonore—No. 3" will be the opening number. According to a program note, "The third overture to the opera Leonore (Fidelio) is perhaps the best known and more generally performed by symphony orchestras."

The 67-piece orchestra will also play Gretry-Mottl's Ballet Suite from "Cephalet et Procris." The suite consists of three movements—"Tambourin," "Menuetto" and "Gigue."

After intermission the orchestra will continue with Virgil Thompson's "The Plow That Broke the Plains." The score is divided into six parts—"Prelude," "Pastorale-Grass," "Cattle," "Blues—Speculation," "Drought" and "Devastation."

administration of the department of agriculture.

To conclude the program, the symphony will play "The Russian Easter" by Rimsky-Korsakov. A program note states, "This composition has as its thematic inspiration the Greek Orthodox service and is descriptive of the words of the 68th Psalm and the resurrection scene in St. Mark's gospel. The work was dedicated to the memory of Moussorgsky and Borodin and was written in 1888."

Speaking of the symphony orchestra last year, Dr. Howard Hanson of the Eastman School of Music, who was featured in one University concert, stated, "I had heard that the orchestra here was good but had no idea the University had such an outstanding organization."

Wishnow has been conductor of the orchestra since 1941. He has been head of the string department in the School of Music since 1948.

Viola: Martha Christensen, Arthur Murphy, Joanne Howland, Carol Patterson, Carol Souser and Douglas Wilcox.

Cello: Janice Liljedahl, James Christensen, Carol Fickett, Joanna Jorgensen, Robert Patterson, Rachel Kirkpatrick and Marvin Stromer.

Bass: Barbara Gilmore, John Whaley, Marilyn Paul and Naida Watson.

Flute: Miriam Willey and William Krause.

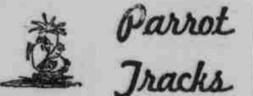

Clarinet: Aaron Schmidt, Wesley Reist and Paul Jordan.

Oboe: Dale Ground and Velda Stonecypher.

Bassoon: Warren Rasmussen and Emil Roy.

Trumpet: Denny Schneider, Paul Thompson, Duane Johnson and Paul Bieberstein.

Trombone: Robert Van Voorhis, Clifton Cowles and Stanley Shumway.

"You're in the wrong place," said the devil. "The ticket you have here is for heaven."

"I know," said the young shade. "But I was in college and I want to make the change-over gradually."

"I see by the paper that nine professors and one student were killed in a wreck."

"Poor chap."

Two men were discussing the vexing problem of the education of their children.

"What is your boy going to be when he finishes his education?"

"An octogenarian, I think."

"We're in for it again! Old man weather is going to hit us with rain or snow."

However, it's supposed to be intermittent if anyone knows what that means. One ray of hope in the gloomy prediction is that temperatures will take a big leap upwards.

Of course it's not much help to go out into a snowstorm knowing that the high temperature will be 35!

The birds do it. The bees do it. The little bats do it. So he joined the air force.

The YMCA sponsored film, "Open City," showing this week end is advertised as "an insight into the traditional struggle of oppressed men to overthrow tyranny." I highly recommend this film to all husbands.

P.M. Headlines

By DALE JOHNSON Staff News Writer

War To Be Confined

WASHINGTON—The Truman administration has decided that the present war in Korea will not be expanded to China even if the truce talks fail. State Department officials announced that the present policy would prevent such action, but the feeling was also revealed that the American people might demand action. It appears that only popular indignation will cause a change from a non-expansion policy. Assistant Secretary of State John M. Allison said, "It is our policy to confine the conflict to Korea." The administration's attitude was revealed in a speech sent by Allison to Philadelphia. It was delivered by his assistant Alexis Johnson, who has recently returned from important talks with U. N. officials in Korea and Japan.

Rhee Meeting House Opposition

KOREA—President Syngman Rhee is having difficulties with the one-house National Assembly. The 78 year old President's term is due to expire and the election is only 3 months away. Rhee sponsored an amendment which would provide for direct election of the President and a two-house National Assembly. At the present time the President is selected by the Assembly. Rhee's proposal suffered a 143 to 19 defeat and the action prompted him to suggest that the voters recall the lawmakers.

Should McCarthy Probe Continue?

WASHINGTON—The Senate rules subcommittee has voted to ask the Senate whether it should continue the inquiry into demands that Sen. McCarthy should be ousted from Congress. The future of the probe will depend upon the action taken by the Senate. McCarthy has been accused by Sen. Benton (D-Conn.) as being unfit for office. McCarthy in turn has accused Benton of trying to "smear" him and prevent him from exposing the "Communists in government."

Vinson Drops UMT For '52

WASHINGTON—Universal Military Training appears to be a dead issue as far as the present session of Congress is concerned. The House of Representatives, in a vote of 236-162, sent the bill back to committee. Rep. Vinson (D-Ga.), chairman of the Armed Services Committee and leading UMT sponsor in the House, told newsmen that his committee would not bring up any more UMT legislation during this session. Sen. McFarland of Arizona, Senate majority leader, said that in view of the House action the Senate would probably not consider the bill before the end of the 82nd Congress. Those who are in favor of the bill said that the issue was not dead for long. Vinson said, "We'll start all over again in the 83rd Congress."

Lattimore Against Aid To Nationalists

WASHINGTON—Owen Lattimore, in testimony before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, admitted that he attempted to influence President Truman in June of 1945 to keep aid from going to the Chinese Nationalists. Lattimore added that his recommendations never had any influence on the American foreign policy. Lattimore made the concession while under questioning by Sen. Ferguson of Michigan.
